LAND SALE NOTICES.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estates situate in the Magura subdivision of the district of Jessore, will be put up to sale at the Magura Subdivisional Office on the 11th May 1908, corresponding with 28th Byshakh 1315 B.S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale :—

1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchasers of these estates will be considered as the proprietors of the estates, and the entire proprietory right of Government in such estates will be transferred to them subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

N.B.—The conditions regarding the payment of land revenue fixed in perpetuity are not applicable to estates in temporarily-settled districts in which the land revenue should be fixed for a term of the current settlement and be subject to periodical revision on expiry of each settlement. In the case of an estate situated in a permanently-settled area and yielding an annual rental of less than Re. 1, there should be no condition regarding the payment of land revenue.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force; and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

Howrah, the 27th March 1908. (387—1)

In the Court of the District Judge of Tippera at Comilla.

CASE No. 7 OF 1908.

In the matter of the estate of the late MR. J. Edmound Courjon, of Comilla, who died intestate.

WHEREAS it has been intimated to this Court that the aforesaid Mr. J. Edmound Courjon, a European inhabitant of Comilla town, died on the 16th March 1908, without, as far as it appears, any heir, but leaving moveable properties:

It is hereby notified that any person who has a claim to receive the said properties as an heir, executor, or administrator to the deceased, or in any other capacity, is required to appear and prove his claim in this Court. If any person appears and proves his or her right to the said properties within a year, the properties will be made over to the said person after he or she shall have deposited the necessary expenses incurred in taking care of the said properties; otherwise the said properties shall be sold and the sale-proceeds appropriated by Government.

Dated this 20th day of March in the year 1908.

A. H. CUMING, District Judge.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta

or
the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of the Governor General on the 21st March, 1908, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT NO. V OF 1908.

THE CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE, 1908.

CONTENTS.

PRELIMINARY.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Preliminary.)

An Act to consolidate and amend the laws relating to the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the laws relating to the procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, commencement and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be cited as the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(2) It shall come into force on the first day of January, 1909.

(3) This section and sections 155 to 158 extend to the whole of British India: the rest of the Code extends to the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "Code" includes rules:

(2) "decree" means the formal expression of an adjudication which, so far as regards the Court expressing it, conclusively determines the rights of the parties with regard to all or any of the matters in controversy in the suit and may be either preliminary or final. It shall be deemed to include the rejection of a plaint and the determination of any question within section 47 or section 144, but shall not include—

(a) any adjudication from which an appeal lies as an appeal from an order, or

(b) any order of dismissal for default.

Explanation.—A decree is preliminary when further proceedings have to be taken before the suit can be completely disposed of. It is final when such adjudication completely disposes of the suit. It may be partly preliminary and partly final:

(3) "decree-holder" means any person in whose favour a decree has been passed or an order capable of execution has been made:

(4) "district" means the local limits of the jurisdiction of a principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction (hereinafter called a "District Court"), and includes the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of a High Court:

(5) "foreign Court" means a Court situate beyond the limits of British India which has no authority in British India and is not established or continued by the Governor General in Council:

(6) "foreign judgment" means the judgment of a foreign Court:

(7) "Government Pleader" includes any officer appointed by the Local Government to perform all or any of the functions expressly imposed by this Code on the Government Pleader and also any pleader acting under the directions of the Government Pleader:

(8) "Judge" means the presiding officer of a Civil Court:

(9) "judgment" means the statement given by the Judge of the grounds of a decree or order:

(10) "judgment-debtor" means any person against whom a decree has been passed or an order capable of execution has been made:

(11) "legal representative" means a person who in law represents the estate of a deceased person, and includes any person who intermeddles with the estate of the deceased and where a party sues or is sued in a representative character the person on whom the estate devolves on the death of the party so suing or sued:

(12) "mesne profits" of property means those profits which the person in wrongful possession of such property actually received or might with ordinary diligence have received therefrom, together with interest on such profits, but shall not include profits due to improvements made by the person in wrongful possession:

(13) "moveable property" includes growing crops:

(14) "order" means the formal expression of any decision of a Civil Court which is not a decree:

(15) "pleader" means any person entitled to appear and plead for another in Court, and includes an advocate, a vakil and an attorney of a High Court:

(16) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules:

(17) "public officer" means a person falling under any of the following descriptions, namely:—

(a) every Judge;

(b) every member of the Indian Civil Service;

(c) every commissioned or gazetted officer in the military or naval forces of His Majesty, including His Majesty's Indian Marine Service, while serving under the Government;

(d) every officer of a Court of Justice whose duty it is, as such officer, to investigate or report on any matter of law or fact, or to make, authenticate or keep any document, or to take charge or dispose of any property, or to execute any judicial process, or to administer any oath, or to interpret, or to preserve order, in the Court, and every person especially authorized by a Court of Justice to perform any of such duties;

(e) every person who holds any office by virtue of which he is empowered to place or keep any person in confinement;

(f) every officer of the Government whose duty it is, as such officer, to prevent offences, to give information of offences, to bring offenders to justice, or to protect the public health, safety or convenience;

(g) every officer whose duty it is, as such officer, to take, receive, keep or expend any property on behalf of the Government, or to make any survey, assessment

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Preliminary. Part I.—Suits in General.)

or contract on behalf of the Government, or to execute any revenue-process, or to investigate, or to report on, any matter affecting the pecuniary interests of the Government, or to make, authenticate or keep any document relating to the pecuniary interests of the Government, or to prevent the infraction of any law for the protection of the pecuniary interests of the Government; and

(h) every officer in the service or pay of the Government, or remunerated by fees or commission for the performance of any public duty:

(18) "rules" means rules and forms contained in the First Schedule or made under section 122 or section 125:

(19) "share in a corporation" shall be deemed to include stock, debenture stock, debentures or bonds: and (20) "signed," save in the case of a judgment or decree, includes stamped.

Subordination of Courts.

3. For the purposes of this Code, the District Court is subordinate to the High Court, and every Civil Court of a grade inferior to that of a District Court and every Court of Small Causes is subordinate to the High Court and District Court.

Savings.

4. (1) In the absence of any specific provision to the contrary, nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect any special or local law now in force or any special jurisdiction or power conferred, or any special form of procedure prescribed, by or under any other law for the time being in force.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the proposition contained in sub-section (1), nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect any remedy which a landholder or landlord may have under any law for the time being in force for the recovery of rent of agricultural land from the produce of such land.

Application of the Code to Revenue Courts.

5. (1) Where any Revenue Courts are governed by the provisions of this Code in those matters of procedure upon which any special enactment applicable to them is silent, the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare that any portions of those provisions which are not expressly made applicable by this Code shall not apply to those Courts, or shall only apply to them with such modifications as the Local Government, with the sanction aforesaid, may prescribe.

(2) "Revenue Court" in sub-section (1) means a Court having jurisdiction under any local law to entertain suits or other proceedings relating to the rent, revenue or profits of land used for agricultural purposes, but does not include a Civil Court having original jurisdiction under this Code to try such suits or proceedings as being suits or proceedings of a civil nature.

Pecuniary jurisdiction.

6. Save in so far as is otherwise expressly provided, nothing herein contained shall operate to give any Court jurisdiction over suits the amount or value of the subject-matter of which exceeds the pecuniary limits (if any) of its ordinary jurisdiction.

Provincial Small Cause Courts.

7. The following provisions shall not extend to Courts constituted under the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1887, or to Courts exercising the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes under that Act, that is to say,— IX of 1887.

(a) so much of the body of the Code as relates to—

(i) suits excepted from the cognizance of a Court of Small Causes;

(ii) the execution of decrees in such suits;

(iii) the execution of decrees against immoveable property; and

(b) the following sections, that is to say,— section 9,
sections 91 and 92, sections 94 and 95 so far as they relate to injunctions and interlocutory orders, and sections 96 to 112 and 115.

Presidency Small Cause Courts.

8. Save as provided in sections 24, 38 to 41, 75, clauses (a), (b) and (c), 76, 77 and 155 to 158, and by the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882, the provisions in the body of this Code shall not extend to any suit or proceeding in any Court of Small Causes established in the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay. XV of 1882.

PART I.

SUITS IN GENERAL.

JURISDICTION OF THE COURTS AND RES JUDICATA.

Courts to try all civil suits unless barred.

9. The Courts shall (subject to the provisions herein contained) have jurisdiction to try all suits of a civil nature excepting suits of which their cognizance is either expressly or impliedly barred.

Explanation.—A suit in which the right to property or to an office is contested is a suit of a civil nature, notwithstanding that such right may depend entirely on the decision of questions as to religious rites or ceremonies.

Stay of suit.

10. No Court shall proceed with the trial of any suit in which the matter in issue is also directly and substantially in issue in a previously instituted suit between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim litigating under the same title where such suit is pending in the same or any other Court in British India having jurisdiction to grant the relief claimed, or in any Court

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Part I.—Suits in General.)

beyond the limits of British India established or continued by the Governor General in Council and having like jurisdiction, or before His Majesty in Council.

Explanation.—The pendency of a suit in a foreign Court does not preclude the Courts in British India from trying a suit founded on the same cause of action.

Res judicata.

11. No Court shall try any suit or issue in which the matter directly and substantially in issue has been directly and substantially in issue in a former suit between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, litigating under the same title, in a Court competent to try such subsequent suit or the suit in which such issue has been subsequently raised, and has been heard and finally decided by such Court.

Explanation I.—The expression "former suit" shall denote a suit which has been decided prior to the suit in question whether or not it was instituted prior thereto.

Explanation II.—For the purposes of this section, the competence of a Court shall be determined irrespective of any provisions as to a right of appeal from the decision of such Court.

Explanation III.—The matter above referred to must in the former suit have been alleged by one party and either denied or admitted, expressly or impliedly, by the other.

Explanation IV.—Any matter which might and ought to have been made ground of defence or attack in such former suit shall be deemed to have been a matter directly and substantially in issue in such suit.

Explanation V.—Any relief claimed in the plaint, which is not expressly granted by the decree, shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to have been refused.

Explanation VI.—Where persons litigate bonâ fide in respect of a public right or of a private right claimed in common for themselves and others, all persons interested in such right shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to claim under the persons so litigating.

Bar to further suit.

12. Where a plaintiff is precluded by rules from instituting a further suit in respect of any particular cause of action, he shall not be entitled to institute a suit in respect of such cause of action in any Court to which this Code applies.

When foreign judgment not conclusive.

13. A foreign judgment shall be conclusive as to any matter thereby directly adjudicated upon between the same parties or between parties under whom they or any of them claim litigating under the same title except—

(a) where it has not been pronounced by a Court of competent jurisdiction;

(b) where it has not been given on the merits of the case;

(c) where it appears on the face of the proceedings to be founded on an incorrect view of international law or a refusal to recognise the law of British India in cases in which such law is applicable;

(d) where the proceedings in which the judgment was obtained are opposed to natural justice;

(e) where it has been obtained by fraud;

(f) where it sustains a claim founded on a breach of any law in force in British India.

Presumption as to foreign judgments.

14. The Court shall presume, upon the production of any document purporting to be a certified copy of a foreign judgment, that such judgment was pronounced by a Court of competent jurisdiction, unless the contrary appears on the record; but such presumption may be displaced by proving want of jurisdiction.

PLACE OF SUING.

Court in which suits to be instituted.

15. Every suit shall be instituted in the Court of the lowest grade competent to try it.

Suits to be instituted where subject-matter situate.

16. Subject to the pecuniary or other limitations prescribed by any law, suits—

(a) for the recovery of immoveable property with or without rent or profits,

(b) for the partition of immoveable property,

(c) for foreclosure, sale or redemption in the case of a mortgage of or charge upon immoveable property,

(d) for the determination of any other right to or interest in immoveable property,

(e) for compensation for wrong to immoveable property,

(f) for the recovery of moveable property actually under distraint or attachment, shall be instituted in the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property is situate:

Provided that a suit to obtain relief respecting, or compensation for wrong to, immoveable property held by or on behalf of the defendant may, where the relief sought can be entirely obtained through his personal obedience, be instituted either in the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property is situate, or in the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the defendant actually and voluntarily resides, or carries on business, or personally works for gain.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part I.—Suits in General.)

Explanation.—In this section "property" means property situate in British India.

Suits for immoveable property situate within jurisdiction of different Courts.

17. Where a suit is to obtain relief respecting, or compensation for wrong to, immoveable property situate within the jurisdiction of different Courts, the suit may be instituted in any Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction any portion of the property is situate:

Provided that, in respect of the value of the subject-matter of the suit, the entire claim is cognizable by such Court.

Place of institution of suit where local limits of jurisdiction of Courts are uncertain.

18. (1) Where it is alleged to be uncertain within the local limits of the jurisdiction of which of two or more Courts any immoveable property is situate, any one of those Courts may, if satisfied that there is ground for the alleged uncertainty, record a statement to that effect and thereupon proceed to entertain and dispose of any suit relating to that property, and its decree in the suit shall have the same effect as if the property were situate within the local limits of its jurisdiction:

Provided that the suit is one with respect to which the Court is competent as regards the nature and value of the suit to exercise jurisdiction.

(2) Where a statement has not been recorded under sub-section (1), and an objection is taken before an appellate or revisional Court that a decree or order in a suit relating to such property was made by a Court not having jurisdiction where the property is situate, the appellate or revisional Court shall not allow the objection unless in its opinion there was, at the time of the institution of the suit, no reasonable ground for uncertainty as to the Court having jurisdiction with respect thereto and there has been a consequent failure of justice.

Suits for compensation for wrongs to person or moveables.

19. Where a suit is for compensation for wrong done to the person or to moveable property, if the wrong was done within the local limits of the jurisdiction of one Court and the defendant resides, or carries on business, or personally works for gain, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of another Court, the suit may be instituted at the option of the plaintiff in either of the said Courts.

Illustrations.

(a) A, residing in Delhi, beats B in Calcutta. B may sue A either in Calcutta or in Delhi.

(b) A, residing in Delhi, publishes in Calcutta statements defamatory of B. B may sue A either in Calcutta or in Delhi.

Other suits to be instituted where defendants reside or cause of action arises.

20. Subject to the limitations aforesaid, every suit shall be instituted in a Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction—

(a) the defendant, or each of the defendants where there are more than one, at the time of the commencement of the suit, actually and voluntarily resides, or carries on business, or personally works for gain; or

(b) any of the defendants, where there are more than one, at the time of the commencement of the suit, actually and voluntarily resides, or carries on business, or personally works for gain, provided that in such case either the leave of the Court is given, or the defendants who do not reside, or carry on business, or personally work for gain, as aforesaid, acquiesce in such institution; or

(c) the cause of action, wholly or in part, arises.

Explanation I.—Where a person has a permanent dwelling at one place and also a temporary residence at another place, he shall be deemed to reside at both places in respect of any cause of action arising at the place where he has such temporary residence.

Explanation II.—A corporation shall be deemed to carry on business at its sole or principal office in British India or, in respect of any cause of action arising at any place where it has also a subordinate office, at such place.

Illustrations.

(a) A is a tradesman in Calcutta. B carries on business in Delhi. B, by his agent in Calcutta, buys goods of A and requests A to deliver them to the East Indian Railway Company. A delivers the goods accordingly in Calcutta. A may sue B for the price of the goods either in Calcutta, where the cause of action has arisen, or in Delhi, where B carries on business.

(b) A resides at Simla, B at Calcutta and C at Delhi. A, B and C being together at Benares, B and C make a joint promissory note payable on demand, and deliver it to A. A may sue B and C at Benares, where the cause of action arose. He may also sue them at Calcutta, where B resides, or at Delhi, where C resides; but in each of these cases, if the non-resident defendant objects, the suit cannot proceed without the leave of the Court.

Objections to jurisdiction.

21. No objection as to the place of suing shall be allowed by any appellate or revisional Court unless such objection was taken in the Court of first instance at the earliest possible opportunity and in all cases where issues are settled at or before such settlement, and unless there has been a consequent failure of justice.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Part I.—Suits in General.)

22. Where a suit may be instituted in any one of two or more Courts and is instituted in one of such Courts, any defendant, after notice to the other parties may, at the earliest possible opportunity and in all cases where issues are settled at or before such settlement, apply to have the suit transferred to another Court, and the Court to which such application is made, after considering the objections of the other parties (if any), shall determine in which of the several Courts having jurisdiction the suit shall proceed.

Power to transfer suits which may be instituted in more than one Court.

23. (1) Where the several Courts having jurisdiction are subordinate to the same Appellate Court, an application under section 22 shall be made to the Appellate Court.

To what Court application lies.

(2) Where such Courts are subordinate to different Appellate Courts but to the same High Court, the application shall be made to the said High Court.

(3) Where such Courts are subordinate to different High Courts, the application shall be made to the High Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the Court in which the suit is brought is situate.

24. (1) On the application of any of the parties and after notice to the parties and after hearing such of them as desire to be heard, or of its own motion without such notice, the High Court or the District Court may at any stage—

General power of transfer and withdrawal.

(a) transfer any suit, appeal or other proceeding pending before it for trial or disposal to any Court subordinate to it and competent to try or dispose of the same, or

(b) withdraw any suit, appeal or other proceeding pending in any Court subordinate to it, and

(i) try or dispose of the same; or

(ii) transfer the same for trial or disposal to any Court subordinate to it and competent to try or dispose of the same; or

(iii) retransfer the same for trial or disposal to the Court from which it was withdrawn.

(2) Where any suit or proceeding has been transferred or withdrawn under sub-section (1), the Court which thereafter tries such suit may, subject to any special directions in the case of an order of transfer, either retry it or proceed from the point at which it was transferred or withdrawn.

(3) For the purposes of this section, Courts of Additional and Assistant Judges shall be deemed to be subordinate to the District Court.

(4) The Court trying any suit transferred or withdrawn under this section from a Court of Small Causes shall, for the purposes of such suit, be deemed to be a Court of Small Causes.

25. (1) Where any party to a suit, appeal or other proceeding pending in a High Court presided over by a single Judge objects to its being heard by him and the Judge is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for the objection, he shall make a report to the Governor General in Council, who may, by notification in the Gazette of India, transfer such suit, appeal or proceeding to any other High Court.

Power of Governor General in Council to transfer suit.

(2) The law applicable to any suit, appeal or proceeding so transferred shall be the law which the Court in which the suit, appeal or proceeding was originally instituted ought to have applied to such case.

INSTITUTION OF SUITS.

26. Every suit shall be instituted by the presentation of a plaint or in such other manner as may be prescribed.

Institution of suits.

SUMMONS AND DISCOVERY.

27. Where a suit has been duly instituted, a summons may be issued to the defendant to appear and answer the claim and may be served in manner prescribed.

Summons to defendant.

28. (1) A summons may be sent for service in another province to such Court and in such manner as may be prescribed by rules in force in that province.

Service of summons where defendant resides in another province.

(2) The Court to which such summons is sent shall, upon receipt thereof, proceed as if it had been issued by such Court and shall then return the summons to the Court of issue together with the record (if any) of its proceedings with regard thereto.

29. Summonses issued by any Civil or Revenue Court situate beyond the limits of British India may be sent to the Courts in British India and served as if they had been issued by such Courts:

Service of foreign summonses.

Provided that the Courts issuing such summonses have been established or continued by the authority of the Governor General in Council, or that the Governor General in Council has, by notification in the Gazette of India, declared the provisions of this section to apply to such Courts.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Part I.—Suits in General. Part II.—Execution.)

30. Subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed, the Court may, at any time, either of its own motion or on the application of any party,—

Power to order discovery and the like.

(a) make such orders as may be necessary or reasonable in all matters relating to the delivery and answering of interrogatories, the admission of documents and facts, and the discovery, inspection, production, impounding and return of documents or other material objects producible as evidence;

(b) issue summonses to persons whose attendance is required either to give evidence or to produce documents or such other objects as aforesaid;

(c) order any fact to be proved by affidavit.

31. The provisions in sections 27, 28 and 29 shall apply to summonses to give evidence or to produce documents or other material objects.

Summons to witness.

32. The Court may compel the attendance of any person to whom a summons has been issued under section 30 and for that purpose may—

Penalty for default.

(a) issue a warrant for his arrest;
(b) attach and sell his property;
(c) impose a fine upon him not exceeding five hundred rupees;
(d) order him to furnish security for his appearance and in default commit him to the civil prison.

JUDGMENT AND DECREE.

33. The Court, after the case has been heard, shall pronounce judgment, and on such judgment a decree shall follow.

Judgment and decree.

INTEREST.

34. (1) Where and in so far as a decree is for the payment of money, the Court may, in the decree, order interest at such rate as the Court deems reasonable to be paid on the principal sum adjudged, from the date of the suit to the date of the decree, in addition to any interest adjudged on such principal sum for any period prior to the institution of the suit, with further interest at such rate as the Court deems reasonable on the aggregate sum so adjudged, from the date of the decree to the date of payment, or to such earlier date as the Court thinks fit.

Interest.

(2) Where such a decree is silent with respect to the payment of further interest on such aggregate sum as aforesaid from the date of the decree to the date of payment or other earlier date, the Court shall be deemed to have refused such interest, and a separate suit therefor shall not lie.

COSTS.

35. (1) Subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed, and to the provisions of any law for the time being in force, the costs of and incident to all suits shall be in the discretion of the Court, and the Court shall have full power to determine by whom or out of what property and to what extent such costs are to be paid, and to give all necessary directions for the purposes aforesaid. The fact that the Court has no jurisdiction to try the suit shall be no bar to the exercise of such powers.

Costs.

(2) Where the Court directs that any costs shall not follow the event, the Court shall state its reasons in writing.

(3) The Court may give interest on costs at any rate not exceeding six per cent. per annum, and such interest shall be added to the costs and shall be recoverable as such.

PART II.
EXECUTION.

GENERAL.

36. The provisions of this Code relating to the execution of decrees shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply to the execution of orders.

Application to orders.

37. The expression "Court which passed a decree", or words to that effect, shall, in relation to the execution of decrees, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, be deemed to include,—

Definition of Court which passed a decree.

(a) where the decree to be executed has been passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction, the Court of first instance, and

(b) where the Court of first instance has ceased to exist or to have jurisdiction to execute it, the Court which, if the suit wherein the decree was passed was instituted at the time of making the application for the execution of the decree, would have jurisdiction to try such suit.

COURTS BY WHICH DECREES MAY BE EXECUTED.

38. A decree may be executed either by the Court which passed it, or by the Court to which it is sent for execution.

Court by which decree may be executed.

39. (1) The Court which passed a decree may, on the application of the decree-holder, send it for execution to another Court,—

Transfer of decree.

(a) if the person against whom the decree is passed actually and voluntarily resides or carries on business, or personally works for gain, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of such other Court, or

(b) if such person has not property within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court which passed the decree sufficient to satisfy such decree and

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part II.—Execution.)

has property within the local limits of the jurisdiction of such other Court, or

(c) if the decree directs the sale or delivery of immoveable property situate outside the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court which passed it, or

(d) if the Court which passed the decree considers for any other reason, which it shall record in writing, that the decree should be executed by such other Court.

(2) The Court which passed a decree may of its own motion send it for execution to any subordinate Court of competent jurisdiction.

40. Where a decree is sent for execution in another province, it shall be sent to such Court and executed in such manner as may be prescribed by rules in force in that province.

Transfer of decree to Court in another province.

41. The Court to which a decree is sent for execution shall certify to the Court which passed it the fact of such execution, or where the former Court fails to execute the same the circumstances attending such failure.

Result of execution-proceedings to be certified.

42. The Court executing a decree sent to it shall have the same powers in executing such decree as if it had been passed by itself. All persons disobeying or obstructing the execution of the decree shall be punishable by such Court in the same manner as if it had passed the decree. And its order in executing such decree shall be subject to the same rules in respect of appeal as if the decree had been passed by itself.

Powers of Court in executing transferred decree.

43. Any decree passed by a Civil Court established in any part of British India to which the provisions relating to execution do not extend, or by any Court established or continued by the authority of the Governor General in Council in the territories of any foreign Prince or State, may, if it cannot be executed within the jurisdiction of the Court by which it was passed, be executed in manner herein provided within the jurisdiction of any Court in British India.

Execution of decrees passed by British Courts in places to which this Part does not extend or in foreign territory.

44. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that the decrees of any Civil or Revenue Courts situate in the territories of any native Prince or State in alliance with His Majesty and not established or continued by the authority of the Governor General in Council, or any class of such decrees, may be executed in British India as if they had been passed by the Courts of British India.

Execution of decrees passed by Courts of native States.

45. So much of the foregoing sections of this Part as empowers a Court to send a decree for execution to another Court shall be construed as empowering a Court in British India to send a decree for execution to any Court established or continued by the authority of the Governor General in Council in the territories of any foreign Prince or State to which the Governor General in Council has, by notification in the Gazette of India, declared this section to apply.

Execution of decrees in foreign territory.

46. (1) Upon the application of the decree-holder the Court which passed the decree may, whenever it thinks fit, issue a precept to any other Court which would be competent to execute such decree to attach any property belonging to the judgment-debtor and specified in the precept.

Precepts.

(2) The Court to which a precept is sent shall proceed to attach the property in the manner prescribed in regard to the attachment of property in execution of a decree:

Provided that no attachment under a precept shall continue for more than two months unless the period of attachment is extended by an order of the Court which passed the decree or unless before the determination of such attachment the decree has been transferred to the Court by which the attachment has been made and the decree-holder has applied for an order for the sale of such property.

QUESTIONS TO BE DETERMINED BY COURT EXECUTING DECREE.

47. (1) All questions arising between the parties to the suit in which the decree was passed, or their representatives, and relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree, shall be determined by the Court executing the decree and not by a separate suit.

Questions to be determined by the Court executing decree.

(2) The Court may, subject to any objection as to limitation or jurisdiction, treat a proceeding under this section as a suit or a suit as a proceeding and may, if necessary, order payment of any additional court-fees.

(3) Where a question arises as to whether any person is or is not the representative of a party, such question shall, for the purposes of this section, be determined by the Court.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, a plaintiff whose suit has been dismissed and a defendant against whom a suit has been dismissed, are parties to the suit.

LIMIT OF TIME FOR EXECUTION.

48. (1) Where an application to execute a decree not being a decree granting an injunction has been made, no order for the execution of the same decree shall be made upon any fresh Execution barred in certain cases.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part II.—Execution.)

application presented after the expiration of twelve years from—

(a) the date of the decree sought to be executed, or,

(b) where the decree or any subsequent order directs any payment of money or the delivery of any property to be made at a certain date or at recurring periods, the date of the default in making the payment or delivery in respect of which the applicant seeks to execute the decree.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed—

(a) to preclude the Court from ordering the execution of a decree upon an application presented after the expiration of the said term of twelve years, where the judgment-debtor has, by fraud or force, prevented the execution of the decree at some time within twelve years immediately before the date of the application ; or

(b) to limit or otherwise affect the operation of article 180 of the second schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1877.

XV of 1877.

TRANSFEREES AND LEGAL REPRESENTATIVES.

Transferee.

49. Every transferee of a decree shall hold the same subject to the equities (if any) which the judgment-debtor might have enforced against the original decree-holder.

Legal representative.

50. (1) Where a judgment-debtor dies before the decree has been fully satisfied, the holder of the decree may apply to the Court which passed it to execute the same against the legal representative of the deceased.

(2) Where the decree is executed against such legal representative, he shall be liable only to the extent of the property of the deceased which has come to his hands and has not been duly disposed of; and, for the purpose of ascertaining such liability, the Court executing the decree may, of its own motion or on the application of the decree-holder, compel such legal representative to produce such accounts as it thinks fit.

PROCEDURE IN EXECUTION.

Powers of Court to enforce execution.

51. Subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed, the Court may, on the application of the decree-holder, order execution of the decree—

(a) by delivery of any property specifically decreed;

(b) by attachment [illegible] sale or by sale without at[illegible]nt of any property;

(c) by arrest and detention in prison;

(d) by appointing a receiver ; or

(e) in such other manner as the nature of the relief granted may require.

Enforcement of decree against legal representative

52. (1) Where a decree is passed against a party as the legal representative of a deceased person, and the decree is for the payment of money out of the property of the deceased, it may be executed by the attachment and sale of any such property.

(2) Where no such property remains in the possession of the judgment-debtor and he fails to satisfy the Court that he has duly applied such property of the deceased as is proved to have come into his possession, the decree may be executed against the judgment-debtor to the extent of the property in respect of which he has failed so to satisfy the Court in the same manner as if the decree had been against him personally.

Liability of ancestral property.

53. For the purposes of section 50 and section 52, property in the hands of a son or other descendant which is liable under Hindu law for the payment of the debt of a deceased ancestor, in respect of which a decree has been passed, shall be deemed to be property of the deceased which has come to the hands of the son or other descendant as his legal representative.

Partition of estate or separation of share.

54. Where the decree is for the partition of an undivided estate assessed to the payment of revenue to the Government, or for the separate possession of a share of such an estate, the partition of the estate or the separation of the share shall be made by the Collector or any gazetted subordinate of the Collector deputed by him in this behalf, in accordance with the law (if any) for the time being in force relating to the partition, or the separate possession of shares, of such estates.

ARREST AND DETENTION.

Arrest and detention.

55. (1) A judgment-debtor may be arrested in execution of a decree at any hour and on any day, and shall, as soon as practicable, be brought before the Court, and his detention may be in the civil prison of the district in which the Court ordering the detention is situate, or, where such civil prison does not afford suitable accommodation, in any other place which the Local Government may appoint for the detention of persons ordered by the Courts of such district to be detained :

Provided, firstly, that, for the purpose of making an arrest under this section, no dwelling-house shall be entered after sunset and before sunrise :

Provided, secondly, that no outer door of a dwelling-house shall be broken open unless such dwelling-house is in the occupancy of the judgment-debtor and he refuses or in any way prevents access thereto, but when the officer authorized to make the arrest has duly gained access to any dwelling-house, he may break open the door of any room in which he has reason to believe the judgment-debtor is to be found:

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Part II.—Execution.)

Provided, thirdly, that, if the room is in the actual occupancy of a woman who is not the judgment-debtor and who according to the customs of the country does not appear in public, the officer authorized to make the arrest shall give notice to her that she is at liberty to withdraw, and, after allowing a reasonable time for her to withdraw and giving her reasonable facility for withdrawing, may enter the room for the purpose of making the arrest:

Provided, fourthly, that, where the decree in execution of which a judgment-debtor is arrested, is a decree for the payment of money and the judgment-debtor pays the amount of the decree and the costs of the arrest to the officer arresting him, such officer shall at once release him.

(2) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare that any person or class of persons whose arrest might be attended with danger or inconvenience to the public shall not be liable to arrest in execution of a decree otherwise than in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed by the Local Government in this behalf.

(3) Where a judgment-debtor is arrested in execution of a decree for the payment of money and brought before the Court, the Court shall inform him that he may apply to be declared an insolvent, and that he will be discharged if he has not committed any act of bad faith regarding the subject of the application and if he complies with the provisions of the law of insolvency for the time being in force.

(4) Where a judgment-debtor expresses his intention to apply to be declared an insolvent and furnishes security, to the satisfaction of the Court, that he will within one month so apply, and that he will appear, when called upon, in any proceeding upon the application or upon the decree in execution of which he was arrested, the Court shall release him from arrest, and, if he fails so to apply and to appear, the Court may either direct the security to be realized or commit him to the civil prison in execution of the decree.

Prohibition of arrest or detention of women in execution of decree for money.

56. Notwithstanding anything in this Part, the Court shall not order the arrest or detention in the civil prison of a woman in execution of a decree for the payment of money.

Subsistence-allowance.

57. The Local Government may fix scales, graduated according to rank, race and nationality, of monthly allowances payable for the subsistence of judgment-debtors.

Detention and release.

58. (1) Every person detained in the civil prison in execution of a decree shall be so detained,—

(a) where the decree is for the payment of a sum of money exceeding fifty rupees, for a period of six months, and,

(b) in any other case, for a period of six weeks:

Provided that he shall be released from such detention before the expiration of the said period of six months or six weeks, as the case may be,—

(i) on the amount mentioned in the warrant for his detention being paid to the officer in charge of the civil prison, or

(ii) on the decree against him being otherwise fully satisfied, or

(iii) on the request of the person on whose application he has been so detained, or

(iv) on the omission by the person, on whose application he has been so detained, to pay subsistence-allowance:

Provided, also, that he shall not be released from such detention under clause (ii) or clause (iii), without the order of the Court.

(2) A judgment-debtor released from detention under this section shall not merely by reason of his release be discharged from his debt, but he shall not be liable to be re-arrested under the decree in execution of which he was detained in the civil prison.

Release on ground of illness.

59. (1) At any time after a warrant for the arrest of a judgment-debtor has been issued the Court may cancel it on the ground of his serious illness.

(2) Where a judgment-debtor has been arrested, the Court may release him if, in its opinion, he is not in a fit state of health to be detained in the civil prison.

(3) Where a judgment-debtor has been committed to the civil prison, he may be released therefrom—

(a) by the Local Government, on the ground of the existence of any infectious or contagious disease, or

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part II.—Execution.)

(b) by the committing Court, or any Court to which that Court is subordinate, on the ground of his suffering from any serious illness.

(4) A judgment-debtor released under this section may be re-arrested, but the period of his detention in the civil prison shall not in the aggregate exceed that prescribed by section 58.

ATTACHMENT.

Property liable to attachment and sale in execution of decree.

60. (1) The following property is liable to attachment and sale in execution of a decree, namely, lands, houses or other buildings, goods, money, banknotes, cheques, bills of exchange, hundis, promissory notes, Government securities, bonds or other securities for money, debts, shares in a corporation and, save as hereinafter mentioned, all other saleable property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to the judgment-debtor, or over which, or the profits of which, he has a disposing power which he may exercise for his own benefit, whether the same be held in the name of the judgment-debtor or by another person in trust for him or on his behalf :

Provided that the following particulars shall not be liable to such attachment or sale, namely :—

(a) the necessary wearing-apparel, cooking vessels, beds and bedding of the judgment-debtor, his wife and children, and such personal ornaments as, in accordance with religious usage, cannot be parted with by any woman;

(b) tools of artizans, and, where the judgment-debtor is an agriculturist, his implements of husbandry and such cattle and seed-grain as may, in the opinion of the Court, be necessary to enable him to earn his livelihood as such, and such portion of agricultural produce or of any class of agricultural produce as may have been declared to be free from liability under the provisions of the next following section;

(c) houses and other buildings (with the materials and the sites thereof and the land immediately appurtenant thereto and necessary for their enjoyment) belonging to an agriculturist and occupied by him;

(d) books of account;

(e) a mere right to sue for damages;

(f) any right of personal service;

(g) stipends and gratuities allowed to pensioners of the Government, or payable out of any service family pension fund notified in the Gazette of India by the Governor General in Council in this behalf, and political pensions;

(h) allowances (being less than salary) of any public officer or of any servant of a railway company or local authority while absent from duty;

(i) the salary or allowances equal to salary of any such public officer or servant as is referred to in clause (h), while on duty, to the extent of—

(i) the whole of the salary, where the salary does not exceed twenty rupees monthly;

(ii) twenty rupees monthly, where the salary exceeds twenty ru[illegible] and does not exceed [illegible]ty rupees monthly; and

(iii) one moiety of the sala[illegible] in any other case;

(j) the pay and allowances of persons to whom the Indian Articles of War apply; V of 1869.

(k) all compulsory deposits and other sums in or derived from any fund to which the Provident Funds Act, 1897, for the time being applies in so far as they are declared by the said Act not to be liable to attachment; IX of 1897.

(l) the wages of labourers and domestic servants whether payable in money or in kind;

(m) an expectancy of succession by survivorship or other merely contingent or possible right or interest;

(n) a right to future maintenance;

(o) any allowance declared by any law passed under the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892, to be exempt from liability to attachment or sale in execution of a decree; and, 24 & 25 Vict., c. 67. 55 & 56 Vict., c. 14.

(p) where the judgment-debtor is a person liable for the payment of land-revenue, any moveable property which, under any law for the time being applicable to him, is exempt from sale for the recovery of an arrear of such revenue.

Explanation.—The particulars mentioned in clauses (g), (h), (i), (j), (l) and (o) are exempt from attachment or sale whether before or after they are actually payable.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed—

(a) to exempt houses and other buildings (with the materials and the sites thereof and the lands immediately

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part II.—Execution.)

appurtenant thereto and necessary for their enjoyment) from attachment or sale in execution of decrees for rent of any such house, building, site or land, or (b) to affect the provisions of the Army Act or of any similar law for the time being in force.

44 & 45 Vict. c. 58.

Partial exemption of agricultural produce.

61. The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by general or special order published in the local official Gazette, declare that such portion of agricultural produce, or of any class of agricultural produce, as may appear to the Local Government to be necessary for the purpose of providing until the next harvest for the due cultivation of the land and for the support of the judgment-debtor and his family shall, in the case of all agriculturists or of any class of agriculturists, be exempted from liability to attachment or sale in execution of a decree.

Seizure of property in dwelling-house.

62. (1) No person executing any process under this Code directing or authorizing seizure of moveable property shall enter any dwelling-house after sunset and before sunrise.

(2) No outer door of a dwelling-house shall be broken open unless such dwelling-house is in the occupancy of the judgment-debtor and he refuses or in any way prevents access thereto, but when the person executing any such process has duly gained access to any dwelling-house, he may break open the door of any room in which he has reason to believe any such property to be.

(3) Where a room in a dwelling-house is in the actual occupancy of a woman who, according to the customs of the country, does not appear in public, the person executing the process shall give notice to such woman that she is at liberty to withdraw; and, after allowing reasonable time for her to withdraw and giving her reasonable facility for withdrawing, he may enter such room for the purpose of seizing the property, using at the same time every precaution, consistent with these provisions, to prevent its clandestine removal.

Property attached in execution of decrees of several Courts.

63. (1) Where property not in the custody of any Court is under attachment in execution of decrees of more Courts than one, the Court which shall receive or realize such property and shall determine any claim thereto and any objection to the attachment thereof shall be the Court of highest grade, or, where there is no difference in grade between such Courts, the Court under whose decree the property was first attached.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to invalidate any proceeding taken by a Court executing one of such decrees.

Private alienation of property after attachment to be void.

64. Where an attachment has been made, any private transfer or delivery of the property attached or of any interest therein and any payment to the judgment-debtor of any debt, dividend or other monies contrary to such attachment, shall be void as against all claims enforceable under the attachment.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, claims enforceable under an attachment include claims for the rateable distribution of assets.

SALE.

Purchaser's title.

65. Where immoveable property is sold in execution of a decree and such sale has become absolute, the property shall be deemed to have vested in the purchaser from the time when the property is sold and not from the time when the sale becomes absolute.

Suit against purchaser not maintainable on ground of purchase being on behalf of plaintiff.

66. (1) No suit shall be maintained against any person claiming title under a purchase certified by the Court in such manner as may be prescribed on the ground that the purchase was made on behalf of the plaintiff or on behalf of some one through whom the plaintiff claims.

(2) Nothing in this section shall bar a suit to obtain a declaration that the name of any purchaser certified as aforesaid was inserted in the certificate fraudulently or without the consent of the real purchaser, or interfere with the right of a third person to proceed against that property, though ostensibly sold to the certified purchaser, on the ground that it is liable to satisfy a claim of such third person against the real owner.

Power for Local Government to make rules as to sales of land in execution of decrees for payment of money.

67. The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, make rules for any local area imposing conditions in respect of the sale of any class of interests in land in execution of decrees for the payment of money, where such interests are so uncertain or undetermined as, in the opinion of the Local Government, to make it impossible to fix their value.

DELEGATION TO COLLECTOR OF POWER TO EXECUTE DECREES AGAINST IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY.

Power to prescribe rules for transferring to Collector execution of certain decrees.

68. The Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, declare, by notification in the local official Gazette, that in any local area the execution of decrees in cases in which a Court has ordered any immoveable property to be sold, or the execution of any particular kind of such decrees, or the execution of decrees ordering the sale of any particular kind of, or interest in, immoveable property, shall be transferred to the Collector.

Provisions of Third Schedule to apply.

69. The provisions set forth in the Third Schedule shall apply to all cases in which the execution of a decree has been transferred under the last preceding section.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part II.—Execution.)

Rules of procedure.

70. (1) The Local Government may make rules consistent with the aforesaid provisions—

(a) for the transmission of the decree from the Court to the Collector, and for regulating the procedure of the Collector and his subordinates in executing the same, and for retransmitting the decree from the Collector to the Court;

(b) conferring upon the Collector or any gazetted subordinate of the Collector all or any of the powers which the Court might exercise in the execution of the decree if the execution thereof had not been transferred to the Collector;

(c) providing for orders made by the Collector or any gazetted subordinate of the Collector, or orders made on appeal with respect to such orders, being subject to appeal to, and revision by, superior revenue-authorities as nearly as may be as the orders made by the Court, or orders made on appeal with respect to such orders, would be subject to appeal to, and revision by, appellate or revisional Courts under this Code or other law for the time being in force if the decree had not been transferred to the Collector.

Jurisdiction of Civil Courts barred.

(2) A power conferred by rules made under sub-section (1) upon the Collector or any gazetted subordinate of the Collector, or upon any appellate or revisional authority, shall not be exerciseable by the Court or by any Court in exercise of any appellate or revisional jurisdiction which it has with respect to decrees or orders of the Court.

Collector deemed to be acting judicially.

71. In executing a decree transferred to the Collector under section 68 the Collector and his subordinates shall be deemed to be acting judicially.

Where Court may authorise Collector to stay public sale of land.

72. (1) Where in any local area in which no declaration under section 68 is in force the property attached consists of land or of a share in land, and the Collector represents to the Court that the public sale of the land or share is objectionable and that satisfaction of the decree may be made within a reasonable period by a temporary alienation of the land or share, the Court may authorize the Collector to provide for such satisfaction in the manner recommended by him instead of proceeding to a sale of the land or share.

(2) In every such case the provisions of sections 69 to 71 and of any rules made in pursuance thereof shall apply so far as they are applicable.

DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS.

Proceeds of execution-sale to be rateably distributed among decree-holders.

73. (1) Where assets are held by a Court and more persons than one have, before the receipt of such assets, made application to the Court for the execution of decrees for the payment of money passed against the same judgment-debtor and have not obtained satisfaction thereof, the assets, after deducting the costs of realization, shall be rateably distributed among all such persons:

(a) where any property is sold subject to a mortgage or charge, the mortgagee or incumbrancer shall not be entitled to share in any surplus arising from such sale;

(b) where any property liable to be sold in execution of a decree is subject to a mortgage or charge, the Court may, with the consent of the mortgagee or incumbrancer, order that the property be sold free from the mortgage or charge, giving to the mortgagee or incumbrancer the same interest in the proceeds of the sale as he had in the property sold;

(c) where any immoveable property is sold in execution of a decree ordering its sale for the discharge of an incumbrance thereon, the proceeds of sale shall be applied—first, in defraying the expenses of the sale;

secondly, in discharging the amount due under the decree;

thirdly, in discharging the interest and principal monies due on subsequent incumbrances (if any); and,

fourthly, rateably among the holders of decrees for the payment of money against the judgment-debtor, who have, prior to the sale of the property, applied to the Court which passed the decree ordering such sale for execution of such decrees, and have not obtained satisfaction thereof.

(2) Where all or any of the assets liable to be rateably distributed under this section are paid to a person not entitled to receive the same, any person so entitled may sue such person to compel him to refund the assets.

(3) Nothing in this section affects any right of the Government.

RESISTANCE TO EXECUTION.

Resistance to execution.

74. Where the Court is satisfied that the holder of a decree for the possession of immoveable property or that the purchaser of immoveable property sold in execution of a decree has been resisted or obstructed in obtaining possession of the property by the judgment-debtor or some person on his behalf and that such resistance or obstruction was without any just cause, the Court may, at the instance of the decree-holder or purchaser, order the judgment-debtor or such other person to be detained in the civil prison for a term which may extend to thirty days and may further direct that the decree-holder or purchaser be put into possession of the property.

PART III.

INCIDENTAL PROCEEDINGS.

COMMISSIONS.

75. Subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed, the Court may issue a commission—

Power of Court to issue commissions.

(a) to examine any person;
(b) to make a local investigation;
(c) to examine or adjust accounts; or
(d) to make a partition.

76. (1) A commission for the examination of any person may be issued to any Court (not being a High Court) situate in a province other than the province in which the Court of issue is situate and having jurisdiction in the place in which the person to be examined resides.

Commission to another Court.

(2) Every Court receiving a commission for the examination of any person under sub-section (1) shall examine him or cause him to be examined pursuant thereto, and the commission, when it has been duly executed, shall be returned together with the evidence taken under it to the Court from which it was issued, unless the order for issuing the commission has otherwise directed, in which case the commission shall be returned in terms of such order.

77. In lieu of issuing a commission the Court may issue a letter of request to examine a witness residing at any place not within British India.

Letter of request.

78. The provisions as to the execution and return of commissions for the examination of witnesses shall apply to commissions issued by—

Commissions issued by foreign Courts.

(a) Courts situate beyond the limits of British India and established or continued by the authority of His Majesty or of the Governor General in Council, or
(b) Courts situate in any part of the British Empire other than British India, or
(c) Courts of any foreign country for the time being in alliance with His Majesty.

PART IV.

SUITS IN PARTICULAR CASES.

SUITS BY OR AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT OR PUBLIC OFFICERS IN THEIR OFFICIAL CAPACITY.

79. (1) Suits by or against the Government shall be instituted by or against the Secretary of State for India in Council.

Suits by or against Government.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect any information exhibited by the Advocate General in exercise of the power declared by section 111 of the East India Company Act, 1813.

53 Geo. 3, c. 155.

80. No suit shall be instituted against the Secretary of State for India in Council, or against a public officer in respect of any act purporting to be done by such public officer in his official capacity, until the expiration of two months next after notice in writing has been, in the case of the Secretary of State in Council, delivered to, or left at the office of, a Secretary to the Local Government or the Collector of the district, and, in the case of a public officer, delivered to him or left at his office, stating the cause of action, the name, description and place of residence of the plaintiff and the relief which he claims; and the plaint shall contain a statement that such notice has been so delivered or left.

Notice.

81. In a suit instituted against a public officer in respect of any act purporting to be done by him in his official capacity—

Exemption from arrest and personal appearance.

(a) the defendant shall not be liable to arrest nor his property to attachment otherwise than in execution of a decree, and,
(b) where the Court is satisfied that the defendant cannot absent himself from his duty without detriment to the public service, it shall exempt him from appearing in person.

82. (1) Where the decree is against the Secretary of State for India in Council or against a public officer in respect of any such act as aforesaid, a time shall be specified in the decree within which it shall be satisfied; and, if the decree is not satisfied within the time so specified, the Court shall report the case for the orders of the Local Government.

Execution of decree.

(2) Execution shall not be issued on any such decree unless it remains unsatisfied for the period of three months computed from the date of such report.

SUITS BY ALIENS AND BY OR AGAINST FOREIGN AND NATIVE RULERS.

83. (1) Alien enemies residing in British India with the permission of the Governor General in Council, and alien friends, may sue in the Courts of British India, as if they were subjects of His Majesty.

When aliens may sue.

(2) No alien enemy residing in British India without such permission, or residing in a foreign country, shall sue in any of such Courts.

Explanation.—Every person residing in a foreign country the Government of which is at war with the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and carrying on business in that country without a license in that behalf under the hand of one of His Majesty's Secretaries of State or of a Secretary to the Government of India, shall, for the purpose of sub-section (2), be deemed to be an alien enemy residing in a foreign country.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Part IV.—Suits in Praticular Cases.—Part V.—Special Proceedings.)

84. (1) A foreign State may sue in any Court of British India:

When foreign States may sue.

Provided that such State has been recognized by His Majesty or by the Governor General in Council:

Provided, also, that the object of the suit is to enforce a private right vested in the head of such State or in any officer of such State in his public capacity.

(2) Every Court shall take judicial notice of the fact that a foreign State has or has not been recognized by His Majesty or by the Governor General in Council.

85. (1) Persons specially appointed by order of the Government at the request of any Sovereign Prince or Ruling Chief, whether in subordinate alliance with the British Government or otherwise, and whether residing within or without British India, or at the request of any person competent, in the opinion of the Government, to act on behalf of such Prince or Chief, to prosecute or defend any suit on his behalf, shall be deemed to be the recognized agents by whom appearances, acts and applications under this Code may be made or done on behalf of such Prince or Chief.

Persons specially appointed by Government to prosecute or defend for Princes or Chiefs.

(2) An appointment under this section may be made for the purpose of a specified suit or of several specified suits, or for the purpose of all such suits as it may from time to time be necessary to prosecute or defend on behalf of the Prince or Chief.

(3) A person appointed under this section may authorize or appoint persons to make appearances and applications and do acts in any such suit or suits as if he were himself a party thereto.

86. (1) Any such Prince or Chief, and any ambassador or envoy of a foreign State, may, with the consent of the Governor General in Council, certified by the signature of a Secretary to the Government of India, but not without such consent, be sued in any competent Court.

Suits against Princes, Chiefs, ambassadors and envoys.

(2) Such consent may be given with respect to a specified suit or to several specified suits, or with respect to all suits of any specified class or classes, and may specify, in the case of any suit or class of suits, the Court in which the Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy may be sued; but it shall not be given unless it appears to the Government that the Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy—

(a) has instituted a suit in the Court against the person desiring to sue him, or

(b) by himself or another trades within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or

(c) is in possession of immoveable property situate within those limits and is to be sued with reference to such property or for money charged thereon.

(3) No such Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy shall be arrested under this Code, and, except with the consent of the Governor General in Council certified as aforesaid, no decree shall be executed against the property of any such Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy.

(4) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, authorize a Local Government and any Secretary to that Government to exercise, with respect to any Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy named in the notification, the functions assigned by the foregoing sub-sections to the Governor General in Council and a Secretary to the Government of India, respectively.

(5) A person may, as a tenant of immoveable property, sue, without such consent as is mentioned in this section, a Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy from whom he holds or claims to hold the property.

87. A Sovereign Prince or Ruling Chief may sue, and shall be sued, in the name of his State:

Style of Princes and Chiefs as parties to suits.

Provided that in giving the consent referred to in the foregoing section the Governor General in Council or the Local Government, as the case may be, may direct that any such Prince or Chief shall be sued in the name of an agent or in any other name.

INTERPLEADER.

88. Where two or more persons claim adversely to one another the same debt, sum of money or other property, moveable or immoveable, from another person, who claims no interest therein other than for charges or costs and who is ready to pay or deliver it to the rightful claimant, such other person may institute a suit of interpleader against all the claimants for the purpose of obtaining a decision as to the person to whom the payment or delivery shall be made, and of obtaining indemnity for himself:

Where interpleader-suit may be instituted.

Provided that where any suit is pending in which the rights of all parties can properly be decided, no such suit of interpleader shall be instituted.

PART V.

SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS.

ARBITRATION.

89. (1) Save in so far as is otherwise provided by the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899, or by any other law for the time being in force, all references to arbitration whether by an order in a suit or otherwise, and all proceedings thereunder, shall be governed by the provisions contained in the Second Schedule.

Arbitration.

(2) The provisions of the Second Schedule shall not affect any arbitration pending at the commencement of this Code, but shall apply

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(Part V.—Special Proceedings. Part VI.—Supplemental Proceedings.) to any arbitration after that date under any agreement or reference made before the commencement of this Code.

SPECIAL CASE.

Power to state case for opinion of Court.

90. Where any persons agree in writing to state a case for the opinion of the Court, then the Court shall try and determine the same in the manner prescribed.

SUITS RELATING TO PUBLIC MATTERS.

Public nuisances.

91. (1) In the case of a public nuisance the Advocate General, or two or more persons having obtained the consent in writing of the Advocate General, may institute a suit, though no special damage has been caused, for a declaration and injunction or for such other relief as may be appropriate to the circumstances of the case.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect any right of suit which may exist independently of its provisions.

Public charities.

92. (1) In the case of any alleged breach of any express or constructive trust created for public purposes of a charitable or religious nature, or where the direction of the Court is deemed necessary for the administration of any such trust, the Advocate General, or two or more persons having an interest in the trust and having obtained the consent in writing of the Advocate General, may institute a suit, whether contentious or not, in the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction or in any other Court empowered in that behalf by the Local Government within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the whole or any part of the subject-matter of the trust is situate to obtain a decree—

(a) removing any trustee;

(b) appointing a new trustee;

(c) vesting any property in a trustee;

(d) directing accounts and inquiries;

(e) declaring what proportion of the trust-property or of the interest therein shall be allocated to any particular object of the trust;

(f) authorizing the whole or any part of the trust-property to be let, sold, mortgaged or exchanged;

(g) settling a scheme; or

(h) granting such further or other relief as the nature of the case may require.

(2) Save as provided by the Religious Endowments Act, 1863, no suit claiming any of the reliefs specified in sub-section (1) shall be instituted in respect of any such trust as is therein referred to except in conformity with the provisions of that sub-section.

XX of 1863.

Exercise of powers of Advocate General outside Presidency-towns.

93. The powers conferred by sections 91 and 92 on the Advocate General may, outside the Presidency-towns, be, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, exercised also by the Collector or by such officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf.

PART VI.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROCEEDINGS.

Supplemental proceedings.

94. In order to prevent the ends of justice from being defeated the Court may, if it is so prescribed,—

(a) issue a warrant to arrest the defendant and bring him before the Court to show cause why he should not give security for his appearance, and if he fails to comply with any order for security commit him to the civil prison;

(b) direct the defendant to furnish security to produce any property belonging to him and to place the same at the disposal of the Court or order the attachment of any property;

(c) grant a temporary injunction and in case of disobedience commit the person guilty thereof to the civil prison and order that his property be attached and sold;

(d) appoint a receiver of any property and enforce the performance of his duties by attaching and selling his property;

(e) make such other interlocutory orders as may appear to the Court to be just and convenient.

Compensation for obtaining arrest, attachment or injunction on insufficient grounds.

95. (1) Where, in any suit in which an arrest or attachment has been effected or a temporary injunction granted under the last preceding section,—

(a) it appears to the Court that such arrest, attachment or injunction was applied for on insufficient grounds, or the defendant may apply to the Court, and the Court may, upon such application, award against the plaintiff by its order, such amount, not exceeding one thousand rupees, as it deems a reasonable compensation to the defendant for the expense or injury caused to him:

(b) the suit of the plaintiff fails and it appears to the Court that there was no reasonable or probable ground for instituting the same,

Provided that a Court shall not award, under this section, an amount exceeding the limits of its pecuniary jurisdiction.

(2) An order determining any such application shall bar any suit for compensation in respect of such arrest, attachment or injunction.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.
(Part VII.—Appeals.)

PART VII.
APPEALS.

APPEALS FROM ORIGINAL DECREES.

96. (1) Save where otherwise expressly provided in the body of this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie from every decree passed by any Court exercising original jurisdiction to the Court authorized to hear appeals from the decisions of such Court.

Appeal from original decree.

(2) An appeal may lie from an original decree passed ex parte.

(3) No appeal shall lie from a decree passed by the Court with the consent of parties.

97. Where any party aggrieved by a preliminary decree passed after the commencement of this Code does not appeal from such decree, he shall be precluded from disputing its correctness in any appeal which may be preferred from the final decree.

Appeal from final decree where no appeal from preliminary decree.

98. (1) Where an appeal is heard by a Bench of two or more Judges, the appeal shall be decided in accordance with the opinion of such Judges or of the majority (if any) of such Judges.

Decision where appeal heard by two or more Judges.

(2) Where there is no such majority which concurs in a judgment varying or reversing the decree appealed from, such decree shall be confirmed:

Provided that where the Bench hearing the appeal is composed of two Judges belonging to a Court consisting of more than two Judges, and the Judges composing the Bench differ in opinion on a point of law, they may state the point of law upon which they differ, and the appeal shall then be heard upon that point only by one or more of the other Judges, and such point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority (if any) of the Judges who have heard the appeal, including those who first heard it.

99. No decree shall be reversed or substantially varied, nor shall any case be remanded, in appeal on account of any misjoinder of parties or causes of action or any error, defect or irregularity in any proceedings in the suit, not affecting the merits of the case or the jurisdiction of the Court.

No decree to be reversed or modified for error or irregularity not affecting merits or jurisdiction.

APPEALS FROM APPELLATE DECREES.

100. (1) Save where otherwise expressly provided in the body of this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from every decree passed in appeal by any Court subordinate to a High Court, on any of the following grounds, namely:—

Second appeal.

(a) the decision being contrary to law or to some usage having the force of law;

(b) the decision having failed to determine some material issue of law or usage having the force of law;

(c) a substantial error or defect in the procedure provided by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, which may possibly have produced error or defect in the decision of the case upon the merits.

(2) An appeal may lie under this section from an appellate decree passed ex parte.

101. No second appeal shall lie except on the grounds mentioned in section 100.

Second appeal on no other grounds.

102. No second appeal shall lie in any suit of the nature cognizable by Courts of Small Causes, when the amount or value of the subject-matter of the original suit does not exceed five hundred rupees.

No second appeal in certain suits.

103. In any second appeal, the High Court may, if the evidence on the record is sufficient, determine any issue of fact necessary for the disposal of the appeal but not determined by the lower appellate Court.

Power of High Court to determine issues of fact.

APPEALS FROM ORDERS.

104. (1) An appeal shall lie from the following orders, and save as otherwise expressly provided in the body of this Code or by any law for the time being in force from no other orders:—

Orders from which appeal lies.

(a) an order superseding an arbitration where the award has not been completed within the period allowed by the Court;

(b) an order on an award stated in the form of a special case;

(c) an order modifying or correcting an award;

(d) an order filing or refusing to file an agreement to refer to arbitration;

(e) an order staying or refusing to stay a suit where there is an agreement to refer to arbitration;

(f) an order filing or refusing to file an award in an arbitration without the intervention of the Court;

(g) an order under section 95;

(h) an order under any of the provisions of this Code imposing a fine or directing the arrest or detention in the civil prison of any person except where such arrest or detention is in execution of a decree;

(i) any order made under rules from which an appeal is expressly allowed by rules.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part VII.—Appeals.)

(2) No appeal shall lie from any order passed in appeal under this section.

Other orders.

105. (1) Save as otherwise expressly provided, no appeal shall lie from any order made by a Court in the exercise of its original or appellate jurisdiction; but, where a decree is appealed from, any error, defect or irregularity in any order, affecting the decision of the case, may be set forth as a ground of objection in the memorandum of appeal.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where any party aggrieved by an order of remand made after the commencement of this Code from which an appeal lies does not appeal therefrom, he shall thereafter be precluded from disputing its correctness.

What Courts to hear appeals.

106. Where an appeal from any order is allowed, it shall lie to the Court to which an appeal would lie from the decree in the suit in which such order was made, or where such order is made by a Court (not being a High Court) in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction, then to the High Court.

GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO APPEALS.

Powers of Appellate Court.

107. (1) Subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed, an Appellate Court shall have power—

(a) to determine a case finally;

(b) to remand a case;

(c) to frame issues and refer them for trial;

(d) to take additional evidence or to require such evidence to be taken.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, the Appellate Court shall have the same powers and shall perform as nearly as may be the same duties as are conferred and imposed by this Code on Courts of original jurisdiction in respect of suits instituted therein.

Procedure in appeals from appellate decrees and orders.

108. The provisions of this Part relating to appeals from original decrees shall, so far as may be, apply to appeals—

(a) from appellate decrees, and

(b) from orders made under this Code or under any special or local law in which a different procedure is not provided.

APPEALS TO THE KING IN COUNCIL.

When appeals lie to King in Council.

109. Subject to such rules as may, from time to time, be made by His Majesty in Council regarding appeals from the Courts of British India, and to the provisions hereinafter contained, an appeal shall lie to His Majesty in Council—

(a) from any decree or final order passed on appeal by a High Court or by any other Court of final appellate jurisdiction;

(b) from any decree or final order passed by a High Court in the exercise of original civil jurisdiction; and

(c) from any decree or order, when the case, as hereinafter provided, is certified to be a fit one for appeal to His Majesty in Council.

Value of subject-matter.

110. In each of the cases mentioned in clauses (a) and (b) of section 109, the amount or value of the subject-matter of the suit in the Court of first instance must be ten thousand rupees or upwards, and the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute on appeal to His Majesty in Council must be the same sum or upwards, or the decree or final order must involve directly or indirectly, some claim or question to or respecting property of like amount or value, and where the decree or final order appealed from affirms the decision of the Court immediately below the Court passing such decree or final order, the appeal must involve some substantial question of law.

Bar of certain appeals.

111. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 109, no appeal shall lie to His Majesty in Council—

(a) from the decree or order of one Judge of a High Court established under the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, or of one Judge of a Division Court, or of two or more Judges of such High Court, or of a Division Court constituted by two or more Judges of such High Court, where such Judges are equally divided in opinion, and do not amount in number to a majority of the whole of the Judges of the High Court at the time being; or

24 & 25 Vict., c. 104.

(b) from any decree from which under section 102 no second appeal lies.

Savings.

112. (1) Nothing contained in this Code shall be deemed—

(a) to bar the full and unqualified exercise of His Majesty's pleasure in receiving or rejecting appeals to His Majesty in Council, or otherwise howsoever, or

(b) to interfere with any rules made by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and for the time being in force, for the presentation of appeals to His Majesty in Council, or their conduct before the said Judicial Committee.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part VIII.—Reference, Review and Revision. Part IX.—Special Provisions relating to the Chartered High Courts. Part X.—Rules.)

(2) Nothing herein contained applies to any matter of criminal or admiralty or vice-admiralty jurisdiction, or to appeals from orders and decrees of Prize Courts.

PART VIII.

REFERENCE, REVIEW AND REVISION.

Reference to High Court.

113. Subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed, any Court may state a case and refer the same for the opinion of the High Court, and the High Court may make such order thereon as it thinks fit.

Review.

114. Subject as aforesaid, any person considering himself aggrieved—

(a) by a decree or order from which an appeal is allowed by this Code, but from which no appeal has been preferred,

(b) by a decree or order from which no appeal is allowed by this Code, or

(c) by a decision on a reference from a Court of Small Causes, may apply for a review of judgment to the Court which passed the decree or made the order, and the Court may make such order thereon as it thinks fit.

Revision.

115. The High Court may call for the record of any case which has been decided by any Court subordinate to such High Court and in which no appeal lies thereto, and if such subordinate Court appears—

(a) to have exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law, or

(b) to have failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested, or

(c) to have acted in the exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity, the High Court may make such order in the case as it thinks fit.

PART IX.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE CHARTERED HIGH COURTS.

Part to apply only to certain High Courts.

116. This Part applies only to High Courts which are or may hereafter be established under the Indian High Courts Act, 1861.

24 & 25 Vict., c. 104.

Application of Code to High Courts.

117. Save as provided in this Part or in Part X or in rules, the provisions of this Code shall apply to such High Courts.

Execution of decree before ascertainment of costs.

118. Where any such High Court considers it necessary that a decree passed in the exercise of its original civil jurisdiction should be executed before the amount of the costs incurred in the suit can be ascertained by taxation, the Court may order that the decree shall be executed forthwith, except as to so much thereof as relates to the costs; and, as to so much thereof as relates to the costs, that the decree may be executed as soon as the amount of the costs shall be ascertained by taxation.

Unauthorized persons not to address Court.

119. Nothing in this Code shall be deemed to authorize any person on behalf of another to address the Court in the exercise of its original civil jurisdiction, or to examine witnesses, except where the Court shall have in the exercise of the power conferred by its charter authorized him so to do, or to interfere with the power of the High Court to make rules concerning advocates, vakils and attorneys.

Provisions not applicable to High Court in original civil or insolvent jurisdiction.

120. (1) The following provisions shall not apply to the High Court in the exercise of its original civil jurisdiction, namely, sections 16, 17 and 20.

(2) Nothing in this Code shall extend or apply to any Judge of a High Court in the exercise of jurisdiction as an Insolvent Court.

PART X.

RULES.

Effect of rules First Schedule.

121. The rules in the First Schedule shall have effect as if enacted in the body of this Code until annulled or altered in accordance with the provisions of this Part.

Power of certain High Courts to make rules.

122. High Courts established under the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, and the Chief Courts of the Punjab and Lower Burma, may, from time to time after previous publication make rules regulating their own procedure and the procedure of the Civil Courts subject to their superintendence, and may by such rules annul, alter or add to all or any of the rules in the First Schedule.

24 & 25 Vict., c. 104.

Constitution of Rule Committees in certain provinces.

123. (1) A Committee, to be called the Rule Committee, shall be constituted at each of the towns of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Allahabad, Lahore and Rangoon.

(2) Each such Committee shall consist of the following persons, namely:—

(a) three Judges of the High Court established at the town at which such Committee is constituted, one of whom at least has served as a District Judge or (in the Punjab or Burma) a Divisional Judge for three years,

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(Part X.—Rules.)

(b) a barrister practising in that Court,

(c) an advocate (not being a barrister) or vakil or pleader enrolled in that Court,

(d) a Judge of a Civil Court subordinate to the High Court, and (e) in the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, an attorney.

(3) The members of each such Committee shall be appointed by the Chief Justice or Chief Judge, who shall also nominate one of their number to be president:

Provided that, if the Chief Justice or Chief Judge elects to be himself a member of a Committee, the number of other Judges appointed to be members shall be two, and the Chief Justice or Chief Judge shall be the President of the Committee.

(4) Each member of any such Committee shall hold office for such period as may be prescribed by the Chief Justice or Chief Judge in this behalf; and whenever any member retires, resigns, dies or ceases to reside in the province in which the Committee was constituted, or becomes incapable of acting as a member of the Committee, the said Chief Justice or Chief Judge may appoint another person to be a member in his stead.

(5) There shall be a Secretary to each such Committee, who shall be appointed by the Chief Justice or Chief Judge and shall receive such remuneration as may be provided in this behalf by the Governor General in Council or by the Local Government, as the case may be.

124. Every Rule Committee shall make a report to the High Court established at the town at which it is constituted on any proposal to annul, alter or add to the rules in the First Schedule or to make new rules, and before making any rules under section 122 the High Court shall take such report into consideration.

Committee to report to High Court.

125. High Courts, other than the Courts specified in section 122, may exercise the powers conferred by that section in such manner and subject to such conditions as the Governor General in Council may determine:

Power of other High Courts to make rules.

Provided that any such High Court may, after previous publication, make a rule extending within the local limits of its jurisdiction any rules which have been made by any other High Court.

126. Rules made under the foregoing provisions shall be subject to the previous sanction of the following authorities, namely:—

Rules subject to sanction.

(a) if the rule is made by a High Court established under the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, to the sanction of the authority prescribed by section 15 of that Act for rules made under that section;

24 & 25 Vict., c. 104.

(b) if the rule is made by any other High Court, to the sanction of the Local Government.

127. Rules so made and sanctioned shall be published in the Gazette of India or in the local official Gazette, as the case may be, and shall from the date of publication or from such other date as may be specified have the same force and effect, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court which made them, as if they had been contained in the First Schedule.

Publication of rules.

128. (1) Such rules shall be not inconsistent with the provisions in the body of this Code, but, subject thereto, may provide for any matters relating to the procedure of Civil Courts.

Matters for which rules may provide.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the powers conferred by sub-section (1), such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the service of summonses, notices and other processes by post or in any other manner either generally or in any specified areas, and the proof of such service;

(b) the maintenance and custody, while under attachment, of live-stock and other moveable property, the fees payable for such maintenance and custody, the sale of such live-stock and property and the proceeds of such sale;

(c) procedure in suits by way of counter-claim, and the valuation of such suits for the purposes of jurisdiction;

(d) procedure in garnishee and charging orders either in addition to, or in substitution for, the attachment and sale of debts;

(e) procedure where the defendant claims to be entitled to contribution or indemnity over against any person whether a party to the suit or not;

(f) summary procedure—

(i) in suits in which the plaintiff seeks only to recover a debt or liquidated demand in money payable by the defendant, with or without interest, arising—on a contract express or implied; or on an enactment where the sum sought to be recovered is a fixed sum of money or in the nature of a debt other than a penalty; or on a guarantee, where the claim against the principal is in respect of a debt or a liquidated demand only; or on a trust; or

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Part XI.— Miscellaneous.)

(ii) in suits for the recovery of immoveable property, with or without a claim for rent or mesne profits, by a landlord against a tenant whose term has expired or has been duly determined by notice to quit, or has become liable to forfeiture for non-payment of rent, or against persons claiming under such tenant ;

(g) procedure by way of originating summons;

(h) consolidation of suits, appeals and other proceedings ;

(i) delegation to any Registrar, Prothonotary or Master or other official of the Court of any judicial, quasi-judicial and non-judicial duties ; and

(j) all forms, registers, books, entries and accounts which may be necessary or desirable for the transaction of the business of Civil Courts.

Power of Chartered High Courts to make rules as to their original civil procedure.

24 & 25 Vict., c 104.

129. Notwithstanding anything in this Code, any High Court established under the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, may make such rules not inconsistent with the Letters Patent establishing it to regulate its own procedure in the exercise of its original civil jurisdiction as it shall think fit, and nothing herein contained shall affect the validity of any such rules in force at the commencement of this Code.

Power of other High Courts to make rules as to matters other than procedure.

24 & 25 Vict., c. 104.

130. A High Court not established under the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, make, with respect to any matter other than procedure, any rule which any High Court so established might, under section 15 of that Act, make with respect to any such matter for any part of the territories under its jurisdiction which is not included within the limits of a Presidency-town.

Publication of rules.

131. Rules made in accordance with section 129 or section 130 shall be published in the Gazette of India or in the local official Gazette, as the case may be, and shall from the date of publication or from such other date as may be specified have the force of law.

PART XI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Exemption of certain women from personal appearance.

132. (1) Women who, according to the customs and manners of the country, ought not to be compelled to appear in public shall be exempt from personal appearance in Court.

(2) Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to exempt such women from arrest in execution of civil process in any case in which the arrest of women is not prohibited by this Code.

Exemption of other persons.

133. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, exempt from personal appearance in Court any person whose rank, in the opinion of such Government, entitles him to the privilege of exemption.

(2) The names and residences of the persons so exempted shall, from time to time, be forwarded to the High Court by the Local Government and a list of such persons shall be kept in such Court, and a list of such persons as reside within the local limits of the jurisdiction of each Court subordinate to the High Court shall be kept in such subordinate Court.

(3) Where any person so exempted claims the privilege of such exemption, and it is consequently necessary to examine him by commission, he shall pay the costs of that commission, unless the party requiring his evidence pays such costs.

Arrest other than in execution of decree.

134. The provisions of sections 55, 57 and 59 shall apply, so far as may be, to all persons arrested under this Code.

Exemption from arrest under civil process.

135. (1) No Judge, Magistrate or other judicial officer shall be liable to arrest under civil process while going to, presiding in, or returning from, his Court.

(2) Where any matter is pending before a tribunal having jurisdiction therein, or believing in good faith that it has such jurisdiction, the parties thereto, their pleaders, mukhtars, revenue-agents and recognized agents, and their witnesses acting in obedience to a summons, shall be exempt from arrest under civil process other than process issued by such tribunal for contempt of Court while going to or attending such tribunal for the purpose of such matter, and while returning from such tribunal.

(3) Nothing in sub-section (2) shall enable a judgment-debtor to claim exemption from arrest under an order for immediate execution or where such judgment-debtor attends to show cause why he should not be committed to prison in execution of a decree.

Procedure where person to be arrested or property to be attached is outside district.

136. (1) Where an application is made that any person shall be arrested or that any property shall be attached under any provision of this Code not relating to the execution of decrees, and such person resides or such property is situate outside the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court to which the application is made, the Court may, in its discretion, issue a warrant of arrest or make an order of attachment, and send to the District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such person or property resides or is situate a copy of the warrant or order, together with the probable amount of the costs of the arrest or attachment.

(2) The District Court shall, on receipt of such copy and amount, cause the arrest or attachment to be made by its own officers, or by a Court subordinate to itself, and shall inform the Court which issued or made such warrant or order of the arrest or attachment.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Part XI.—Miscellaneous.)

(3) The Court making an arrest under this section shall send the person arrested to the Court by which the warrant of arrest was issued, unless he shows cause to the satisfaction of the former Court why he should not be sent to the latter Court, or unless he furnishes sufficient security for his appearance before the latter Court or for satisfying any decree that may be passed against him by that Court, in either of which cases the Court making the arrest shall release him.

(4) Where a person to be arrested or moveable property to be attached under this section is within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal or at Madras or at Bombay, or of the Chief Court of Lower Burma, the copy of the warrant of arrest or of the order of attachment, and the probable amount of the costs of the arrest or attachment, shall be sent to the Court of Small Causes of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay or Rangoon, as the case may be, and that Court, on receipt of the copy and amount, shall proceed as if it were the District Court.

Language of subordinate Courts.

137. (1) The language which, on the commencement of this Code, is the language of any Court subordinate to a High Court shall continue to be the language of such subordinate Court until the Local Government otherwise directs.

(2) The Local Government may declare what shall be the language of any such Court and in what character applications to and proceedings in such Court shall be written.

(3) Where this Code requires or allows anything other than the recording of evidence to be done in writing in any such Court, such writing may be in English; but if any party or his pleader is unacquainted with English a translation into the language of the Court shall, at his request, be supplied to him; and the Court shall make such order as it thinks fit in respect of the payment of the costs of such translation.

Power for Local Government to require evidence to be recorded in English.

138. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, direct with respect to any Judge specified in the notification, or falling under a description set forth therein, that evidence in cases in which an appeal is allowed shall be taken down by him in the English language and in manner prescribed.

(2) Where a Judge is prevented by any sufficient reason from complying with a direction under sub-section (1), he shall record the reason and cause the evidence to be taken down in writing from his dictation in open Court.

Oath on affidavit by whom to be administered.

139. In the case of any affidavit under this Code—

(a) any Court or Magistrate, or

(b) any officer or other person whom a High Court may appoint in this behalf, or

(c) any officer appointed by any other Court which the Local Government has generally or specially empowered in this behalf, may administer the oath to the deponent.

Assessors in causes of salvage, etc.

140. (1) In any Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty cause of salvage, towage or collision, the Court, whether it be exercising its original or its appellate jurisdiction, may, if it thinks fit, and shall upon request of either party to such cause, summon to its assistance, in such manner as it may direct or as may be prescribed, two competent assessors; and such assessors shall attend and assist accordingly.

(2) Every such assessor shall receive such fees for his attendance, to be paid by such of the parties as the Court may direct or as may be prescribed.

Miscellaneous proceedings.

141. The procedure provided in this Code in regard to suits shall be followed, as far as it can be made applicable, in all proceedings in any Court of civil jurisdiction.

Orders and notices to be in writing.

142. All orders and notices served on or given to any person under the provisions of this Code shall be in writing.

Postage.

143. Postage, where chargeable on a notice, summons or letter issued under this Code and forwarded by post, and the fee for registering the same, shall be paid within a time to be fixed before the communication is made:

Provided that the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may remit such postage, or fee, or both, or may prescribe a scale of court-fees to be levied in lieu thereof.

Application for restitution.

144. (1) Where and in so far as a decree is varied or reversed, the Court of first instance shall, on the application of any party entitled to any benefit by way of restitution or otherwise, cause such restitution to be made as will, so far as may be, place the parties in the position which they would have occupied but for such decree or such part thereof as has been varied or reversed; and, for this purpose, the Court may make any orders, including orders for the refund of costs and for the payment of interest, damages, compensation and mesne profits, which are properly consequential on such variation or reversal.

(2) No suit shall be instituted for the purpose of obtaining any restitution or other relief which could be obtained by application under sub-section (1).

Enforcement of liability of surety.

145. Where any person has become liable as surety—

(a) for the performance of any decree or any part thereof, or

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(Part XI.—Miscellaneous.)

(b) for the restitution of any property taken in execution of a decree, or

(c) for the payment of any money, or for the fulfilment of any condition imposed on any person, under an order of the Court in any suit or in any proceeding consequent thereon, the decree or order may be executed against him, to the extent to which he has rendered himself personally liable, in the manner herein provided for the execution of decrees, and such person shall, for the purposes of appeal, be deemed a party within the meaning of section 47:

Provided that such notice as the Court in each case thinks sufficient has been given to the surety.

Proceedings by or against representatives.

146. Save as otherwise provided by this Code or by any law for the time being in force, where any proceeding may be taken or application made by or against any person, then the proceeding may be taken or the application may be made by or against any person claiming under him.

Consent or agreement by persons under disability.

147. In all suits to which any person under disability is a party, any consent or agreement as to any proceeding shall, if given or made with the express leave of the Court by the next friend or guardian for the suit, have the same force and effect as if such person were under no disability and had given such consent or made such agreement.

Enlargement of time.

148. Where any period is fixed or granted by the Court for the doing of any act prescribed or allowed by this Code, the Court may, in its discretion, from time to time, enlarge such period, even though the period originally fixed or granted may have expired.

Power to make up deficiency of court-fees.

149. Where the whole or any part of any fee prescribed for any document by the law for the time being in force relating to court-fees has not been paid, the Court may, in its discretion, at any stage, allow the person, by whom such fee is payable, to pay the whole or part, as the case may be, of such court-fee; and upon such payment the document, in respect of which such fee is payable, shall have the same force and effect as if such fee had been paid in the first instance.

Transfer of business.

150. Save as otherwise provided, where the business of any Court is transferred to any other Court, the Court to which the business is so transferred shall have the same powers and shall perform the same duties as those respectively conferred and imposed by or under this Code upon the Court from which the business was so transferred.

Saving of inherent powers of Court.

151. Nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect the inherent power of the Court to make such orders as may be necessary for the ends of justice or to prevent abuse of the process of the Court.

Amendment of judgments, decrees or orders.

152. Clerical or arithmetical mistakes in judgments, decrees or orders or errors arising therein from any accidental slip or omission may at any time be corrected by the Court either of its own motion or on the application of any of the parties.

General power to amend.

153. The Court may at any time, and on such terms as to costs or otherwise as it may think fit, amend any defect or error in any proceeding in a suit; and all necessary amendments shall be made for the purpose of determining the real question or issue raised by or depending on such proceeding.

Saving of present right of appeal.

154. Nothing in this Code shall affect any present right of appeal which shall have accrued to any party at its commencement.

Amendment of certain Acts.

155. The enactments mentioned in the Fourth Schedule are hereby amended to the extent specified in the fourth column thereof.

Repeals.

156. The enactments mentioned in the Fifth Schedule are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the fourth column thereof.

Continuance of orders under repealed enactments.

157. Notifications published, declarations and rules made, places appointed, agreements filed, scales prescribed, forms framed, appointments made and powers conferred under Act VIII of 1859 or under any Code of Civil Procedure or any Act amending the same or under any other enactment hereby repealed shall, so far as they are consistent with this Code, have the same force and effect as if they had been respectively published, made, appointed, filed, prescribed, framed and conferred under this Code and by the authority empowered thereby in such behalf.

Reference to Code of Civil Procedure and other repealed enactments.

158. In every enactment or notification passed or issued before the commencement of this Code in which reference is made to or to any Chapter or section of Act VIII of 1859 or any Code of Civil Procedure or any Act amending the same or any other enactment hereby repealed, such reference shall, so far as may be practicable, be taken to be made to this Code or to its corresponding Part, Order, section or rule.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order I.—Parties to Suits. Order II.—Frame of Suit.)

(The marginal references are to Orders of the English Rules.)

The First Schedule.

ORDER I.

Parties to Suits.

Who may be joined as plaintiffs.

1. All persons may be joined in one suit as plaintiffs in whom any right to relief in respect of or arising out of the same act or transaction or series of acts or transactions is alleged to exist, whether jointly, severally or in the alternative, where, if such persons brought separate suits, any common question of law or fact would arise.

Power of Court to order separate trials.

2. Where it appears to the Court that any joinder of plaintiffs may embarrass or delay the trial of the suit, the Court may put the plaintiffs to their election or order separate trials or make such other order as may be expedient.

Who may be joined as defendants.

3. All persons may be joined as defendants against whom any right to relief in respect of or arising out of the same act or transaction or series of acts or transactions is alleged to exist, whether jointly, severally or in the alternative, where if separate suits were brought against such persons any common question of law or fact would arise.

Court may give judgment for or against one or more of joint parties.

4. Judgment may be given without any amendment—

(a) for such one or more of the plaintiffs as may be found to be entitled to relief, for such relief as he or they may be entitled to;

(b) against such one or more of the defendants as may be found to be liable according to their respective liabilities.

Defendant need not be interested in all the relief claimed.

5. It shall not be necessary that every defendant shall be interested as to all the relief claimed in any suit against him.

Joinder of parties liable on same contract.

6. The plaintiff may, at his option, join as parties to the same suit all or any of the persons severally, or jointly and severally, liable on any one contract, including parties to bills of exchange, hundis and promissory notes.

When plaintiff in doubt from whom redress is to be sought.

7. Where the plaintiff is in doubt as to the person from whom he is entitled to obtain redress, he may join two or more defendants in order that the question as to which of the defendants is liable, and to what extent, may be determined as between all parties.

One person may sue or defend on behalf of all in same interest.

8. (1) Where there are numerous persons having the same interest in one suit, one or more of such persons may, with the permission of the Court, sue or be sued, or may defend, in such suit, on behalf of or for the benefit of all persons so interested. But the Court shall in such case give, at the plaintiff's expense, notice of the institution of the suit to all such persons either by personal service or, where from the number of persons or any other cause such service is not reasonably practicable, by public advertisement, as the Court in each case may direct.

(2) Any person on whose behalf or for whose benefit a suit is instituted or defended under sub-rule (1) may apply to the Court to be made a party to such suit.

Misjoinder and non-joinder.

9. No suit shall be defeated by reason of the misjoinder or non-joinder of parties, and the Court may in every suit deal with the matter in controversy so far as regards the rights and interests of the parties actually before it.

Suit in name of wrong plaintiff.

10. (1) Where a suit has been instituted in the name of the wrong person as plaintiff or where it is doubtful whether it has been instituted in the name of the right plaintiff, the Court may at any stage of the suit, if satisfied that the suit has been instituted through a bonâ fide mistake, and that it is necessary for the determination of the real matter in dispute so to do, order any other person to be substituted or added as plaintiff upon such terms as the Court thinks just.

Court may strike out or add parties.

(2) The Court may at any stage of the proceedings either upon or without the application of either party, and on such terms as may appear to the Court to be just, order that the name of any party improperly joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, be struck out, and that the name of any person who ought to have been joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, or whose presence before the Court may be necessary in order to enable the Court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the suit, be added.

(3) No person shall be added as a plaintiff suing without a next friend or as the next friend of a plaintiff under any disability without his consent.

Where defendant added, plaint to be amended.

(4) Where a defendant is added, the plaint shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, be amended in such manner as may be necessary, and amended copies of the summons and of the plaint shall be served on the new defendant and, if the Court thinks fit, on the original defendant.

XV of 1877.

(5) Subject to the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, section 22, the proceedings as against any person added as defendant shall be deemed to have begun only on the service of the summons.

Conduct of suit.

11. The Court may give the conduct of the suit to such person as it deems proper.

Appearance of one of several plaintiffs or defendants for others.

12. (1) Where there are more plaintiffs than one, any one or more of them may be authorized by any other of them to appear, plead or act for such other in any proceeding; and in like manner, where there are more defendants than one, any one or more of them may be authorized by any other of them to appear, plead or act for such other in any proceeding.

(2) The authority shall be in writing signed by the party giving it and shall be filed in Court.

Objections as to non-joinder or misjoinder.

13. All objections on the ground of non-joinder or misjoinder of parties shall be taken at the earliest possible opportunity and in all cases where issues are settled, at or before such settlement, unless the ground of objection has subsequently arisen, and any such objection not so taken shall be deemed to have been waived.

ORDER II.

Frame of Suit.

Frame of suit.

1. Every suit shall as far as practicable be framed so as to afford ground for final decision upon the subjects in dispute and to prevent further litigation concerning them.

Suit to include the whole claim.

2. (1) Every suit shall include the whole of the claim which the plaintiff is entitled to make in respect of the cause of action; but a plaintiff may relinquish any portion of his claim in order to bring the suit within the jurisdiction of any Court.

Relinquishment of part of claim.

(2) Where a plaintiff omits to sue in respect of, or intentionally relinquishes, any portion of his claim, he shall not afterwards sue in respect of the portion so omitted or relinquished.

Omission to sue for one of several reliefs.

(3) A person entitled to more than one relief in respect of the same cause of action may sue for all or any of such reliefs; but if he omits, except with the leave of the Court, to sue for all such reliefs, he shall not afterwards sue for any relief so omitted.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this rule an obligation and a collateral security for its performance and successive claims arising under the same obligation shall be deemed respectively to constitute but one cause of action.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order II.—Frame of Suit. Order III.—Recognized Agents and Pleaders. Order IV.—Institution of Suits.)

Illustration.

A lets a house to B at a yearly rent of Rs. 1,200. The rent for the whole of the years 1905, 1906 and 1907 is due and unpaid. A sues B in 1908 only for the rent due for 1906. A shall not afterwards sue B for the rent due for 1905 or 1907.

Joinder of causes of action

3. Save as otherwise provided, a plaintiff may unite in the same suit several causes of action against the same defendant, or the same defendants jointly; and any plaintiffs having causes of action in which they are jointly interested against the same defendant or the same defendants jointly may unite such causes of action in the same suit.

(2) Where causes of action are united, the jurisdiction of the Court as regards the suit shall depend on the amount or value of the aggregate subject-matters at the date of instituting the suit.

Only certain claims to be joined for recovery of immoveable property.

4. No cause of action shall, unless with the leave of the Court, be joined with a suit for the recovery of immoveable property, except—

(a) claims for mesne profits or arrears of rent in respect of the property claimed or any part thereof;

(b) claims for damages for breach of any contract under which the property or any part thereof is held; and

(c) claims in which the relief sought is based on the same cause of action:

Provided that nothing in this rule shall be deemed to prevent any party in a suit for foreclosure or redemption from asking to be put into possession of the mortgaged property.

Claims by or against executor, administrator or heir.

5. No claim by or against an executor, administrator or heir, as such, shall be joined with claims by or against him personally, unless the last-mentioned claims are alleged to arise with reference to the estate in respect of which the plaintiff or defendant sues or is sued as executor, administrator or heir, or are such as he was entitled to, or liable for, jointly with the deceased person whom he represents.

Power of Court to order separate trials.

6 Where it appears to the Court that any causes of action joined in one suit cannot be conveniently tried or disposed of together, the Court may order separate trials or make such other order as may be expedient.

Objections as to misjoinder.

7. All objections on the ground of misjoinder of causes of action shall be taken at the earliest possible opportunity and, in all cases where issues are settled, at or before such settlement, unless the ground of objection has subsequently arisen, and any such objection not so taken shall be deemed to have been waived.

ORDER III.

Recognized Agents and Pleaders.

Appearances, etc., may be in person, by recognized agent or by pleader.

1. Any appearance, application or act in or to any Court, required or authorized by law to be made or done by a party in such Court, may except where otherwise expressly provided by any law for the time being in force, be made or done by the party in person, or by his recognized agent, or by a pleader duly appointed to act on his behalf:

Provided that any such appearance shall, if the Court so directs, be made by the party in person.

Recognized agents.

2. The recognized agents of parties by whom such appearances, applications and acts may be made or done are—

(a) persons holding powers-of-attorney, authorizing them to make and do such appearances, applications and acts on behalf of such parties;

(b) persons carrying on trade or business for and in the names of parties not resident within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court within which limits the appearance, application or act is made or done, in matters connected with such trade or business only, where no other agent is expressly authorized to make and do such appearances, applications and acts.

Service of process on recognized agent.

3. (1) Processes served on the recognized agent of a party shall be as effectual as if the same had been served on the party in person, unless the Court otherwise directs.

(2) The provisions for the service of process on a party to a suit shall apply to the service of process on his recognized agent.

Appointment of pleader.

4 (1) The appointment of a pleader to make or do any appearance, application or act for any person shall be in writing, and shall be signed by such person or by his recognized agent or by some other person duly authorized by power-of-attorney to act in this behalf.

(2) Every such appointment, when accepted by a pleader, shall be filed in Court, and shall be considered to be in force until determined with the leave of the Court, by a writing signed by the client or the pleader, as the case may be, and filed in Court, or until the client or the pleader dies or until all proceedings in the suit are ended so far as regards the client.

(3) No advocate of any High Court established under the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, or of any Chief Court, and no advocate of any other High Court who is a barrister shall be required to present any document empowering him to act.

24 & 25 Vict., c. 104.

Service of process on pleader.

5 Any process served on the pleader of any party or left at the office or ordinary residence of such pleader, and whether the same is for the personal appearance of the party or not, shall be presumed to be duly communicated and made known to the party whom the pleader represents, and, unless the Court otherwise directs, shall be as effectual for all purposes as if the same had been given to or served on the party in person.

Agent to accept service.

6. (1) Besides the recognized agents described in rule 2 any person residing within the jurisdiction of the Court may be appointed an agent to accept service of process.

Appointment to be in writing and to be filed in Court.

(2) Such appointment may be special or general and shall be made by an instrument in writing signed by the principal, and such instrument or, if the appointment is general, a certified copy thereof shall be filed in Court.

ORDER IV.

Institution of Suits.

Suit to be commenced by plaint.

1. (1) Every suit shall be instituted by presenting a plaint to the Court or such officer as it appoints in this behalf.

(2) Every plaint shall comply with the rules contained in Orders VI and VII, so far as they are applicable.

Register of suits.

2. The Court shall cause the particulars of every suit to be entered in a book to be kept for the purpose and called the register of civil suits. Such entries shall be numbered in every year according to the order in which the plaints are admitted.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order V.—Issue and Service of Summons.)

ORDER V.

Issue and Service of Summons.

Issue of Summons.

1. (1) When a suit has been duly instituted a summons may be issued to the defendant to appear and answer the claim on a day to be therein specified:

Summons.

Provided that no such summons shall be issued when the defendant has appeared at the presentation of the plaint and admitted the plaintiff's claim.

(2) A defendant to whom a summons has been issued under sub-rule (1) may appear -

(a) in person, or

(b) by a pleader duly instructed and able to answer all material questions relating to the suit, or

(c) by a pleader accompanied by some person able to answer all such questions.

(3) Every such summons shall be signed by the Judge or such officer as he appoints, and shall be sealed with the seal of the Court.

2. Every summons shall be accompanied by a copy of the plaint or, if so permitted, by a concise statement.

Copy or statement annexed to summons.

3. (1) Where the Court sees reason to require the personal appearance of the defendant, the summons shall order him to appear in person in Court on the day therein specified.

Court may order defendant or plaintiff to appear in person.

(2). Where the Court sees reason to require the personal appearance of the plaintiff on the same day, it shall make an order for such appearance

4. No party shall be ordered to appear in person unless he resides—

No party to be ordered to appear in person unless resident within certain limits.

(a) within the local limits of the Court's ordinary original jurisdiction, or

(b) without such limits but at a place less than fifty or (where there is railway or steamer communication or other established public conveyance for five sixths of the distance between the place where he resides and the place where the Court is situate) less than two hundred miles distance from the court-house.

5. The Court shall determine, at the time of issuing the summons, whether it shall be for the settlement of issues only, or for the final disposal of the suit; and the summons shall contain a direction accordingly:

Summons to be either to settle issues or for final disposal.

Provided that, in every suit heard by a Court of Small Causes, the summons shall be for the final disposal of the suit.

6. The day for the appearance of the defendant shall be fixed with reference to the current business of the Court, the place of residence of the defendant and the time necessary for the service of the summons; and the day shall be so fixed as to allow the defendant sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer on such day.

Fixing day for appearance of defendant.

7. The summons to appear and answer shall order the defendant to produce all documents in his possession or power upon which he intends to rely in support of his case.

Summons to order defendant to produce documents relied on by him.

8. Where the summons is for the final disposal of the suit, it shall also direct the defendant to produce, on the day fixed for his appearance, all witnesses upon whose evidence he intends to rely in support of his case.

On issue of summons for final disposal, defendant to be directed to produce his witnesses.

Service of Summons.

9. (1) Where the defendant resides within the jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit is instituted, or has an agent resident within that jurisdiction who is empowered to accept the service of the summons, the summons shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, be delivered or sent to the proper officer to be served by him or one of his subordinates.

Delivery or transmission of summons for service.

(2) The proper officer may be an officer of a Court other than that in which the suit is instituted, and, where he is such an officer, the summons may be sent to him by post or in such other manner as the Court may direct

10. Service of the summons shall be made by delivering or tendering a copy thereof signed by the Judge or such officer as he appoints in this behalf, and sealed with the seal of the Court

Mode of service.

11. Save as otherwise prescribed, where there are more defendants than one, service of the summons shall be made on each defendant.

Service on several defendants.

12 Wherever it is practicable, service shall be made on the defendant in person, unless he has an agent empowered to accept service, in which case service on such agent shall be sufficient Service to be on defendant in person when practicable or on his agent.

13 (1) In a suit relating to any business or work against a person who does not reside within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court from which the summons is issued, service on any manager or agent, who, at the time of service, personally carries on such business or work for such person within such limits, shall be deemed good service.

Service on agent by whom defendant carries on business.

(2) For the purpose of this rule the master of a ship shall be deemed to be the agent of the owner or charterer.

14. Where in a suit to obtain relief respecting, or compensation for wrong to, immoveable property, service cannot be made on the defendant in person, and the defendant has no agent empowered to accept the service, it may be made on any agent of the defendant in charge of the property.

Service on agent in charge in suits for immoveable property.

15. Where in any suit the defendant cannot be found and has no agent empowered to accept service of the summons on his behalf, service may be made on any adult male member of the family of the defendant who is residing with him.

Where service may be made on member of defendant's family

Explanation. A servant is not a member of the family within the meaning of this rule.

16. Where the serving officer delivers or tenders a copy of the summons to the defendant personally, or to an agent or other person on his behalf, he shall require the signature of the person to Person served to sign acknowledgment.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order V.—Issue and Service of Summons.)

whom the copy so delivered or tendered to an acknowledgment service endorsed on the original summons.

Procedure when defendant refuses to accept service, or cannot be found.

17. Where the defendant or his agent or such other person as aforesaid refuses to sign the acknowledgment, or where the serving officer, after using all due and reasonable diligence, cannot find the defendant, and there is no agent empowered to accept service of the summons on his behalf, nor any other person on whom service can be made, the serving officer shall affix a copy of the summons on the outer door or some other conspicuous part of the house in which the defendant ordinarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain, and shall then return the original to the Court from which it was issued, with a report endorsed thereon or annexed thereto stating that he has so affixed the copy, the circumstances under which he did so, and the name and address of the person (if any) by whom the house was identified and in whose presence the copy was affixed.

Endorsement of time and manner of service.

18. The serving officer shall, in all cases in which the summons has been served under rule 16, endorse or annex, or cause to be endorsed or annexed, on or to the original summons, a return stating the time when and the manner in which the summons was served, and the name and address of the person (if any) identifying the person served and witnessing the delivery or tender of the summons.

Examination of serving officer.

19. Where a summons is returned under rule 17, the Court shall, if the return under that rule has not been verified by the affidavit of the serving officer, and may, if it has been so verified, examine the serving officer on oath, or cause him to be so examined by another Court, touching his proceedings, and may make such further inquiry in the matter as it thinks fit; and shall either declare that the summons has been duly served or order such service as it thinks fit.

Substituted service.

20. (1) Where the Court is satisfied that there is reason to believe that the defendant is keeping out of the way for the purpose of avoiding service, or that for any other reason the summons cannot be served in the ordinary way, the Court shall order the summons to be served by affixing a copy thereof in some conspicuous place in the Court-house, and also upon some conspicuous part of the house (if any) in which the defendant is known to have last resided or carried on business or personally worked for gain, or in such other manner as the Court thinks fit.

Effect of substituted service

(2) Service substituted by order of the Court shall be as effectual as if it had been made on the defendant personally.

Where service substituted, time for appearance to be fixed.

(3) Where service is substituted by order of the Court, the Court shall fix such time for the appearance of the defendant as the case may require.

Service of summons where defendant resides within jurisdiction of another Court.

21. A summons may be sent by the Court by which it is issued, whether within or without the province, either by one of its officers or by post to any Court (not being the High Court) having jurisdiction in the place where the defendant resides.

Service, within Presidency-towns and Rangoon, of summons issued by Courts outside.

22. Where a summons issued by any Court established beyond the limits of the towns of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Rangoon is to be served within any such limits, it shall be sent to the Court of Small Causes within whose jurisdiction it is to be served.

Duty of Court to which summons is sent.

23. The Court to which a summons is sent under rule 21 or rule 22 shall, upon receipt thereof, proceed as if it had been issued by such Court and shall then return the summons to the Court of issue, together with the record (if any) of its proceedings with regard thereto.

Service on defendant in prison.

24. Where the defendant is confined in a prison, the summons shall be delivered or sent by post or otherwise to the officer in charge of the prison for service on the defendant.

Service where defendant resides out of British India and has no agent.

25. Where the defendant resides out of British India and has no agent in British India empowered to accept service, the summons shall be addressed to the defendant at the place where he is residing and sent to him by post, if there is postal communication between such place and the place where the Court is situate.

Service in foreign territory through Political Agent or Court.

26. Where—

(a) in the exercise of any foreign jurisdiction vested in His Majesty or in the Governor General in Council, a Political Agent has been appointed, or a Court has been established or continued, with power to serve a summons issued by a Court under this Code in any foreign territory in which the defendant resides, or

(b) the Governor General in Council has, by notification in the Gazette of India, declared that any summons so issued may be served by any Court situate in any such territory and not established or continued in the exercise of any such jurisdiction as aforesaid, the summons may be sent to such Political Agent or Court, by post or otherwise, for the purpose of being served upon the defendant; and, if the Political Agent or Court returns the summons with an endorsement signed by such Political Agent or by the Judge or other officer of the Court that the summons has been served on the defendant in manner hereinbefore directed, such endorsement shall be deemed to be evidence of service.

Service on civil public officer or on servant of railway company or local authority.

27. Where the defendant is a public officer (not belonging to His Majesty's military or naval forces or His Majesty's Indian Marine Service), or is the servant of a railway company or local authority, the Court may, if it appears to it that the summons may be most conveniently so served, send it for service on the defendant to the head of the office in which he is employed, together with a copy to be retained by the defendant.

Service on soldiers.

28. Where the defendant is a soldier, the Court shall send the summons for service to his commanding officer together with a copy to be retained by the defendant.

Duty of person to whom summons is delivered or sent for service.

29 (1) Where a summons is delivered or sent to any person for service under rule 24, rule 27 or rule 28, such person shall be bound to serve it, if possible, and to return it under his signature, with the written acknowledgment of the defendant, and such signature shall be deemed to be evidence of service.

(2) Where from any cause service is impossible, the summons shall be returned to the Court with a full statement of such cause and of the steps taken to procure service, and such statement shall be deemed to be evidence of non-service.

Substitution of letter for summons.

30. (1) The Court may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, substitute for a summons a letter signed by the Judge or such officer as he may appoint in this behalf, where the defendant is, in the opinion of the Court, of a rank entitling him to such mark of consideration.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order VI.—Pleadings generally. Order VII.—Plaint.)

(2) A letter substituted under sub-rule (1) shall contain all the particulars required to be stated in a summons, and, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (3), shall be treated in all respects as a summons.

(3) A letter so substituted may be sent to the defendant by post or by a special messenger selected by the Court, or in any other manner which the Court thinks fit, and, where the defendant has an agent empowered to accept service, the letter may be delivered or sent to such agent.

ORDER VI.

Pleadings generally.

Pleading.

1. "Pleading" shall mean plaint or written statement.

Pleading to state material facts and not evidence.

2. Every pleading shall contain, and contain only, a statement in a concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence, as the case may be, but not the evidence by which they are to be proved, and shall, when necessary, be divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively. Dates, sums and numbers shall be expressed in figures.

Forms of pleading.

3. The forms in Appendix A when applicable, and where they are not applicable forms of the like character, as nearly as may be, shall be used for all pleadings.

Particulars to be given where necessary.

4. In all cases in which the party pleading relies on any misrepresentation, fraud, breach of trust, wilful default, or undue influence, and in all other cases in which particulars may be necessary beyond such as are exemplified in the forms aforesaid, particulars (with dates and items if necessary) shall be stated in the pleading.

Further and better statement, or particulars.

5. A further and better statement of the nature of the claim or defence, or further and better particulars of any matter stated in any pleading, may in all cases be ordered, upon such terms, as to costs and otherwise, as may be just.

Condition precedent.

6. Any condition precedent, the performance or occurrence of which is intended to be contested, shall be distinctly specified in his pleading by the plaintiff or defendant, as the case may be; and, subject thereto, an averment of the performance or occurrence of all conditions precedent necessary for the case of the plaintiff or defendant shall be implied in his pleading.

Departure.

7. No pleading shall, except by way of amendment, raise any new ground of claim or contain any allegation of fact inconsistent with the previous pleadings of the party pleading the same.

Denial of contract.

8. Where a contract is alleged in any pleading, a bare denial of the same by the opposite party shall be construed only as a denial in fact of the express contract alleged or of the matters of fact from which the same may be implied, and not as a denial of the legality or sufficiency in law of such contract.

Effect of document to be stated.

9. Wherever the contents of any document are material, it shall be sufficient in any pleading to state the effect thereof as briefly as possible, without setting out the whole or any part thereof, unless the precise words of the document or any part thereof are material.

Malice, knowledge, etc.

10. Wherever it is material to allege malice, fraudulent intention, knowledge or other condition of the mind of any person, it shall be sufficient to allege the same as a fact without setting out the circumstances from which the same is to be inferred.

Notice.

11. Wherever it is material to allege notice to any person of any fact, matter or thing, it shall be sufficient to allege such notice as a fact, unless the form or the precise terms of such notice, or the circumstances from which such notice is to be inferred, are material.

Implied contract, or relation.

12. Whenever any contract or any relation between any persons is to be implied from a series of letters or conversations or otherwise from a number of circumstances, it shall be sufficient to allege such contract or relation as a fact, and to refer generally to such letters, conversations or circumstances without setting them out in detail. And if in such case the person so pleading desires to rely in the alternative upon more contracts or relations than one as to be implied from such circumstances, he may state the same in the alternative.

Presumptions of law.

13. Neither party need in any pleading allege any matter of fact which the law presumes in his favour or as to which the burden of proof lies upon the other side unless the same has first been specifically denied, (e.g., consideration for a bill of exchange where the plaintiff sues only on the bill, and not for the consideration as a substantive ground of claim).

Pleading to be signed.

14. Every pleading shall be signed by the party and his pleader (if any): Provided that where a party pleading is, by reason of absence or for other good cause, unable to sign the pleading, it may be signed by any person duly authorized by him to sign the same or to sue or defend on his behalf.

Verification of pleadings.

15. (1) Save as otherwise provided by any law for the time being in force, every pleading shall be verified at the foot by the party or by one of the parties pleading, or by some other person proved to the satisfaction of the Court to be acquainted with the facts of the case.

(2) The person verifying shall specify, by reference to the numbered paragraphs of the pleading, what he verifies of his own knowledge and what he verifies upon information received and believed to be true.

(3) The verification shall be signed by the person making it and shall state the date on which and the place at which it was signed.

Striking out pleadings.

16. The Court may at any stage of the proceedings order to be struck out or amended any matter in any pleading which may be unnecessary or scandalous or which may tend to prejudice, embarrass or delay the fair trial of the suit.

Amendment of pleadings.

17. The Court may at any stage of the proceedings allow either party to alter or amend his pleadings in such manner and on such terms as may be just, and all such amendments shall be made as may be necessary for the purpose of determining the real questions in controversy between the parties.

Failure to amend after order.

18. If a party who has obtained an order for leave to amend does not amend accordingly within the time limited for that purpose by the order, or if no time is thereby limited then within fourteen days from the date of the order, he shall not be permitted to amend after the expiration of such limited time as aforesaid or of such fourteen days, as the case may be, unless the time is extended by the Court.

ORDER VII.

Plaint.

Particulars to be contained in plaint.

1. The plaint shall contain the following particulars:—

(a) the name of the Court in which the suit is brought

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order VII.—Plaint.)

(b) the name, description and place of residence of the plaintiff;

(c) the name, description and place of residence of the defendant, so far as they can be ascertained

(d) where the plaintiff or the defendant is a minor or a person of unsound mind, a statement to that effect;

(e) the facts constituting the cause of action and when it arose;

(f) the facts showing that the Court has jurisdiction;

(g) the relief which the plaintiff claims;

(h) where the plaintiff has allowed a set-off or relinquished a portion of his claim, the amount so allowed or relinquished; and

(i) a statement of the value of the subject-matter of the suit for the purposes of jurisdiction and of court-fees, so far as the case admits.

In money suits.

2. Where the plaintiff seeks the recovery of money, the plaint shall state the precise amount claimed:

But where the plaintiff sues for mesne profits, or for an amount which will be found due to him on taking unsettled accounts between him and the defendant, the plaint shall state approximately the amount sued for.

Where the subject-matter of the suit is immoveable property.

3. Where the subject-matter of the suit is immoveable property, the plaint shall contain a description of the property sufficient to identify it, and, in case such property can be identified by boundaries or numbers in a record of settlement or survey, the plaint shall specify such boundaries or numbers.

When plaintiff sues as representative.

4. Where the plaintiff sues in a representative character, the plaint shall show not only that he has an actual existing interest in the subject-matter, but that he has taken the steps (if any) necessary to enable him to institute a suit concerning it.

Defendant's interest and liability to be shown.

5. The plaint shall show that the defendant is or claims to be interested in the subject-matter, and that he is liable to be called upon to answer the plaintiff's demand.

Grounds of exemption from limitation law.

6. Where the suit is instituted after the expiration of the period prescribed by the law of limitation, the plaint shall show the ground upon which exemption from such law is claimed.

Relief to be specifically stated.

7. Every plaint shall state specifically the relief which the plaintiff claims either simply or in the alternative, and it shall not be necessary to ask for general or other relief which may always be given as the Court may think just to the same extent as if it had been asked for. And the same rule shall apply to any relief claimed by the defendant in his written statement.

Relief founded on separate grounds.

8. Where the plaintiff seeks relief in respect of several distinct claims or causes of action founded upon separate and distinct grounds, they shall be stated as far as may be separately and distinctly.

Procedure on admitting plaint.

9. (1) The plaintiff shall endorse on the plaint, or annex thereto, a list of the documents (if any) which he has produced along with it; and, if the plaint is admitted, shall present as many copies on plain paper of the plaint as there are defendants, unless the Court by reason of the length of the plaint or the number of the defendants, or for any other sufficient reason, permits him to present a like number of concise statements of the nature of the claim made, or of the relief claimed in the suit, in which case he shall present such statements.

(2) Where the plaintiff sues, or the defendant or any of the defendants is sued, in a representative capacity, such statements shall show in what capacity the plaintiff or defendant sues or is sued.

(3) The plaintiff may, by leave of the Court, amend such statements so as to make them correspond with the plaint.

(4) The chief ministerial officer of the Court shall sign such list and copies or statements if, on examination, he finds them to be correct.

Return of plaint.

10. (1) The plaint shall at any stage of the suit be returned to be presented to the Court in which the suit should have been instituted.

Procedure on returning plaint.

(2) On returning a plaint the Judge shall endorse thereon the date of its presentation and return, the name of the party presenting it, and a brief statement of the reasons for returning it.

Rejection of plaint.

11. The plaint shall be rejected in the following cases:—

(a) where it does not disclose a cause of action:

(b) where the relief claimed is undervalued, and the plaintiff, on being required by the Court to correct the valuation within a time to be fixed by the Court, fails to do so:

(c) where the relief claimed is properly valued, but the plaint is written upon paper insufficiently stamped, and the plaintiff, on being required by the Court to supply the requisite stamp-paper within a time to be fixed by the Court, fails to do so:

(d) where the suit appears from the statement in the plaint to be barred by any law.

Procedure on rejecting plaint.

12. Where a plaint is rejected the Judge shall record an order to that effect with the reasons for such order.

Where rejection of plaint does not preclude presentation of fresh plaint.

13. The rejection of the plaint on any of the grounds hereinbefore mentioned shall not of its own force preclude the plaintiff from presenting a fresh plaint in respect of the same cause of action.

Documents relied on in plaint.

Production of document on which plaintiff sues.

14. (1) Where a plaintiff sues upon a document in his possession or power, he shall produce it in Court when the plaint is presented, and shall at the same time deliver the document or a copy thereof to be filed with the plaint.

List of other documents.

(2) Where he relies on any other documents (whether in his possession or power or not) as evidence in support of his claim, he shall enter such documents in a list to be added or annexed to the plaint.

Statement in case of documents not in his possession or power.

15. Where any such document is not in the possession or power of the plaintiff, he shall, if possible, state in whose possession or power it is.

Suits on lost negotiable instruments.

16. Where the suit is founded upon a negotiable instrument, and it is proved that the instrument is lost, and an indemnity is given by the plaintiff, to the satisfaction of the Court, against the claims of any other person upon such instrument, the Court may pass such decree as it would have passed if the plaintiff had produced the instrument in Court when the plaint was presented, and had at the same time delivered a copy of the instrument to be filed with the plaint.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order VII.—Plaint. Order VIII.—Written Statement and Set-off.)

17. (1) Save in so far as is otherwise provided by the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891, where the document on which the plaintiff sues is an entry in a shop-book or other account, in his possession or power, the plaintiff shall produce the book or account at the time of filing the plaint, together with a copy of the entry on which he relies.

Production of shop-book. III of 1891.

(2) The Court, or such officer as it appoints in this behalf, shall forthwith mark the document for the purpose of identification; and, after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall, if it is found correct, certify it to be so and return the book to the plaintiff and cause the copy to be filed.

Original entry to be marked and returned

18. (1) A document which ought to be produced in Court by the plaintiff when the plaint is presented, or to be entered in the list to be added or annexed to the plaint, and which is not produced or entered accordingly, shall not, without the leave of the Court, be received in evidence on his behalf at the hearing of the suit

Inadmissibility of document not produced when plaint filed.

(2) Nothing in this rule applies to documents produced for cross-examination of the defendant's witnesses, or in answer to any case set up by the defendant or handed to a witness merely to refresh his memory.

ORDER VIII.

Written Statement and Set-off.

1. The defendant may, and, if so required by the Court, shall at or before the first hearing or within such time as the Court may permit, present a written statement of his defence.

Written statement

2. The defendant must raise by his pleading all matters which show the suit not to be maintainable, or that the transaction is either void or voidable in point of law, and all such grounds of defence as, if not raised, would be likely to take the opposite party by surprise, or would raise issues of fact not arising out of the plaint, as, for instance, fraud, limitation, release, payment, performance, or facts showing illegality.

New facts must be specially pleaded

3. It shall not be sufficient for a defendant in his written statement to deny generally the grounds alleged by the plaintiff, but the defendant must deal specifically with each allegation of fact of which he does not admit the truth, except damages.

Denial to be specific.

4. Where a defendant denies an allegation of fact in the plaint, he must not do so evasively, but answer the point of substance. Thus, if it is alleged that he received a certain sum of money, it shall not be sufficient to deny that he received that particular amount, but he must deny that he received that sum or any part thereof, or else set out how much he received. And if an allegation is made with divers circumstances, it shall not be sufficient to deny it along with those circumstances.

Evasive denial.

5. Every allegation of fact in the plaint, if not denied specifically or by necessary implication, or stated to be not admitted in the pleading of the defendant, shall be taken to be admitted except as against a person under disability:

Specific denial.

Provided that the Court may in its discretion require any fact so admitted to be proved otherwise than by such admission.

6. (1) Where in a suit for the recovery of money the defendant claims to set off against the plaintiff's demand any ascertained sum of money legally recoverable by him from the plaintiff, not exceeding the pecuniary limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, and both parties fill the same character as they fill in the plaintiff's suit, the defendant may, at the first hearing of the suit, but not afterwards unless permitted by the Court, present a written statement containing the particulars of the debt sought to be set off.

Particulars of set-off to be given in written statement.

(2) The written statement shall have the same effect as a plaint in a cross-suit so as to enable the Court to pronounce a final judgment in respect both of the original claim and of the set-off but this shall not affect the lien, upon the amount decreed, of any pleader in respect of the costs payable to him under the decree.

Effect of set-off.

(3) The rules relating to a written statement by a defendant apply to a written statement in answer to a claim of set-off

Illustrations.

(a) A bequeaths Rs 2,000 to B and appoints C his executor and residuary legatee. B dies and D takes out administration to B's effects C pays Rs 1,000 as surety for D, then D sues C for the legacy C cannot set off the debt of Rs 1,000 against the legacy, for neither C nor D fills the same character with respect to the legacy as they fill with respect to the payment of the Rs. 1,000.

(b) A dies intestate and in debt to B. C takes out administration to A's effects and B buys part of the effects from C. In a suit for the purchase-money by C against B, the latter cannot set off the debt against the price, for C fills two different characters, one as the vendor to B, in which he sues B, and the other as representative to A.

(c) A sues B on a bill of exchange. B alleges that A has wrongfully neglected to insure B's goods and is liable to him in compensation which he claims to set off. The amount not being ascertained cannot be set off

(d) A sues B on a bill of exchange for Rs. 500. B holds a judgment against A for Rs. 1,000. The two claims being both definite pecuniary demands may be set off

(e) A sues B for compensation on account of trespass B holds a promissory note for Rs. 1,000 from A and claims to set off that amount against any sum that A may recover in the suit. B may do so, for, as soon as A recovers, both sums are definite pecuniary demands.

(f) A and B sue C for Rs 1,000. C cannot set off a debt due to him by A alone.

(g) A sues B and C for Rs. 1,000 B cannot set off a debt due to him alone by A.

(h) A owes the partnership firm of B and C Rs 1,000. B dies, leaving C surviving A sues C for a debt of Rs 1,500 due in his separate character C may set off the debt of Rs. 1,000.

7 Where the defendant relies upon several distinct grounds of defence or set-off founded upon separate and distinct facts, they shall be stated, as far as may be, separately and distinctly.

Defence or set-off founded on separate grounds

8. Any ground of defence which has arisen after the institution of the suit or the presentation of a written statement claiming a set-off may be raised by the defendant or plaintiff, as the case may be, in his written statement.

New ground of defence.

9. No pleading subsequent to the written statement of a defendant other than by way of defence to a set-off shall be presented except by the leave of the Court and upon such terms as the Court thinks fit, but the Court may at any time require a written statement or additional written statement from any of the parties and fix a time for presenting the same.

Subsequent pleadings

10. Where any party from whom a written statement is so required fails to present the same within the time fixed by the Court, the Court may pronounce judgment against him, or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

Procedure when party fails to present written statement called for by Court.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order IX.—Appearance of Parties and Consequence of Non-appearance.)

ORDER IX.

Appearance of Parties and Consequence of Non-appearance.

Parties to appear on day fixed in summons for defendant to appear and answer.

1. On the day fixed in the summons for the defendant to appear and answer, the parties shall be in attendance at the Court-house in person or by their respective pleaders, and the suit shall then be heard unless the hearing is adjourned to a future day fixed by the Court.

Dismissal of suit where summons not served in consequence of plaintiff's failure to pay costs.

2. Where on the day so fixed it is found that the summons has not been served upon the defendant in consequence of the failure of the plaintiff to pay the court-fee or postal charges (if any) chargeable for such service, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed:

Provided that no such order shall be made although the summons has not been served upon the defendant, if on the day fixed for him to appear and answer he attends in person or by agent when he is allowed to appear by agent.

Where neither party appears, suit to be dismissed.

3. Where neither party appears when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed.

Plaintiff may bring fresh suit or Court may restore suit to file.

4. Where a suit is dismissed under rule 2 or rule 3, the plaintiff may (subject to the law of limitation) bring a fresh suit, or he may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and if he satisfies the Court that there was sufficient cause for his not paying the court-fee and postal charges (if any) required within the time fixed before the issue of the summons, or for his non-appearance, as the case may be, the Court shall make an order setting aside the dismissal and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

Dismissal of suit where plaintiff, after summons returned unserved, fails for a year to apply for fresh summons.

5. (1) Where, after a summons has been issued to the defendant, or to one of several defendants, and returned unserved, the plaintiff fails for a period of one year from the date of the return made to the Court by the officer ordinarily certifying to the Court returns made by the serving officers, to apply for the issue of a fresh summons and to satisfy the Court that he has used his best endeavours to discover the residence of the defendant who has not been served, or that such defendant is avoiding service of process, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed as against such defendant.

(2) In such case the plaintiff may (subject to the law of limitation) bring a fresh suit.

Procedure when only plaintiff appears.

6. (1) Where the plaintiff appears and the defendant does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, then—

When summons duly served.

(a) if it is proved that the summons was duly served, the Court may proceed ex parte;

When summons not duly served.

(b) if it is not proved that the summons was duly served, the Court shall direct a second summons to be issued and served on the defendant;

When summons served, but not in due time.

(c) if it is proved that the summons was served on the defendant, but not in sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer on the day fixed in the summons, the Court shall postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day to be fixed by the Court, and shall direct notice of such day to be given to the defendant.

(2) Where it is owing to the plaintiff's default that the summons was not duly served or was not served in sufficient time, the Court shall order the plaintiff to pay the costs occasioned by the postponement.

Procedure where defendant appears on day of adjourned hearing and assigns good cause for previous non-appearance.

7. Where the Court has adjourned the hearing of the suit ex parte, and the defendant, at or before such hearing, appears and assigns good cause for his previous non-appearance, he may, upon such terms as the Court directs as to costs or otherwise, be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his appearance.

Procedure where defendant only appears.

8. Where the defendant appears and the plaintiff does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order that the suit be dismissed, unless the defendant admits the claim, or part thereof, in which case the Court shall pass a decree against the defendant upon such admission, and, where part only of the claim has been admitted, shall dismiss the suit so far as it relates to the remainder.

Decree against plaintiff by default bars fresh suit.

9. (1) Where a suit is wholly or partly dismissed under rule 8, the plaintiff shall be precluded from bringing a fresh suit in respect of the same cause of action. But he may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and if he satisfies the Court that there was sufficient cause for his non-appearance when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order setting aside the dismissal upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

(2) No order shall be made under this rule unless notice of the application has been served on the opposite party.

Procedure in case of non-attendance of one or more of several plaintiffs.

10. Where there are more plaintiffs than one, and one or more of them appear, and the others do not appear, the Court may, at the instance of the plaintiff or plaintiffs appearing, permit the suit to proceed in the same way as if all the plaintiffs had appeared, or make such order as it thinks fit.

Procedure in case of non-attendance of one or more of several defendants.

11. Where there are more defendants than one, and one or more of them appear and the others do not appear, the suit shall proceed, and the Court shall, at the time of pronouncing judgment, make such order as it thinks fit with respect to the defendants who do not appear.

Consequence of non-attendance, without sufficient cause shown, of party ordered to appear in person.

12. Where a plaintiff or defendant, who has been ordered to appear in person, does not appear in person, or show sufficient cause to the satisfaction of the Court for failing so to appear, he shall be subject to all the provisions of the foregoing rules applicable to plaintiffs and defendants, respectively, who do not appear.

Setting aside Decrees ex parte.

Setting aside decree ex parte against defendant.

13. In any case in which a decree is passed ex parte against a defendant, he may apply to the Court by which the decree was passed for an order to set it aside; and if he satisfies the Court that the summons was not duly served, or that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order setting aside the decree as against him upon such terms as to costs, payment into Court or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit:

Provided that where the decree is of such a nature that it cannot be set aside as against such defendant only it may be set aside as against all or any of the other defendants also.

No decree to be set aside without notice to opposite party.

14. No decree shall be set aside on any such application as aforesaid unless notice thereof has been served on the opposite party.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order X.—Examination of Parties by the Court. Order XI.—Discovery and Inspection.)

ORDER X.

Examination of Parties by the Court.

Ascertainment whether allegations in pleadings are admitted or denied.

1. At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall ascertain from each party or his pleader whether he admits or denies such allegations of fact as are made in the plaint or written statement (if any) of the opposite party, and as are not expressly or by necessary implication admitted or denied by the party against whom they are made. The Court shall record such admissions and denials.

Oral examination of party, or companion of party.

2. At the first hearing of the suit, or at any subsequent hearing, any party appearing in person or present in Court, or any person able to answer any material questions relating to the suit by whom such party or his pleader is accompanied, may be examined orally by the Court: and the Court may, if it thinks fit, put in the course of such examination questions suggested by either party.

Substance of examination to be written.

3. The substance of the examination shall be reduced to writing by the Judge, and shall form part of the record.

Consequence of refusal or inability of pleader to answer.

4. (1) Where the pleader of any party who appears by a pleader or any such person accompanying a pleader as is referred to in rule 2, refuses or is unable to answer any material question relating to the suit which the Court is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Court may postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day and direct that such party shall appear in person on such day.

(2) If such party fails without lawful excuse to appear in person on the day so appointed, the Court may pronounce judgment against him, or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

ORDER XI.

Discovery and Inspection.

Discovery interrogatories.

1. In any suit the plaintiff or defendant by leave of the Court may deliver interrogatories in writing for the examination of the opposite parties or any one or more of such parties, and such interrogatories when delivered shall have a note at the foot thereof stating which of such interrogatories each of such persons is required to answer: Provided that no party shall deliver more than one set of interrogatories to the same party without an order for that purpose: Provided also that interrogatories which do not relate to any matters in question in the suit shall be deemed irrelevant, notwithstanding that they might be admissible on the oral cross-examination of a witness.

Particular interrogatories to be submitted.

2. On an application for leave to deliver interrogatories, the particular interrogatories proposed to be delivered shall be submitted to the Court. In deciding upon such application, the Court shall take into account any offer, which may be made by the party sought to be interrogated, to deliver particulars, or to make admissions, or to produce documents relating to the matters in question, or any of them, and leave shall be given as to such only of the interrogatories submitted as the Court shall consider necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

Costs of interrogatories.

3. In adjusting the costs of the suit inquiry shall at the instance of any party be made into the propriety of exhibiting such interrogatories, and if it is the opinion of the taxing officer or of the Court, either with or without an application for inquiry that such interrogatories have been exhibited unreasonably, vexatiously, or at improper length, the costs occasioned by the said interrogatories and the answers thereto shall be paid in any event by the party in fault.

Form of interrogatories.

4. Interrogatories shall be in Form No. 2 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

Corporations.

5. Where any party to a suit is a corporation or a body of persons, whether incorporated or not, empowered by law to sue or be sued, whether in its own name or in the name of any officer or other person, any opposite party may apply for an order allowing him to deliver interrogatories to any member or officer of such corporation or body, and an order may be made accordingly.

Objections to interrogatories by answer.

6. Any objection to answering any interrogatory on the ground that it is scandalous or irrelevant or not exhibited bonâ fide for the purpose of the suit, or that the matters inquired into are not sufficiently material at that stage, or on any other ground, may be taken in the affidavit in answer.

Setting aside and striking out interrogatories.

7. Any interrogatories may be set aside on the ground that they have been exhibited unreasonably or vexatiously, or struck out on the ground that they are prolix, oppressive, unnecessary or scandalous; and any application for this purpose may be made within seven days after service of the interrogatories.

Affidavit answer, filing.

8. Interrogatories shall be answered by affidavit to be filed within ten days, or within such other time as the Court may allow.

Form of affidavit in answer.

9. An affidavit in answer to interrogatories shall be in Form No. 3 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

No exception to be taken.

10. No exceptions shall be taken to any affidavit in answer, but the sufficiency or otherwise of any such affidavit objected to as insufficient shall be determined by the Court

Order to answer or answer further.

11. Where any person interrogated omits to answer, or answers insufficiently, the party interrogating may apply to the Court for an order requiring him to answer, or to answer further, as the case may be. And an order may be made requiring him to answer or answer further, either by affidavit or by vivâ voce examination, as the Court may direct.

Application for discovery of documents.

12. Any party may, without filing any affidavit, apply to the Court for an order directing any other party to any suit to make discovery on oath of the documents which are or have been in his possession or power, relating to any matter in question therein. On the hearing of such application the Court may either refuse or adjourn the same, if satisfied that such discovery is not necessary, or not necessary at that stage of the suit, or make such order, either generally or limited to certain classes of documents, as may, in its discretion, be thought fit: Provided that discovery shall not be ordered when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

Affidavit of documents.

13. The affidavit to be made by a party against whom such order as is mentioned in the last preceding rule has been made, shall specify which (if any) of the documents therein mentioned he objects to produce, and it shall be in Form No. 5 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XI.—Discovery and Inspection.)

Production of documents.

14. It shall be lawful for the Court, at any time during the pendency of any suit, to order the production by any party thereto, upon oath, of such of the documents in his possession or power, relating to any matter in question in such suit, as the Court shall think right; and the Court may deal with such documents, when produced, in such manner as shall appear just.

Inspection of documents referred to in pleadings or affidavits.

15. Every party to a suit shall be entitled at any time to give notice to any other party, in whose pleadings or affidavits reference is made to any document, to produce such document for the inspection of the party giving such notice, or of his pleader, and to permit him or them to take copies thereof; and any party not complying with such notice shall not afterwards be at liberty to put any such document in evidence on his behalf in such suit unless he shall satisfy the Court that such document relates only to his own title, he being a defendant to the suit, or that he had some other cause or excuse which the Court shall deem sufficient for not complying with such notice, in which case the Court may allow the same to be put in evidence on such terms as to costs and otherwise as the Court shall think fit.

Notice to produce.

16. Notice to any party to produce any documents referred to in his pleading or affidavits shall be in Form No 7 n Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

Time for inspection when notice given.

17. The party to whom such notice is given shall, within ten days from the receipt of such notice, deliver to the party giving the same a notice stating a time within three days from the delivery thereof at which the documents, or such of them as he does not object to produce, may be inspected at the office of his pleader, or in the case of bankers' books or other books of account or books in constant use for the purposes of any trade or business, at their usual place of custody, and stating which (if any) of the documents he objects to produce, and on what ground. Such notice shall be in Form No. 8 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

Order for inspection.

18. (1) Where the party served with notice under rule 15 omits to give such notice of a time for inspection or objects to give inspection, or offers inspection elsewhere than at the office of his pleader, the Court may, on the application of the party desiring it, make an order for inspection in such place and in such manner as it may think fit: Provided that the order shall not be made when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

(2) Any application to inspect documents, except such as are referred to in the pleadings, particulars or affidavits of the party against whom the application is made or disclosed in his affidavit of documents, shall be founded upon an affidavit showing of what documents inspection is sought, that the party applying is entitled to inspect them, and that they are in the possession or power of the other party. The Court shall not make such order for inspection of such documents when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

Verified copies

19. (1) Where inspection of any business books is applied for, the Court may, if it thinks fit, instead of ordering inspection of the original books, order a copy of any entries therein to be furnished and verified by the affidavit of some person who has examined the copy with the original entries, and such affidavit shall state whether or not there are in the original book any and what erasures, interlineations or alterations: Provided that, notwithstanding that such copy has been supplied, the Court may order inspection of the book from which the copy was made.

(2) Where on an application for an order for inspection privilege is claimed for any document, it shall be lawful for the Court to inspect the document for the purpose of deciding as to the validity of the claim of privilege.

(3) The Court may, on the application of any party to a suit at any time, and whether an affidavit of documents shall or shall not have already been ordered or made, make an order requiring any other party to state by affidavit whether any one or more specific documents, to be specified in the application, is or are, or has or have at any time been, in his possession or power; and, if not then in his possession, when he parted with the same and what has become thereof. Such application shall be made on an affidavit stating that in the belief of the deponent the party against whom the application is made has, or has at some time had, in his possession or power the document or documents specified in the application, and that they relate to the matters in question in the suit, or to some of them.

Premature discovery.

20. Where the party from whom discovery of any kind or inspection is sought objects to the same, or any part thereof, the Court may, if satisfied that the right to the discovery or inspection sought depends on the determination of any issue or question in dispute in the suit, or that for any other reason it is desirable that any issue or question in dispute in the suit should be determined before deciding upon the right to the discovery or inspection, order that such issue or question be determined first, and reserve the question as to the discovery or inspection.

Non-compliance with order for discovery.

21. Where any party fails to comply with any order to answer interrogatories, or for discovery or inspection of documents, he shall, if a plaintiff, be liable to have his suit dismissed for want of prosecution, and, if a defendant, to have his defence, if any, struck out, and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended, and the party interrogating or seeking discovery or inspection may apply to the Court for an order to that effect, and an order may be made accordingly.

Using answers to interrogatories at trial.

22. Any party may, at the trial of a suit, use in evidence any one or more of the answers or any part of an answer of the opposite party to interrogatories without putting in the others or the whole of such answer: Provided always that in such case the Court may look at the whole of the answers, and if it shall be of opinion that any others of them are so connected with those put in that the last-mentioned answers ought not to be used without them, it may direct them to be put in.

Order to apply to minors.

23. This Order shall apply to minor plaintiffs and defendants, and to the next friends and guardians for the suit of persons under disability.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XII.—Admissions. Order XIII.—Production, Impounding and Return of Documents.)

ORDER XII.

Admissions.

Notice of admission of case.

1. Any party to a suit may give notice, by his pleading, or otherwise in writing, that he admits the truth of the whole or any part of the case of any other party.

Notice to admit documents.

2. Either party may call upon the other party to admit any document, saving all just exceptions; and in case of refusal or neglect to admit, after such notice, the costs of proving any such document shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the suit may be, unless the Court otherwise directs; and no costs of proving any document shall be allowed unless such notice is given, except where the omission to give the notice is, in the opinion of the Court, a saving of expense.

Form of notice.

3. A notice to admit documents shall be in Form No. 9 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

Notice to admit facts.

4. Any party may, by notice in writing, at any time not later than nine days before the day fixed for the hearing, call on any other party to admit, for the purposes of the suit only, any specific fact or facts mentioned in such notice. And in case of refusal or neglect to admit the same within six days after service of such notice, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court, the costs of proving such fact or facts shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the suit may be, unless the Court otherwise directs: Provided that any admission made in pursuance of such notice is to be deemed to be made only for the purposes of the particular suit, and not as an admission to be used against the party on any other occasion or in favour of any person other than the party giving the notice: Provided also that the Court may at any time allow any party to amend or withdraw any admission so made on such terms as may be just.

Form of admissions.

5. A notice to admit facts shall be in Form No. 10 in Appendix C, and admissions of facts shall be in Form No. 11 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

Judgment on admissions.

6. Any party may at any stage of a suit, where admissions of fact have been made, either on the pleadings, or otherwise, apply to the Court for such judgment or order as upon such admissions he may be entitled to, without waiting for the determination of any other question between the parties: and the Court may upon such application make such order, or give such judgment, as the Court may think just.

Affidavit of signature.

7. An affidavit of the pleader or his clerk, of the due signature of any admissions made in pursuance of any notice to admit documents or facts, shall be sufficient evidence of such admissions, if evidence thereof is required.

Notice to produce documents.

8. Notice to produce documents shall be in Form No. 12 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require. An affidavit of the pleader, or his clerk, of the service of any notice to produce, and of the time when it was served, with a copy of the notice to produce, shall in all cases be sufficient evidence of the service of the notice, and of the time when it was served.

Costs.

9. If a notice to admit or produce specifies documents which are not necessary, the costs occasioned thereby shall be borne by the party giving such notice.

ORDER XIII.

Production, Impounding and Return of Documents.

Documentary evidence to be produced at first hearing.

1. (1) The parties or their pleaders shall produce, at the first hearing of the suit, all the documentary evidence of every description in their possession or power, on which they intend to rely, and which has not already been filed in Court, and all documents which the Court has ordered to be produced.

(2) The Court shall receive the documents so produced: provided that they are accompanied by an accurate list thereof prepared in such form as the High Court directs.

Effect of non-production of documents.

2. No documentary evidence in the possession or power of any party which should have been but has not been produced in accordance with the requirements of rule 1 shall be received at any subsequent stage of the proceedings unless good cause is shown to the satisfaction of the Court for the non-production thereof; and the Court receiving any such evidence shall record the reasons for so doing.

Rejection of irrelevant or inadmissible documents.

3. The Court may at any stage of the suit reject any document which it considers irrelevant or otherwise inadmissible, recording the grounds of such rejection.

Endorsements on documents admitted in evidence.

4. (1) Subject to the provisions of the next following sub-rule, there shall be endorsed on every document which has been admitted in evidence in the suit the following particulars, namely:—

(a) the number and title of the suit,

(b) the name of the person producing the document,

(c) the date on which it was produced, and

(d) a statement of its having been so admitted;

and the endorsement shall be signed or initialled by the Judge.

(2) Where a document so admitted is an entry in a book, account or record, and a copy thereof has been substituted for the original under the next following rule, the particulars aforesaid shall be endorsed on the copy and the endorsement thereon shall be signed or initialled by the Judge.

Endorsements on copies of admitted entries in books, accounts and records.

5. (1) Save in so far as is otherwise provided by the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891, where a document admitted in evidence in the suit is an entry in a letter-book or a shop-book or other account in current use, the party on whose behalf the book or account is produced may furnish a copy of the entry.

VIII of 1891

(2) Where such a document is an entry in a public record produced from a public office or by a public officer, or an entry in a book or account belonging to a person other than a party on whose behalf the book or account is produced, the Court may require a copy of the entry to be furnished—

(a) where the record, book or account is produced on behalf of a party, then by that party, or

(b) where the record, book or account is produced in obedience to an order of the Court acting of its own motion, then by either or any party.

(3) Where a copy of an entry is furnished under the foregoing provisions of this rule, the Court shall, after causing the copy to be examined, compared and certified in manner mentioned in rule 17 of Order VII, mark the entry and cause the book, account or record in which it occurs to be returned to the person producing it.

Endorsements on documents rejected as inadmissible in evidence.

6. Where a document relied on as evidence by either party is considered by the Court to be inadmissible in evidence, there shall be endorsed thereon the particulars mentioned in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of rule 4, sub-rule (1), together with a statement of its having been rejected, and the endorsement shall be signed or initialled by the Judge.

Recording of admitted and return of rejected documents.

7. (1) Every document which has been admitted in evidence, or a copy thereof where a copy has been substituted for the original under rule 5, shall form part of the record of the suit.

(2) Documents not admitted in evidence shall not form part of the record and shall be returned to the persons respectively producing them.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XIII.—Production, Impounding and Return of Documents. Order XIV.—Settlement of Issues and Determination of Suit on Issues of Law or on Issues agreed upon.)

Court may order any document to be impounded.

8. Notwithstanding anything contained in rule 5 or rule 7 of this Order or in rule 17 of Order VII, the Court may, if it sees sufficient cause, direct any document or book produced before it in any suit to be impounded and kept in the custody of an officer of the Court, for such period and subject to such conditions as the Court thinks fit.

Return of admitted documents.

9. (1) Any person, whether a party to the suit or not, desirous of receiving back any document produced by him in the suit and placed on the record shall, unless the document is impounded under rule 8, be entitled to receive back the same,—

(a) where the suit is one in which an appeal is not allowed, when the suit has been disposed of, and

(b) where the suit is one in which an appeal is allowed, when the Court is satisfied that the time for preferring an appeal has elapsed and that no appeal has been preferred or, if an appeal has been preferred, when the appeal has been disposed of:

Provided that a document may be returned at any time earlier than that prescribed by this rule if the person applying therefor delivers to the proper officer a certified copy to be substituted for the original and undertakes to produce the original if required to do so:

Provided also that no document shall be returned which, by force of the decree, has become wholly void or useless.

(2) On the return of a document admitted in evidencet a receipt shall be given by the person receiving it.

Court may send for papers from its own records or from other Courts.

10 (1) The Court may of its own motion, and may in its discretion upon the application of any of the parties to a suit, send for either from its own records or from any other Court, the record of any other suit or proceeding, and inspect the same.

(2) Every application made under this rule shall (unless the Court otherwise directs) be supported by an affidavit showing how the record is material to the suit in which the application is made, and that the applicant cannot without unreasonable delay or expense obtain a duly authenticated copy of the record or of such portion thereof as the applicant requires, or that the production of the original is necessary for the purposes of justice.

(3) Nothing contained in this rule shall be deemed to enable the Court to use in evidence any document which under the law of evidence would be inadmissible in the suit.

Provisions as to documents applied to material objects.

11. The provisions herein contained as to documents shall, so far as may be, apply to all other material objects producible as evidence.

ORDER XIV.

Settlement of Issues and Determination of Suit on Issues of Law or on Issues agreed upon.

Framing of issues.

1. (1) Issues arise when a material proposition of fact or law is affirmed by the one party and denied by the other.

(2) Material propositions are those propositions of law or fact which a plaintiff must allege in order to show a right to sue or a defendant must allege in order to constitute his defence.

(3) Each material proposition affirmed by one party and denied by the other shall form the subject of a distinct issue.

(4) Issues are of two kinds: (a) issues of fact, (b) issues of law.

(5) At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall, after reading the plaint and the written statements, if any, and after such examination of the parties as may appear necessary, ascertain upon what material propositions of fact or of law the parties are at variance, and shall thereupon proceed to frame and record the issues on which the right decision of the case appears to depend.

(6) Nothing in this rule requires the Court to frame and record issues where the defendant at the first hearing of the suit makes no defence.

Issues of law and of fact.

2. Where issues both of law and of fact arise in the same suit, and the Court is of opinion that the case or any part thereof may be disposed of on the issues of law only, it shall try those issues first, and for that purpose may, if it thinks fit, postpone the settlement of the issues of fact until after the issues of law have been determined.

Materials from which issues may be framed.

3. The Court may frame the issues from all or any of the following materials:—

(a) allegations made on oath by the parties, or by any persons present on their behalf, or made by the pleaders of such parties;

(b) allegations made in the pleadings or in answers to interrogatories delivered in the suit;

(c) the contents of documents produced by either party.

Court may examine witnesses or documents before framing issues.

4. Where the Court is of opinion that the issues cannot be correctly framed without the examination of some person not before the Court or without the inspection of some document not produced in the suit, it may adjourn the framing of the issues to a future day, and may (subject to any law for the time being in force) compel the attendance of any person or the production of any document by the person in whose possession or power it is by summons or other process.

Power to amend, and strike out, issues.

5. (1) The Court may at any time before passing a decree amend the issues or frame additional issues on such terms as it thinks fit, and all such amendments or additional issues as may be necessary for determining the matters in controversy between the parties shall be so made or framed.

(2) The Court may also, at any time before passing a decree, strike out any issues that appear to it to be wrongly framed or introduced.

Questions of fact or law may by agreement be stated in form of issues.

6 Where the parties to a suit are agreed as to the question of fact or of law to be decided between them, they may state the same in the form of an issue, and enter into an agreement in writing that, upon the finding of the Court in the affirmative or the negative of such issue,—

(a) a sum of money specified in the agreement or to be ascertained by the Court, or in such manner as the Court may direct, shall be paid by one of the parties to the other of them, or that one of them be declared entitled to some right or subject to some liability specified in the agreement;

(b) some property specified in the agreement and in dispute in the suit shall be delivered by one of the parties to the other of them, or as that other may direct; or

(c) one or more of the parties shall do or abstain from doing some particular act specified in the agreement and relating to the matter in dispute.

Court, if satisfied that agreement was executed in good faith, may pronounce judgment.

7. Where the Court is satisfied, after making such inquiry as it deems proper,—

(a) that the agreement was duly executed by the parties,

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XV.—Disposal of the Suit at the first hearing. Order XVI.—Summoning and Attendance of Witnesses.)

(b) that they have a substantial interest in the decision of such question as aforesaid, and

(c) that the same is fit to be tried and decided, it shall proceed to record and try the issue and state its finding or decision thereon in the same manner as if the issue had been framed by the Court; and shall, upon the finding or decision on such issue, pronounce judgment according to the terms of the agreement; and, upon the judgment so pronounced, a decree shall follow.

ORDER XV.

Disposal of the Suit at the first hearing.

Parties not at issue.

1. Where at the first hearing of a suit it appears that the parties are not at issue on any question of law or of fact, the Court may at once pronounce judgment.

One of several defendants not at issue.

2. Where there are more defendants than one, and any one of the defendants is not at issue with the plaintiff on any question of law or of fact, the Court may at once pronounce judgment for or against such defendant and the suit shall proceed only against the other defendants.

Parties at issue.

3. (1) Where the parties are at issue on some question of law or of fact, and issues have been framed by the Court as hereinbefore provided, if the Court is satisfied that no further argument or evidence than the parties can at once adduce is required upon such of the issues as may be sufficient for the decision of the suit, and that no injustice will result from proceeding with the suit forthwith, the Court may proceed to determine such issues, and, if the finding thereon is sufficient for the decision, may pronounce judgment accordingly, whether the summons has been issued for the settlement of issues only or for the final disposal of the suit:

Provided that, where the summons has been issued for the settlement of issues only, the parties or their pleaders are present and none of them objects.

(2) Where the finding is not sufficient for the decision, the Court shall postpone the further hearing of the suit, and shall fix a day for the production of such further evidence, or for such further argument as the case requires.

Failure to produce evidence.

4. Where the summons has been issued for the final disposal of the suit and either party fails without sufficient cause to produce the evidence on which he relies, the Court may at once pronounce judgment, or may, if it thinks fit, after framing and recording issues, adjourn the suit for the production of such evidence as may be necessary for its decision upon such issues.

ORDER XVI.

Summoning and Attendance of Witnesses.

Summons to attend to give evidence or produce documents.

1. At any time after the suit is instituted, the parties may obtain, on application to the Court or to such officer as it appoints in this behalf, summonses to persons whose attendance is required either to give evidence or to produce documents

Expenses of witness to be paid into Court on applying for summons.

2. (1) The party applying for a summons shall, before the summons is granted and within a period to be fixed, pay into Court such a sum of money as appears to the Court to be sufficient to defray the travelling and other expenses of the person summoned in passing to and from the Court in which he is required to attend, and for one day's attendance.

Experts.

(2) In determining the amount payable under this rule, the Court may, in the case of any person summoned to give evidence as an expert, allow reasonable remuneration for the time occupied both in giving evidence and in performing any work of an expert character necessary for the case.

Scale of expenses.

(3) Where the Court is subordinate to a High Court regard shall be had, in fixing the scale of such expenses, to any rules made in that behalf.

Tender of expenses to witness.

3. The sum so paid into Court shall be tendered to the person summoned, at the time of serving the summons, if it can be served personally.

Procedure where insufficient sum paid in.

4. (1) Where it appears to the Court or to such officer as it appoints in this behalf that the sum paid into Court is not sufficient to cover such expenses or reasonable remuneration, the Court may direct such further sum to be paid to the person summoned as appears to be necessary on that account, and, in case of default in payment, may order such sum to be levied by attachment and sale of the moveable property of the party obtaining the summons; or the Court may discharge the person summoned without requiring him to give evidence; or may both order such levy and discharge such person as aforesaid.

Expenses of witnesses detained more than one day.

(2) Where it is necessary to detain the person summoned for a longer period than one day, the Court may, from time to time, order the party at whose instance he was summoned to pay into Court such sum as is sufficient to defray the expenses of his detention for such further period, and, in default of such deposit being made, may order such sum to be levied by attachment and sale of the moveable property of such party; or the Court may discharge the person summoned without requiring him to give evidence; or may both order such levy and discharge such person as aforesaid.

Time, place and purpose of attendance to be specified in summons.

5. Every summons for the attendance of a person to give evidence or to produce a document shall specify the time and place at which he is required to attend, and also whether his attendance is required for the purpose of giving evidence or to produce a document, or for both purposes; and any particular document, which the person summoned is called on to produce, shall be described in the summons with reasonable accuracy.

Summons to produce document.

6. Any person may be summoned to produce a document, without being summoned to give evidence; and any person summoned merely to produce a document shall be deemed to have complied with the summons if he causes such document to be produced instead of attending personally to produce the same.

Power to require persons present in Court to give evidence or produce document.

7. Any person present in Court may be required by the Court to give evidence or to produce any document then and there in his possession or power.

Summons how served.

8. Every summons under this Order shall be served as nearly as may be in the same manner as a summons to a defendant, and the rules in Order V as to proof of service shall apply in the case of all summonses served under this rule.

Time for serving summons.

9. Service shall in all cases be made a sufficient time before the time specified in the summons for the attendance of the person summoned, to allow him a reasonable time for preparation and for travelling to the place at which his attendance is required.

Procedure where witness fails to comply with summons.

10. (1) Where a person to whom a summons has been issued either to attend to give evidence or to produce a document fails to attend or to produce the document in compliance with such summons, the Court shall, if the certificate of the serving-officer has not been verified by affidavit, and may, if it has been so verified, examine the serving-officer on oath, or cause him to be so examined by another Court, touching the service or non-service of the summons.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XVI.—Summoning and Attendance of Witnesses. Order XVII.—Adjournments.)

(2) Where the Court sees reason to believe that such evidence or production is material, and that such person has, without lawful excuse, failed to attend or to produce the document in compliance with such summons or has intentionally avoided service, it may issue a proclamation requiring him to attend to give evidence or to produce the document at a time and place to be named therein; and a copy of such proclamation shall be affixed on the outer door or other conspicuous part of the house in which he ordinarily resides.

(3) In lieu of or at the time of issuing such proclamation, or at any time afterwards, the Court may, in its discretion, issue a warrant, either with or without bail, for the arrest of such person, and may make an order for the attachment of his property to such amount as it thinks fit, not exceeding the amount of the costs of attachment and of any fine which may be imposed under rule 12:

Provided that no Court of Small Causes shall make an order for the attachment of immoveable property.

If witness appears, attachment may be withdrawn.

11. Where, at any time after the attachment of his property, such person appears and satisfies the Court,—

(a) that he did not, without lawful excuse, fail to comply with the summons or intentionally avoid service, and,

(b) where he has failed to attend at the time and place named in a proclamation issued under the last preceding rule, that he had no notice of such proclamation in time to attend, the Court shall direct that the property be released from attachment, and shall make such order as to the costs of the attachment as it thinks fit.

Procedure if witness fails to appear.

12. The Court may, where such person does not appear, or appears but fails so to satisfy the Court, impose upon him such fine not exceeding five hundred rupees as it thinks fit, having regard to his condition in life and all the circumstances of the case, and may order his property, or any part thereof, to be attached and sold or, if already attached under rule 10, to be sold for the purpose of satisfying all costs of such attachment, together with the amount of the said fine, if any:

Provided that, if the person whose attendance is required pays into Court the costs and fine aforesaid, the Court shall order the property to be released from attachment.

Mode of attachment.

13. The provisions with regard to the attachment and sale of property in the execution of a decree shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply to any attachment and sale under this Order as if the person whose property is so attached were a judgment-debtor.

Court may of its own accord summon as witnesses strangers to suit.

14. Subject to the provisions of this Code as to attendance and appearance and to any law for the time being in force, where the Court at any time thinks it necessary to examine any person other than a party to the suit and not called as a witness by a party to the suit, the Court may, of its own motion, cause such person to be summoned as a witness to give evidence, or to produce any document in his possession, on a day to be [illegible], and may examine him as a witness or require [illegible]duce such document.

Duty of persons summoned to give evidence or produce document.

15. Subject as last aforesaid, whoever is summoned to appear and give evidence in a suit shall attend at the time and place named in the summons for that purpose, and whoever is summoned to produce a document shall either attend to produce it, or cause it to be produced, at such time and place.

When they may depart.

16. (1) A person so summoned and attending shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, attend at each hearing until the suit has been disposed of.

(2) On the application of either party and the payment through the Court of all necessary expenses (if any), the Court may require any person so summoned and attending to furnish security to attend at the next or any other hearing or until the suit is disposed of and, in default of his furnishing such security, may order him to be detained in the civil prison.

Application of rules 10 to 13.

17. The provisions of rules 10 to 13 shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply to any person who having attended in compliance with a summons departs, without lawful excuse, in contravention of rule 16.

Procedure where witness apprehended cannot give evidence or produce document.

18. Where any person arrested under a warrant is brought before the Court in custody and cannot, owing to the absence of the parties or any of them, give the evidence or produce the document which he has been summoned to give or produce, the Court may require him to give reasonable bail or other security for his appearance at such time and place as it thinks fit, and, on such bail or security being given, may release him, and, in default of his giving such bail or security, may order him to be detained in the civil prison.

No witness to be ordered to attend in person unless resident within certain limits.

19. No one shall be ordered to attend in person to give evidence unless he resides—

(a) within the local limits of the Court's ordinary original jurisdiction, or

(b) without such limits but at a place less than fifty or (where there is railway or steamer communication or other established public conveyance for five-sixths of the distance between the place where he resides and the place where the Court is situate) less than two hundred miles distance from the Court-house.

Consequence of refusal of party to give evidence when called on by Court.

20. Where any party to a suit present in Court refuses, without lawful excuse, when required by the Court, to give evidence or to produce any document then and there in his possession or power, the Court may pronounce judgment against him or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

Rules as to witnesses to apply to parties summoned.

21. Where any party to a suit is required to give evidence or to produce a document, the provisions as to witnesses shall apply to him so far as they are applicable.

ORDER XVII.

Adjournments.

Court may grant time and adjourn hearing.

1. (1) The Court may, if sufficient cause is shown, at any stage of the suit grant time to the parties or to any of them, and may from time to time adjourn the hearing of the suit.

Costs of adjournment.

(2) In every such case the Court shall fix a day for the further hearing of the suit, and may make such order as it thinks fit with respect to the costs occasioned by the adjournment:

Provided that, when the hearing of evidence has once begun, the hearing of the suit shall be continued from day to day until all the witnesses in attendance have been examined, unless the Court finds the adjournment of the hearing beyond the following day to be necessary for reasons to be recorded.

Procedure if parties fail to appear on day fixed.

2. Where, on any day to which the hearing of the suit is adjourned, the parties or any of them fail to appear, the Court may proceed to dispose of the suit in one of the modes directed in that behalf by Order IX or make such other order as it thinks fit.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XVII.—Adjournments. Order XVIII.—Hearing of the Suit and Examination of Witnesses.)

3. Where any party to a suit to whom time has been granted fails to produce his evidence, or to cause the attendance of his witnesses, or to perform any other act necessary to the further progress of the suit, for which time has been allowed, the Court may, notwithstanding such default, proceed to decide the suit forthwith.

Court may proceed notwithstanding either party fails to produce evidence, etc.

ORDER XVIII.

Hearing of the Suit and Examination of Witnesses.

1. The plaintiff has the right to begin unless the defendant admits the facts alleged by the plaintiff and contends that either in point of law or on some additional facts alleged by the defendant the plaintiff is not entitled to any part of the relief which he seeks, in which case the defendant has the right to begin.

Right to begin.

2. (1) On the day fixed for the hearing of the suit or on any other day to which the hearing is adjourned, the party having the right to begin shall state his case and produce his evidence in support of the issues which he is bound to prove.

Statement and production of evidence.

(2) The other party shall then state his case and produce his evidence (if any) and may then address the Court generally on the whole case.

(3) The party beginning may then reply generally on the whole case.

3. Where there are several issues, the burden of proving some of which lies on the other party, the party beginning may, at his option, either produce his evidence on those issues or reserve it by way of answer to the evidence produced by the other party; and, in the latter case, the party beginning may produce evidence on those issues after the other party has produced all his evidence, and the other party may then reply specially on the evidence so produced by the party beginning; but the party beginning will then be entitled to reply generally on the whole case.

Evidence where several issues.

4. The evidence of the witnesses in attendance shall be taken orally in open Court in the presence and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge.

Witnesses to be examined in open Court.

5. In cases in which an appeal is allowed the evidence of each witness shall be taken down in writing, in the language of the Court, by or in the presence and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge, not ordinarily in the form of question and answer, but in that of a narrative, and, when completed, shall be read over in the presence of the Judge and of the witness, and the Judge shall, if necessary, correct the same, and shall sign it.

How evidence shall be taken in appealable cases.

6. Where the evidence is taken down in a language different from that in which it is given, and the witness does not understand the language in which it is taken down, the evidence as taken down in writing shall be interpreted to him in the language in which it is given.

When deposition to be interpreted.

7. Evidence taken down under section 138 shall be in the form prescribed by rule 5 and shall be read over and signed and, as occasion may require, interpreted and corrected as if it were evidence taken down under that rule.

Evidence under section 138.

8. Where the evidence is not taken down in writing by the Judge, he shall be bound, as the examination of each witness proceeds, to make a memorandum of the substance of what each witness deposes, and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Judge and shall form part of the record.

Memorandum when evidence not taken down by Judge.

9. Where English is not the language of the Court, but all the parties to the suit who appear in person, and the pleaders of such as appear by pleaders, do not object to have such evidence as is given in English taken down in English, the Judge may so take it down.

When evidence may be taken in English.

10. The Court may, of its own motion or on the application of any party or his pleader, take down any particular question and answer, or any objection to any question, if there appears to be any special reason for so doing.

Any particular question and answer may be taken down.

11. Where any question put to a witness is objected to by a party or his pleader, and the Court allows the same to be put, the Judge shall take down the question, the answer, the objection and the name of the person making it, together with the decision of the Court thereon.

Questions objected to and allowed by Court.

12. The Court may record such remarks as it thinks material respecting the demeanour of any witness while under examination.

Remarks on demeanour of witnesses.

13. In cases in which an appeal is not allowed, it shall not be necessary to take down the evidence of the witnesses in writing at length, but the Judge, as the examination of each witness proceeds, shall make a memorandum of the substance of what he deposes, and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Judge and shall form part of the record.

Memorandum of evidence in unappealable cases.

14. (1) Where the Judge is unable to make a memorandum as required by this Order, he shall cause the reason of such inability to be recorded, and shall cause the memorandum to be made in writing from his dictation in open Court.

Judge unable to make such memorandum to record reasons of his inability.

(2) Every memorandum so made shall form part of the record.

15. (1) Where a Judge is prevented by death, transfer or other cause from concluding the trial of a suit, his successor may deal with any evidence or memorandum taken down or made under the foregoing rules as if such evidence or memorandum had been taken down or made by him or under his direction under the said rules and may proceed with the suit from the stage at which his predecessor left it.

Power to deal with evidence taken before another Judge.

(2) The provisions of sub-rule (1) shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply to evidence taken in a suit transferred under section 24.

16. (1) Where a witness is about to leave the jurisdiction of the Court, or other sufficient cause is shown to the satisfaction of the Court why his evidence should be taken immediately, the Court may upon the application of any party or of the witness, at any time after the institution of the suit, take the evidence of such witness in manner hereinbefore provided.

Power to examine witness immediately.

(2) Where such evidence is not taken forthwith and in the presence of the parties, such notice as the Court thinks sufficient, of the day fixed for the examination, shall be given to the parties.

(3) The evidence so taken shall be read over to the witness, and, if he admits it to be correct, shall be signed by him, and the Judge shall, if necessary, correct the same

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XVIII.—Hearing of the Suit and Examination of Witnesses. Order XIX.—Affidavits. Order XX.—Judgment and Decree.)

and shall sign it, and it may then be read at any hearing of the suit.

17. The Court may at any stage of a suit recall any witness who has been examined and may (subject to the law of evidence for the time being in force) put such questions to him as the Court thinks fit.

Court may recall and examine witness.

18. The Court may at any stage of a suit inspect any property or thing concerning which any question may arise.

Power of Court to inspect.

ORDER XIX.

Affidavits.

1. Any Court may at any time for sufficient reason order that any particular fact or facts may be proved by affidavit, or that the affidavit of any witness may be read at the hearing, on such conditions as the Court thinks reasonable:

Power to order any point to be proved by affidavit.

Provided that where it appears to the Court that either party bonâ fide desires the production of a witness for cross-examination, and that such witness can be produced, an order shall not be made authorizing the evidence of such witness to be given by affidavit.

2. (1) Upon any application evidence may be given by affidavit, but the Court may, at the instance of either party, order the attendance for cross-examination of the deponent.

Power to order attendance of deponent for cross-examination.

(2) Such attendance shall be in Court, unless the deponent is exempted from personal appearance in Court, or the Court otherwise directs.

3. (1) Affidavits shall be confined to such facts as the deponent is able of his own knowledge to prove, except on interlocutory applications, on which statements of his belief may be admitted: provided that the grounds thereof are stated.

Matters to which affidavits shall be confined.

(2) The costs of every affidavit which shall unnecessarily set forth matters of hearsay or argumentative matter, or copies of or extracts from documents, shall (unless the Court otherwise directs) be paid by the party filing the same.

ORDER XX.

Judgment and Decree.

1. The Court, after the case has been heard, shall pronounce judgment in open Court, either at once or on some future day, of which due notice shall be given to the parties or their pleaders.

Judgment when pronounced.

2. A Judge may pronounce a judgment written but not pronounced by his predecessor.

Power to pronounce judgment written by Judge's predecessor.

3. The judgment shall be dated and signed by the Judge in open Court at the time of pronouncing it and, when once signed, shall not afterwards be altered or added to, save as provided by section 152 or on review.

Judgment to be signed.

4. (1) Judgments of a Court of Small Causes need not contain more than the points for determination and the decision thereon.

Judgments of Small Cause Courts.

(2) Judgments of other Courts shall contain a concise statement of the case, the points for determination, the decision thereon, and the reasons for such decision.

Judgments of other Courts.

5. In suits in which issues have been framed, the Court shall state its finding or decision, with the reasons therefor, upon each separate issue, unless the finding upon any one or more of the issues is sufficient for the decision of the suit.

Court to state its decision on each issue.

6. (1) The decree shall agree with the judgment: it shall contain the number of the suit, the names and descriptions of the parties, and particulars of the claim, and shall specify clearly the relief granted or other determination of the suit.

Contents of decree.

(2) The decree shall also state the amount of costs incurred in the suit, and by whom or out of what property and in what proportions such costs are to be paid.

(3) The Court may direct that the costs payable to one party by the other shall be set off against any sum which is admitted or found to be due from the former to the latter.

7. The decree shall bear date the day on which the judgment was pronounced, and, when the Judge has satisfied himself that the decree has been drawn up in accordance with the judgment, he shall sign the decree.

Date of decree.

8. Where a Judge has vacated office after pronouncing judgment but without signing the decree, a decree drawn up in accordance with such judgment may be signed by his successor or, if the Court has ceased to exist, by the Judge of any Court to which such Court was subordinate.

Procedure where has vacated office signing decree.

9. Where the subject-matter of the suit is immoveable property, the decree shall contain a description of such property sufficient to identify the same, and where such property can be identified by boundaries or by numbers in a record of settlement or survey, the decree shall specify such boundaries or numbers.

Decree for recovery of immoveable property.

10. Where the suit is for moveable property, and the decree is for the delivery of such property, the decree shall also state the amount of money to be paid as an alternative if delivery cannot be had.

Decree for delivery of moveable property.

11. (1) Where and in so far as a decree is for the payment of money, the Court may for any sufficient reason at the time of passing the decree order that payment of the amount decreed shall be postponed or shall be made by instalments, with or without interest, notwithstanding anything contained in the contract under which the money is payable.

Decree may direct payment by instalments.

(2) After the passing of any such decree the Court may, on the application of the judgment-debtor and with the consent of the decree-holder, order that payment of the amount decreed shall be postponed or shall be made by instalments on such terms as to the payment of interest, the attachment of the property of the judgment-debtor, or the taking of security from him, or otherwise, as it thinks fit.

Order, after decree, for payment by instalments.

12. (1) Where a suit is for the recovery of possession of immoveable property and for rent or mesne profits, the Court may pass a decree—

Decree for possession and mesne profits.

(a) for the possession of the property;

(b) for the rent or mesne profits which have accrued on the property during a period prior to the institution of the suit or directing an inquiry as to such rent or mesne profits;

(c) directing an inquiry as to rent or mesne profits from the institution of the suit until—

(i) the delivery of possession to the decree-holder,

(ii) the relinquishment of possession by the judgment-debtor with notice to the decree-holder through the Court, or

(iii) the expiration of three years from the date of the decree, whichever event first occurs.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XX.—Judgment and Decree. Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

(2) Where an inquiry is directed under clause (b) or clause (c) a final decree in respect of the rent or mesne profits shall be passed in accordance with the result of such inquiry.

13. (1) Where a suit is for an account of any property and for its due administration under the decree of the Court, the Court shall, before passing the final decree, pass a preliminary decree ordering such accounts and inquiries to be taken and made, and giving such other directions as it thinks fit.

Decree in administration-suit

(2) In the administration by the Court of the property of any deceased person, if such property proves to be insufficient for the payment in full of his debts and liabilities, the same rules shall be observed as to the respective rights of secured and unsecured creditors and as to debts and liabilities proveable, and as to the valuation of annuities and future and contingent liabilities respectively, as may be in force for the time being within the local limits of the Court in which the administration-suit is pending with respect to the estates of persons adjudged or declared insolvent; and all persons who in any such case would be entitled to be paid out of such property, may come in under the preliminary decree, and make such claims against the same as they may respectively be entitled to by virtue of this Code.

14. (1) Where the Court decrees a claim to pre-emption in respect of a particular sale of property and the purchase money has not been paid into Court, the decree shall—

Decree in pre-emption-suit.

(a) specify a day on or before which the purchase-money shall be so paid, and

(b) direct that on payment into Court of such purchase-money, together with the costs (if any) decreed against the plaintiff, on or before the day referred to in clause (a), the defendant shall deliver possession of the property to the plaintiff, whose title thereto shall be deemed to have accrued from the date of such payment, but that, if the purchase-money and the costs (if any) are not so paid, the suit shall be dismissed with costs.

(2) Where the Court has adjudicated upon rival claims to pre-emption, the decree shall direct,—

(a) if and in so far as the claims decreed are equal in degree, that the claim of each pre-emptor complying with the provisions of sub rule (1) shall take effect in respect of a proportionate share of the property including any proportionate share in respect of which the claim of any pre-emptor failing to comply with the said provisions would, but for such default, have taken effect; and,

(b) if and in so far as the claims decreed are different in degree, that the claim of the inferior pre-emptor shall not take effect unless and until the superior pre-emptor has failed to comply with the said provisions.

15. Where a suit is for the dissolution of a partnership, or the taking of partnership accounts, the Court, before passing a final decree, may pass a preliminary decree declaring the proportionate shares of the parties, fixing the day on which the partnership shall stand dissolved or be deemed to have been dissolved, and directing such accounts to be taken, and other acts to be done, as it thinks fit.

Decree in suit for dissolution of partnership.

16. In a suit for an account of pecuniary transactions between a principal and an agent, and in any other suit not hereinbefore provided for, where it is necessary, in order to ascertain the amount of money due to or from any party, that an account should be taken, the Court shall, before passing its final decree, pass a preliminary decree directing such accounts to be taken as it thinks fit.

Decree in suit for account between principal and agent.

17. The Court may either by the decree directing an account to be taken or by any subsequent order give special directions with regard to the mode in which the account is to be taken or vouched and in particular may direct that in taking the account the books of account in which the accounts in question have been kept shall be taken as primâ facie evidence of the truth of the matters therein contained with liberty to the parties interested to take such objection thereto as they may be advised.

Special directions as to accounts.

18. Where the Court passes a decree for the partition of property or for the separate possession of a share therein, then,— Decree in suit for partition of property or separate possession of a share therein.

(1) if and in so far as the decree relates to an estate assessed to the payment of revenue to the Government, the decree shall declare the rights of the several parties interested in the property, but shall direct such partition or separation to be made by the Collector, or any gazetted subordinate of the Collector deputed by him in this behalf, in accordance with such declaration and with the provisions of section 54;

(2) if and in so far as such decree relates to any other immoveable property or to moveable property, the Court may, if the partition or separation cannot be conveniently made without further inquiry, pass a preliminary decree declaring the rights of the several parties interested in the property and giving such further directions as may be required.

19 (1) Where the defendant has been allowed a set-off against the claim of the plaintiff, the decree shall state what amount is due to the plaintiff and what amount is due to the defendant, and shall be for the recovery of any sum which appears to be due to either party.

Decree when set-off is allowed.

(2) Any decree passed in a suit in which a set-off is claimed shall be subject to the same provisions in respect of appeal to which it would have been subject if no set-off had been claimed.

Appeal from decree relating to set-off

(3) The provisions of this rule shall apply whether the set-off is admissible under rule 6 of Order VIII or otherwise.

20. Certified copies of the judgment and decree shall be furnished to the parties on application to the Court, and at their expense.

Certified copies of judgment and decree to be furnished.

ORDER XXI.

Execution of Decrees and Orders.

Payment under Decree.

1. (1) All money payable under a decree shall be paid as follows, namely —

Modes of paying money under decree.

(a) into the Court whose duty it is to execute the decree, or

(b) out of Court to the decree-holder; or

(c) otherwise as the Court which made the decree directs.

(2) Where any payment is made under clause (a) of sub-rule (1) notice of such payment shall be given to the decree-holder.

2. (1) Where any money payable under a decree of any kind is paid out of Court, or the decree is otherwise adjusted in whole or in part to the satisfaction of the decree-holder, the decree-holder shall certify such payment or adjustment to the Court whose duty it is to execute the decree, and the Court shall record the same accordingly.

Payment out of Court to decree-holder.

(2) The judgment-debtor also may inform the Court of such payment or adjustment, and apply to the Court to issue a notice to the decree-holder to show cause, on a day to be fixed by the Court, why such payment or adjustment should not be recorded as certified; and if, after service of such notice, the decree-holder fails to show cause why the payment or adjustment should not be recorded as certified, the Court shall record the same accordingly.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

(3) A payment or adjustment, which has not been certified or recorded as aforesaid, shall not be recognized by any Court executing the decree.

Courts executing Decrees.

3. Where immoveable property forms one estate or tenure situate within the local limits of the jurisdiction of two or more Courts, any one of such Courts may attach and sell the entire estate or tenure Lands situate in more than one jurisdiction.

4. Where a decree has been passed in a suit of which the value as set forth in the plaint did not exceed two thousand rupees and which, as regards its subject-matter, is not excepted by the law for the time being in force from the cognizance of either a Presidency or a Provincial Court of Small Causes, and the Court which passed it wishes it to be executed in Calcutta, Madras, Bombay or Rangoon, such Court may send to the Court of Small Causes in Calcutta, Madras, Bombay or Rangoon, as the case may be the copies and certificates mentioned in rule 6; and such Court of Small Causes shall thereupon execute the decree as if it had been passed by itself.

Transfer to Court of Small Causes.

5. Where the Court to which a decree is to be sent for execution is situate within the same district as the Court which passed such decree, such Court shall send the same directly to the former Court But, where the Court to which the decree is to be sent for execution is situate in a different district, the Court which passed it shall send it to the District Court of the district in which the decree is to be executed.

Mode of transfer

Procedure where Court desires that its own decree shall be executed by another Court.

6. The Court sending a decree for execution shall send—

(a) a copy of the decree;

(b) a certificate setting forth that satisfaction of the decree has not been obtained by execution within the jurisdiction of the Court by which it was passed, or, where the decree has been executed in part, the extent to which satisfaction has been obtained and what part of the decree remains unsatisfied, and

(c) a copy of any order for the execution of the decree, or, if no such order has been made, a certificate to that effect.

7. The Court to which a decree is so sent shall cause such copies and certificates to be filed, without any further proof of the decree or order for execution, or of the copies thereof, unless the Court, for any special reasons to be recorded under the hand of the Judge, requires such proof.

Court receiving copies of decree, etc., to file same without proof

8. Where such copies are so filed, the decree or order may, if the Court to which it is sent is the District Court, be executed by such Court or be transferred for execution to any subordinate Court of competent jurisdiction.

Execution of decree or order by Court to which it is sent.

9. Where the Court to which the decree is sent for execution is a High Court, the decree shall be executed by such Court in the same manner as if it had been passed by such Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction.

Execution by High Court of decree transferred by other Court.

Application for execution.

10. Where the holder of a decree desires to execute it, he shall apply to the Court which passed the decree or to the officer (if any) appointed in this behalf, or if the decree has been sent under the provisions hereinbefore contained to another Court then to such Court or to the proper officer thereof.

Application for execution.

11. (1) Where a decree is for the payment of money the Court may, on the oral application of the decree-holder at the time of the passing of the decree, order immediate execution thereof by the arrest of the judgment-debtor, prior to the preparation of a warrant if he is within the precincts of the Court.

Oral application.

(2) Save as otherwise provided by sub-rule (1), every application for the execution of a decree shall be in writing, signed and verified by the applicant or by some other person proved to the satisfaction of the Court to be acquainted with the facts of the case, and shall contain in a tabular form the following particulars, namely:—

Written application.

(a) the number of the suit;

(b) the names of the parties;

(c) the date of the decree;

(d) whether any appeal has been preferred from the decree;

(e) whether any, and (if any) what, payment or other adjustment of the matter in controversy has been made between the parties subsequently to the decree;

(f) whether any, and (if any) what, previous applications have been made for the execution of the decree, the dates of such applications and their results;

(g) the amount with interest (if any) due upon the decree, or other relief granted thereby, together with particulars of any cross decree, whether passed before or after the date of the decree sought to be executed;

(h) the amount of the costs (if any) awarded;

(i) the name of the person against whom execution of the decree is sought; and

(j) the mode in which the assistance of the Court is required, whether—

(i) by the delivery of any property specifically decreed;

(ii) by the attachment and sale, or by the sale without attachment, of any property;

(iii) by the arrest and detention in prison of any person;

(iv) by the appointment of a receiver;

(v) otherwise, as the nature of the relief granted may require.

(3) The Court to which an application is made under sub-rule (2) may require the applicant to produce a certified copy of the decree.

12. Where an application is made for the attachment of any moveable property belonging to a judgment-debtor but not in his possession, the decree-holder shall annex to the application an inventory of the property to be attached, containing a reasonably accurate description of the same.

Application for attachment of moveable property not in judgment-debtor's possession.

13. Where an application is made for the attachment of any immoveable property belonging to a judgment-debtor, it shall contain at the foot—

Application for attachment of immoveable property to contain certain particulars.

(a) a description of such property sufficient to identify the same and, in case such property can be identified by boundaries or numbers in a record of settlement or survey, a specification of such boundaries or numbers; and

(b) a specification of the judgment-debtor's share or interest in such property to the best of the belief of the applicant, and so far as he has been able to ascertain the same.

14. Where an application is made for the attachment of any land which is registered in the office of the Collector, the Court may require the applicant to produce a certified extract from the register of such office, specifying the persons registered as proprietors of, or as possessing, any transferable interest in, the land or its revenue, or as liable to pay revenue for the land, and the shares of the registered proprietors.

Power to require certified extract from Collector's register in certain cases.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

Application for execution by joint decree-holder.

15. (1) Where a decree has been passed jointly in favour of more persons than one, any one or more of such persons may, unless the decree imposes any condition to the contrary, apply for the execution of the whole decree for the benefit of them all, or, where any of them has died, for the benefit of the survivors and the legal representatives of the deceased.

(2) Where the Court sees sufficient cause for allowing the decree to be executed on an application made under this rule it shall make such order as it deems necessary for protecting the interests of the persons who have not joined in the application.

Application for execution by transferee of decree.

16. Where a decree or, if a decree has been passed jointly in favour of two or more persons, the interest of any decree-holder in the decree is transferred by assignment in writing or by operation of law, the transferee may apply for execution of the decree to the Court which passed it; and the decree may be executed in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if the application were made by such decree-holder:

Provided that, where the decree, or such interest as aforesaid, has been transferred by assignment, notice of such application shall be given to the transferor and the judgment-debtor, and the decree shall not be executed until the Court has heard their objections (if any) to its execution:

Provided also that, where a decree for the payment of money against two or more persons has been transferred to one of them, it shall not be executed against the others.

Procedure on receiving application for execution of decree.

17. (1) On receiving an application for the execution of a decree as provided by rule 11, sub-rule (2), the Court shall ascertain whether such of the requirements of rules 11 to 14 as may be applicable to the case have been complied with; and, if they have not been complied with, the Court may reject the application, or may allow the defect to be remedied then and there or within a time to be fixed by it.

(2) Where an application is amended under the provisions of sub-rule (1), it shall be deemed to have been an application in accordance with law and presented on the date when it was first presented.

(3) Every amendment made under this rule shall be signed or initialled by the Judge.

(4) When the application is admitted, the Court shall enter in the proper register a note of the application and the date on which it was made, and shall, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, order execution of the decree according to the nature of the application:

Provided that, in the case of a decree for the payment of money, the value of the property attached shall, as nearly as may be, correspond with the amount due under the decree.

Execution in case of cross-decrees.

18. (1) Where applications are made to a Court for the execution of cross-decrees in separate suits for the payment of two sums of money passed between the same parties and capable of execution at the same time by such Court, then—

(a) if the two sums are equal, satisfaction shall be entered upon both decrees; and

(b) if the two sums are unequal, execution may be taken out only by the holder of the decree for the larger sum and for so much only as remains after deducting the smaller sum, and satisfaction for the smaller sum shall be entered on the decree for the larger sum as well as satisfaction on the decree for the smaller sum.

(2) This rule shall be deemed to apply where either party is an assignee of one of the decrees and as well in respect of judgment-debts due by the original assignor as in respect of judgment-debts due by the assignee himself.

(3) This rule shall not be deemed to apply unless—

(a) the decree-holder in one of the suits in which the decrees have been made is the judgment-debtor in the other and each party fills the same character in both suits; and

(b) the sums due under the decrees are definite.

(4) The holder of a decree passed against several persons jointly and severally may treat it as a cross-decree in relation to a decree passed against him singly in favour of one or more of such persons.

Illustrations.

(a) A holds a decree against B for Rs. 1,000. B holds a decree against A for the payment of Rs. 1,000 in case A fails to deliver certain goods at a future day. B cannot treat his decree as a cross-decree under this rule.

(b) A and B, co-plaintiffs, obtain a decree for Rs. 1,000 against C, and C obtains a decree for Rs. 1,000 against B. C cannot treat his decree as a cross-decree under this rule.

(c) A obtains a decree against B for Rs. 1,000. C, who is a trustee for B, obtains a decree on behalf of B against A for Rs. 1,000. B cannot treat C's decree as a cross-decree under this rule.

(d) A, B, C, D and E are jointly and severally liable for Rs. 1,000 under a decree obtained by F. A obtains a decree for Rs. 100 against F singly and applies for execution to the Court in which the joint-decree is being executed. F may treat his joint-decree as a cross-decree under this rule.

Execution in case of cross-claims under same decree.

19. Where application is made to a Court for the execution of a decree under which two parties are entitled to recover sums of money from each other, then—

(a) if the two sums are equal, satisfaction for both shall be entered upon the decree; and,

(b) if the two sums are unequal, execution may be taken out only by the party entitled to the larger sum and for so much only as remains after deducting the smaller sum, and satisfaction for the smaller sum shall be entered upon the decree.

Cross-decrees and cross-claims in mortgage suits.

20. The provisions contained in rules 18 and 19 shall apply to decrees for sale in enforcement of a mortgage or charge.

Simultaneous execution.

21. The Court may in its discretion, refuse execution at the same time against the person and property of the judgment-debtor.

Notice to show cause against execution in certain cases.

22. (1) Where an application for execution is made—

(a) more than one year after the date of the decree, or

(b) against the legal representative of a party to the decree, the Court executing the decree shall issue a notice to the person against whom execution is applied for requiring him to show cause, on a date to be fixed, why the decree should not be executed against him:

Provided that no such notice shall be necessary in consequence of more than one year having elapsed between the date of the decree and the application for execution if the application is made within one year from the date of the last order against the party against whom execution is applied for, made on any previous application for execution, or in consequence of the application being made against the legal representative of the judgment-debtor, if upon a previous application for execution against the same person the Court has ordered execution to issue against him.

(2) Nothing in the foregoing sub-rule shall be deemed to preclude the Court from issuing any process in execution of a decree without issuing the notice thereby prescribed, if, for reasons to be recorded, it considers that the issue of such notice would cause unreasonable delay or would defeat the ends of justice.

Procedure after issue of notice.

23. (1) Where the person to whom notice is issued under the last preceding rule does not appear or does not show cause to the satisfaction of the Court why the decree should not be executed, the Court shall order the decree to be executed.

(2) Where such person offers any objection to the execution of the decree, the Court shall consider such objection and make such order as it thinks fit.

Process for execution.

Process for execution.

24. (1) When the preliminary measures (if any) required by the foregoing rules have been taken, the Court shall, unless it sees cause to the contrary, issue its process for the execution of the decree.

(2) Every such process shall bear date the day on which it is issued, and shall be signed by the Judge or such officer as the Court may appoint in this be shall be sealed with the seal of the Court and to the proper officer to be executed.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

(3) In every such process a day shall be specified on or before which it shall be executed.

25. (1) The officer entrusted with the execution of the process shall endorse thereon the day on, and the manner in, which it was executed, and, if the latest day specified in the process for the return thereof has been exceeded, the reason of the delay, or, if it was not executed, the reason why it was not executed, and shall return the process with such endorsement to the Court.

Endorsement on process.

(2) Where the endorsement is to the effect that such officer is unable to execute the process, the Court shall examine him touching his alleged inability, and may if it thinks fit, summon and examine witnesses as to such inability and shall record the result.

Stay of execution.

26. (1) The Court to which a decree has been sent for execution shall, upon sufficient cause being shown, stay the execution of such decree for a reasonable time, to enable the judgment debtor to apply to the Court by which the decree was passed, or to any Court having appellate jurisdiction in respect of the decree or the execution thereof, for an order to stay execution, or for any other order relating to the decree or execution which might have been made by such Court of first instance or appellate Court if execution had been issued thereby, or if application for execution had been made thereto.

When Court may stay execution.

(2) Where the property or person of the judgment-debtor has been seized under an execution, the Court which issued the execution may order the restitution of such property or the discharge of such person pending the result of the application.

(3) Before making an order to stay execution or for the restitution of property or the discharge of the judgment-debtor, the Court may require such security from, or impose such conditions upon, the judgment-debtor as it thinks fit.

Power to require security from, or impose conditions upon, judgment-debtor.

27. No order of restitution or discharge under rule 26 shall prevent the property or person of a judgment-debtor from being retaken in execution of the decree sent for execution.

Liability of judgment-debtor discharged

28. Any order of the Court by which the decree was passed, or of such Court of appeal as aforesaid, in relation to the execution of such decree, shall be binding upon the Court to which the decree was sent for execution

Order of Court which passed decree or of appellate Court to be binding upon Court applied to.

29. Where a suit is pending in any Court against the holder of a decree of such Court, on the part of the person against whom the decree was passed, the Court may, on such terms as to security or otherwise, as it thinks fit, stay execution of the decree until the pending suit has been decided.

Stay of execution pending suit between decree-holder and judgment-debtor.

Mode of execution.

30. Every decree for the payment of money, including a decree for the payment of money as the alternative to some other relief, may be executed by the detention in the civil prison of the judgment-debtor or by the attachment and sale of his property, or by both.

Decree for payment of money.

31. (1) Where the decree is for any specific moveable, or for any share in a specific moveable, it may be executed by the seizure, if practicable, of the moveable or share, and by the delivery thereof to the party to whom it has been adjudged, or to such person as he appoints to receive delivery on his behalf, or by the detention in the civil prison of the judgment-debtor, or by the attachment of his property, or by both.

Decree for specific moveable property.

(2) Where any attachment under sub-rule (1) has remained in force for six months, if the judgment-debtor has not obeyed the decree and the decree-holder has applied to have the attached property sold, such property may be sold, and out of the proceeds the Court may award to the decree-holder, in cases where any amount has been fixed by the decree to be paid as an alternative to delivery of moveable property, such amount, and, in other cases, such compensation as it thinks fit, and shall pay the balance (if any) to the judgment-debtor on his application.

(3) Where the judgment-debtor has obeyed the decree and paid all costs of executing the same which he is bound to pay, or where, at the end of six months from the date of the attachment, no application to have the property sold has been made, or, if made, has been refused, the attachment shall cease.

32. (1) Where the party against whom a decree for the specific performance of a contract, or for restitution of conjugal rights, or for an injunction, has been passed, has had an opportunity of obeying the decree and has wilfully failed to obey it, the decree may be enforced by his detention in the civil prison, or by the attachment of his property, or by both.

Decree for specific performance, for restitution of conjugal rights, or for an injunction.

(2) Where the party against whom a decree for specific performance or for an injunction has been passed is a corporation, the decree may be enforced by the attachment of the property of the corporation or, with the leave of the Court, by the detention in the civil prison of the directors or other principal officers thereof, or by both attachment and detention.

(3) Where any attachment under sub-rule (1) or sub-rule (2) has remained in force for one year, if the judgment-debtor has not obeyed the decree and the decree-holder has applied to have the attached property sold, such property may be sold, and out of the proceeds the Court may award to the decree-holder such compensation as it thinks fit, and shall pay the balance (if any) to the judgment debtor on his application.

(4) Where the judgment-debtor has obeyed the decree and paid all costs of executing the same which he is bound to pay, or where, at the end of one year from the date of the attachment, no application to have the property sold has been made, or if made has been refused, the attachment shall cease.

(5) Where a decree for the specific performance of a contract or for an injunction has not been obeyed, the Court may, in lieu of or in addition to all or any of the processes aforesaid, direct that the act required to be done may be done so far as practicable by the decree-holder or some other person appointed by the Court, at the cost of the judgment-debtor, and upon the act being done the expenses incurred may be ascertained in such manner as the Court may direct and may be recovered as if they were included in the decree.

Illustration.

A, a person of little substance, erects a building which renders uninhabitable a family mansion belonging to B. A in spite of his detention in prison and the attachment of his property, declines to obey a decree obtained against him by B and directing him to remove the building. The Court is of opinion that no sum realizable by the sale of A's property would adequately compensate B for the depreciation in the value of his mansion. B may apply to the Court to remove the building and may recover the cost of such removal from A in the execution-proceedings.

33. (1) Notwithstanding anything in rule 32, the Court, either at the time of passing a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights or at any time afterwards, may order that the decree shall not be executed by detention in prison.

Discretion of Court in executing decrees for restitution of conjugal rights.

(2) Where the Court has made an order under sub-rule (1), and the decree-holder is the wife, it may order that, in the event of the decree not being obeyed within such period as may be fixed in this behalf, the judgment-debtor shall make to the decree-holder such periodical payments as may be just, and, if it thinks fit, require that the judgment-debtor shall, to its satisfaction, secure to the decree-holder such periodical payments.

(3) The Court may from time to time vary or modify any order made under sub-rule (2) for the periodical payment of money, either by altering the times of payment or by increasing or diminishing the amount, or may temporarily suspend the same as to the whole or any part of the money so ordered to be paid, and again revive the same, either wholly or in part as it may think just.

(4) Any money ordered to be paid under this rule may be recovered as though it were payable under a decree for the payment of money.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

Decree for execution of document, or endorsement of negotiable instrument.

34. (1) Where a decree is for the execution of a document or for the endorsement of a negotiable instrument and the judgment-debtor neglects or refuses to obey the decree, the decree-holder may prepare a draft of the document or endorsement in accordance with the terms of the decree and deliver the same to the Court.

(2) The Court shall thereupon cause the draft to be served on the judgment-debtor together with a notice requiring his objections (if any) to be made within such time as the Court fixes in this behalf.

(3) Where the judgment-debtor objects to the draft, his objections shall be stated in writing within such time, and the Court shall make such order approving or altering the draft, as it thinks fit.

(4) The decree-holder shall deliver to the Court a copy of the draft with such alterations (if any) as the Court may have directed upon the proper stamp-paper if a stamp is required by the law for the time being in force; and the Judge or such officer as may be appointed in this behalf shall execute the document so delivered.

(5) The execution of a document or the endorsement of a negotiable instrument under this rule may be in the following form, namely:—

"C. D., Judge of the Court of (or as the case may be), for A. B., in a suit by E. F. against A. B.", and shall have the same effect as the execution of the document or the endorsement of the negotiable instrument by the party ordered to execute or endorse the same.

(6) The Court, or such officer as it may appoint in this behalf, shall cause the document to be registered if its registration is required by the law for the time being in force or the decree-holder desires to have it registered, and may make such order as it thinks fit as to the payment of the expenses of the registration.

Decree for immoveable property.

35. (1) Where a decree is for the delivery of any immoveable property, possession thereof shall be delivered to the party to whom it has been adjudged, or to such person as he may appoint to receive delivery on his behalf, and, if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the property.

(2) Where a decree is for the joint possession of immoveable property such possession shall be delivered by affixing a copy of the warrant in some conspicuous place on the property and proclaiming by beat of drum, or other customary mode, at some convenient place, the substance of the decree.

(3) Where possession of any building or enclosure is to be delivered and the person in possession, being bound by the decree, does not afford free access, the Court, through its officers, may, after giving reasonable warning and facility to any woman not appearing in public according to the customs of the country to withdraw, remove or open any lock or bolt or break open any door or do any other act necessary for putting the decree-holder in possession.

Decree for delivery of immoveable property when in occupancy of tenant.

36. Where a decree is for the delivery of any immoveable property in the occupancy of a tenant or other person entitled to occupy the same and not bound by the decree to relinquish such occupancy, the Court shall order delivery to be made by affixing a copy of the warrant in some conspicuous place on the property, and proclaiming to the occupant by beat of drum or other customary mode, at some convenient place, the substance of the decree in regard to the property.

Arrest and detention in the civil prison.

Discretionary power to permit judgment-debtor to show cause against detention in prison.

37. (1) Notwithstanding anything in these rules, where an application is for the execution of a decree for the payment of money by the arrest and detention in the civil prison of a judgment-debtor who is liable to be arrested in pursuance of the application, the Court may, instead of issuing a warrant for his arrest, issue a notice calling upon him to appear before the Court on a day to be specified in the notice and show cause why he should not be committed to the civil prison.

(2) Where appearance is not made in obedience to the notice, the Court shall, if the decree-holder so requires, issue a warrant for the arrest of the judgment-debtor.

Warrant for arrest to direct judgment-debtor to be brought up.

38. Every warrant for the arrest of a judgment-debtor shall direct the officer entrusted with its execution to bring him before the Court with all convenient speed, unless the amount which he has been ordered to pay, together with the interest thereon and the costs (if any) to which he is liable, be sooner paid.

Subsistence-allowance.

39. (1) No judgment-debtor shall be arrested in execution of a decree unless and until the decree-holder pays into Court such sum as the Judge thinks sufficient for the subsistence of the judgment-debtor from the time of his arrest until he can be brought before the Court.

(2) Where a judgment-debtor is committed to the civil prison in execution of a decree the Court shall fix for his subsistence such monthly allowance as he may be entitled to according to the scales fixed under section 57 or, where no such scales have been fixed, as it considers sufficient with reference to the class to which he belongs.

(3) The monthly allowance fixed by the Court shall be supplied by the party on whose application the judgment-debtor has been arrested by monthly payments in advance before the first day of each month.

(4) The first payment shall be made to the proper officer of the Court for such portion of the current month as remains unexpired before the judgment-debtor is committed to the civil prison, and the subsequent payments (if any) shall be made to the officer in charge of the civil prison.

(5) Sums disbursed by the decree-holder for the subsistence of the judgment-debtor in the civil prison shall be deemed to be costs in the suit:

Provided that the judgment-debtor shall not be detained in the civil prison or arrested on account of any sum so disbursed.

Proceedings on appearance of judgment-debtor in obedience to notice or after arrest.

40. (1) Where a judgment-debtor appears before the Court in obedience to a notice issued under rule 37, or is brought before the Court after being arrested in execution of a decree for the payment of money, and it appears to the Court that the judgment-debtor is unable from poverty or other sufficient cause to pay the amount of the decree or, if that amount is payable by instalments, the amount of any instalment thereof, the Court may, upon such terms (if any) as it thinks fit, make an order disallowing the application for his arrest and detention, or directing his release, as the case may be.

(2) Before making an order under sub-rule (1), the Court may take into consideration any allegation of the decree-holder touching any of the following matters namely:—

(a) the decree being for a sum for which the judgment-debtor was bound in any fiduciary capacity to account;

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

(b) the transfer, concealment or removal by the judgment-debtor of any part of his property after the date of the institution of the suit in which the decree was passed, or the commission by him after that date of any other act of bad faith in relation to his property, with the object or effect of obstructing or delaying the decree-holder in the execution of the decree;

(c) any undue preference given by the judgment-debtor to any of his other creditors;

(d) refusal or neglect on the part of the judgment-debtor to pay the amount of the decree or some part thereof when he has, or since the date of the decree has had, the means of paying it;

(e) the likelihood of the judgment-debtor absconding or leaving the jurisdiction of the Court with the object or effect of obstructing or delaying the decree-holder in the execution of the decree.

(3) While any of the matters mentioned in sub-rule (2) are being considered, the Court may, in its discretion, order the judgment-debtor to be detained in the civil prison, or leave him in the custody of an officer of the Court, or release him on his furnishing security, to the satisfaction of the Court, for his appearance when required by the Court.

(4) A judgment-debtor released under this rule may be re-arrested.

(5) Where the Court does not make an order under sub-rule (1), it shall cause the judgment-debtor to be arrested if he has not already been arrested and, subject to the other provisions of this Code, commit him to the civil prison.

Attachment of property.

Examination of judgment-debtor as to his property.

41. Where a decree is for the payment of money the decree-holder may apply to the Court for an order that—

(a) the judgment-debtor, or

(b) in the case of a corporation, any officer thereof, or

(c) any other person,

be orally examined as to whether any or what debts are owing to the judgment-debtor and whether the judgment-debtor has any and what other property or means of satisfying the decree; and the Court may make an order for the attendance and examination of such judgment-debtor, or officer or other person, and for the production of any books or documents.

Attachment in case of decree for rent or mesne profits or other matter, amount of which to be subsequently determined.

42. Where a decree directs an inquiry as to rent or mesne profits or any other matter, the property of the judgment-debtor may, before the amount due from him has been ascertained, be attached, as in the case of an ordinary decree for the payment of money.

Attachment of moveable property, other than agricultural produce, in possession of judgment-debtor.

43. Where the property to be attached is moveable property, other than agricultural produce, in the possession of the judgment-debtor, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and the attaching officer shall keep the property in his own custody or in the custody of one of his subordinates, and shall be responsible for the due custody thereof:

Provided that, when the property seized is subject to speedy and natural decay, or when the expense of keeping it in custody is likely to exceed its value, the attaching officer may sell it at once.

Attachment of agricultural produce.

44. Where the property to be attached is agricultural produce, the attachment shall be made by affixing a copy of the warrant of attachment,—

(a) where such produce is a growing crop, on the land on which such crop has grown, or

(b) where such produce has been cut or gathered, on the threshing-floor or place for treading out grain or the like or fodder-stack on or in which it is deposited, and another copy on the outer door or on some other conspicuous part of the house in which the judgment-debtor ordinarily resides or, with the leave of the Court, on the outer door or on some other conspicuous part of the house in which he carries on business or personally works for gain or in which he is known to have last resided or carried on business or personally worked for gain; and the produce shall thereupon be deemed to have passed into the possession of the Court.

Provisions as to agricultural produce under attachment.

45. (1) Where agricultural produce is attached, the Court shall make such arrangements for the custody thereof as it may deem sufficient and, for the purpose of enabling the Court to make such arrangements, every application for the attachment of a growing crop shall specify the time at which it is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered.

(2) Subject to such conditions as may be imposed by the Court in this behalf either in the order of attachment or in any subsequent order, the judgment-debtor may tend, cut, gather and store the produce and do any other act necessary for maturing or preserving it; and if the judgment-debtor fails to do all or any of such acts, the decree-holder may, with the permission of the Court and subject to the like conditions, do all or any of them either by himself or by any person appointed by him in this behalf, and the costs incurred by the decree-holder shall be recoverable from the judgment-debtor as if they were included in, or formed part of, the decree.

(3) Agricultural produce attached as a growing crop shall not be deemed to have ceased to be under attachment or to require re-attachment merely because it has been severed from the soil.

(4) Where an order for the attachment of a growing crop has been made at a considerable time before the crop is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered, the Court may suspend the execution of the order for such time as it thinks fit, and may, in its discretion, make a further order prohibiting the removal of the crop pending the execution of the order of attachment.

(5) A growing crop which from its nature does not admit of being stored shall not be attached under this rule at any time less than twenty days before the time at which it is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered.

Attachment of debt, share and other property not in possession of judgment-debtor.

46. (1) In the case of—

(a) a debt not secured by a negotiable instrument,

(b) a share in the capital of a corporation,

(c) other moveable property not in the possession of the judgment-debtor, except property deposited in, or in the custody of, any Court, the attachment shall be made by a written order prohibiting,—

(i) in the case of the debt, the creditor from recovering the debt and the debtor from making payment thereof until the further order of the Court;

(ii) in the case of the share, the person in whose name the share may be standing from transferring the same or receiving any dividend thereon;

(iii) in the case of the other moveable property except as aforesaid, the person in possession of the same from giving it over to the judgment-debtor.

(2) A copy of such order shall be affixed on some conspicuous part of the court-house, and another copy shall be sent, in the case of the debt, to the debtor, in the case of the share, to the proper officer of the corporation, and, in the case of the other moveable property (except as aforesaid), to the person in possession of the same.

(3) A debtor prohibited under clause (i) of sub-rule (1) may pay the amount of his debt into Court, and such payment shall discharge him as effectually as payment to the party entitled to receive the same.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

Attachment of share in moveables.

47. Where the property to be attached consists of the share or interest of the judgment-debtor in moveable property belonging to him and another as co-owners, the attachment shall be made by a notice to the judgment-debtor prohibiting him from transferring the share or interest or charging it in any way.

Attachment of salary or allowances of public officer or servant of railway company or local authority.

48. (1) Where the property to be attached is the salary or allowances of a public officer or of a servant of a railway company or local authority, the Court, whether the judgment-debtor or the disbursing officer is or is not within the local limits of the Court's jurisdiction, may order that the amount shall, subject to the provisions of section 60, be withheld from such salary or allowances either in one payment or by monthly instalments as the Court may direct; and, upon notice of the order to such officer as the Government may by notification in the Gazette of India or in the local official Gazette, as the case may be, appoint in this behalf, the officer or other person whose duty it is to disburse such salary or allowances shall withhold and remit to the Court the amount due under the order, or the monthly instalments, as the case may be.

(2) Where the attachable proportion of such salary or allowances is already being withheld and remitted to a Court in pursuance of a previous and unsatisfied order of attachment, the officer appointed by the Government in this behalf shall forthwith return the subsequent order to the Court issuing it with a full statement of all the particulars of the existing attachment.

(3) Every order made under this rule, unless it is returned in accordance with the provisions of sub-rule (2), shall, without further notice or other process, bind the Government or the railway company or local authority, as the case may be, while the judgment-debtor is within the local limits to which this Code for the time being extends and while he is beyond those limits if he is in receipt of any salary or allowances payable out of His Majesty's Indian revenues or the funds of a railway company carrying on business in any part of British India or local authority in British India; and the Government or the railway company or local authority, as the case may be, shall be liable for any sum paid in contravention of this rule.

Attachment of partnership property.

49. (1) Save as otherwise provided by this rule, property belonging to a partnership shall not be attached or sold in execution of a decree other than a decree passed against the firm or against the partners in the firm as such.

(2) The Court may, on the application of the holder of a decree against a partner, make an order charging the interest of such partner in the partnership property and profits with payment of the amount due under the decree, and may, by the same or a subsequent order, appoint a receiver of the share of such partner in the profits (whether already declared or accruing) and of any other money which may be coming to him in respect of the partnership, and direct accounts and inquiries and make an order for the sale of such interest or other orders as might have been directed or made if a charge had been made in favour of the decree-holder by such partner, or as the circumstances of the case may require.

(3) The other partner or partners shall be at liberty at any time to redeem the interest charged or, in the case of a sale being directed, to purchase the same.

(4) Every application for an order under sub-rule (2) shall be served on the judgment-debtor and on his partners or such of them as are within British India.

(5) Every application made by any partner of the judgment-debtor under sub-rule (3) shall be served on the decree-holder and on the judgment-debtor, and on such of the other partners as do not join in the application and as are within British India.

(6) Service under sub-rule (4) or sub-rule (5) shall be deemed to be service on all the partners, and all orders made on such applications shall be similarly served.

Execution of decree against firm.

50. (1) Where a decree has been passed against a firm, execution may be granted—

(a) against any property of the partnership;

(b) against any person who has appeared in his own name under rule 6 or rule 7 of Order XXX or who has admitted on the pleadings that he is, or who has been adjudged to be, a partner;

(c) against any person who has been individually served as a partner with a summons and has failed to appear:

Provided that nothing in this sub-rule shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect the provisions of section 247 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. IX of 1872.

(2) Where the decree-holder claims to be entitled to cause the decree to be executed against any person other than such a person as is referred to in sub-rule (1), clauses (b) and (c), as being a partner in the firm, he may apply to the Court which passed the decree for leave, and where the liability is not disputed, such Court may grant such leave, or, where such liability is disputed, may order that the liability of such person be tried and determined in any manner in which any issue in a suit may be tried and determined.

(3) Where the liability of any person has been tried and determined under sub-rule (2), the order made thereon shall have the same force and be subject to the same conditions as to appeal or otherwise as if it were a decree.

(4) Save as against any property of the partnership, a decree against a firm shall not release, render liable or otherwise affect any partner therein unless he has been served with a summons to appear and answer.

Attachment of negotiable instruments.

51. Where the property is a negotiable instrument not deposited in a Court, nor in the custody of a public officer, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and the instrument shall be brought into Court and held subject to further orders of the Court.

Attachment of property in custody of Court or public officer.

52. Where the property to be attached is in the custody of any Court or public officer, the attachment shall be made by a notice to such Court or officer, requesting that such property, and any interest or dividend becoming payable thereon, may be held subject to the further orders of the Court from which the notice is issued:

Provided that, where such property is in the custody of a Court, any question of title or priority arising between the decree-holder and any other person, not being the judgment-debtor, claiming to be interested in such property by virtue of any assignment, attachment or otherwise, shall be determined by such Court.

Attachment of decrees.

53. (1) Where the property to be attached is a decree, either for the payment of money or for sale in enforcement of a mortgage or charge, the attachment shall be made,—

(a) if the decrees were passed by the same Court, then by order of such Court, and,

(b) if the decree sought to be attached was passed by another Court, then by the issue to such other Court of a notice by the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed, requesting such other Court to stay the execution of its decree unless and until—

(i) the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed cancels the notice, or

(ii) the holder of the decree sought to be executed or his judgment-debtor applies to the Court receiving such notice to execute its own decree.

(2) Where a Court makes an order under clause (a) of sub-rule (1), or receives an application under sub-head (ii) of clause (b) of the said sub-rule, it shall, on the application of the creditor who has attached the decree or his judgment-debtor, proceed to execute the attached decree and apply the net proceeds in satisfaction of the decree sought to be executed.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

(3) The holder of a decree sought to be executed by the attachment of another decree of the nature specified in sub-rule (1) shall be deemed to be the representative of the holder of the attached decree and to be entitled to execute such attached decree in any manner lawful for the holder thereof.

(4) Where the property to be attached in the execution of a decree is a decree other than a decree of the nature referred to in sub-rule (1), the attachment shall be made, by a notice by the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed, to the holder of the decree sought to be attached, prohibiting him from transferring or charging the same in any way; and, where such decree has been passed by any other Court, also by sending to such other Court a notice to abstain from executing the decree sought to be attached until such notice is cancelled by the Court from which it was sent.

(5) The holder of a decree attached under this rule shall give the Court executing the decree such information and aid as may reasonably be required.

(6) On the application of the holder of a decree sought to be executed by the attachment of another decree, the Court making an order of attachment under this rule shall give notice of such order to the judgment-debtor bound by the decree attached; and no payment or adjustment of the attached decree made by the judgment-debtor in contravention of such order after receipt of notice thereof, either through the Court or otherwise, shall be recognized by any Court so long as the attachment remains in force.

Attachment of immoveable property.

54. (1) Where the property is immoveable, the attachment shall be made by an order prohibiting the judgment-debtor from transferring or charging the property in any way, and all persons from taking any benefit from such transfer or charge.

(2) The order shall be proclaimed at some place on or adjacent to such property by beat of drum or other customary mode, and a copy of the order shall be affixed on a conspicuous part of the property and then upon a conspicuous part of the court-house, and also, where the property is land paying revenue to the Government, in the office of the Collector of the district in which the land is situate.

Removal of attachment after satisfaction of decree.

55. Where—

(a) the amount decreed with costs and all charges and expenses resulting from the attachment of any property are paid into Court, or

(b) satisfaction of the decree is otherwise made through the Court or certified to the Court, or

(c) the decree is set aside or reversed, the attachment shall be deemed to be withdrawn, and, in the case of immoveable property, the withdrawal shall, if the judgment-debtor so desires, be proclaimed at his expense, and a copy of the proclamation shall be affixed in the manner prescribed by the last preceding rule.

Order for payment of coin or currency notes to party entitled under decree.

56. Where the property attached is current coin or currency notes, the Court may, at any time during the continuance of the attachment, direct that such coin or notes, or a part thereof sufficient to satisfy the decree, be paid over to the party entitled under the decree to receive the same.

Determination of attachment.

57. Where any property has been attached in execution of a decree but by reason of the decree-holder's default the Court is unable to proceed further with the application for execution, it shall either dismiss the application or for any sufficient reason adjourn the proceedings to a future date. Upon the dismissal of such application the attachment shall cease.

Investigation of claims and objections.

Investigation of claims to, and objections to attachment of, attached property.

58. (1) Where any claim is preferred to, or any objection is made to the attachment of, any property attached in execution of a decree on the ground that such property is not liable to such attachment, the Court shall proceed to investigate the claim or objection with the like power as regards the examination of the claimant or objector, and in all other respects, as if he was a party to the suit:

Provided that no such investigation shall be made where the Court considers that the claim or objection was designedly or unnecessarily delayed.

Postponement of sale.

(2) Where the property to which the claim or objection applies has been advertised for sale, the Court ordering the sale may postpone it pending the investigation of the claim or objection.

Evidence to be adduced by claimant.

59. The claimant or objector must adduce evidence to show that at the date of the attachment he had some interest in, or was possessed of, the property attached.

Release of property from attachment.

60. Where upon the said investigation the Court is satisfied that for the reason stated in the claim or objection such property was not, when attached, in the possession of the judgment-debtor or of some person in trust for him, or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, or that, being in the possession of the judgment-debtor at such time, it was so in his possession, not on his own account or as his own property, but on account of or in trust for some other person, or partly on his own account and partly on account of some other person, the Court shall make an order releasing the property, wholly or to such extent as it thinks fit, from attachment.

Disallowance of claim to property attached.

61. Where the Court is satisfied that the property was, at the time it was attached, in the possession of the judgment-debtor as his own property and not on account of any other person, or was in the possession of some other person in trust for him, or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, the Court shall disallow the claim.

Continuance of attachment subject to claim of incumbrancer.

62. Where the Court is satisfied that the property is subject to a mortgage or charge in favour of some person not in possession, and thinks fit to continue the attachment, it may do so, subject to such mortgage or charge.

Saving of suits to establish right to attached property.

63. Where a claim or an objection is preferred, the party against whom an order is made may institute a suit to establish the right which he claims to the property in dispute, but, subject to the result of such suit, if any, the order shall be conclusive.

Sale generally.

Power to order property attached to be sold and proceeds to be paid to person entitled.

64. Any Court executing a decree may order that any property attached by it and liable to sale, or such portion thereof as may seem necessary to satisfy the decree, shall be sold, and that the proceeds of such sale, or a sufficient portion thereof, shall be paid to the party entitled under the decree to receive the same.

Sales by whom conducted and how made.

65. Save as otherwise prescribed, every sale in execution of a decree shall be conducted by an officer of the Court or by such other person as the Court may appoint in this behalf, and shall be made by public auction in manner prescribed.

Proclamation of sales by public auction.

66. (1) Where any property is ordered to be sold by public auction in execution of a decree, the Court shall cause a proclamation of the intended sale to be made in the language of such Court.

(2) Such proclamation shall be drawn up after notice to the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor and shall state the time and place of sale, and specify as fairly and accurately as possible—

(a) the property to be sold;

(b) the revenue assessed upon the estate or part of the estate, where the property to be sold is an interest in an estate or in part of an estate paying revenue to the Government;

(c) any incumbrance to which the property is liable;

(d) the amount for the recovery of which the sale is ordered; and

(e) every other thing which the Court considers material for a purchaser to know in order to judge of the nature and value of the property.

(3) Every application for an order for sale under this rule shall be accompanied by a statement signed and verified in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for the signing and verification of pleadings and containing, so far as they are known to or can be ascertained by the person making the verification. the matters required by sub-rule (2) to be specified in the proclamation.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

(4) For the purpose of ascertaining the matters to be specified in the proclamation. the Court may summon any person whom it thinks necessary to summon and may examine him in respect to any such matters and require him to produce any document in his possession or power relating thereto.

Mode of making proclamation.

67. (1) Every proclamation shall be made and published, as nearly as may be, in the manner prescribed by rule 54, sub-rule (2).

(2) Where the Court so directs, such proclamation shall also be published in the local official Gazette or in a local newspaper, or in both, and the costs of such publication shall be deemed to be costs of the sale.

(3) Where property is divided into lots for the purpose of being sold separately, it shall not be necessary to make a separate proclamation for each lot, unless proper notice of the sale cannot, in the opinion of the Court, otherwise be given.

Time of sale.

68. Save in the case of property of the kind described in the proviso to rule 43, no sale hereunder shall, without the consent in writing of the judgment-debtor, take place until after the expiration of at least thirty days in the case of immoveable property, and of at least fifteen days in the case of moveable property, calculated from the date on which the copy of the proclamation has been affixed on the court-house of the Judge ordering the sale.

Adjournment or stoppage of sale.

69. (1) The Court may, in its discretion, adjourn any sale hereunder to a specified day and hour, and the officer conducting any such sale may in his discretion adjourn the sale, recording his reasons for such adjournment:

Provided that, where the sale is made in, or within the precincts of, the court-house, no such adjournment shall be made without the leave of the Court.

(2) Where a sale is adjourned under sub-rule (1) for a longer period than seven days, a fresh proclamation under rule 67 shall be made, unless the judgment-debtor consents to waive it.

(3) Every sale shall be stopped if, before the lot is knocked down, the debt and costs (including the costs of the sale) are tendered to the officer conducting the sale, or proof is given to his satisfaction that the amount of such debt and costs has been paid into the Court which ordered the sale.

Saving of certain sales.

70. Nothing in rules 66 to 69 shall be deemed to apply to any case in which the execution of a decree has been transferred to the Collector.

Defaulting purchaser answerable for loss on re-sale.

71. Any deficiency of price which may happen on a re-sale by reason of the purchaser's default, and all expenses attending such re-sale, shall be certified to the Court or to the Collector or subordinate of the Collector, as the case may be, by the officer or other person holding the sale, and shall, at the instance of either the decree-holder or the judgment-debtor, be recoverable from the defaulting purchaser under the provisions relating to the execution of a decree for the payment of money.

Decree-holder not to bid for or buy property, without permission.

72. (1) No holder of a decree in execution of which property is sold shall, without the express permission of the Court, bid for or purchase the property.

Where decree-holder purchases amount of decree may be taken as payment.

(2) Where a decree-holder purchases with such permission, the purchase-money and the amount due on the decree may, subject to the provisions of section 73, be set off against one another, and the Court executing the decree shall enter up satisfaction of the decree in whole or in part accordingly

(3) Where a decree-holder purchases, by himself or through another person, without such permission, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the judgment-debtor or any other person whose interests are affected by the sale, by order set aside the sale; and the costs of such application and order, and any deficiency of price which may happen on the re-sale and all expenses attending it, shall be paid by the decree-holder.

Restriction on bidding or purchase by officers.

73. No officer or other person having any duty to perform in connection with any sale shall, either directly or indirectly, bid for, acquire or attempt to acquire any interest in the property sold.

Sale of moveable property

Sale of agricultural produce

74. (1) Where the property to be sold is agricultural produce, the sale shall be held,—

(a) if such produce is a growing crop, on or near the land on which such crop has grown, or,

(b) if such produce has been cut or gathered, at or near the threshing-floor or place for treading out grain or the like or fodder-stack on or in which it is deposited:

Provided that the Court may direct the sale to be held at the nearest place of public resort, if it is of opinion that the produce is thereby likely to sell to greater advantage.

(2) Where, on the produce being put up for sale,—

(a) a fair price, in the estimation of the person holding the sale, is not offered for it, and

(b) the owner of the produce or a person authorized to act in his behalf applies to have the sale postponed till the next day or, if a market is held at the place of sale, the next market-day, the sale shall be postponed accordingly and shall be then completed, whatever price may be offered for the produce.

Special provisions relating to growing crops.

75. (1) Where the property to be sold is a growing crop and the crop from its nature admits of being stored but has not yet been stored, the day of the sale shall be so fixed as to admit of its being made ready for storing before the arrival of such day, and the sale shall not be held until the crop has been cut or gathered and is ready for storing.

(2) Where the crop from its nature does not admit of being stored, it may be sold before it is cut and gathered, and the purchaser shall be entitled to enter on the land, and to do all that is necessary for the purpose of tending and cutting or gathering it.

Negotiable instruments and shares in corporations.

76. Where the property to be sold is a negotiable instrument or a share in a corporation, the Court may, instead of directing the sale to be made by public auction, authorize the sale of such instrument or share through a broker.

Sale by public auction.

77. (1) Where moveable property is sold by public auction the price of each lot shall be paid at the time of sale or as soon after as the officer or other person holding the sale directs, and in default of payment the property shall forthwith be re-sold.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

(2) On payment of the purchase-money, the officer or other person holding the sale shall grant a receipt for the same, and the sale shall become absolute.

(3) Where the moveable property to be sold is a share in goods belonging to the judgment-debtor and a co-owner, and two or more persons, of whom one is such co-owner, respectively bid the same sum for such property or for any lot, the bidding shall be deemed to be the bidding of the co-owner.

Irregularity not to vitiate sale, but any person injured may sue.

78. No irregularity in publishing or conducting the sale of moveable property shall vitiate the sale; but any person sustaining any injury by reason of such irregularity at the hand of any other person may institute a suit against him for compensation or (if such other person is the purchaser) for the recovery of the specific property and for compensation in default of such recovery.

Delivery of moveable property, debts and shares.

79. (1) Where the property sold is moveable property of which actual seizure has been made, it shall be delivered to the purchaser.

(2) Where the property sold is moveable property in the possession of some person other than the judgment-debtor, the delivery thereof to the purchaser shall be made by giving notice to the person in possession prohibiting him from delivering possession of the property to any person except the purchaser.

(3) Where the property sold is a debt not secured by a negotiable instrument, or is a share in a corporation, the delivery thereof shall be made by a written order of the Court prohibiting the creditor from receiving the debt or any interest thereon, and the debtor from making payment thereof to any person except the purchaser, or prohibiting the person in whose name the share may be standing from making any transfer of the share to any person except the purchaser, or receiving payment of any dividend or interest thereon, and the manager, secretary or other proper officer of the corporation from permitting any such transfer or making any such payment to any person except the purchaser.

Transfer of negotiable instruments and shares.

80. (1) Where the execution of a document or the endorsement of the party in whose name a negotiable instrument or a share in a corporation is standing is required to transfer such negotiable instrument or share, the Judge or such officer as he may appoint in this behalf may execute such document or make such endorsement as may be necessary, and such execution or endorsement shall have the same effect as an execution or endorsement by the party.

(2) Such execution or endorsement may be in the following form, namely:—

A. B. by C. D., Judge of the Court of (or as the case may be), in a suit by E. F. against A. B.

(3) Until the transfer of such negotiable instrument o share, the Court may, by order, appoint some person to receive any interest or dividend due thereon and to sign a receipt for the same; and any receipt so signed shall be as valid and effectual for all purposes as if the same had been signed by the party himself.

Vesting order in case of other property.

81. In the case of any moveable property not hereinbefore provided for, the Court may make an order vesting such property in the purchaser or as he may direct; and such property shall vest accordingly.

Sale of immoveable property.

What Courts may order sales.

82. Sales of immoveable property in execution of decrees may be ordered by any Court other than a Court of Small Causes.

Postponement of sale to enable judgment-debtor to raise amount of decree.

83. (1) Where an order for the sale of immoveable property has been made, if the judgment-debtor can satisfy the Court that there is reason to believe that the amount of the decree may be raised by the mortgage or lease or private sale of such property, or some part thereof, or of any other immoveable property of the judgment-debtor, the Court may, on his application, postpone the sale of the property comprised in the order for sale on such terms and for such period as it thinks proper, to enable him to raise the amount.

(2) In such case the Court shall grant a certificate to the judgment-debtor authorizing him within a period to be mentioned therein, and notwithstanding anything contained in section 64, to make the proposed mortgage, lease or sale:

Provided that all monies payable under such mortgage, lease or sale shall be paid, not to the judgment-debtor, but, save in so far as a decree-holder is entitled to set off such money under the provisions of rule 72, into Court:

Provided also that no mortgage, lease or sale under this rule shall become absolute until it has been confirmed by the Court.

(3) Nothing in this rule shall be deemed to apply to a sale of property directed to be sold in execution of a decree for sale in enforcement of a mortgage of, or charge on, such property.

Deposit by purchaser and re-sale on default.

84. (1) On every sale of immoveable property the person declared to be the purchaser shall pay immediately after such declaration a deposit of twenty-five per cent. on the amount of his purchase-money to the officer or other person conducting the sale, and, in default of such deposit, the property shall forthwith be re-sold.

(2) Where the decree-holder is the purchaser and is entitled to set off the purchase-money under rule 72, the Court may dispense with the requirements of this rule.

Time for payment in full of purchase-money.

85. The full amount of purchase-money payable shall be paid by the purchaser into Court before the Court closes on the fifteenth day from the sale of the property:

Provided that, in calculating the amount to be so paid into Court, the purchaser shall have the advantage of any set-off to which he may be entitled under rule 72.

Procedure in default of payment.

86. In default of payment within the period mentioned in the last preceding rule, the deposit may, if the Court thinks fit, after defraying the expenses of the sale, be forfeited to the Government, and the property shall be re-sold, and the defaulting purchaser shall forfeit all claim to the property or to any part of the sum for which it may subsequently be sold.

Notification on re-sale.

87. Every re-sale of immoveable property, in default of payment of the purchase-money within the period allowed for such payment, shall be made after the issue of a fresh proclamation in the manner and for the period hereinbefore prescribed for the sale.

Bid of co-sharer to have preference.

88. Where the property sold is a share of undivided immoveable property and two or more persons, of whom one is a co-sharer, respectively bid the same sum for such property or for any lot, the bid shall be deemed to be the bid of the co-sharer.

Application to set aside sale on deposit.

89. (1) Where immoveable property has been sold in execution of a decree, any person, either owning such property or holding an interest therein by virtue of a title acquired before such sale,

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders.)

may apply to have the sale set aside on his depositing in Court,—

(a) for payment to the purchaser, a sum equal to five per cent. of the purchase-money, and

(b) for payment to the decree-holder, the amount specified in the proclamation of sale as that for the recovery of which the sale was ordered, less any amount which may, since the date of such proclamation of sale, have been received by the decree-holder.

(2) Where a person applies under rule 90 to set aside the sale of his immoveable property, he shall not, unless he withdraws his application, be entitled to make or prosecute an application under this rule.

(3) Nothing in this rule shall relieve the judgment-debtor from any liability he may be under in respect of costs and interest not covered by the proclamation of sale.

Application to set aside sale on ground of irregularity or fraud.

90. (1) Where any immoveable property has been sold in execution of a decree, the decree-holder, or any person entitled to share in a rateable distribution of assets, or whose interests are affected by the sale, may apply to the Court to set aside the sale on the ground of a material irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting it:

Provided that no sale shall be set aside on the ground of irregularity or fraud unless upon the facts proved the Court is satisfied that the applicant has sustained substantial injury by reason of such irregularity or fraud.

Application by purchaser to set aside sale on ground of judgment-debtor having no saleable interest.

91. The purchaser at any such sale in execution of a decree may apply to the Court to set aside the sale, on the ground that the judgment-debtor had no saleable interest in the property sold.

Sale when to become absolute or be set aside.

92. (1) Where no application is made under rule 89, rule 90 or rule 91, or where such application is made and disallowed, the Court shall make an order confirming the sale, and thereupon the sale shall become absolute.

(2) Where such application is made and allowed, and where, in the case of an application under rule 89, the deposit required by that rule is made within thirty days from the date of sale, the Court shall make an order setting aside the sale:

Provided that no order shall be made unless notice of the application has been given to all persons affected thereby.

(3) No suit to set aside an order made under this rule shall be brought by any person against whom such order is made.

Return of purchase-money in certain cases.

93. Where a sale of immoveable property is set aside under rule 92, the purchaser shall be entitled to an order for repayment of his purchase-money, with or without interest as the Court may direct, against any person to whom it has been paid.

Certificate to purchaser.

94. Where a sale of immoveable property has become absolute, the Court shall grant a certificate specifying the property sold and the name of the person who at the time of sale is declared to be the purchaser. Such certificate shall bear date the day on which the sale became absolute.

Delivery of property in occupancy of judgment-debtor.

95. Where the immoveable property sold is in the occupancy of the judgment-debtor or of some person on his behalf or of some person claiming under a title created by the judgment-debtor subsequently to the attachment of such property and a certificate in respect thereof has been granted under rule 94, the Court shall, on the application of the purchaser, order delivery to be made by putting such purchaser, or any person whom he may appoint to receive delivery on his behalf in possession of the property, and, if need be, by removing any person who refuses to vacate the same.

Delivery of property in occupancy of tenant.

96. Where the property sold is in the occupancy of a tenant or other person entitled to occupy the same and a certificate in respect thereof has been granted under rule 94, the Court shall, on the application of the purchaser, order delivery to be made by affixing a copy of the certificate of sale in some conspicuous place on the property, and proclaiming to the occupant by beat of drum or other customary mode, at some convenient place, that the interest of the judgment-debtor has been transferred to the purchaser.

Resistance to delivery of possession to decree-holder or purchaser.

Resistance or obstruction to possession of immoveable property.

97. (1) Where the holder of a decree for the possession of immoveable property or the purchaser of any such property sold in execution of a decree is resisted or obstructed by any person in obtaining possession of the property, he may make an application to the Court complaining of such resistance or obstruction.

(2) The Court shall fix a day for investigating the matter and shall summon the party against whom the application is made to appear and answer the same.

Resistance or obstruction by judgment-debtor.

98. Where the Court is satisfied that the resistance or obstruction was occasioned without any just cause by the judgment-debtor or by some other person at his instigation, it shall direct that the applicant be put into possession of the property, and where the applicant is still resisted or obstructed in obtaining possession, the Court may also, at the instance of the applicant, order the judgment-debtor, or any person acting at his instigation, to be detained in the civil prison for a term which may extend to thirty days.

Resistance or obstruction by bonâ fide claimant.

99. Where the Court is satisfied that the resistance or obstruction was occasioned by any person (other than the judgment-debtor) claiming in good faith to be in possession of the property on his own account or on account of some person other than the judgment-debtor, the Court shall make an order dismissing the application.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXI.—Execution of Decrees and Orders. Order XXII.—Death, Marriage and Insolvency of Parties.)

100. (1) Where any person other than the judgment-debtor is dispossessed of immoveable property by the holder of a decree for the possession of such property or, where such property has been sold in execution of a decree, by the purchaser thereof, he may make an application to the Court complaining of such dispossession.

Dispossession by decree-holder or purchaser.

(2) The Court shall fix a day for investigating the matter and shall summon the party against whom the application is made to appear and answer the same.

101. Where the Court is satisfied that the applicant was in possession of the property on his own account or on account of some person other than the judgment-debtor, it shall direct that the applicant be put into possession of the property.

Bona fide claimant to be restored to possession.

102. Nothing in rules 99 and 101 shall apply to resistance or obstruction in execution of a decree for the possession of immoveable property by a person to whom the judgment-debtor has transferred the property after the institution of the suit in which the decree was passed or to the dispossession of any such person.

Rules not applicable to transferee lite pendente.

103. Any party not being a judgment-debtor against whom an order is made under rule 98, rule 99 or rule 101 may institute a suit to establish the right which he claims to the present possession of the property; but, subject to the result of such suit, if any, the order shall be conclusive.

Orders conclusive subject to regular suit.

ORDER XXII.

Death, Marriage and Insolvency of Parties.

1. The death of a plaintiff or defendant shall not cause the suit to abate if the right to sue survives.

No abatement by party's death, if right to sue survives.

2. Where there are more plaintiffs or defendants than one, and any of them dies, and where the right to sue survives to the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs alone, or against the surviving defendant or defendants alone, the Court shall cause an entry to that effect to be made on the record, and the suit shall proceed at the instance of the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs, or against the surviving defendant or defendants.

Procedure where one of several plaintiffs or defendants dies and right to sue survives.

3. (1) Where one of two or more plaintiffs dies and the right to sue does not survive to the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs alone, or a sole plaintiff or sole surviving plaintiff dies and the right to sue survives, the Court, on an application made in that behalf, shall cause the legal representative of the deceased plaintiff to be made a party and shall proceed with the suit.

Procedure in case of death of one of several plaintiffs or of sole plaintiff.

(2) Where within the time limited by law no application is made under sub-rule (1), the suit shall abate so far as the deceased plaintiff is concerned, and, on the application of the defendant, the Court may award to him the costs which he may have incurred in defending the suit, to be recovered from the estate of the deceased plaintiff.

4. (1) Where one of two or more defendants dies and the right to sue does not survive against the surviving defendant or defendants alone, or a sole defendant or sole surviving defendant dies and the right to sue survives, the Court, on an application made in that behalf, shall cause the legal representative of the deceased defendant to be made a party and shall proceed with the suit.

Procedure in case of death of one of several defendants or of sole defendant.

(2) Any person so made a party may make any defence appropriate to his character as legal representative of the deceased defendant.

(3) Where within the time limited by law no application is made under sub-rule (1), the suit shall abate as against the deceased defendant.

5. Where a question arises as to whether any person is or is not the legal representative of a deceased plaintiff or a deceased defendant, such question shall be determined by the Court.

Determination of question as to legal representative.

6. Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing rules, whether the cause of action survives or not, there shall be no abatement by reason of the death of either party between the conclusion of the hearing and the pronouncing of the judgment, but judgment may in such case be pronounced notwithstanding the death and shall have the same force and effect as if it had been pronounced before the death took place.

No abatement by reason of death after hearing.

7. (1) The marriage of a female plaintiff or defendant shall not cause the suit to abate, but the suit may notwithstanding be proceeded with to judgment, and, where the decree is against a female defendant, it may be executed against her alone.

Suit not abated by marriage of female party.

(2) Where the husband is by law liable for the debts of his wife, the decree may, with the permission of the Court, be executed against the husband also; and, in case of judgment for the wife, execution of the decree may, with such permission, be issued upon the application of the husband, where the husband is by law entitled to the subject-matter of the decree.

8. (1) The insolvency of a plaintiff in any suit which the assignee or receiver might maintain for the benefit of his creditors, shall not cause the suit to abate, unless such assignee or receiver declines to continue the suit or (unless for any special reason the Court otherwise directs) to give security for the costs thereof within such time as the Court may direct.

When plaintiff's insolvency bars suit.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXII.—Death, Marriage and Insolvency of Parties. Order XXIII.—Withdrawal and Adjustment of suits. Order XXIV.—Payment into Court.)

Procedure where assignee fails to continue suit or give security.

(2) Where the assignee or receiver neglects or refuses to continue the suit and to give such security within the time so ordered, the defendant may apply for the dismissal of the suit on the ground of the plaintiff's insolvency, and the Court may make an order dismissing the suit and awarding to the defendant the costs which he has incurred in defending the same to be proved as a debt against the plaintiff's estate.

Effect of abatement or dismissal.

9. (1) Where a suit abates or is dismissed under this Order, no fresh suit shall be brought on the same cause of action.

(2) The plaintiff or the person claiming to be the legal representative of a deceased plaintiff or the assignee or the receiver in the case of an insolvent plaintiff may apply for an order to set aside the abatement or dismissal; and if it is proved that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from continuing the suit, the Court shall set aside the abatement or dismissal upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit.

XV of 1877.

(3) The provisions of section 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, shall apply to applications under sub-rule (2).

Procedure in case of assignment before final order in suit.

10. (1) In other cases of an assignment, creation or devolution of any interest during the pendency of a suit, the suit may, by leave of the Court, be continued by or against the person to or upon whom such interest has come or devolved.

(2) The attachment of a decree pending an appeal therefrom shall be deemed to be an interest entitling the person who procured such attachment to the benefit of sub-rule (1).

Application of Order to appeals.

11. In the application of this Order to appeals, so far as may be, the word "plaintiff" shall be held to include an appellant, the word "defendant" a respondent, and the word "suit" an appeal.

Application of Order to proceedings.

12. Nothing in rules 3, 4 and 8 shall apply to proceedings in execution of a decree or order.

ORDER XXIII.

Withdrawal and Adjustment of Suits.

Withdrawal of suit or abandonment of part of claim.

1. (1) At any time after the institution of a suit the plaintiff may, as against all or any of the defendants, withdraw his suit or abandon part of his claim.

(2) Where the Court is satisfied—

(a) that a suit must fail by reason of some formal defect, or

(b) that there are other sufficient grounds for allowing the plaintiff to institute a fresh suit for the subject-matter of a suit or part of a claim, it may, on such terms as it thinks fit, grant the plaintiff permission to withdraw from such suit or abandon such part of a claim with liberty to institute a fresh suit in respect of the subject-matter of such suit or such part of a claim.

(3) Where the plaintiff withdraws from a suit, or abandons part of a claim, without the permission referred to in sub-rule (2), he shall be liable for such costs as the Court may award and shall be precluded from instituting any fresh suit in respect of such subject-matter or such part of the claim.

(4) Nothing in this rule shall be deemed to authorize the Court to permit one of several plaintiffs to withdraw without the consent of the others.

Limitation law not affected by first suit.

2. In any fresh suit instituted on permission granted under the last preceding rule, the plaintiff shall be bound by the law of limitation in the same manner as if the first suit had not been instituted.

Compromise of suit.

3. Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that a suit has been adjusted wholly or in part by any lawful agreement or compromise, or where the defendant satisfies the plaintiff in respect of the whole or any part of the subject-matter of the suit, the Court shall order such agreement, compromise or satisfaction to be recorded, and shall pass a decree in accordance therewith so far as it relates to the suit.

Proceedings in execution of decrees not affected.

4. Nothing in this Order shall apply to any proceedings in execution of a decree or order.

ORDER XXIV.

Payment into Court.

Deposit by defendant of amount in satisfaction of claim.

1. The defendant in any suit to recover a debt or damages may, at any stage of the suit, deposit in Court such sum of money as he considers a satisfaction in full of the claim.

Notice of deposit.

2. Notice of the deposit shall be given through the Court by the defendant to the plaintiff, and the amount of the deposit shall (unless the Court otherwise directs) be paid to the plaintiff on his application.

Interest on deposit not allowed to plaintiff after notice.

3. No interest shall be allowed to the plaintiff on any sum deposited by the defendant from the date of the receipt of such notice, whether the sum deposited is in full of the claim or falls short thereof.

Procedure where plaintiff accepts deposit as satisfaction in part.

4. (1) Where the plaintiff accepts such amount as satisfaction in part only of his claim, he may prosecute his suit for the balance; and, if the Court decides that the deposit by the defendant was a full satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim, the plaintiff shall pay the costs of the suit incurred after the deposit and the costs incurred previous thereto, so far as they were caused by excess in the plaintiff's claim.

Procedure where he accepts it as satisfaction in full.

(2) Where the plaintiff accepts such amount as satisfaction in full of his claim, he shall present to the Court a statement to that effect, and such statement shall be filed and the Court shall pronounce judgment accordingly; and, in directing by whom the costs of each party are to be paid, the Court shall consider which of the parties is most to blame for the litigation.

Illustrations.

(a) A owes B Rs. 100. B sues A for the amount, having made no demand for payment and having no reason to believe that the delay caused by making a demand would place him at a disadvantage. On the plaint being filed, A pays the money into Court. B accepts it in full satisfaction of his claim, but the Court should not allow him any costs, the litigation being presumably groundless on his part.

(b) B sues A under the circumstances mentioned in illustration (a). On the plaint being filed, A disputes the claim. Afterwards A pays the money into Court. B accepts it in full satisfaction of his claim. The Court should also give B his costs of suit, A's conduct having shown that the litigation was necessary.

(c) A owes B Rs. 100, and is willing to pay him that sum without suit. B claims Rs. 150 and sues A for that amount. On the plaint being filed A pays Rs. 100 into Court and disputes only his liability to pay the remaining Rs. 50. B accepts the Rs. 100 in full satisfaction of his claim. The Court should order him to pay A's costs.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXV.—Security for Costs Order XXVI.—Commissions.)

ORDER XXV.

Security for Costs.

When security for costs may be required from plaintiff.

1. (1) Where, at any stage of a suit, it appears to the Court that a sole plaintiff is, or (when there are more plaintiffs than one) that all the plaintiffs are, residing out of British India, and that such plaintiff does not, or that no one of such plaintiffs does, possess any sufficient immoveable property within British India other than the property in suit, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any defendant, order the plaintiff or plaintiffs, within a time fixed by it, to give security for the payment of all costs incurred and likely to be incurred by any defendant.

Residence out of British India.

(2) Whoever leaves British India under such circumstances as to afford reasonable probability that he will not be forthcoming whenever he may be called upon to pay costs shall be deemed to be residing out of British India within the meaning of sub-rule (1).

(3) On the application of any defendant in a suit for the payment of money, in which the plaintiff is a woman, the Court may at any stage of the suit make a like order if it is satisfied that such plaintiff does not possess any sufficient immoveable property within British India.

Effect of failure to furnish security.

2. (1) In the event of such security not being furnished within the time fixed, the Court shall make an order dismissing the suit unless the plaintiff or plaintiffs are permitted to withdraw therefrom.

(2) Where a suit is dismissed under this rule, the plaintiff may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and, if it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from furnishing the security within the time allowed, the Court shall set aside the dismissal upon such terms as to security, costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

(3) The dismissal shall not be set aside unless notice of such application has been served on the defendant.

ORDER XXVI.

Commissions.

Commissions to examine witnesses.

Cases in which Court may issue commission to examine witness.

1. Any Court may in any suit issue a commission for the examination on interrogatories or otherwise of any person resident within the local limits of its jurisdiction who is exempted under this Code from attending the Court or who is from sickness or infirmity unable to attend it.

Order for commission.

2. An order for the issue of a commission for the examination of a witness may be made by the Court either of its own motion or on the application, supported by affidavit or otherwise, of any party to the suit or of the witness to be examined.

Where witness resides within Court's jurisdiction.

3. A commission for the examination of a person who resides within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court issuing the same may be issued to any person whom the Court thinks fit to execute.

Persons for whose examination commission may issue.

4. (1) Any Court may in any suit issue a commission for the examination of—

(a) any person resident beyond the local limits of its jurisdiction;

(b) any person who is about to leave such limits before the date on which he is required to be examined in Court; and

(c) any civil or military officer of the Government who cannot, in the opinion of the Court, attend without detriment to the public service.

(2) Such commission may be issued to any Court, not being a High Court, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such person resides, or to any pleader or other person whom the Court issuing the commission may appoint.

(3) The Court on issuing any commission under this rule shall direct whether the commission shall be returned to itself or to any subordinate Court.

Commission or Request to examine witness not within British India.

5. Where any Court to which application is made for the issue of a commission for the examination of a person residing at any place not within British India is satisfied that the evidence of such person is necessary, the Court may issue such commission or a letter of request.

Court to examine witness pursuant to commission.

6. Every Court receiving a commission for the examination of any person shall examine him or cause him to be examined pursuant thereto.

Return of commission with depositions of witnesses.

7. Where a commission has been duly executed, it shall be returned, together with the evidence taken under it, to the Court from which it was issued, unless the order for issuing the commission has otherwise directed, in which case the commission shall be returned in terms of such order; and the commission and the return thereto and the evidence taken under it shall (subject to the provisions of the next following rule) form part of the record of the suit.

When depositions may be read in evidence.

8. Evidence taken under a commission shall not be read as evidence in the suit without the consent of the party against whom the same is offered, unless—

(a) the person who gave the evidence is beyond the jurisdiction of the Court, or dead or unable from sickness or infirmity to attend to be personally examined, or exempted from personal appearance in Court, or is a civil or military officer of the Government who cannot, in the opinion of the Court, attend without detriment to the public service, or

(b) the Court in its discretion dispenses with the proof of any of the circumstances mentioned in clause (a), and authorizes the evidence of any person being read as evidence in the suit, notwithstanding proof that the cause for taking such evidence by commission has ceased at the time of reading the same.

Commissions for local investigations.

Commissions to make local investigations.

9. In any suit in which the Court deems a local investigation to be requisite or proper for the purpose of elucidating any matter in dispute, or of ascertaining the market-value of any property, or the amount of any mesne profits or damages or annual net profits, the Court may issue a commission to such person as it thinks fit directing him to make such investigation and to report thereon to the Court:

Provided that, where the Local Government has made rules as to the persons to whom such commission shall be issued, the Court shall be bound by such rules.

Procedure of Commissioner.

10. (1) The Commissioner, after such local inspection as he deems necessary and after reducing to writing the evidence taken by him, shall return such evidence, together with his report in writing signed by him, to the Court.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXVI.—Commissions. Order XXVII.—Suits by or against the Government or Public Officers in their official capacity.)

(2) The report of the Commissioner and the evidence taken by him (but not the evidence without the report) shall be evidence in the suit and shall form part of the record, but the Court or, with the permission of the Court, any of the parties to the suit, may examine the Commissioner personally in open Court touching any of the matters referred to him or mentioned in his report, or as to his report, or as to the manner in which he has made the investigation.

Report and depositions to be evidence in suit.

Commissioner may be examined in person.

(3) Where the Court is for any reason dissatisfied with the proceedings of the Commissioner, it may direct such further inquiry to be made as it shall think fit

Commissions to examine accounts

11. In any suit in which an examination or adjustment of accounts is necessary, the Court may issue a commission to such person as it thinks fit directing him to make such examination or adjustment.

Commission to examine or adjust accounts

12. (1) The Court shall furnish the Commissioner with such part of the proceedings and such instructions as appear necessary, and the instructions shall distinctly specify whether the Commissioner is merely to transmit the proceedings which he may hold on the inquiry, or also to report his own opinion on the point referred for his examination

Court to give Commissioner necessary instructions.

(2) The proceedings and report (if any) of the Commissioner shall be evidence in the suit, but where the Court has reason to be dissatisfied with them, it may direct such further inquiry as it shall think fit

Proceedings and report to be evidence Court may direct further inquiry.

Commissions to make partitions.

13 Where a preliminary decree for partition has been passed, the Court may, in any case not provided for by section 54, issue a commission to such person as it thinks fit to make the partition or separation according to the rights as declared in such decree

Commission to make partition of immoveable property.

14. (1) The Commissioner shall, after such inquiry as may be necessary, divide the property into as many shares as may be directed by the order under which the commission was issued, and shall allot such shares to the parties, and may, if authorized thereto by the said order, award sums to be paid for the purpose of equalizing the value of the shares.

Procedure of Commissioner.

(2) The Commissioner shall then prepare and sign a report or the Commissioners (where the commission was issued to more than one person and they cannot agree) shall prepare and sign separate reports appointing the share of each party and distinguishing each share (if so directed by the said order) by metes and bounds. Such report or reports shall be annexed to the commission and transmitted to the Court; and the Court, after hearing any objections which the parties may make to the report or reports, shall confirm, vary or set aside the same.

(3) Where the Court confirms or varies the report or reports it shall pass a decree in accordance with the same as confirmed or varied; but where the Court sets aside the report or reports it shall either issue a new commission or make such other order as it shall think fit.

General provisions.

15. Before issuing any commission under this Order, the Court may order such sum (if any) as it thinks reasonable for the expenses of the commission to be, within a time to be fixed, paid into Court by the party at whose instance or for whose benefit the commission is issued.

Expenses of commission to be paid into Court.

16. Any Commissioner appointed under this Order may, unless otherwise directed by the order of appointment,— Powers of Commissioners.

(a) examine the parties themselves and any witness whom they or any of them may produce, and any other person whom the Commissioner thinks proper to call upon to give evidence in the matter referred to him;

(b) call for and examine documents and other things relevant to the subject of inquiry;

(c) at any reasonable time enter upon or into any land or building mentioned in the order.

17 (1) The provisions of this Code relating to the summoning, attendance and examination of witnesses, and to the remuneration of, and penalties to be imposed upon, witnesses, shall apply to persons required to give evidence or to produce documents under this Order whether the commission in execution of which they are so required has been issued by a Court situate within or by a Court situate beyond the limits of British India, and for the purposes of this rule the Commissioner shall be deemed to be a Civil Court.

Attendance and examination of witnesses before Commissioner.

(2) A Commissioner may apply to any Court (not being a High Court) within the local limits of whose jurisdiction a witness resides for the issue of any process which he may find it necessary to issue to or against such witness, and such Court may, in its discretion, issue such process as it considers reasonable and proper.

18 (1) Where a commission is issued under this Order, the Court shall direct that the parties to the suit shall appear before the Commissioner in person or by their agents or pleaders

Parties to appear before Commissioner

(2) Where all or any of the parties do not so appear, the Commissioner may proceed in their absence.

ORDER XXVII

Suits by or against the Government or Public Officers in their official capacity

1. In any suit by or against the Secretary of State for India in Council, the plaint or written statement shall be signed by such person as the Government may, by general or special order, appoint in this behalf, and shall be verified by any person whom the Government may so appoint and who is acquainted with the facts of the case.

Suits by or against Government.

2. Persons being ex officio or otherwise authorized to act for the Government in respect of any judicial proceeding shall be deemed to be the recognized agents by whom appearances, acts and applications under this Code may be made or done on behalf of the Government.

Persons authorized to act for Government

3. In suits by or against the Secretary of State for India in Council instead of inserting in the plaint the name and description and place of residence of the plaintiff or defendant, it shall be sufficient to insert the words "The Secretary of State for India in Council."

Plaints in suits by or against Government.

4. The Government pleader in any Court, or such other person as the Local Government may for any Court appoint in this behalf, shall be the agent of the Government for the purpose of receiving processes against the Secretary of State for India in Council issued by such Court.

Agent for Government to receive process.

5. The Court, in fixing the day for the Secretary of State for India in Council to answer to the plaint, shall allow a reasonable time for the necessary communication with the Government through the proper channel, and for the issue of instructions to the Government pleader to appear and answer on behalf of the said Secretary of State for India in Council or the Government, and may extend the time at its discretion.

Fixing of day for appearance on behalf of Government.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XXVII.—Suits by or against the Government or Public Officers in their official capacity. Order XXVIII.—Suits by or against Military Men. Order XXIX.—Suits by or against Corporations. Order XXX.—Suits by or against Firms and Persons carrying on business in names other than their own.)

Attendance of person able to answer questions relating to suit against Government.

6. The Court may also, in any case in which the Government pleader is not accompanied by any person on the part of the Secretary of State for India in Council, who may be able to answer any material questions relating to the suit, direct the attendance of such a person.

Extension of time to enable public officer to make reference to Government.

7. Where the defendant is a public officer and, on receiving the summons, considers it proper to make a reference to the Government before answering the plaint, he may apply to the Court to grant such extension of the time fixed in the summons as may be necessary to enable him to make such reference and to receive orders thereon through the proper channel.

(2) Upon such application the Court shall extend the time for so long as appears to it to be necessary.

Procedure in suits against public officer.

8. (1) Where the Government undertakes the defence of a suit against a public officer, the Government pleader, upon being furnished with authority to appear and answer the plaint, shall apply to the Court, and upon such application the Court shall cause a note of his authority to be entered in the register of civil suits.

(2) Where no application under sub-rule (1) is made by the Government pleader on or before the day fixed in the notice for the defendant to appear and answer, the case shall proceed as in a suit between private parties:

Provided that the defendant shall not be liable to arrest, nor his property to attachment, otherwise than in execution of a decree.

ORDER XXVIII.

Suits by or against Military Men.

Officers or soldiers who cannot obtain leave may authorize any person to sue or defend for them.

1. (1) Where any officer or soldier actually serving the Government in a military capacity is a party to a suit, and cannot obtain leave of absence for the purpose of prosecuting or defending the suit in person, he may authorize any person to sue or defend in his stead.

(2) The authority shall be in writing and shall be signed by the officer or soldier in the presence of (a) his commanding officer, or the next subordinate officer, if the party is himself the commanding officer, or (b) where the officer or soldier is serving in military staff employment, the head or other superior officer of the office in which he is employed. Such commanding or other officer shall countersign the authority, which shall be filed in Court.

(3) When so filed the countersignature shall be sufficient proof that the authority was duly executed, and that the officer or soldier by whom it was granted could not obtain leave of absence for the purpose of prosecuting or defending the suit in person.

Explanation.—In this Order the expression "commanding officer" means the officer in actual command for the time being of any regiment, corps, detachment or depôt to which the officer or soldier belongs.

Person so authorized may act personally or appoint pleader.

2. Any person authorized by an officer or a soldier to prosecute or defend a suit in his stead may prosecute or defend it in person in the same manner as the officer or soldier could do if present; or he may appoint a pleader to prosecute or defend the suit on behalf of such officer or soldier.

Service on person so authorized, or on his pleader, to be good service.

3. Processes served upon any person authorized by an officer or a soldier under rule 1 or upon any pleader appointed as aforesaid by such person shall be as effectual as if they had been served on the party in person.

ORDER XXIX.

Suits by or against Corporations.

Subscription and verification of pleading.

1. In suits by or against a corporation, any pleading may be signed and verified on behalf of the corporation by the secretary or by any director or other principal officer of the corporation who is able to depose to the facts of the case.

Service on corporation.

2. Subject to any statutory provision regulating service of process, where the suit is against a corporation, the summons may be served—

(a) on the secretary, or on any director, or other principal officer of the corporation, or

(b) by leaving it or sending it by post addressed to the corporation at the registered office, or if there is no registered office then at the place where the corporation carries on business.

Power to require personal attendance of officer of corporation.

3. The Court may, at any stage of the suit, require the personal appearance of the secretary or of any director, or other principal officer of the corporation who may be able to answer material questions relating to the suit.

ORDER XXX.

Suits by or against Firms and Persons carrying on business in names other than their own.

Suing of partners name of firm.

1. (1) Any two or more persons claiming or being liable as partners and carrying on business in British India may sue or be sued in the name of the firm (if any) of which such persons were partners at the time of the accruing of the cause of action, and any party to a suit may in such case apply to the Court for a statement of the names and addresses of the persons who were, at the time of the accruing of the cause of action, partners in such firm, to be furnished and verified in such manner as the Court may direct.

(2) Where persons sue or are sued as partners in the name of their firm under sub-rule (1), it shall, in the case of any pleading or other document required by or under this Code to be signed, verified or certified by the plaintiff or the defendant, suffice if such pleading or other document is signed, verified or certified by any one of such persons.

Disclosure of partners' names.

2. (1) Where a suit is instituted by partners in the name of their firm, the plaintiffs or their pleader shall, on demand in writing by or on behalf of any defendant, forthwith declare in writing the names and places of residence of all the persons constituting the firm on whose behalf the suit is instituted.

(2) Where the plaintiffs or their pleader fail to comply with any demand made under sub-rule (1), all proceedings in the suit may, upon an application for that purpose, be stayed upon such terms as the Court may direct.

(3) Where the names of the partners are declared in the manner referred to in sub-rule (1), the suit shall proceed in the same manner, and the same consequences in all respects shall follow, as if they had been named as plaintiffs in the plaint:

Provided that all the proceedings shall nevertheless continue in the name of the firm.

Service.

3. Where persons are sued as partners in the name of their firm, the summons shall be served either—

(a) upon any one or more of the partners, or

(b) at the principal place at which the partnership business is carried on within British India upon any person having, at the time of service, the control or management of the partnership business there, as the Court may direct; and such service shall be deemed good service upon the firm so sued, whether all or any of the partners are within or without British India:

Provided that, in the case of a partnership which has been dissolved to the knowledge of the plaintiff before the institution of the suit, the summons shall be served upon every person within British India whom it is sought to make liable.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXX.—Suits by or against Firms and Persons carrying on business in names other than their own. Order XXXI.—Suits by or against Trustees, Executors and Administrators. Order XXXII.—Suits by or against Minors and Persons of Unsound Mind.)

IX of 1872.

Right of suit on death of partner.

4. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 45 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, where two or more persons may sue or be sued in the name of a firm under the foregoing provisions and any of such persons dies, whether before the institution or during the pendency of any suit, it shall not be necessary to join the legal representative of the deceased as a party to the suit.

(2) Nothing in sub-rule (1) shall limit or otherwise affect any right which the legal representative of the deceased may have—

(a) to apply to be made a party to the suit, or

(b) to enforce any claim against the survivor or survivors.

Notice in what capacity served.

5. Where a summons is issued to a firm and is served in the manner provided by rule 3, every person upon whom it is served shall be informed by notice in writing given at the time of such service, whether he is served as a partner or as a person having the control or management of the partnership business, or in both characters, and, in default of such notice, the person served shall be deemed to be served as a partner.

Appearance of partners.

6. Where persons are sued as partners in the name of their firm, they shall appear individually in their own names, but all subsequent proceedings shall, nevertheless, continue in the name of the firm.

No appearance except by partners.

7. Where a summons is served in the manner provided by rule 3 upon a person having the control or management of the partnership business, no appearance by him shall be necessary unless he is a partner of the firm sued.

Appearance under protest.

8. Any person served with summons as a partner under rule 3 may appear under protest, denying that he is a partner, but such appearance shall not preclude the plaintiff from otherwise serving a summons on the firm and obtaining a decree against the firm in default of appearance where no partner has appeared.

Suits between co-partners.

9. This Order shall apply to suits between a firm and one or more of the partners therein and to suits between firms having one or more partners in common; but no execution shall be issued in such suits except by leave of the Court, and, on an application for leave to issue such execution, all such accounts and inquiries may be directed to be taken and made and directions given as may be just.

Suit against person carrying on business in name other than his own.

10. Any person carrying on business in a name or style other than his own name may be sued in such name or style as if it were a firm name; and, so far as the nature of the case will permit, all rules under this Order shall apply.

ORDER XXXI.

Suits by or against Trustees, Executors and Administrators.

Representation of beneficiaries in suits concerning property vested in trustees, etc.

1. In all suits concerning property vested in a trustee, executor or administrator, where the contention is between the persons beneficially interested in such property and a third person, the trustee, executor or administrator shall represent the persons so interested, and it shall not ordinarily be necessary to make them parties to the suit. But the Court may, if it thinks fit, order them or any of them to be made parties.

Joinder of trustees, executors and administrators.

2. Where there are several trustees, executors or administrators, they shall all be made parties to a suit against one or more of them:

Provided that the executors who have not proved their testator's will, and trustees, executors and administrators outside British India, need not be made parties.

Husband of married executrix not to join.

3. Unless the Court directs otherwise, the husband of a married trustee, administratrix or executrix shall not as such be a party to a suit by or against her.

ORDER XXXII.

Suits by or against Minors and Persons of Unsound Mind.

Minor to sue by next friend.

1. Every suit by a minor shall be instituted in his name by a person who in such suit shall be called the next friend of the minor.

Where suit is instituted without next friend, plaint to be taken off the file.

2. (1) Where a suit is instituted by or on behalf of a minor without a next friend, the defendant may apply to have the plaint taken off the file, with costs to be paid by the pleader or other person by whom it was presented.

(2) Notice of such application shall be given to such person, and the Court, after hearing his objections (if any), may make such order in the matter as it thinks fit.

Guardian for the suit to be appointed by Court for minor defendant.

3. (1) Where the defendant is a minor, the Court, on being satisfied of the fact of his minority, shall appoint a proper person to be guardian for the suit for such minor.

(2) An order for the appointment of a guardian for the suit may be obtained upon application in the name and on behalf of the minor or by the plaintiff.

(3) Such application shall be supported by an affidavit verifying the fact that the proposed guardian has no interest in the matters in controversy in the suit adverse to that of the minor and that he is a fit person to be so appointed.

(4) No order shall be made on any application under this rule except upon notice to the minor and to any guardian of the minor appointed or declared by an authority competent in that behalf, or, where there is no such guardian, upon notice to the father or other natural guardian of the minor, or, where there is no father or other natural guardian, to the person in whose care the minor is, and after hearing any objection which may be urged on behalf of any person served with notice under this sub-rule.

Who may act as next friend or be appointed guardian for the suit.

4. (1) Any person who is of sound mind and has attained majority may act as next friend of a minor or as his guardian for the suit:

Provided that the interest of such person is not adverse to that of the minor and that he is not, in the case of a next friend, a defendant, or, in the case of a guardian for the suit, a plaintiff.

(2) Where a minor has a guardian appointed or declared by competent authority, no person other than such guardian shall act as the next friend of the minor or be appointed his guardian for the suit unless the Court considers, for reasons to be recorded, that it is for the minor's welfare that another person be permitted to act or be appointed, as the case may be.

(3) No person shall without his consent be appointed guardian for the suit.

(4) Where there is no other person fit and willing to act as guardian for the suit, the Court may appoint any of its officers to be such guardian, and may direct that the costs to be incurred by such officer in the performance of his duties as such guardian shall be borne either by the parties or by any one or more of the parties to the suit, or out of any fund in Court in which the minor is interested, and may give directions for the repayment or allowance of such costs as justice and the circumstances of the case may require.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXXII.—Suits by or against Minors and Persons of Unsound Mind. Order XXXIII.—Suits by Paupers.)

Representation of minor by next friend or guardian for the suit.

5. (1) Every application to the Court on behalf of a minor, other than an application under rule 10, sub-rule (2), shall be made by his next friend or by his guardian for the suit.

(2) Every order made in a suit or on any application before the Court in or by which a minor is in any way concerned or affected, without such minor being represented by a next friend or guardian for the suit, as the case may be, may be discharged, and, where the pleader of the party at whose instance such order was obtained knew, or might reasonably have known, the fact of such minority, with costs to be paid by such pleader.

Receipt by next friend or guardian for the suit of property under decree for minor.

6. (1) A next friend or guardian for the suit shall not, without the leave of the Court, receive any money or other moveable property on behalf of a minor either—

(a) by way of compromise before decree or order, or

(b) under a decree or order in favour of the minor.

(2) Where the next friend or guardian for the suit has not been appointed or declared by competent authority to be guardian of the property of the minor, or, having been so appointed or declared, is under any disability known to the Court to receive the money or other moveable property, the Court shall, if it grants him leave to receive the property, require such security and give such directions as will, in its opinion, sufficiently protect the property from waste and ensure its proper application.

Agreement or compromise by next friend or guardian for the suit.

7. (1) No next friend or guardian for the suit shall, without the leave of the Court, expressly recorded in the proceedings, enter into any agreement or compromise on behalf of a minor with reference to the suit in which he acts as next friend or guardian.

(2) Any such agreement or compromise entered into without the leave of the Court so recorded shall be voidable against all parties other than the minor.

Retirement of next friend.

8. (1) Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, a next friend shall not retire without first procuring a fit person to be put in his place and giving security for the costs already incurred.

(2) The application for the appointment of a new next friend shall be supported by an affidavit showing the fitness of the person proposed, and also that he has no interest adverse to that of the minor.

Removal of next friend.

9. (1) Where the interest of the next friend of a minor is adverse to that of the minor or where he is so connected with a defendant whose interest is adverse to that of the minor as to make it unlikely that the minor's interest will be properly protected by him, or where he does not do his duty, or, during the pendency of the suit, ceases to reside within British India, or for any other sufficient cause, application may be made on behalf of the minor or by a defendant for his removal; and the Court, if satisfied of the sufficiency of the cause assigned, may order the next friend to be removed accordingly, and make such other order as to costs as it thinks fit.

(2) Where the next friend is not a guardian appointed or declared by an authority competent in this behalf, and an application is made by a guardian so appointed or declared, who desires to be himself appointed in the place of the next friend, the Court shall remove the next friend unless it considers, for reasons to be recorded by it, that the guardian ought not to be appointed the next friend of the minor, and shall thereupon appoint the applicant to be next friend in his place upon such terms as to the costs already incurred in the suit as it thinks fit.

Stay of proceedings on removal, etc., of next friend

10. (1) On the retirement, removal or death of the next friend of a minor, further proceedings shall be stayed until the appointment of a next friend in his place.

(2) Where the pleader of such minor omits, within a reasonable time, to take steps to get a new next friend appointed, any person interested in the minor or in the matter in issue may apply to the Court for the appointment of one, and the Court may appoint such person as it thinks fit.

Retirement, removal or death of guardian for the suit.

11. (1) Where the guardian for the suit desires to retire or does not do his duty, or where other sufficient ground is made to appear, the Court may permit such guardian to retire or may remove him, and may make such order as to costs as it thinks fit.

(2) Where the guardian for the suit retires, dies or is removed by the Court during the pendency of the suit, the Court shall appoint a new guardian in his place.

Course to be followed by minor plaintiff or applicant on attaining majority.

12. (1) A minor plaintiff or a minor not a party to a suit on whose behalf an application is pending shall, on attaining majority, elect whether he will proceed with the suit or application.

(2) Where he elects to proceed with the suit or application, he shall apply for an order discharging the next friend and for leave to proceed in his own name.

(3) The title of the suit or application shall in such case be corrected so as to read thenceforth thus:—

"A. B., late a minor, by C. D., his next friend, but now having attained majority."

(4) Where he elects to abandon the suit or application, he shall, if a sole plaintiff or sole applicant, apply for an order to dismiss the suit or application on repayment of the costs incurred by the defendant or opposite party or which may have been paid by his next friend.

(5) Any application under this rule may be made ex parte: but no order discharging a next friend and permitting a minor plaintiff to proceed in his own name shall be made without notice to the next friend.

Where minor co-plaintiff attaining majority desires to repudiate suit.

13. (1) Where a minor co-plaintiff on attaining majority desires to repudiate the suit, he shall apply to have his name struck out as co-plaintiff; and the Court, if it finds that he is not a necessary party, shall dismiss him from the suit on such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit.

(2) Notice of the application shall be served on the next friend, on any co-plaintiff and on the defendant.

(3) The costs of all parties of such application, and of all or any proceedings theretofore had in the suit, shall be paid by such persons as the Court directs.

(4) Where the applicant is a necessary party to the suit, the Court may direct him to be made a defendant.

Unreasonable or improper suit.

14. (1) A minor on attaining majority may, if a sole plaintiff, apply that a suit instituted in his name by a next friend be dismissed on the ground that it was unreasonable or improper.

(2) Notice of the application shall be served on all the parties concerned; and the Court, upon being satisfied of such unreasonableness or impropriety, may grant the application and order the next friend to pay the costs of all parties in respect of the application and of anything done in the suit, or make such other order as it thinks fit.

Application of rules to persons of unsound mind.

15. The provisions contained in rules 1 to 14, so far as they are applicable, shall extend to persons adjudged to be of unsound mind and to persons who though not so adjudged are found by the Court on inquiry, by reason of unsoundness of mind or mental infirmity, to be incapable of protecting their interests when suing or being sued.

Saving for Princes and Chiefs.

16. Nothing in this Order shall apply to a Sovereign Prince or Ruling Chief suing or being sued in the name of his State, or being sued by direction of the Governor General in Council or a Local Government in the name of an agent or in any other name, or shall be construed to affect or in any way derogate from the provisions of any local law for the time being in force relating to suits by or against minors or by or against lunatics or other persons of unsound mind.

ORDER XXXIII.

Suits by Paupers.

Suits may be instituted in formâ pauperis.

1. Subject to the following provisions, any suit may be instituted by a pauper.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXXIII.—Suits by Paupers. Order XXXIV.—Suits relating to Mortgages of Immoveable Property.)

Explanation.—A person is a "pauper" when he is not possessed of sufficient means to enable him to pay the fee prescribed by law for the plaint in such suit, or, where no such fee is prescribed, when he is not entitled to property worth one hundred rupees other than his necessary wearing-apparel and the subject-matter of the suit.

Contents of application.

2. Every application for permission to sue as a pauper shall contain the particulars required in regard to plaints in suits: a schedule of any moveable or immoveable property belonging to the applicant, with the estimated value thereof, shall be annexed thereto; and it shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed for the signing and verification of pleadings.

Presentation of application.

3. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, the application shall be presented to the Court by the applicant in person, unless he is exempted from appearing in Court, in which case the application may be presented by an authorized agent who can answer all material questions relating to the application, and who may be examined in the same manner as the party represented by him might have been examined had such party attended in person.

Examination of applicant.

4. (1). Where the application is in proper form and duly presented, the Court may, if it thinks fit, examine the applicant, or his agent when the applicant is allowed to appear by agent, regarding the merits of the claim and the property of the applicant.

If presented by agent, Court may order applicant to be examined by commission.

(2) Where the application is presented by an agent, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order that the applicant be examined by a commission in the manner in which the examination of an absent witness may be taken.

Rejection of application.

5. The Court shall reject an application for permission to sue as a pauper—

(a) where it is not framed and presented in the manner prescribed by rules 2 and 3, or

(b) where the applicant is not a pauper, or

(c) where he has, within two months next before the presentation of the application, disposed of any property fraudulently or in order to be able to apply for permission to sue as a pauper, or

(d) where his allegations do not show a cause of action, or

(e) where he has entered into any agreement with reference to the subject-matter of the proposed suit under which any other person has obtained an interest in such subject-matter.

Notice of day for receiving evidence of applicant's pauperism.

6. Where the Court sees no reason to reject the application on any of the grounds stated in rule 5, it shall fix a day (of which at least ten days' clear notice shall be given to the opposite party and the Government pleader) for receiving such evidence as the applicant may adduce in proof of his pauperism, and for hearing any evidence which may be adduced in disproof thereof.

Procedure at hearing.

7. (1) On the day so fixed or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, the Court shall examine the witnesses (if any) produced by either party, and may examine the applicant or his agent, and shall make a memorandum of the substance of their evidence.

(2) The Court shall also hear any argument which the parties may desire to offer on the question whether, on the face of the application and of the evidence (if any) taken by the Court as herein provided, the applicant is or is not subject to any of the prohibitions specified in rule 5.

(3) The Court shall then either allow or refuse to allow the applicant to sue as a pauper.

Procedure if application admitted.

8. Where the application is granted, it shall be numbered and registered, and shall be deemed the plaint in the suit, and the suit shall proceed in all other respects as a suit instituted in the ordinary manner, except that the plaintiff shall not be liable to pay any court-fee (other than fees payable for service of process) in respect of any petition, appointment of a pleader or other proceeding connected with the suit.

Dispaupering.

9. The Court may, on the application of the defendant, or of the Government pleader, of which seven days' clear notice in writing has been given to the plaintiff, order the plaintiff to be dispaupered—

(a) if he is guilty of vexatious or improper conduct in the course of the suit;

(b) if it appears that his means are such that he ought not to continue to sue as a pauper; or

(c) if he has entered into any agreement with reference to the subject-matter of the suit, under which any other person has obtained an interest in such subject-matter.

Costs where pauper succeeds.

10. Where the plaintiff succeeds in the suit, the Court shall calculate the amount of court-fees which would have been paid by the plaintiff if he had not been permitted to sue as a pauper; such amount shall be recoverable by the Government from any party ordered by the decree to pay the same, and shall be a first charge on the subject-matter of the suit.

Procedure where pauper fails.

11. Where the plaintiff fails in the suit or is dispaupered, or where the suit is withdrawn or dismissed,—

(a) because the summons for the defendant to appear and answer has not been served upon him in consequence of the failure of the plaintiff to pay the court-fee or postal charges (if any) chargeable for such service, or

(b) because the plaintiff does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court shall order the plaintiff, or any person added as a co-plaintiff to the suit, to pay the court-fees which would have been paid by the plaintiff if he had not been permitted to sue as a pauper.

Government may apply for payment of court-fees.

12. The Government shall have the right at any time to apply to the Court to make an order for the payment of court-fees under rule 10 or rule 11.

Government to be deemed a party.

13. All matters arising between the Government and any party to the suit under rule 10, rule 11 or rule 12 shall be deemed to be questions arising between the parties to the suit within the meaning of section 47.

Copy of decree to be sent to Collector.

14. Where an order is made under rule 10, rule 11 or rule 12, the Court shall forthwith cause a copy of the decree to be forwarded to the Collector.

Refusal to allow applicant to sue as pauper to bar subsequent application of like nature.

15. An order refusing to allow the applicant to sue as a pauper shall be a bar to any subsequent application of the like nature by him in respect of the same right to sue; but the applicant shall be at liberty to institute a suit in the ordinary manner in respect of such right, provided that he first pays the costs (if any) incurred by the Government and by the opposite party in opposing his application for leave to sue as a pauper.

Costs.

16. The costs of an application for permission to sue as a pauper and of an inquiry into pauperism shall be costs in the suit.

ORDER XXXIV.

Suits relating to Mortgages of Immoveable Property.

Parties to suits for foreclosure, sale and redemption.

1. Subject to the provisions of this Code, all persons having an interest either in the mortgage-security or in the right of redemption shall be joined as parties to any suit relating to the mortgage.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXXIV.—Suits relating to Mortgages of Immoveable Property.)

Explanation.—A puisne mortgagee may sue for foreclosure or for sale without making the prior mortgagee a party to the suit; and a prior mortgagee need not be joined in a suit to redeem a subsequent mortgage.

Preliminary decree in foreclosure-suit.

2. In a suit for foreclosure, if the plaintiff succeeds, the Court shall pass a decree—

(a) ordering that an account be taken of what will be due to the plaintiff for principal and interest on the mortgage, and for his costs of the suit (if any) awarded to him on the day next hereinafter referred to, or

(b) declaring the amount so due at the date of such decree,

and directing—

(d) that, if such payment is not made on or before the day to be fixed by the Court, the defendant shall be debarred from all right to redeem the property.

Final decree in foreclosure-suit.

3. (1) Where, on or before the day fixed, the defendant pays into Court the amount declared due as aforesaid, together with such subsequent costs as are mentioned in rule 10, the Court shall pass a decree—

(a) ordering the plaintiff to deliver up the documents which under the terms of the preliminary decree he is bound to deliver up,

and, if so required,

(b) ordering him to retransfer the mortgaged property as directed in the said decree,

and, also, if necessary,

(c) ordering him to put the defendant in possession of the property.

(2) Where such payment is not so made, the Court shall, on application made in that behalf by the plaintiff, pass a decree that the defendant and all persons claiming through or under him be debarred from all right to redeem the mortgaged property and also, if necessary, ordering the defendant to put the plaintiff in possession of the property:

Power to enlarge time.

Provided that the Court may, upon good cause shown and upon such terms (if any) as it thinks fit, from time to time postpone the day fixed for such payment.

Discharge of debt.

(3) On the passing of a decree under sub-rule (2) the debt secured by the mortgage shall be deemed to be discharged.

Preliminary decree in suit for sale.

4. (1) In a suit for sale, if the plaintiff succeeds, the Court shall pass a decree to the effect mentioned in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of rule 2 and also directing that, in default of the defendant paying as therein mentioned, the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof be sold, and that the proceeds of the sale (after defraying thereout the expenses of the sale) be paid into Court and applied in payment of what is declared due to the plaintiff as aforesaid, together with subsequent interest and subsequent costs, and that the balance (if any) be paid to the defendant or other persons entitled to receive the same.

Power to decree sale in foreclosure-suit.

(2) In a suit for foreclosure, if the plaintiff succeeds and the mortgage is not a mortgage by conditional sale, the Court may, at the instance of the plaintiff or of any person interested either in the mortgage-money or in the right of redemption, pass a like decree (in lieu of a decree for foreclosure) on such terms as it thinks fit including the deposit in Court of a reasonable sum fixed by the Court, to meet the expenses of sale and to secure the performance of the terms.

Final decree in suit for sale.

5. (1) Where on or before the day fixed the defendant pays into Court the amount declared due as aforesaid, together with such subsequent costs as are mentioned in rule 10, the Court shall pass a decree—

(a) ordering the plaintiff to deliver up the documents which under the terms of the preliminary decree he is bound to deliver up,

and, if so required,

(b) ordering him to retransfer the mortgaged property as directed in the said decree,

and also, if necessary,

(c) ordering him to put the defendant in possession of the property.

(2) Where such payment is not so made, the Court shall, on application made in that behalf by the plaintiff, pass a decree that the mortgaged property, or a sufficient part thereof, be sold, and that the proceeds of the sale be dealt with as is mentioned in rule 4.

Recovery of balance due on mortgage.

6. Where the net proceeds of any such sale are found to be insufficient to pay the amount due to the plaintiff, if the balance is legally recoverable from the defendant otherwise than out of the property sold, the Court may pass a decree for such amount.

Preliminary decree redemption-suit.

7. In a suit for redemption, if the plaintiff succeeds, the Court shall pass a decree—

(a) ordering that an account be taken of what will be due to the defendant for principal and interest on the mortgage, and for his costs of the suit (if any) awarded to him on the day next hereinafter referred to, or

(b) declaring the amount so due at the date of such decree,

and directing—

(d) that, if such payment is not made on or before the day to be fixed by the Court, the plaintiff shall (unless the mortgage is simple or usufructuary) be debarred from all right to redeem or (unless the mortgage is by conditional sale) that the mortgaged property be sold.

Final decree in redemption-suit.

8. (1) Where, on or before the day fixed, the plaintiff pays into Court the amount declared due as aforesaid, together with such subsequent costs as are mentioned in rule 10, the Court shall pass a decree—

(a) ordering the defendant to deliver up the documents which under the terms of the preliminary decree he is bound to deliver up,

and, if so required,

(b) ordering him to retransfer the mortgaged property as directed in the said decree,

and, also, if necessary,

(c) ordering him to put the plaintiff in possession of the property.

(2) Where such payment is not so made, and the mortgage is not simple or usufructuary, the Court shall, on application made in that behalf by the defendant, pass a decree that the plaintiff and all persons claiming through or under him be debarred from all right to redeem the mortgaged property and also, if necessary, ordering the plaintiff to put the defendant in possession of the property.

(3) On the passing of a decree under sub-rule (2) the debt secured by the mortgage shall be deemed to be discharged.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXXIV.—Suits relating to Mortgages of Immoveable Property. Order XXXV.—Interpleader.)

(4) Where such payment is not so made, and the mortgage is not by conditional sale, the Court shall, on application made in that behalf by the defendant, pass a decree that the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof be sold and that the proceeds of the sale (after defraying thereout the expenses of the sale) be paid into Court and applied in payment of what is found due to the defendant, and that the balance (if any) be paid to the plaintiff or other persons entitled to receive the same:

Power to enlarge time.

Provided that the Court may, upon good cause shown and upon such terms (if any) as it thinks fit, from time to time postpone the day fixed for payment.

Decree where nothing is found due or where mortgagee has been overpaid.

9. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, if it appears, upon taking the account referred to in rule 7, that nothing is due to the defendant or that he has been overpaid, the Court shall pass a decree directing the defendant, if so required, to re-transfer the property and to pay to the plaintiff the amount which may be found due to him; and the plaintiff shall, if necessary, be put in possession of the mortgaged property.

Costs of mortgagee subsequent to decree.

10. In finally adjusting the amount to be paid to a mortgagee in case of a foreclosure or sale or redemption, the Court shall, unless the conduct of the mortgagee has been such as to disentitle him to costs, add to the mortgage-money such costs of suit as have been properly incurred by him since the decree for foreclosure or sale or redemption up to the time of actual payment.

Right of mesne mortgagee to redeem and foreclose.

11. Where property is mortgaged for successive debts to successive mortgagees, any mesne mortgagee may institute a suit to redeem the interests of the prior mortgagees and to foreclose the rights of those that are posterior to himself and of the mortgagor.

Sale of property subject to prior mortgage.

12. Where any property the sale of which is directed under this Order is subject to a prior mortgage, the Court may, with the consent of the prior mortgagee, direct that the property be sold free from the same, giving to such prior mortgagee the same interest in the proceeds of the sale as he had in the property sold.

Application of proceeds.

13. (1) Such proceeds shall be brought into Court and applied as follows:—

first, in payment of all expenses incident to the sale or properly incurred in any attempted sale;

secondly, in payment of whatever is due to the prior mortgagee on account of the prior mortgage, and of costs, properly incurred in connection therewith;

thirdly, in payment of all interest due on account of the mortgage in consequence whereof the sale was directed, and of the costs of the suit in which the decree directing the sale was made;

fourthly, in payment of the principal money due on account of that mortgage; and lastly, the residue (if any) shall be paid to the person proving himself to be interested in the property sold, or if there are more such persons than one, then to such persons according to their respective interests therein or upon their joint receipt.

(2) Nothing in this rule or in rule 12 shall be deemed to affect the powers conferred by section 57 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. IV of 1882.

Suit for sale necessary for bringing mortgaged property to sale.

14. (1) Where a mortgagee has obtained a decree for the payment of money in satisfaction of a claim arising under the mortgage, he shall not be entitled to bring the mortgaged property to sale otherwise than by instituting a suit for sale in enforcement of the mortgage, and he may institute such suit notwithstanding anything contained in Order II, rule 2.

(2) Nothing in sub-rule (1) shall apply to any territories to which the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, has not been extended. IV of 1882.

Charges.

15. All the provisions contained in this Order as to the sale or redemption of mortgaged property shall, so far as may be, apply to property subject to a charge within the meaning of section 100 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. IV of 1882.

ORDER XXXV.

Interpleader.

Plaint in interpleader-suit.

1. In every suit of interpleader the plaint shall, in addition to the other statements necessary for plaints, state—

(a) that the plaintiff claims no interest in the subject-matter in dispute other than for charges or costs;

(b) the claims made by the defendants severally; and

(c) that there is no collusion between the plaintiff and any of the defendants.

Payment of thing claimed into Court.

2. Where the thing claimed is capable of being paid into Court or placed in the custody of the Court, the plaintiff may be required to so pay or place it before he can be entitled to any order in the suit.

Procedure where defendant is suing plaintiff.

3. Where any of the defendants in an interpleader-suit is actually suing the plaintiff in respect of the subject-matter of such suit, the Court in which the suit against the plaintiff is pending shall, on being informed by the Court in which the interpleader-suit has been instituted, stay the proceedings as against him; and his costs in the suit so stayed may be provided for in such suit; but if, and in so far as, they are not provided for in that suit, they may be added to his costs incurred in the interpleader-suit.

Procedure at first hearing.

4. (1) At the first hearing the Court may—

(a) declare that the plaintiff is discharged from all liability to the defendants in respect of the thing claimed, award him his costs, and dismiss him from the suit; or

(b) if it thinks that justice or convenience so require, retain all parties until the final disposal of the suit.

(2) Where the Court finds that the admissions of the parties or other evidence enable it to do so, it may adjudicate the title to the thing claimed.

(3) Where the admissions of the parties do not enable the Court so to adjudicate, it may direct—

(a) that an issue or issues between the parties be framed and tried, and

(b) that any claimant be made a plaintiff in lieu of or in addition to the original plaintiff, and shall proceed to try the suit in the ordinary manner.

Agents and tenants may not institute interpleader-suits.

5. Nothing in this Order shall be deemed to enable agents to sue their principals, or tenants to sue their landlords, for the purpose of compelling them to interplead with any persons other than persons making claim through such principals or landlords.

Illustrations.

(a) A deposits a box of jewels with B as his agent. C alleges that the jewels were wrongfully obtained from him by A, and claims them from B. B cannot institute an interpleader-suit against A and C.

(b) A deposits a box of jewels with B as his agent. He then writes to C for the purpose of making the jewels a security for a debt due from himself to C. A afterwards alleges that C's debt is satisfied, and C alleges the contrary. Both claim the jewels from B. B may institute an interpleader-suit against A and C.

Charge for plaintiff's costs.

6. Where the suit is properly instituted the Court may provide for the costs of the original plaintiff by giving him a charge on the thing claimed or in some other effectual way.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXXVI.—Special Case. Order XXXVII.—Summary Procedure on Negotiable Instruments. Order XXXVIII.—Arrest and Attachment before Judgment.)

ORDER XXXVI.

Special Case.

Power to state case for Court's opinion.

1. (1) Parties claiming to be interested in the decision of any question of fact or law may enter into an agreement in writing stating such question in the form of a case for the opinion of the Court, and providing that, upon the finding of the Court with respect to such question,—

(a) a sum of money fixed by the parties or to be determined by the Court shall be paid by one of the parties to the other of them; or

(b) some property, moveable or immoveable, specified in the agreement, shall be delivered by one of the parties to the other of them; or

(c) one or more of the parties shall do, or refrain from doing, some other particular act specified in the agreement.

(2) Every case stated under this rule shall be divided into consecutively numbered paragraphs, and shall concisely state such facts and specify such documents as may be necessary to enable the Court to decide the question raised thereby.

Where value of subject-matter must be stated.

2. Where the agreement is for the delivery of any property, or for the doing, or the refraining from doing, any particular act, the estimated value of the property to be delivered, or to which the act specified has reference, shall be stated in the agreement.

Agreement to be filed and registered as suit.

3. (1) The agreement, if framed in accordance with the rules hereinbefore contained, may be filed in the Court which would have jurisdiction to entertain a suit, the amount or value of the subject-matter of which is the same as the amount or value of the subject-matter of the agreement.

(2) The agreement, when so filed, shall be numbered and registered as a suit between one or more of the parties claiming to be interested as plaintiff or plaintiffs, and the other or the others of them as defendant or defendants; and notice shall be given to all the parties to the agreement, other than the party or parties by whom it was presented.

Parties to be subject to Court's jurisdiction.

4. Where the agreement has been filed, the parties to it shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the Court and shall be bound by the statements contained therein.

Hearing and disposal of case.

5. (1) The case shall be set down for hearing as a suit instituted in the ordinary manner, and the provisions of this Code shall apply to such suit so far as the same are applicable.

(2) Where the Court is satisfied, after examination of the parties, or after taking such evidence as it thinks fit,—

(a) that the agreement was duly executed by them,

(b) that they have a bonâ fide interest in the question stated therein, and

(c) that the same is fit to be decided, it shall proceed to pronounce judgment thereon, in the same way as in an ordinary suit, and upon the judgment so pronounced a decree shall follow.

ORDER XXXVII.

Summary Procedure on Negotiable Instruments

Application of Order.

1. This Order shall apply only to—

(a) the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William, Madras and Bombay;

(b) the Chief Court of Lower Burma;

(c) the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Sind; and (d) any other Court to which sections 532 to 537 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, have been already applied. IV of 1882.

Institution of summary suits upon bills of exchange, etc.

2. (1) All suits upon bills of exchange, hundis or promissory notes may, in case the plaintiff desires to proceed hereunder, be instituted by presenting a plaint in the form prescribed; but the summons shall be in Form No. 4 in Appendix B or in such other form as may be from time to time prescribed.

(2) In any case in which the plaint and summons are in such forms, respectively, the defendant shall not appear or defend the suit unless he obtains leave from a Judge as hereinafter provided so to appear and defend; and, in default of his obtaining such leave or of his appearance and defence in pursuance thereof, the allegations in the plaint shall be deemed to be admitted, and the plaintiff shall be entitled to a decree for any sum not exceeding the sum mentioned in the summons, together with interest at the rate specified (if any) to the date of the decree, and such sum for costs as may be prescribed, unless the plaintiff claims more than such fixed sum, in which case the costs shall be ascertained in the ordinary way, and such decree may be executed forthwith.

Defendant showing defence on merits to have leave to appear

3. (1) The Court shall, upon application by the defendant, give leave to appear and to defend the suit, upon affidavits which disclose such facts as would make it incumbent on the holder to prove consideration, or such other facts as the Court may deem sufficient to support the application.

(2) Leave to defend may be given unconditionally or subject to such terms as to payment into Court, giving security, framing and recording issues or otherwise as the Court thinks fit.

Power to set aside decree.

4. After decree the Court may, under special circumstances, set aside the decree, and if necessary stay or set aside execution, and may give leave to the defendant to appear to the summons and to defend the suit, if it seems reasonable to the Court so to do, and on such terms as the Court thinks fit.

Power to order bill, etc., to be deposited with officer of Court.

5. In any proceeding under this Order the Court may order the bill, hundi or note on which the suit is founded to be forthwith deposited with an officer of the Court, and may further order that all proceedings shall be stayed until the plaintiff gives security for the costs thereof.

Recovery of cost of noting non-acceptance of dishonoured bill or note.

6. The holder of every dishonoured bill of exchange or promissory note shall have the same remedies for the recovery of the expenses incurred in noting the same for non-acceptance or non-payment, or otherwise, by reason of such dishonour, as he has under this Order for the recovery of the amount of such bill or note.

Procedure in suits.

7. Save as provided by this Order, the procedure in suits hereunder shall be the same as the procedure in suits instituted in the ordinary manner.

ORDER XXXVIII.

Arrest and Attachment before Judgment.

Arrest before judgment.

Where defendant may be called upon to furnish security for appearance.

1. Where at any stage of a suit, other than a suit of the nature referred to in section 16, clauses (a) to (d), the Court is satisfied, by affidavit or otherwise,—

(a) that the defendant, with intent to delay the plaintiff, or to avoid any process of the (Order XXXVIII.—Arrest and Attachment before Judgment.)

Court or to obstruct or delay the execution of any decree that may be passed against him,—

(i) has absconded or left the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or

(ii) is about to abscond or leave the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or

(iii) has disposed of or removed from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court his property or any part thereof, or

(b) that the defendant is about to leave British India under circumstances affording reasonable probability that the plaintiff will or may thereby be obstructed or delayed in the execution of any decree that may be passed against the defendant in the suit, the Court may issue a warrant to arrest the defendant and bring him before the Court to show cause why he should not furnish security for his appearance:

Provided that the defendant shall not be arrested if he pays to the officer entrusted with the execution of the warrant any sum specified in the warrant as sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim; and such sum shall be held in deposit by the Court until the suit is disposed of or until the further order of the Court.

Security.

2. (1) Where the defendant fails to show such cause the Court shall order him either to deposit in Court money or other property sufficient to answer the claim against him, or to furnish security for his appearance at any time when called upon while the suit is pending and until satisfaction of any decree that may be passed against him in the suit, or make such order as it thinks fit in regard to the sum which may have been paid by the defendant under the proviso to the last preceding rule.

(2) Every surety for the appearance of a defendant shall bind himself, in default of such appearance, to pay any sum of money which the defendant may be ordered to pay in the suit.

Procedure on application by surety to be discharged.

3. (1) A surety for the appearance of a defendant may at any time apply to the Court in which he became such surety to be discharged from his obligation.

(2) On such application being made, the Court shall summon the defendant to appear or, if it thinks fit, may issue a warrant for his arrest in the first instance.

(3) On the appearance of the defendant in pursuance of the summons or warrant, or on his voluntary surrender, the Court shall direct the surety to be discharged from his obligation, and shall call upon the defendant to find fresh security.

Procedure where defendant fails to furnish security or find fresh security.

4. Where the defendant fails to comply with any order under rule 2 or rule 3, the Court may commit him to the civil prison until the decision of the suit or, where a decree is passed against the defendant, until the decree has been satisfied:

Provided that no person shall be detained in prison under this rule in any case for a longer period than six months, nor for a longer period than six weeks when the amount or value of the subject-matter of the suit does not exceed fifty rupees:

Provided also that no person shall be detained in prison under this rule after he has complied with such order.

Attachment before Judgment.

Where defendant may be called upon to furnish security for production of property.

5. (1) Where, at any stage of a suit, the Court is satisfied, by affidavit or otherwise, that the defendant, with intent to obstruct or delay the execution of any decree that may be passed against him,—

(a) is about to dispose of the whole or any part of his property, or

(b) is about to remove the whole or any part of his property from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court may direct the defendant, within a time to be fixed by it, either to furnish security, in such sum as may be specified in the order, to produce and place at the disposal of the Court, when required the said property or the value of the same, or such portion thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree, or to appear and show cause why he should not furnish security.

(2) The plaintiff shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, specify the property required to be attached and the estimated value thereof.

(3) The Court may also in the order direct the conditional attachment of the whole or any portion of the property so specified.

Attachment where cause not shown or security not furnished.

6 (1) Where the defendant fails to show cause why he should not furnish security, or fails to furnish the security required, within the time fixed by the Court, the Court may order that the property specified, or such portion thereof as appears sufficient to satisfy any decree which may be passed in the suit, be attached.

(2) Where the defendant shows such cause or furnishes the required security, and the property specified or any portion of it has been attached, the Court shall order the attachment to be withdrawn, or make such other order as it thinks fit.

Mode of making attachment.

7. Save as otherwise expressly provided, the attachment shall be made in the manner provided for the attachment of property in execution of a decree.

Investigation of claim to property attached before judgment.

8. Where any claim is preferred to property attached before judgment, such claim shall be investigated in the manner hereinbefore provided for the investigation of claims to property attached in execution of a decree for the payment of money.

Removal of attachment when security furnished or suit dismissed.

9. Where an order is made for attachment before judgment, the Court shall order the attachment to be withdrawn when the defendant furnishes the security required, together with security for the costs of the attachment, or when the suit is dismissed.

Attachment before judgment not to affect rights of strangers, nor bar decree-holder from applying for sale.

10. Attachment before judgment shall not affect the rights, existing prior to the attachment, of persons not parties to the suit, nor bar any person holding a decree against the defendant from applying for the sale of the property under attachment in execution of such decree.

Property attached before judgment not to be re-attached in execution of decree.

11. Where property is under attachment by virtue of the provisions of this Order and a decree is subsequently passed in favour of the plaintiff, it shall not be necessary upon an application for execution of such decree to apply for a re-attachment of the property.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XXXVIII.—Arrest and Attachment before Judgment. Order XXXIX.—Temporary Injunctions and Interlocutory Orders. Order XL.-Appointment of Receivers.)

Agricultural produce not attachable before judgment.

12. Nothing in this Order shall be deemed to authorize the plaintiff to apply for the attachment of any agricultural produce in the possession of an agriculturist, or to empower the Court to order the attachment or production of such produce.

ORDER XXXIX.

Temporary Injunctions and Interlocutory Orders.

Temporary Injunctions.

Cases in which temporary injunction may be granted.

1. Where, in any suit it is proved by affidavit or otherwise—

(a) that any property in dispute in a suit is in danger of being wasted, damaged or alienated by any party to the suit, or wrongfully sold in execution of a decree, or

(b) that the defendant threatens, or intends, to remove or dispose of his property with a view to defraud his creditors, the Court may by order grant a temporary injunction to restrain such act, or make such other order for the purpose of staying and preventing the wasting, damaging, alienation, sale, removal or disposition of the property as the Court thinks fit, until the disposal of the suit or until further orders.

Injunction to restrain repetition or continuance of breach.

2. (1) In any suit for restraining the defendant from committing a breach of contract or other injury of any kind, whether compensation is claimed in the suit or not, the plaintiff may, at any time after the commencement of the suit, and either before or after judgment, apply to the Court for a temporary injunction to restrain the defendant from committing the breach of contract or injury complained of, or any breach of contract or injury of a like kind arising out of the same contract or relating to the same property or right.

(2) The Court may by order grant such injunction, on such terms as to the duration of the injunction, keeping an account, giving security, or otherwise, as the Court thinks fit.

(3) In case of disobedience, or of breach of any such terms, the Court granting an injunction may order the property of the person guilty of such disobedience or breach to be attached and may also order such person to be detained in the civil prison for a term not exceeding six months, unless in the meantime the Court directs his release.

(4) No attachment under this rule shall remain in force for more than one year, at the end of which time, if the disobedience or breach continues, the property attached may be sold, and out of the proceeds the Court may award such compensation as it thinks fit, and shall pay the balance, if any, to the party entitled thereto.

Before granting injunction Court to direct notice to opposite party.

3. The Court shall in all cases, except where it appears that the object of granting the injunction would be defeated by the delay, before granting an injunction, direct notice of the application for the same to be given to the opposite party.

Order for injunction may be discharged, varied or set aside.

4. Any order for an injunction may be discharged, or varied, or set aside by the Court, on application made thereto by any party dissatisfied with such order.

Injunction to corporation binding on its officers.

5. An injunction directed to a corporation is binding not only on the corporation itself, but also on all members and officers of the corporation whose personal action it seeks to restrain.

Interlocutory Orders.

Power to order interim sale.

6. The Court may, on the application of any party to a suit, order the sale, by any person named in such order, and in such manner and on such terms as it thinks fit, of any moveable property, being the subject-matter of such suit, or attached before judgment in such suit, which is subject to speedy and natural decay, or which for any other just and sufficient cause it may be desirable to have sold at once.

Detention, preservation, inspection, etc., of subject-matter of suit.

7. (1) The Court may, on the application of any party to a suit, and on such terms as it thinks fit,—

(a) make an order for the detention, preservation or inspection of any property which is the subject-matter of such suit, or as to which any question may arise therein;

(b) for all or any of the purposes aforesaid authorize any person to enter upon or into any land or building in the possession of any other party to such suit; and

(c) for all or any of the purposes aforesaid authorize any samples to be taken, or any observation to be made or experiment to be tried, which may seem necessary or expedient for the purpose of obtaining full information or evidence.

(2) The provisions as to execution of process shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to persons authorized to enter under this rule.

Application for such orders to be after notice.

8. (1) An application by the plaintiff for an order under rule 6 or rule 7 may be made after notice to the defendant at any time after institution of the suit.

(2) An application by the defendant for a like order may be made after notice to the plaintiff at any time after appearance.

When party may be put in immediate possession of land the subject-matter of suit.

9. Where land paying revenue to Government, or a tenure liable to sale, is the subject-matter of a suit, if the party in possession of such land or tenure neglects to pay the Government revenue, or the rent due to the proprietor of the tenure, as the case may be, and such land or tenure is consequently ordered to be sold, any other party to the suit claiming to have an interest in such land or tenure may, upon payment of the revenue or rent due previously to the sale (and with or without security at the discretion of the Court), be put in immediate possession of the land or tenure; and the Court in its decree may award against the defaulter the amount so paid, with interest thereon at such rate as the Court thinks fit, or may charge the amount so paid, with interest thereon at such rate as the Court orders, in any adjustment of accounts which may be directed in the decree passed in the suit.

Deposit of money, etc., in Court.

10. Where the subject-matter of a suit is money or some other thing capable of delivery and any party thereto admits that he holds such money or other thing as a trustee for another party, or that it belongs or is due to another party, the Court may order the same to be deposited in Court or delivered to such last-named party, with or without security, subject to the further direction of the Court.

ORDER XL.

Appointment of Receivers.

Appointment of receivers

1. (1) Where it appears to the Court to be just and convenient, the Court may by order—

(a) appoint a receiver of any property, whether before or after decree;

(b) remove any person from the possession or custody of the property;

(c) commit the same to the possession, custody or management of the receiver; and

(d) confer upon the receiver all such powers as to bringing and defending suits and for the realisation, management, protection, preservation and improvement of the property, the collection of the rents and profits thereof, the application and disposal of such rents and profits, and the execution of documents as the owner himself has, or such of those powers as the Court thinks fit.

(2) Nothing in this rule shall authorize the Court to remove from the possession or custody of property any person whom any party to the suit has not a present right so to remove.

Remuneration.

2. The Court may by general or special order fix the amount to be paid as remuneration for the services of the receiver.

Duties.

3. Every receiver so appointed shall—

(a) furnish such security (if any) as the Court thinks fit, duly to account for what he shall receive in respect of the property;

(b) submit his accounts at such periods and in such form as the Court directs;

(c) pay the amount due from him as the Court directs; and

(d) be responsible for any loss occasioned to the property by his wilful default or gross negligence.

Enforcement of receiver's duties.

4. Where a receiver—

(a) fails to submit his accounts at such periods and in such form as the Court directs, or

(b) fails to pay the amount due from him as the Court directs, or

(c) occasions loss to the property by his wilful default or gross negligence, the Court may direct his property to be attached and may sell such property, and may apply the proceeds to make good any amount found to be due from him or any loss occasioned by him, and shall pay the balance (if any) to the receiver.

When Collector may be appointed receiver.

5. Where the property is land paying revenue to the Government, or land of which the revenue has been assigned or redeemed, and the Court considers that the interests of those concerned will be promoted by the management of the Collector, the Court may, with the consent of the Collector, appoint him to be receiver of such property.

ORDER XLI.

Appeals from Original Decrees.

Form of appeal. What to accompany memorandum.

1. (1) Every appeal shall be preferred in the form of a memorandum signed by the appellant or his pleader and presented to the Court or to such officer as it appoints in this behalf. The memorandum shall be accompanied by a copy of the decree appealed from and (unless the Appellate Court dispenses therewith) of the judgment on which it is founded.

Contents of memorandum.

(2) The memorandum shall set forth, concisely and under distinct heads, the grounds of objection to the decree appealed from without any argument or narrative; and such grounds shall be numbered consecutively.

Grounds which may be taken in appeal.

2. The appellant shall not, except by leave of the Court, urge or be heard in support of any ground of objection not set forth in the memorandum of appeal; but the Appellate Court, in deciding the appeal, shall not be confined to the grounds of objection set forth in the memorandum of appeal or taken by leave of the Court under this rule:

Provided that the Court shall not rest its decision on any other ground unless the party who may be affected thereby has had a sufficient opportunity of contesting the case on that ground.

Rejection or amendment of memorandum.

3. (1) Where the memorandum of appeal is not drawn up in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, it may be rejected, or be returned to the appellant for the purpose of being amended within a time to be fixed by the Court or be amended then and there.

(2) Where the Court rejects any memorandum, it shall record the reasons for such rejection.

(3) Where a memorandum of appeal is amended, the Judge, or such officer as he appoints in this behalf, shall sign or initial the amendment.

One of several plaintiffs or defendants may obtain reversal of whole decree where it proceeds on ground common to all.

4. Where there are more plaintiffs or more defendants than one in a suit, and the decree appealed from proceeds on any ground common to all the plaintiffs or to all the defendants, any one of the plaintiffs or of the defendants may appeal from the whole decree, and thereupon the Appellate Court may reverse or vary the decree in favour of all the plaintiffs or defendants, as the case may be.

Stay of proceedings and of execution.

Stay by Appellate Court.

5. (1) An appeal shall not operate as a stay of proceedings under a decree or order appealed from except so far as the Appellate Court may order, nor shall execution of a decree be stayed by reason only of an appeal having been preferred from the decree; but the Appellate Court may for sufficient cause order stay of execution of such decree.

Stay by Court which passed the decree.

(2) Where an application is made for stay of execution of an appealable decree before the expiration of the time allowed for appealing therefrom, the Court which passed the decree may on sufficient cause being shown order the execution to be stayed.

(3) No order for stay of execution shall be made under sub rule (1) or sub-rule (2) unless the Court making it is satisfied—

(a) that substantial loss may result to the party applying for stay of execution unless the order is made;

(b) that the application has been made without unreasonable delay; and

(c) that security has been given by the applicant for the due performance of such decree or order as may ultimately be binding upon him.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (3), the Court may make an ex parte order for stay of execution pending the hearing of the application.

Security in case of order for execution of decree appealed from.

6. (1) Where an order is made for the execution of a decree from which an appeal is pending, the Court which passed the decree shall, on sufficient cause being shown by the appellant, require security to be taken for the restitution of any property which may be or has been taken in execution of the decree or for the payment of the value of such property and for the due performance of the decree or order of the Appellate Court, or the Appellate Court may for like cause direct the Court which passed the decree to take such security.

(2) Where an order has been made for the sale of immoveable property in execution of a decree, and an appeal is pending from such decree, the sale shall, on the application of the judgment-debtor to the Court which made the order, be stayed on such terms as to giving security or otherwise as the Court thinks fit until the appeal is disposed of.

No security to be required from the Government or a public officer in certain cases.

7. No such security as is mentioned in rules 5 and 6 shall be required from the Secretary of State for India in Council or, where the Government has undertaken the defence of the suit, from any public officer sued in respect of an act alleged to be done by him in his official capacity.

Exercise of powers in appeal from order made in execution of decree.

8. The powers conferred by rules 5 and 6 shall be exercisable where an appeal may be or has been preferred not from the decree but from an order made in execution of such decree.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XLI. —Appeals from Original Decrees.)

Procedure on admission of appeal.

Registry of memorandum of appeal.

9. (1) Where a memorandum of appeal is admitted, the Appellate Court or the proper officer of that Court shall endorse thereon the date of presentation, and shall register the appeal in a book to be kept for the purpose.

Register of Appeals.

(2) Such book shall be called the Register of Appeals.

Appellate Court may require appellant to furnish security for costs.

10. (1) The Appellate Court may in its discretion, either before the respondent is called upon to appear and answer or afterwards on the application of the respondent, demand from the appellant security for the costs of the appeal, or of the original suit, or of both:

Where appellant resides out of British India.

Provided that the Court shall demand such security in all cases in which the appellant is residing out of British India, and is not possessed of any sufficient immoveable property within British India other than the property (if any) to which the appeal relates.

(2) Where such security is not furnished within such time as the Court orders, the Court shall reject the appeal.

Power to dismiss appeal without sending notice to Lower Court.

11. (1) The Appellate Court, after sending for the record if it thinks fit so to do, and after fixing a day for hearing the appellant or his pleader and hearing him accordingly if he appears on that day, may dismiss the appeal without sending notice to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred and without serving notice on the respondent or his pleader.

(2) If on the day fixed or any other day to which the hearing may be adjourned the appellant does not appear when the appeal is called on for hearing, the Court may make an order that the appeal be dismissed.

(3) The dismissal of an appeal under this rule shall be notified to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred.

Day for hearing appeal.

12. (1) Unless the Appellate Court dismisses the appeal under rule 11, it shall fix a day for hearing the appeal.

(2) Such day shall be fixed with reference to the current business of the Court, the place of residence of the respondent, and the time necessary for the service of the notice of appeal, so as to allow the respondent sufficient time to appear and answer the appeal on such day.

Appellate Court to give notice to Court whose decree appealed from.

13. (1) Where the appeal is not dismissed under rule 11, the Appellate Court shall send notice of the appeal to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred.

Transmission of papers to Appellate Court.

(2) Where the appeal is from the decree of a Court, the records of which are not deposited in the Appellate Court, the Court receiving such notice shall send with all practicable despatch all material papers in the suit, or such papers as may be specially called for by the Appellate Court.

Copies of exhibits in Court whose decree appealed from.

(3) Either party may apply in writing to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, specifying any of the papers in such Court of which he requires copies to be made; and copies of such papers shall be made at the expense of, and given to, the applicant.

Publication and service of notice of day for hearing appeal.

14. (1) Notice of the day fixed under rule 12 shall be affixed in the Appellate Court-house, and a like notice shall be sent by the Appellate Court to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, and shall be served on the respondent or on his pleader in the Appellate Court in the manner provided for the service on a defendant of a summons to appear and answer; and all the provisions applicable to such summons, and to proceedings with reference to the service thereof, shall apply to the service of such notice.

Appellate Court may itself cause notice to be served.

(2) Instead of sending the notice to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, the Appellate Court may itself cause the notice to be served on the respondent or his pleader under the provisions above referred to.

Contents of notice.

15. The notice to the respondent shall declare that, if he does not appear in the Appellate Court on the day so fixed, the appeal will be heard ex parte.

Procedure on hearing.

Right to begin.

16. (1) On the day fixed, or on any other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the appellant shall be heard in support of the appeal.

(2) The Court shall then, if it does not dismiss the appeal at once, hear the respondent against the appeal, and in such case the appellant shall be entitled to reply.

Dismissal of appeal for appellant's default.

17. (1) Where on the day fixed, or on any other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the appellant does not appear when the appeal is called on for hearing, the Court may make an order that the appeal be dismissed.

Hearing appeal ex parte.

(2) Where the appellant appears and the respondent does not appear, the appeal shall be heard ex parte.

Dismissal of appeal where notice not served in consequence of appellant's failure to deposit costs.

18. Where on the day fixed, or on any other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, it is found that the notice to the respondent has not been served in consequence of the failure of the appellant to deposit, within the period fixed, the sum required to defray the cost of serving the notice, the Court may make an order that the appeal be dismissed:

Provided that no such order shall be made although the notice has not been served upon the respondent, if on any such day the respondent appears when the appeal is called on for hearing.

Re-admission of appeal dismissed for default.

19. Where an appeal is dismissed under rule 11, sub-rule (2), or rule 17 or rule 18, the appellant may apply to the Appellate Court for the re-admission of the appeal; and, where it is proved that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the appeal was called on for hearing or from depositing the sum so required, the Court shall re-admit the appeal on such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit.

Power to adjourn hearing and direct persons appearing interested to be made respondents.

20. Where it appears to the Court at the hearing that any person who was a party to the suit in the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, but who has not been made a party to the appeal, is interested in the result of the appeal, the Court may adjourn the hearing to a future day to be fixed by the Court and direct that such person be made a respondent.

Re-hearing on application of respondent against whom ex parte decree made.

21. Where an appeal is heard ex parte and judgment is pronounced against the respondent, he may apply to the Appellate Court to re-hear the appeal; and, if he satisfies the Court that the notice was not duly served or that he was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing when the appeal was called on for hearing, the Court shall re-hear the appeal on such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit to impose upon him.

Upon hearing, respondent may object to decree as if he had preferred separate appeal.

22. (1) Any respondent, though he may not have appealed from any part of the decree, may not only support the decree on any of the grounds decided against him in the Court below, but take

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XLI.—Appeals from Original Decrees.)

any cross-objection to the decree which he could have taken by way of appeal, provided he has filed such objection in the Appellate Court within one month from the date of service on him or his pleader of notice of the day fixed for hearing the appeal, or within such further time as the Appellate Court may see fit to allow.

Form of objection and provisions applicable thereto.

(2) Such cross-objection shall be in the form of a memorandum, and the provisions of rule 1, so far as they relate to the form and contents of the memorandum of appeal, shall apply thereto.

(3) Unless the respondent files with the objection a written acknowledgment from the party who may be affected by such objection or his pleader of having received a copy thereof, the Appellate Court shall cause a copy to be served, as soon as may be after the filing of the objection, on such party or his pleader at the expense of the respondent.

(4) Where, in any case in which any respondent has under this rule filed a memorandum of objection, the original appeal is withdrawn or is dismissed for default, the objection so filed may nevertheless be heard and determined after such notice to the other parties as the Court thinks fit.

(5) The provisions relating to pauper appeals shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply to an objection under this rule.

Remand of case by Appellate Court.

23. Where the Court from whose decree an appeal is preferred has disposed of the suit upon a preliminary point and the decree is reversed in appeal, the Appellate Court may, if it thinks fit, by order remand the case, and may further direct what issue or issues shall be tried in the case so remanded, and shall send a copy of its judgment and order to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, with directions to re-admit the suit under its original number in the register of civil suits, and proceed to determine the suit; and the evidence (if any) recorded during the original trial shall, subject to all just exceptions, be evidence during the trial after remand.

Where evidence on record sufficient, Appellate Court may determine case finally.

24. Where the evidence upon the record is sufficient to enable the Appellate Court to pronounce judgment, the Appellate Court may, after resettling the issues, if necessary, finally determine the suit, notwithstanding that the judgment of the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred has proceeded wholly upon some ground other than that on which the Appellate Court proceeds.

Where Appellate Court may frame issues and refer them for trial to Court whose decree appealed from.

25. Where the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred has omitted to frame or try any issue, or to determine any question of fact, which appears to the Appellate Court essential to the right decision of the suit upon the merits, the Appellate Court may, if necessary, frame issues, and refer the same for trial to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, and in such case shall direct such Court to take the additional evidence required; and such Court shall proceed to try such issues, and shall return the evidence to the Appellate Court together with its findings thereon and the reasons therefor.

Findings and evidence to be put on record. Objections to finding.

26. (1) Such evidence and findings shall form part of the record in the suit; and either party may, within a time to be fixed by the Appellate Court, present a memorandum of objections to any finding.

Determination of appeal.

(2) After the expiration of the period so fixed for presenting such memorandum the Appellate Court shall proceed to determine the appeal.

Production of additional evidence in Appellate Court.

27. (1) The parties to an appeal shall not be entitled to produce additional evidence, whether oral or documentary, in the Appellate Court. But if—

(a) the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred has refused to admit evidence which ought to have been admitted, or

(b) the Appellate Court requires any document to be produced or any witness to be examined to enable it to pronounce judgment, or for any other substantial cause, the Appellate Court may allow such evidence or document to be produced, or witness to be examined.

(2) Wherever additional evidence is allowed to be produced by an Appellate Court, the Court shall record the reason for its admission.

Mode of taking additional evidence.

28. Wherever additional evidence is allowed to be produced, the Appellate Court may either take such evidence, or direct the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, or any other subordinate Court, to take such evidence and to send it when taken to the Appellate Court.

Points to be defined and recorded.

29. Where additional evidence is directed or allowed to be taken, the Appellate Court shall specify the points to which the evidence is to be confined, and record on its proceedings the points so specified.

Judgment in appeal.

Judgment when and where pronounced.

30. The Appellate Court, after hearing the parties or their pleaders and referring to any part of the proceedings, whether on appeal or in the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, to which reference may be considered necessary, shall pronounce judgment in open Court, either at once or on some future day, of which notice shall be given to the parties or their pleaders.

Contents, date and signature of judgment.

31. The judgment of the Appellate Court shall be in writing and shall state—

(a) the points for determination;

(b) the decision thereon;

(c) the reasons for the decision; and

(d) where the decree appealed from is reversed or varied, the relief to which the appellant is entitled;

and shall at the time that it is pronounced be signed and dated by the Judge or by the Judges concurring therein.

What judgment may direct.

32. The judgment may be for confirming, varying or reversing the decree from which the appeal is preferred, or, if the parties to the appeal agree as to the form which the decree in appeal shall take, or as to the order to be made in appeal, the Appellate Court may pass a decree or make an order accordingly.

Power of Court of Appeal.

33. The Appellate Court shall have power to pass any decree and make any order which ought to have been passed or made and to pass or make such further or other decree or order as the case may require, and this power may be exercised by the Court notwithstanding that the appeal is as to part only of the decree and may be exercised in favour of all or any of the respondents or parties, although such respondents or parties may not have filed any appeal or objection.

Illustration.

A claims a sum of money as due to him from X or Y, and in a suit against both obtains a decree against X. X appeals and A and Y are respondents. The Appellate Court decides in favour of X. It has power to pass a decree against Y.

(Order XLI.—Appeals from Original Decrees. Order XLII.—Appeals from Appellate Decrees. Order XLIII.—Appeals from Orders. Order XLIV.—Pauper Appeals. Order XLV.—Appeals to the King in Council.)

Dissent to be recorded.

34. Where the appeal is heard by more Judges than one, any Judge dissenting from the judgment of the Court shall state in writing the decision or order which he thinks should be passed on the appeal, and he may state his reasons for the same.

Decree in appeal.

Date and contents of decree.

35. (1) The decree of the Appellate Court shall bear date the day on which the judgment was pronounced.

(2) The decree shall contain the number of the appeal, the names and descriptions of the appellant and respondent, and a clear specification of the relief granted or other adjudication made.

(3) The decree shall also state the amount of costs incurred in the appeal, and by whom, or out of what property, and in what proportions such costs and the costs in the suit are to be paid.

(4) The decree shall be signed and dated by the Judge or Judges who passed it:

Judge dissenting from judgment need not sign decree.

Provided that where there are more Judges than one and there is a difference of opinion among them, it shall not be necessary for any Judge dissenting from the judgment of the Court to sign the decree.

Copies of judgment and decree to be furnished to parties.

36. Certified copies of the judgment and decree in appeal shall be furnished to the parties on application to the Appellate Court and at their expense.

Certified copy of decree to be sent to Court whose decree appealed from.

37. A copy of the judgment and of the decree, certified by the Appellate Court or such officer as it appoints in this behalf, shall be sent to the Court which passed the decree appealed from and shall be filed with the original proceedings in the suit, and an entry of the judgment of the Appellate Court shall be made in the register of civil suits.

ORDER XLII.

Appeals from Appellate Decrees.

Procedure.

1. The rules of Order XLI shall apply, so far as may be, to appeals from appellate decrees.

ORDER XLIII.

Appeals from Orders.

Appeals from orders.

1. An appeal shall lie from the following orders under the provisions of section 104, namely:—

(a) an order under rule 10 of Order VII returning a plaint to be presented to the proper Court;

(b) an order under rule 10 of Order VIII pronouncing judgment against a party;

(c) an order under rule 9 of Order IX rejecting an application (in a case open to appeal) for an order to set aside the dismissal of a suit;

(d) an order under rule 13 of Order IX rejecting an application (in a case open to appeal) for an order to set aside a decree passed ex parte;

(e) an order under rule 4 of Order X pronouncing judgment against a party;

(f) an order under rule 21 of Order XI;

(g) an order under rule 10 of Order XVI for the attachment of property;

(h) an order under rule 20 of Order XVI pronouncing judgment against a party;

(i) an order under rule 34 of Order XXI on an objection to the draft of a document or of an endorsement;

(j) an order under rule 72 or rule 92 of Order XXI setting aside or refusing to set aside a sale;

(k) an order under rule 9 of Order XXII refusing to set aside the abatement or dismissal of a suit;

(l) an order under rule 10 of Order XXII giving or refusing to give leave;

(m) an order under rule 3 of Order XXIII recording or refusing to record an agreement, compromise or satisfaction;

(n) an order under rule 2 of Order XXV rejecting an application (in a case open to appeal) for an order to set aside the dismissal of a suit;

(o) an order under rule 3 or rule 8 of Order XXXIV refusing to extend the time for the payment of mortgage-money;

(p) orders in interpleader-suits under rule 3, rule 4 or rule 6 of Order XXXV;

(q) an order under rule 2, rule 3 or rule 6 of Order XXXVIII;

(r) an order under rule 1, rule 2, rule 4 or rule 10 of Order XXXIX;

(s) an order under rule 1 or rule 4 of Order XL;

(t) an order of refusal under rule 19 of Order XLI to re-admit, or under rule 21 of Order XLI to re-hear, an appeal;

(u) an order under rule 23 of Order XLI remanding a case, where an appeal would lie from the decree of the Appellate Court;

(v) an order made by any Court other than a High Court refusing the grant of a certificate under rule 6 of Order XLV;

(w) an order under rule 4 of Order XLVII granting an application for review.

Procedure.

2. The rules of Order XLI shall apply, so far as may be, to appeals from orders.

ORDER XLIV.

Pauper Appeals.

Who may appeal as pauper.

1. Any person entitled to prefer an appeal, who is unable to pay the fee required for the memorandum of appeal, may present an application accompanied by a memorandum of appeal, and may be allowed to appeal as a pauper, subject, in all matters including the presentation of such application, to the provisions relating to suits by paupers, in so far as those provisions are applicable:

Procedure on application for admission of appeal.

Provided that the Court shall reject the application unless, upon a perusal thereof and of the judgment and decree appealed from, it sees reason to think that the decree is contrary to law or to some usage having the force of law, or is otherwise erroneous or unjust.

Inquiry into pauperism.

2. The inquiry into the pauperism of the applicant may be made either by the Appellate Court or under the orders of the Appellate Court by the Court from whose decision the appeal is preferred:

Provided that, if the applicant was allowed to sue or appeal as a pauper in the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, no further inquiry in respect of his pauperism shall be necessary, unless the Appellate Court sees cause to direct such inquiry.

ORDER XLV.

Appeals to the King in Council.

"Decree" defined.

1. In this Order, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context, the expression "decree" shall include a final order.

Application to Court whose decree complained of.

2. Whoever desires to appeal to His Majesty in Council shall apply by petition to the Court whose decree is complained of.

Certificate as to value or fitness.

3. (1) Every petition shall state the grounds of appeal and pray for a certificate either that, as regards amount or value and nature, the case fulfils the requirements of section 110, or that it is otherwise a fit one for appeal to His Majesty in Council.

(2) Upon receipt of such petition, the Court shall direct notice to be served on the opposite party to show cause why the said certificate should not be granted.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The First Schedule.)
(Order XLV.—Appeals to the King in Council.)

Consolidation of suits.

4. For the purposes of pecuniary valuation, suits involving substantially the same questions for determination and decided by the same judgment may be consolidated: but suits decided by separate judgments shall not be consolidated, notwithstanding that they involve substantially the same questions for determination.

Remission of dispute to Court of first instance.

5. In the event of any dispute arising between the parties as to the amount or value of the subject-matter of the suit in the Court of first instance, or as to the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute on appeal to His Majesty in Council, the Court to which a petition for a certificate is made under rule 2 may, if it thinks fit, refer such dispute for report to the Court of first instance, which last-mentioned Court shall proceed to determine such amount or value and shall return its report together with the evidence to the Court by which the reference was made.

Effect of refusal of certificate.

6. Where such certificate is refused, the petition shall be dismissed.

Security and deposit required on grant of certificate.

7. (1) Where the certificate is granted, the applicant shall, within six months from the date of the decree complained of, or within six weeks from the date of the grant of the certificate, whichever is the later date,—

(a) furnish security for the costs of the respondent, and

(b) deposit the amount required to defray the expense of translating, transcribing, indexing and transmitting to His Majesty in Council a correct copy of the whole record of the suit, except—

(1) formal documents directed to be excluded by any order of His Majesty in Council in force for the time being;

(2) papers which the parties agree to exclude;

(3) accounts, or portions of accounts, which the officer empowered by the Court for that purpose considers unnecessary, and which the parties have not specifically asked to be included; and

(4) such other documents as the High Court may direct to be excluded.

(2) Where the applicant prefers to print in India the copy of the record, except as aforesaid, he shall also, within the time mentioned in sub-rule (1), deposit the amount required to defray the expense of printing such copy.

Admission of appeal and procedure thereon.

8. Where such security has been furnished and deposit made to the satisfaction of the Court, the Court shall—

(a) declare the appeal admitted,

(b) give notice thereof to the respondent,

(c) transmit to His Majesty in Council under the seal of the Court a correct copy of the said record, except as aforesaid, and

(d) give to either party one or more authenticated copies of any of the papers in the suit on his applying therefor and paying the reasonable expenses incurred in preparing them.

Revocation of acceptance of security.

9. At any time before the admission of the appeal, the Court may, upon cause shown, revoke the acceptance of any such security, and make further directions thereon.

Power to order further security or payment.

10. Where at any time after the admission of an appeal but before the transmission of the copy of the record, except as aforesaid, to His Majesty in Council, such security appears inadequate, or further payment is required for the purpose of translating, transcribing, printing, indexing or transmitting the copy of the record, except as aforesaid, the Court may order the appellant to furnish, within a time to be fixed by the Court, other and sufficient security, or to make, within like time, the required payment.

Effect of failure to comply with order.

11. Where the appellant fails to comply with such order, the proceedings shall be stayed, and the appeal shall not proceed without an order in this behalf of His Majesty in Council, and in the meantime execution of the decree appealed from shall not be stayed.

Refund of balance deposit.

12. When the copy of the record, except as aforesaid, has been transmitted to His Majesty in Council, the appellant may obtain a refund of the balance (if any) of the amount which he has deposited under rule 7.

Powers of Court pending appeal.

13. (1) Notwithstanding the grant of a certificate for the admission of any appeal, the decree appealed from shall be unconditionally executed, unless the Court otherwise directs.

(2) The Court may, if it thinks fit, on special cause shown by any party interested in the suit, or otherwise appearing to the Court,—

(a) impound any moveable property in dispute or any part thereof, or

(b) allow the decree appealed from to be executed, taking such security from the respondent as the Court thinks fit for the due performance of any order which His Majesty in Council may make on the appeal, or

(c) stay the execution of the decree appealed from, taking such security from the appellant as the Court thinks fit for the due performance of the decree appealed from, or of any order which His Majesty in Council may make on the appeal, or

(d) place any party seeking the assistance of the Court under such conditions or give such other direction respecting the subject-matter of the appeal, as it thinks fit, by the appointment of a receiver or otherwise.

Increase of security found inadequate.

14. (1) Where at any time during the pendency of the appeal the security furnished by either party appears inadequate, the Court may, on the application of the other party, require further security.

(2) In default of such further security being furnished as required by the Court,—

(a) if the original security was furnished by the appellant, the Court may, on the application of the respondent, execute the decree appealed from as if the appellant had furnished no such security;

(b) if the original security was furnished by the respondent, the Court shall, so far as may be practicable, stay the further execution of the decree, and restore the parties to the position in which they respectively were when the security which appears inadequate was furnished, or give such direction respecting the subject-matter of the appeal as it thinks fit.

Procedure to enforce orders of King in Council.

15. (1) Whoever desires to obtain execution of any order of His Majesty in Council shall apply by petition, accompanied by a certified copy of the decree passed or order made in appeal and sought to be executed, to the Court from which the appeal to His Majesty was preferred.

(2) Such Court shall transmit the order of His Majesty in Council to the Court which passed the first decree appealed from, or to such other Court as His Majesty in Council by such order may direct, and shall (upon the application of either party) give such directions as may be required for the execution of the same; and the Court to which the said order is so transmitted

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The First Schedule.)

(Order XLV.—Appeals to the King in Council. Order XLVI.—Reference. Order XLVI.—eview.)

shall execute it accordingly, in the manner and according to the provisions applicable to the execution of its original decrees.

(3) When any monies expressed to be payable in British currency are payable in India under such order, the amount so payable shall be estimated according to the rate of exchange for the time being fixed at the date of the making of the order by the Secretary of State for India in Council with the concurrence of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and the Indian Governments.

Appeal from order relating to execution.

16. The orders made by the Court which executes the order of His Majesty in Council, relating to such execution, shall be appealable in the same manner and subject to the same rules as the orders of such Court relating to the execution of its own decrees.

ORDER XLVI.

Reference.

Reference of question to High Court.

1. Where, before or on the hearing of a suit or an appeal in which the decree is not subject to appeal, or where, in the execution of any such decree, any question of law or usage having the force of law arises, on which the Court trying the suit or appeal, or executing the decree, entertains reasonable doubt, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any of the parties, draw up a statement of the facts of the case and the point on which doubt is entertained, and refer such statement with its own opinion on the point for the decision of the High Court.

Court may pass decree contingent upon decision of High Court.

2. The Court may either stay the proceedings or proceed in the case notwithstanding such reference, and may pass a decree or make an order contingent upon the decision of the High Court on the point referred;

but no decree or order shall be executed in any case in which such reference is made until the receipt of a copy of the judgment of the High Court upon the reference.

Judgment of High Court to be transmitted, and case disposed of accordingly.

3. The High Court, after hearing the parties if they appear and desire to be heard, shall decide the point so referred, and shall transmit a copy of its judgment, under the signature of the Registrar, to the Court by which the reference was made; and such Court shall, on the receipt thereof, proceed to dispose of the case in conformity with the decision of the High Court.

Costs of reference to High Court.

The costs (if any) consequent on a reference for the decision of the High Court shall be costs in the case.

Power to alter, etc., decree of Court making reference.

5. Where a case is referred to the High Court under rule 1, the High Court may return the case for amendment, and may alter, cancel or set aside any decree or order which the Court making the reference has passed or made in the case out of which the reference arose, and make such order as it thinks fit.

Power to refer to High Court questions as to jurisdiction in small causes.

6. (1) Where at any time before judgment a Court in which a suit has been instituted doubts whether the suit is cognizable by a Court of Small Causes or is not so cognizable, it may submit the record to the High Court with a statement of its reasons for the doubt as to the nature of the suit.

(2) On receiving the record and statement, the High Court may order the Court either to proceed with the suit or to return the plaint for presentation to such other Court as it may in its order declare to be competent to take cognizance of the suit.

Power to District Court to submit for revision proceedings had under mistake as to jurisdiction in small causes.

7. (1) Where it appears to a District Court that a Court subordinate thereto has, by reason of erroneously holding a suit to be cognizable by a Court of Small Causes or not to be so cognizable, failed to exercise a jurisdiction vested in it by law, or exercised a jurisdiction not so vested, the District Court may, and if required by a party shall, submit the record to the High Court with a statement of its reasons for considering the opinion of the subordinate Court with respect to the nature of the suit to be erroneous.

(2) On receiving the record and statement the High Court may make such order in the case as it thinks fit.

(3) With respect to any proceedings subsequent to decree in any case submitted to the High Court under this rule, the High Court may make such order as in the circumstance appears to it to be just and proper.

(4) A Court subordinate to a District Court shall comply with any requisition which the District Court may make for any record or information for the purposes of this rule.

ORDER XLVII.

Review.

Application for review of judgment.

1. (1) Any person considering himself aggrieved—

(a) by a decree or order from which an appeal is allowed, but from which no appeal has been preferred,

(b) by a decree or order from which no appeal is allowed, or

(c) by a decision on a reference from a Court of Small Causes, and who, from the discovery of new and important matte or evidence which, after the exercise of due diligence, was not within his knowledge or could not be produced by him at the time when the decree was passed or order made, or on account of some mistake or error apparent on the face of the record, or for any other sufficient reason, desires to obtain a review of the decree passed or order made against him, may apply for a review of judgment to the Court which passed the decree or made the order.

(2) A party who is not appealing from a decree or order may apply for a review of judgment notwithstanding the pendency of an appeal by some other party except where the ground of such appeal is common to the applicant and the appellant, or when, being respondent, he can present to the Appellate Court the case on which he applies for the review.

To whom applications for review may be made.

2. An application for review of a decree or order of a Court, not being a High Court, upon some ground other than the discovery of such new and important matter or evidence as is referred to in rule 1 or the existence of a clerical or arithmetical mistake or error apparent on the face of the decree, shall be made only to the Judge who passed the decree or made the order sought to be reviewed; but any such application may, if the Judge who passed the decree or made the order has ordered notice to issue under rule 4, sub-rule (2), proviso (a), be disposed of by his successor.

Form of applications for review.

3. The provisions as to the form of preferring appeals shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to applications for review.

Application where rejected.

4. (1) Where it appears to the Court that there is not sufficient ground for a review, it shall reject the application.

Application where granted.

(2) Where the Court is of opinion that the application for review should be granted, it shall grant the same:

Provided that—

(a) no such application shall be granted without previous notice to the opposite party, to enable him to appear and be heard in support of the decree or order, a review of which is applied for: and

(b) no such application shall be granted on the ground of discovery of new matter or evidence which the applicant alleges was not within his knowledge, or could not be adduced by him when the decree or order was passed or made, without strict proof of such allegation.

Application for review in Court consisting of two or more Judges.

5. Where the Judge or Judges, or any one of the Judges, who passed the decree or made the order, a review of which is applied for, continues or continue attached to the Court at the time when the application for a review is presented, and is not or are not precluded by absence or other cause for a period of six months next after the application from considering the decree or order to which the application refers, such Judge or Judges or any of them shall hear the application, and no other Judge or Judges of the Court shall hear the same.

Application where rejected.

6. (1) Where the application for a review is heard by more than one Judge and the Court is equally divided, the application shall be rejected.

(2) Where there is a majority, the decision shall be according to the opinion of the majority.

Order of rejection not appealable. Objections to order granting application.

7. (1) An order of the Court rejecting the application shall not be appealable; but an order granting an application may be objected to on the ground that the application was—

(a) in contravention of the provisions of rule 2,

(b) in contravention of the provisions of rule 4, or

(c) after the expiration of the period of limitation prescribed therefor and without sufficient cause.

Such objection may be taken at once by an appeal from the order granting the application or in any appeal from the final decree or order passed or made in the suit.

(2) Where the application has been rejected in consequence of the failure of the applicant to appear, he may apply for an order to have the rejected application restored to the file, and, where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when such application was called on for hearing, the Court shall order it to be restored to the file upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for hearing the same.

(3) No order shall be made under sub-rule (2) unless notice of the application has been served on the opposite party.

Registry of application granted, and order for re-hearing.

8. When an application for review is granted, a note thereof shall be made in the register and the Court may at once re-hear the case or make such order in regard to the re-hearing as it thinks fit.

Bar of certain applications.

9. No application to review an order made on an application for a review or a decree or order passed or made on a review shall be entertained.

ORDER XLVIII.

Miscellaneous.

(Title.)

Notice is hereby given that, under rule 64 of Order XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, an order has been passed by this Court for the sale of the attached property mentioned in the annexed schedule, in satisfaction of the claim of the decree-holder in the suit (1) mentioned in the margin, amounting with costs and interest up to date of sale to the sum of

(1) Suit No. of 19 , decided by the of in which was plaintiff and was defendant.

The Code of Civil Procedure 1908.

(The First Schedule.—Appendix E.—Execution.)

The sale will be by public auction, and the property will be put up for sale in the lots specified in the schedule. The sale will be of the property of the judgment-debtors above-named as mentioned in the schedule below; and the liabilities and claims attaching to the said property, so far as they have been ascertained, are those specified in the schedule against each lot.

In the absence of any order of postponement, the sale will be held by , at the monthly sale commencing at o'clock on the at . In the event, however, of the debt above specified and of the costs of the sale being tendered or paid before the knocking down of any lot, the sale will be stopped.

At the sale the public generally are invited to bid, either personally or by duly authorized agent. No bid by, or on behalf of, the judgment-creditors above-mentioned, however, will be accepted, nor will any sale to them be valid without the express permission of the Court previously given. The following are the further Conditions of Sale.

1. The particulars specified in the schedule below have been stated to the best of the information of the Court, but the Court will not be answerable for any error, mis-statement or omission in this proclamation.

2. The amount by which the biddings are to be increased shall be determined by the officer conducting the sale. In the event of any dispute arising as to the amount bid, or as to the bidder, the lot shall at once be again put up to auction.

3. The highest bidder shall be declared to be the purchaser of any lot, provided always that he is legally qualified to bid, and provided that it shall be in the discretion of the Court or officer holding the sale to decline acceptance of the highest bid when the price offered appears so clearly inadequate as to make it advisable to do so.

4. For reasons recorded, it shall be in the discretion of the officer conducting the sale to adjourn it subject always to the provisions of rule 69 of Order XXI.

5. In the case of moveable property, the price of each lot shall be paid at the time of sale or as soon after as the officer holding the sale directs, and in default of payment the property shall forthwith be again put up and re-sold.

6. In the case of immoveable property, the person declared to be the purchaser shall pay immediately after such declaration a deposit of 25 per cent. on the amount of his purchase-money to the officer conducting the sale, and in default of such deposit the property shall forthwith be put up again and re-sold.

7. The full amount of the purchase-money shall be paid by the purchaser before the Court closes on the fifteenth day after the sale of the property, exclusive of such day, or if the fifteenth day be a Sunday or other holiday, then on the first office day after the fifteenth day.

8. In default of payment of the balance of purchase-money within the period allowed, the property shall be re-sold after the issue of a fresh notification of sale. The deposit, after defraying the expenses of the sale, may, if the Court thinks fit, be forfeited to Government and the defaulting purchaser shall forfeit all claim to the property or to any part of the sum for which it may be subsequently sold.

(The Second Schedule.—Arbitration.)

The Second Schedule.

ARBITRATION.

Arbitration in Suits.

Parties to suit may apply for order of reference.

1. (1) Where in any suit all the parties interested agree that any matter in difference between them shall be referred to arbitration, they may, at any time before judgment is pronounced, apply to the Court for an order of reference.

(2) Every such application shall be in writing and shall state the matter sought to be referred.

Appointment of arbitrator.

2. The arbitrator shall be appointed in such manner as may be agreed upon between the parties.

Order of reference.

3. (1) The Court shall, by order, refer to the arbitrator the matter in difference which he is required to determine, and shall fix such time as it thinks reasonable for the making of the award, and shall specify such time in the order.

(2) Where a matter is referred to arbitration, the Court shall not, save in the manner and to the extent provided in this schedule, deal with such matter in the same suit.

Where reference is to two or more, order to provide for difference of opinion.

4. (1) Where the reference is to two or more arbitrators, provision shall be made in the order for a difference of opinion among the arbitrators—

(a) by the appointment of an umpire; or

(b) by declaring that, if the majority of the arbitrators agree, the decision of the majority shall prevail; or

(c) by empowering the arbitrators to appoint an umpire; or

(d) otherwise as may be agreed between the parties or, if they cannot agree, as the Court may determine.

(2) Where an umpire is appointed, the Court shall fix such time as it thinks reasonable for the making of his award in case he is required to act.

Power of Court to appoint arbitrator in certain cases.

5. (1) In any of the following cases, namely:—

(a) where the parties cannot agree within a reasonable time with respect to the appointment of an arbitrator, or the person appointed refuses to accept the office of arbitrator, or

(b) where an arbitrator or umpire—

(i) dies, or

(ii) refuses or neglects to act or becomes incapable of acting, or

(iii) leaves British India in circumstances showing that he will probably not return at an early date, or

(c) where the arbitrators are empowered by the order of reference to appoint an umpire and fail to do so, any party may serve the other party or the arbitrators, as the case may be, with a written notice to appoint an arbitrator or umpire.

(2) If, within seven clear days after such notice has been served or such further time as the Court may in each case allow, no arbitrator or no umpire is appointed, as the case may be, the Court may, on application by the party who gave the notice, and after giving the other party an opportunity of being heard, appoint an arbitrator or umpire or make an order superseding the arbitration, and in such case shall proceed with the suit.

Powers of arbitrator or umpire appointed under paragraph 4 or 5.

6. Every arbitrator or umpire appointed under paragraph 4 or paragraph 5 shall have the like powers as if his name had been inserted in the order of reference.

Summoning witnesses and default.

7. (1) The Court shall issue the same processes to the parties and witness whom the arbitrator or umpire desires to examine, as the Court may issue in suits tried before it.

(2) Persons not attending in accordance with such process, or making any other default, or refusing to give their evidence, or guilty of any contempt to the arbitrator or umpire during the investigation of the matters referred, shall be subject to the like disadvantages, penalties and punishments, by order of the Court on the representation of the arbitrator or umpire, as they would incur for the like offences in suits tried before the Court.

Extension of time for making award.

8. Where the arbitrators or the umpire cannot complete the award within the period specified in the order, the Court may, if it thinks fit, either allow further time, and from time to time, either before or after the expiration of the period fixed for the making of the award, enlarge such period; or may make an order superseding the arbitration, and in such case shall proceed with the suit.

Where umpire may arbitrate in lieu of arbitrators.

9. Where an umpire has been appointed, he may enter on the reference in the place of the arbitrators,—

(a) if they have allowed the appointed time to expire without making an award, or

(b) if they have delivered to the Court or to the umpire a notice in writing stating that they cannot agree.

Award to be signed and filed.

10. Where an award in a suit has been made, the persons who made it shall sign it and cause it to be filed in Court, together with any depositions and documents which have been taken and proved before them; and notice of the filing shall be given to the parties.

Statement of special case by arbitrators or umpire.

11. Upon any reference by an order of the Court, the arbitrator or umpire may, with the leave of the Court, state the award as to the whole or any part thereof in the form of a special case for the opinion of the Court, and the Court shall deliver its opinion thereon, and shall order such opinion to be added to and to form part of the award.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.
(The Second Schedule.—Arbitration.)

Power to modify or correct award.

12. The Court may, by order, modify or correct an award,—

(a) where it appears that a part of the award is upon a matter not referred to arbitration and such part can be separated from the other part and does not affect the decision on the matter referred; or

(b) where the award is imperfect in form, or contains any obvious error which can be amended without affecting such decision; or

(c) where the award contains a clerical mistake or an error arising from an accidental slip or omission.

Order as to costs of arbitration.

13. The Court may also make such order as it thinks fit respecting the costs of the arbitration where any question arises respecting such costs and the award contains no sufficient provision concerning them.

Where award or matter referred to arbitration may be remitted.

14. The Court may remit the award or any matter referred to arbitration to the re-consideration of the same arbitrator or umpire, upon such terms as it thinks fit,—

(a) where the award has left undetermined any of the matters referred to arbitration, or where it determines any matter not referred to arbitration, unless such matter can be separated without affecting the determination of the matters referred;

(b) where the award is so indefinite as to be incapable of execution;

(c) where an objection to the legality of the award is apparent upon the face of it.

Grounds for setting aside award.

15. (1) An award remitted under paragraph 14 becomes void on failure of the arbitrator or umpire to re-consider it. But no award shall be set aside except on one of the following grounds, namely:—

(a) corruption or misconduct of the arbitrator or umpire;

(b) either party having been guilty of fraudulent concealment of any matter which he ought to have disclosed, or of wilfully misleading or deceiving the arbitrator or umpire;

(c) the award having been made after the issue of an order by the Court superseding the arbitration and proceeding with the suit or after the expiration of the period allowed by the Court, or being otherwise invalid.

(2) Where an award becomes void or is set aside under clause (1), the Court shall make an order superseding the arbitration and in such case shall proceed with the suit.

Judgment to be according to award.

16. (1) Where the Court sees no cause to remit the award or any of the matters referred to arbitration for re-consideration in manner aforesaid, and no application has been made to set aside the award, or the Court has refused such application, the Court shall, after the time for making such application has expired, proceed to pronounce judgment according to the award.

(2) Upon the judgment so pronounced a decree shall follow, and no appeal shall lie from such decree except in so far as the decree is in excess of, or not in accordance with, the award.

Order of reference on agreements to refer.

Application to file in Court agreement to refer to arbitration.

17. (1) Where any persons agree in writing that any difference between them shall be referred to arbitration, the parties to the agreement, or any of them, may apply to any Court having jurisdiction in the matter to which the agreement relates, that the agreement be filed in Court.

(2) The application shall be in writing and shall be numbered and registered as a suit between one or more of the parties interested or claiming to be interested as plaintiff or plaintiffs, and the others or other of them as defendants or defendant, if the application has been presented by all the parties, or, if otherwise, between the applicant as plaintiff and the other parties as defendants.

(3) On such application being made, the Court shall direct notice thereof to be given to all the parties to the agreement, other than the applicants, requiring such parties to show cause, within the time specified in the notice, why the agreement should not be filed.

(4) Where no sufficient cause is shown, the Court shall order the agreement to be filed, and shall make an order of reference to the arbitrator appointed in accordance with the provisions of the agreement or, if there is no such provision and the parties cannot agree, the Court may appoint an arbitrator.

Stay of suit where there is an agreement to refer to arbitration.

18. Where any party to any agreement to refer to arbitration, or any person claiming under him, institutes any suit against any other party to the agreement, or any person claiming under him, in respect of any matter agreed to be referred, any party to such suit may, at the earliest possible opportunity and in all cases where issues are settled at or before such settlement, apply to the Court to stay the suit; and the Court, if satisfied that there is no sufficient reason why the matter should not be referred in accordance with the agreement to refer to arbitration, and that the applicant was, at the time when the suit was instituted and still remains, ready and willing to do all things necessary to the proper conduct of the arbitration, may make an order staying the suit.

Provisions applicable to proceedings under paragraph 17.

19. The foregoing provisions, so far as they are consistent with any agreement filed under paragraph 17, shall be applicable to all proceedings under the order of reference made by the Court under that paragraph, and to the award and to the decree following thereon.

Arbitration without the intervention of a Court.

Filing award in matter referred to arbitration without intervention of Court.

20. (1) Where any matter has been referred to arbitration without the intervention of a Court, and an award has been made thereon, any person interested in the award may apply to any Court having jurisdiction over the subject-matter of the award that the award be filed in Court.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The Second Schedule.—Arbitration.)

(2) The application shall be in writing and shall be numbered and registered as a suit between the applicant as plaintiff and the other parties as defendants.

(3) The Court shall direct notice to be given to the parties to the arbitration, other than the applicant, requiring them to show cause, within a time specified, why the award should not be filed.

Filing and enforcement of such award.

21. (1) Where the Court is satisfied that the matter has been referred to arbitration and that an award has been made thereon and where no ground such as is mentioned or referred to in paragraph 14 or paragraph 15 is proved, the Court shall order the award to be filed and shall proceed to pronounce judgment according the award.

(2) Upon the judgment so pronounced a decree shall follow, and no appeal shall lie from such decree except in so far as the decree is in excess of or not in accordance with the award.

Exclusion of certain words in the Specific Relief Act, 1877.

22. The last thirty-seven words of section 21 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, shall not apply to any agreement to refer to arbitration, or to any award, to which the provisions of this schedule apply.

I of 1877.

(The Third Schedule.—Execution of Decrees by Collectors.)

The Third Schedule

EXECUTION OF DECREES BY COLLECTORS.

Powers of Collector.

1. Where the execution of a decree has been transferred to the Collector under section 68, he may—

(a) proceed as the Court would proceed when the sale of immoveable property is postponed in order to enable the judgment-debtor to raise the amount of the decree; or

(b) raise the amount of the decree by letting in perpetuity, or for a term, on payment of a premium, or by mortgaging, the whole or any part of the property ordered to be sold; or

(c) sell the property ordered to be sold or so much thereof as may be necessary.

Procedure of Collector in special cases.

2. Where the execution of a decree, not being a decree ordering the sale of immoveable property in pursuance of a contract specifically affecting the same, but being a decree for the payment of money in satisfaction of which the Court has ordered the sale of immoveable property, has been so transferred, the Collector, if, after such inquiry as he thinks necessary, he has reason to believe that all the liabilities of the judgment-debtor can be discharged without a sale of the whole of his available immoveable property, may proceed as hereinafter provided.

Notice to be given to decree-holders and to persons having claims on property.

3. (1) In any such case as is referred to in paragraph 2, the Collector shall publish a notice, allowing a period of sixty days from the date of its publication for compliance and calling upon—

(a) every person holding a decree for the payment of money against the judgment-debtor capable of execution by sale of his immoveable property and which such decree-holder desires to have so executed, and every holder of a decree for the payment of money in execution of which proceedings for the sale of such property are pending, to produce before the Collector a copy of the decree, and a certificate from the Court which passed or is executing the same, declaring the amount recoverable thereunder;

(b) every person having any claim on the said property to submit to the Collector a statement of such claim, and to produce the documents (if any) by which it is evidenced.

(2) Such notice shall be published by being affixed on a conspicuous part of the court-house of the Court which made the original order for sale, and in such other places (if any) as the Collector thinks fit; and where the address of any such decree-holder or claimant is known, a copy of the notice shall be sent to him by post or otherwise.

Amount of decrees for payment of money to be ascertained, and immoveable property available for their satisfaction.

4. (1) Upon the expiration of the said period, the Collector shall appoint a day for hearing any representations which the judgment-debtor and the decree-holders or claimants (if any) may desire to make, and for holding such inquiry as he may deem necessary for informing himself as to the nature and extent of such decrees and claims and of the judgment-debtor's immoveable property, and may, from time to time, adjourn such hearing and inquiry.

(2) Where there is no dispute as to the fact or extent of the liability of the judgment-debtor to any of the decrees or claims of which the Collector is informed, or as to the relative priorities of such decrees or claims, or as to the liability of any such property for the satisfaction of such decrees or claims, the Collector shall draw up a statement, specifying the amount to be recovered for the discharge of such decrees, the order in which such decrees and claims are to be satisfied, and the immoveable property available for that purpose.

(3) Where any such dispute arises, the Collector shall refer the same, with a statement thereof and his own opinion thereon, to the Court which made the original order for sale, and shall, pending the reference, stay proceedings relating to the subject thereof. The Court shall dispose of the dispute if the matter thereof is within its jurisdiction, or transmit the case to a competent Court for disposal, and the final decision shall be communicated to the Collector, who shall then draw up a statement as above provided in accordance with such decision.

Where District Court may issue notices and hold inquiry.

5. The Collector may, instead of himself issuing the notices and holding the inquiry required by paragraphs 3 and 4, draw up a statement specifying the circumstances of the judgment-debtor and of his immoveable property so far as they are known to the Collector or appear in the records of his office, and forward such statement to the District Court; and such Court shall thereupon issue the notices, hold the inquiry and draw up the statement required by paragraphs 3 and 4 and transmit such statement to the Collector.

Effect of decision of Court as to dispute.

6. The decision by the Court of any dispute arising under paragraph 4 or paragraph 5 shall, as between the parties thereto, have the force of and be appealable as a decree.

Scheme for liquidation of decrees for payment of money.

7. (1) Where the amount to be recovered and the property available have been determined as provided in paragraph 4 or paragraph 5, the Collector may,—

(a) if it appears that the amount cannot be recovered without the sale of the whole of the property available, proceed to sell such property; or,

(b) if it appears that the amount with interest (if any) in accordance with the decree, and, when not decreed, with interest (if any) at such rate as he thinks reasonable, may be recovered without such sale, raise such amount and interest (notwithstanding the original order for sale) —

(i) by letting in perpetuity or for a term, on payment of a premium, the whole or any part of the said property; or

(ii) by mortgaging the whole or any part of such property; or

(iii) by selling part of such property; or

(iv) by letting on farm, or managing by himself or another, the whole or any part of such property for any term not exceeding twenty years from the date of the order of sale; or

(v) partly by one of such modes, and partly by another or others of such modes.

(2) For the purpose of managing the whole or any part of such property, the Collector may exercise all the powers of its owner.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(The Third Schedule.—Execution of Decrees by Collectors.)

(3) For the purpose of improving the saleable value of the property available or any part thereof, or rendering it more suitable for letting or managing, or for preserving the property from sale in satisfaction of an incumbrance, the Collector may discharge the claim of any incumbrancer which has become payable or compound the claim of any incumbrancer whether it has become payable or not, and, for the purpose of providing funds to effect such discharge or composition, may mortgage, let or sell any portion of the property which he deems sufficient. If any dispute arises as to the amount due on any incumbrance with which the Collector proposes to deal under this clause, he may institute a suit in the proper Court, either in his own name or the name of the judgment-debtor, to have an account taken, or he may agree to refer such dispute to the decision of two arbitrators, one to be chosen by each party, or of an umpire to be named by such arbitrators.

(4) In proceeding under this paragraph the Collector shall be subject to such rules consistent with this Act as may, from time to time, be made in this behalf by the Local Government.

Recovery of balance (if any) after letting or management.

8. Where, on the expiration of the letting or management under paragraph 7, the amount to be recovered has not been realized, the Collector shall notify the fact in writing to the judgment-debtor or his representative in interest, stating at the same time that, if the balance necessary to make up the said amount is not paid to the Collector within six weeks from the date of such notice, he will proceed to sell the whole or a sufficient part of the said property; and, if on the expiration of the said six weeks the said balance is not so paid, the Collector shall sell such property or part accordingly.

Collector to render accounts to Court.

9. (1) The Collector shall, from time to time, render to the Court which made the original order for sale an account of all monies which come to his hands and of all charges incurred by him in the exercise and performance of the powers and duties conferred and imposed on him under the provisions of this schedule, and shall hold the balance at the disposal of the Court.

(2) Such charges shall include all debts and liabilities from time to time due to the Government in respect of the property or any part thereof, the rent (if any) from time to time due to a superior holder in respect of such property or part, and, if the Collector so directs, the expenses of any witnesses summoned by him.

(3) The balance shall be applied by the Court—

(a) in providing for the maintenance of such members of the judgment-debtor's family (if any) as are entitled to be maintained out of the income of the property, to such amount in the case of each member as the Court thinks fit; and,

(b) where the Collector has proceeded under paragraph 1, in satisfaction of the original decree in execution of which the Court ordered the sale of immoveable property, or otherwise as the Court may under section 73 direct; or

(c) where the Collector has proceeded under paragraph 2,—

(i) in keeping down the interest on incumbrances on the property;

(ii) where the judgment-debtor has no other sufficient means of subsistence, in providing for his subsistence to such amount as the Court thinks fit; and

(iii) in discharging rateably the claims of the original decree-holder and any other decree-holders who have complied with the said notice, and whose claims were included in the amount ordered to be recovered.

(4) No other holder of a decree for the payment of money shall be entitled to be paid out of such property or balance until the decree-holders who have obtained such order have been satisfied, and the residue (if any) shall be paid to the judgment-debtor or such other person as the Court directs.

Sales how to be conducted.

10. Where the Collector sells any property under this schedule, he shall put it up to public auction in one or more lots, as he thinks fit, and may—

(a) fix a reasonable reserved price for each lot;

(b) adjourn the sale for a reasonable time whenever, for reasons to be recorded, he deems the adjournment necessary for the purpose of obtaining a fair price for the property;

(c) buy in the property offered for sale, and re-sell the same by public auction or private contract, as he thinks fit.

Restrictions as to alienation by judgment-debtor or his representative, and prosecution of remedies by decree-holders.

11. (1) So long as the Collector can exercise or perform in respect of the judgment-debtor's immoveable property, or any part thereof, any of the powers or duties conferred or imposed on him by paragraphs 1 to 10, the judgment-debtor or his representative in interest shall be incompetent to mortgage, charge, lease or alienate such property or part except with the written permission of the Collector, nor shall any Civil Court issue any process against such property or part in execution of a decree for the payment of money.

(2) During the same period no Civil Court shall issue any process of execution either against the judgment-debtor or his property in respect of any decree for the satisfaction whereof provision has been made by the Collector under paragraph 7.

(3) The same period shall be excluded in calculating the period of limitation applicable to the execution of any decree affected by the provisions of this paragraph in respect of any remedy of which the decree-holder has been temporarily deprived.

Provision where property is in several districts.

12. Where the property of which the sale has been ordered is situate in more districts than one, the powers and duties conferred and imposed on the Collector by paragraphs 1 to 10 shall be exercised and performed by such one of the Collectors of the said districts as the Local Government may by general rule or special order direct.

Powers of Collector to compel attendance and production.

13. In exercising the powers conferred on him by paragraphs 1 to 10 the Collector shall have the powers of a Civil Court to compel the attendance of parties and witnesses and the production of documents.

* The report is for the week ending the 21st March 1908.

GENERAL SUMMARY.—During the week there was a slight fall of rain in the districts round Calcutta, in the northern part of Chota Nagpur and in Darjeeling. The prospects of the rabi crops in Lower Bengal are very bad, but in Bihar fair. The mango crop in North Bihar promises to be a bumper one. Hail has done damage to some crops in Angul and Purnea. The mahua crop still promises well in Chota Nagpur, but in Hazaribagh slightly damaged by rain. The harvesting of rabi and the preparation of the land for the bhadoi crops continues, but the latter is retarded for want of rain. Poppy-lancing is going on in Bihar, and jute is being sown in Purnea and Cooch Behar. Stocks are reported to be insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Balasore and Palamau. Prices in Bihar, Chota Nagpur and Orissa are stationary with a tendency in some districts to fall, but have risen in Hooghly, Nadia and Khulna. Cattle-disease is reported from Gaya, Saran, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau. Fodder and water are becoming scarce in Burdwan, Birbhum and Bankura, also in parts of Murshidabad, the Sonthal Parganas and Balasore. Scarcity is apprehended in Nadia, Jessore and Palamau. Gratuitous relief and test-works are opened in Bankura, Shahabad, Cuttack, Balasore, Puri, Ranchi and Hazaribagh. The total number of persons in receipt of gratuitous relief is 18,455, of whom 16,643 are in Orissa. The numbers on test-works are 6,521 of whom 3,310 are in Orissa.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Leases for a term of years.

1. The country served by the canals shall be mapped out into blocks of convenient size in accordance with the features of the ground, natural or artificial. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by drainage lines. This shall be done by the Subdivisional Canal Officers under the guidance and control of the Divisional Canal Officer.

2. Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded with its gross and irrigable areas in registers to be maintained by the Subdivisional Canal Officers. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officers.

3. Leases for not more than seven years may be granted for the whole irrigable area of a block or for definite parts of a block under the following conditions:—

I.—Ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease. If the lands of a village within the block are divisible into two or more distinct parts which can be irrigated independently, a separate lease may be granted for each part.

II.—All leases within one block shall be so granted that they may expire on the same date.

III.—No lease shall be granted when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

4. The Superintending Engineer shall fix from time to time the gross area for which and the limits of the canal within which, leases for a term of years may be granted.

5. Maps of all villages in which lands have been brought under lease for a term of years, or in which there is any probability of such leases being taken, shall be kept in the subdivisional canal offices. These maps to be at scale 32″=1 mile when such are available, and elsewhere at scale 16″=1 mile.

6. The preliminary application for a lease for a term of years, either new or renewal, may be of an informal nature, but it must be in writing. It may be presented and shall be received either at the Subdivisional or Sectional Canal Office; in the latter case the Sectional Officer shall forward it immediately to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Subdivisional Canal Officer as soon as he has, by personal enquiry or by an enquiry made by the Sectional Officer, satisfied himself that the land in question constitutes a definite block or a definite part of a block, and that it can be irrigated, shall at once inform the Divisional Canal Officer giving such particulars as that officer may direct, and shall ask his formal approval to the lease being proceeded with. On receipt of such approval the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall forward the preliminary application to the Zilladar, in order that the detailed assessment may be taken in hand. The lands to be brought under lease shall be indicated on a copy of the map alluded to in rule 5.

7. The Zilladar on receipt of the application shall depute an amin to prepare the khasra or detailed assessment paper. This shall be done on the ground with the aid of the revenue survey map and khasra. Should the survey map and khasra not be available, the amin shall make a sketch map, and shall measure the areas of the holdings with a chain or measuring-rod.

8. When the amin has completed the khasra, the Zilladar shall forward it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer for approval.

9. As soon as the khasra has been approved by the Subdivisional Canal Officer, he shall return it to the Zilladar endorsed with his signature in token of approval.

The Zilladar shall then prepare a khatian or abstract of the khasra, and shall have the form of application, given as Appendix No. I to these rules, filled up and signed or marked by each of the applicants, in the presence of two witnesses.

When the application has been completely signed, the Zilladar shall send it to the Divisional Canal Officer, by whom the permit or formal approval of the lease shall be signed and issued in the form given as Appendix No. III to these rules. The permit shall be made over to the representative of the cultivators by the Subdivisional Canal Officer by means of his Sectional Officers. The Divisional Canal Officer shall return the application to the Deputy Collector, Revenue Division, with a copy of the permit for record.

10. Should it happen that the cultivators of the block proposed for lease are not unanimous, and that certain of them decline to sign the application, the Zilladar shall report the matter to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. This officer shall hold a local enquiry, recording the statements of the persons who decline to sign and recording his personal opinion on the reasons given. He shall then send a report to the Divisional Canal Officer, who shall decide whether the lease may be accepted excluding the fields in the occupation of the persons who decline to sign, or whether the lease shall be declined. The Divisional Canal Officer is authorised to grant a lease when not less than 95 per cent. of the net irrigable area of the block has been signed for. In particular cases should it be desirable to grant a lease even though an area larger than 5 per cent. of the block has not been signed for, this may be done on the written order of the Superintending Engineer. The reasons for granting the lease shall be fully recorded.

Covering Leases.

11. Applicants for a lease for a term of years who may require water before the lease has been concluded can obtain a supply on tendering an application for a covering lease in the form given as Appendix No. II to these rules. This application must be signed in the presence of the Zilladar or of some other responsible officer nominated for the purpose by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The signatures should be those of the leading cultivators in the block in question, and they should represent holders of not less than 75 per cent. of the irrigable land within the block.

As soon as the Subdivisional Canal Officer receives the application duly signed, he shall issue a permit in the form given as Appendix No. IV to these rules, and shall at once supply water.

Single Waterings.

12. Applications for a single watering during the kharif season, may be entertained if water is available, after meeting the demand for the areas leased for a term of years. The applications may be presented at the Subdivisional Canal Office or to the Sectional Officer. They must be in the form given as Appendix No. V to these rules.

The application must be for a definite block and the signatures of the applicants must cover areas aggregating not less than four-fifths of the lands in the block.

If the Subdivisional Officer is able to supply water and accepts the application he will require the applicants to pay in advance one-half of the amount due on the areas entered in the application at the rate specified in the schedule of rates, and on this sum being paid he will at once issue a permit in the form given as Appendix No. VI to these rules and will supply water. When the watering has been concluded the area actually irrigated shall be determined and the assessment shall be made on the areas actually watered within the limits of the block specified in the application and permit.

Season Leases.

13. Applications for water to irrigate spring rice or other crops between December and April may be presented at the Subdivisional Canal office or to the Sectional Officer. They must be in the form given as Appendix No. VII to these rules.

In the applications the areas for which water is required must be specified but the rate will be charged on those areas for which water is actually used as determined by measurement.

The permit in the form given as Appendix VIII to these rules will be granted by the Subdivisional Canal Officer if he is able to supply the water.

Supply of water.

14. The Divisional Canal Officer shall control the supply of water throughout the Division in his charge.

15. No water shall be supplied to any lands except such as have been brought under a lease for a term of years or for the season, or to such as are provided for by a covering lease or by a lease for a single watering.

16. Under the forms of irrigation lease in use, no specific supply of water is promised: but the undertaking is to give such a supply to each lessee as may be necessary for the lands leased. The supply shall be given, as may be required for the proper cultivation of the crops under irrigation, according to the exigencies of the season.

17. The Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to give the required supply by rotation, should this be advisable for the efficient working of the canals in his charge. In such a case, he is required to give the lessees written notice informing them of the periods when they will be supplied with water.

Collection of water-rates.

18. The rates due for water supplied shall be collected by the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division through his staff of Zilladars, Tahsildars and peons. All khatians or demand statements shall be signed by the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division after scrutiny in his office.

19. At the time of preparation of the khatian in the Zilladar's office, each person assessed shall be furnished with an extract from the assessment paper, showing the particulars of the charge against him. This extract shall be furnished in such form as may from time to time be approved for the purpose.

20. Each person on paying the sum due from him shall be given a receipt in the form prescribed for the purpose.

21. For the purposes of account, of control over establishment, and of general administration, the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division is in the position of an Executive Engineer in charge of a division, and is directly subordinate to the Superintending Engineer. In regard to any proceedings taken under the Public Demands Recovery Act the Deputy Collector is subject to the control of the Collector of the district.

Unauthorised use of water and waste of water.

22. Should it be necessary to take action under the provisions of sections 79 and 80 of the Act, proceedings shall be instituted only under the direct and special order of the Divisional Canal Officer. The primary record of the facts regarding the unauthorised use or the waste of water shall be made by the Subdivisional Canal Officer and his subordinates. The parties whom it is proposed to assess shall be informed in writing, and shall be called on to show cause why they should not be assessed. The record of their statements shall be made by the Divisional or by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall consider the facts and statements recorded, and shall, in deciding the case, give his reasons for or against assessment, both as regards the facts and as regards the law; and he shall determine the rate to be charged subject to the provision in the schedule of rates attached to these rules.

23. Should the Divisional Canal Officer decide on making an assessment, he shall have the assessment paper prepared by the Subdivisional Canal Officer and his staff. Each person assessed shall be furnished with a statement of the charge against him, and an abstract of the demand or khatian shall be sent to the officer in charge of the Revenue Division, who shall proceed to recover the sums assessed. The period of one month within which an appeal may be presented to the Collector under section 91 of the Act shall count from the date on which the statement of the charge may be furnished to the person assessed, which date shall be endorsed on it.

24. No proceedings shall be instituted if the unauthorized use or the waste of water have occurred through the act or neglect of a Canal Officer or subordinate employed on the Canal. During the irrigation of autumn rice, the passing on of surplus water from leased to unleased fields is not an unauthorized use of water.

Complaints and Applications.

25. All complaints or applications with respect to the supply of water, to defective drainage, and generally with respect to the administration of the canals, shall be received on presentation at either divisional or subdivisional canal offices.

Complaints and applications received by a Divisional Canal Officer may be transferred to his Subdivisional Canal Officers for disposal at his discretion.

Any such complaints or applications, if presented to the Deputy Collector or to his staff, shall be returned endorsed with instructions as to the proper office at which to present them. If received by post, they shall be at once forwarded to the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer.

26. Complaints or applications with respect to corrections of the assessment with respect to the actions of the amins in assessing and with respect to the actions of the tahsildars and other staff employed in collections, shall be received at the office of the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, or at the zilladars' offices.

27. Receipts in the prescribed form shall be given at all offices for complaints or applications presented. The receipt of all complaints and applications shall be recorded in registers to be kept for that purpose.

28. The Officer receiving the complaint or application shall either make a personal enquiry into the matter or he shall nominate in writing some responsible person to hold the enquiry.

29. The orders passed on all complaints or applications shall be in writing, and a copy of every order shall be furnished to the complainant or applicant.

The copy of order may be sent by post (registered), if this is convenient.

The period within which an appeal may be presented under section 91 of the Act shall be reckoned from the date on which the copy of the order is received by the person.

30. When an appeal to the Collector is from the order of a Subdivisional Canal Officer, the proceedings shall be called for through the Divisional Canal Officer, who may record on them such remarks as he may think desirable, provided that he does not thereby detain the proceedings.

In all cases in which an appeal against an assessment is preferred to the Collector, that officer may, if he thinks fit, direct that the collection of water-rates be suspended till the appeal is heard.

31. The Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to revise the proceedings of his Subdivisional Canal Officers, and the Superintending Engineer is empowered to call for and to revise the proceedings of all officers under his control.

Remissions and Alterations of Demand.

32. Whenever the crop on land entitled to a supply of water suffers material injury from an insufficient supply of water, or from any interruption in the supply of water, remission of the rate due on such crop shall be given by the Divisional Canal Officer, provided that the person claiming remission shall have applied for such not less than 15 days before the reaping of the crop.

33. On the occasion of lands being brought under a lease for a term of years, the Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to remit the rates for the first season on those fields which from the nature of the cultivation then obtaining, or from other causes, have not, in that season, derived any benefit from the supply of canal water.

34. Should the crop on lands under lease for a term of years suffer material injury from excess of water due to deficient drainage, the Divisional Canal Officer may grant remission of the rates due on such lands in whole or in part, provided that the person asking for remission shall have applied at least 15 days before the reaping of the crop.

35. Revisions of the assessment required in consequence of land under lease being left uncultivated or of land being appropriated for purposes other than cultivation shall be made under the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer.

36. Revisions of the assessment required in consequence of incorrect entries of the names of occupants of lands under lease or of incorrect entries of areas or amounts in the assessment papers, or required by changes in the occupation of lands shall be made under the orders of the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, provided that no change involving any increase or decrease in the total area under lease for a term of years shall be made without the concurrence of the Divisional Canal Officer.

37. Remissions of water-rates on account of injury to the crops caused by inundation, by blight, by storms or by any extraordinary cause will only be allowed under the special orders of the Local Government.

Irrecoverable Demands.

38. The Superintending Engineer is empowered to sanction the write-off of those demands which are reported, after due enquiry by the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, as irrecoverable owing to the poverty of the defaulter or of his successors in case of his death, or owing to the defaulter having absconded.

Cultivators' Representatives.

39. Whenever the preliminary application for a lease for a term of years has been approved by the Divisional Canal Officer, the officer in charge of the Revenue Division shall, with the concurrence of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, select as representative of the cultivators a suitable person or persons who shall generally be acceptable to the cultivators and who shall each have a direct interest in the land for which the lease is executed.

40. The person or persons so selected shall be required to give assistance to the Canal Officers in respect of the following matters:—

(i) In the preparation of applications for leases.
(ii) In the measurement of irrigated lands.
(iii) In recording the names of the occupiers of the holdings.
(iv) In receiving demand statements and distributing to the cultivators the individual notices of assessment.
(v) In attending, when required, at enquiries into complaints.
(vi) In reporting to the zilladars any changes in the occupancy of lands under lease.
(vii) In assisting the tahsildar in collecting rates.

41. For such assistance the cultivators' representative or representatives shall be entitled to free irrigation of the lands in his or in their own occupation, which may lie within the boundaries of the leased area subject to a total limit of 3 per cent. of the area assessed. The Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division may disallow in whole or in part this free irrigation, and may recover the rates which would otherwise have been payable in whole or in part if the assistance specified in Rule 40 has not been efficiently rendered. The reasons for such disallowance shall be recorded in writing.

42. The Deputy Collector shall maintain in his office a register containing a record of the names of all representatives and of the areas of free irrigation allowed to each.

43. Applicants for single waterings or for season leases shall be required to nominate one of their number who must have a substantial interest in the land to be irrigated as their representative. The representative so nominated shall perform the same duties as stated in Rule 40 and shall receive remuneration on the same scale as in Rule 41.

Power to decline or cancel leases.

44. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any leased area is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Engineer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 1st of June next following. The order to cancel a lease shall be passed before the 1st of April of the year in which it is to take effect.

45. The Superintending Engineer may give directions to the Divisional Canal Officer to decline applications for irrigation leases of lands in villages where there has been persistent difficulty in realizing the water-rates, until all arrears have been paid.

He may further suspend, or altogether cancel, any lease for a term of years, if on the 1st June of any year water-rates to the extent of half the demand for one year are in arrears. Previous notice of intention to put this rule in force shall be given not later than the 15th April preceding.

Miscellaneous.

46. Tanks may be supplied with canal-water without charge, when water can be made available without injury to the cultivation dependent on a canal, under the following conditions:—

(i) That the water is to be exclusively used for domestic purposes, or for watering cattle.
(ii) That a channel exists through which water can pass without waste.
(iii) That the water shall only be supplied on the written order of the Subdivisional Canal Officer.
(iv) That any new outlet or sluice which may be required to allow of the supply being given shall be provided at the cost of the persons who ask for the water.
(v) That the supply of water may be stopped at any time if it is found that it is being misused.

47. Except when a public right-of-way exists, no person shall, without the permission expressed in writing of the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer, pass himself, or cause any animal or vehicle to pass, on or across any of the works, banks or channels of a canal, or drainage work which is part of the canal system except by means of such bridges, fords and ferries as may have been provided for the purpose.

Any person who, after due warning, commits a breach of this rule may be proceeded against under section 93, clause (9), of the Irrigation Act.

48. The use of any part of the banks or berms of any canal, drainage work which is part of the canal system, or flood embankment which is subject to the provisions of the Irrigation Act, as a place for relieving the calls of nature, is prohibited. Any person who after due warning commits a breach of this rule may be proceeded against under section 93, clause (9), of the Irrigation Act.

49. Should water be required for purposes other than irrigation, it may be supplied, when available, at a rate of one rupee per 10,000 cubic feet of water.

50. No officer employed on the canals, unless especially exempted by the Lieutenant-Governor from the operation of this rule, shall have any interest in the distribution of water from any of the canals or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon either in his own name or in the name of another, or jointly, or in shares with others.

APPENDIX I.

(Referred to in rule 9.)

APPLICATION FOR A LEASE FOR A TERM OF YEARS.

(Yearly rate, per acre: water to be supplied each year from the 16th June to 30th November only.)

WE, the undersigned, of mauza, , pargana , thana , apply for water to be supplied from Distributary of the Midnapore Canal for a term of years, commencing on the 16th June and ending 30th November. The supply of water is required for the irrigation of the block of land formed by our holdings as specified below.

2. We agree that the amounts due shall be payable to the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, Midnapore Canal, or to such person as he may appoint on the 1st January and 1st February, or if Rs. 10 or under on 1st of January of each year, and shall be payable independently of our requiring water in any particular year or not.

3. We also agree to be bound by the rules published in the Calcutta Gazette for pages , Notification No.

4. We agree that this application shall not be deemed to have been completed until all the irrigable fields within the block have been signed for, and that failing such completion any covering lease which may have been granted shall be enforced.

5. We agree that the areas* and amounts as given in the statement below are correct at the commencement of the lease, and in token of agreement we attach our individual signature or mark.

6. Our heirs and representatives shall be bound by the terms of this agreement in case of our decease.

RESOLUTION.—The General Manager of the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway Company has applied for the adoption on the Darjeeling-Himalayan railway of the accompanying General Rules, Part I, and of such of the modifications promulgated with Railway Board's circular No. 100 R. T., dated the 16th January 1908, and published under their notification No. 11, dated the 17th January 1908, as are applicable to the line; together with Part II of the General Rules of 1906, for working open lines of railway promulgated under Railway Board's circular No. R. T. $\frac{89 A}{5}$, dated the 8th September 1906, and published under their notification No. 183, dated the 8th September 1906, and the following modifications thereto :—

(i) the amendments in rule 16, sub-rule (4), Chapter III, promulgated under Railway Board's circular No. R. T. $\frac{281 C}{2}$, dated the 8th April 1907, and published under their notification No. 91, dated the 19th April 1907 ;

(ii) the amendment in rule 33, sub-rule (1), Chapter IV, promulgated under Railway Board's circular No. 519 R. T., dated the 27th June 1907, and published under their notification No. 158, dated the 27th June 1907 ;

(iii) the revised Appendix B—rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives—promulgated under Railway Board's circular No. 562 R. T., dated the 5th July 1907, and published under their notification No. 183, dated the 27th July 1907 ; and (iv) the addendum to rule II (2) (c) and the amendments in Rule II, (6) of Appendix A, promulgated under Railway Board's circular No. 683 R. T., dated the 19th July 1907, and published under their notification No. 185, dated the 25th July 1907.

2. In exercise of the powers conferred by the notification of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 801, dated the 24th March 1905, read in the preamble above, the Railway Board sanction, under section 47, sub-sections (1), (3) and (4), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and in supersession of the rules annexed to the Government of India, Public Works Department, resolution No. 91 R. T., dated the 23rd January 1897, and of all other rules made in this behalf, the adoption, with effect from the 1st May 1908, on the Darjeeling-Himalayan railway, of the accompanying General Rules, Part I, for working the line ; also of the modifications and of Part II of the General Rules of 1906 for working open lines of railway and of the modifications therein, cited in paragraph 1 above.

ORDER.—Ordered that this resolution, with the accompanying General Rules, Part I, be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India as required by section 47, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890) ; also that the same General Rules, together with the modifications and Part II of the General Rules of 1906 and the several modifications therein, cited in paragraph 1 above, which have already been published in the Gazette of India, be kept open for inspection at railway stations as directed by sub-section (6) of the same section, and that this resolution and its enclosure be communicated to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Railway Department, and the Senior Government Inspector of Railways, Circle No. 2, for information.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Definitions.

1. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "adequate distance" means the distance sufficient to ensure safety, having regard to the local conditions obtaining;

(2) "approved special instructions" mean special instructions approved of or prescribed by the Government Inspector;

(3) "authorised officer" means the person who is duly empowered by general or special order of the Railway Administration, either by name or by virtue of his office, to issue instructions or do any other thing;

(4) "authority to proceed" means the authority given to the Driver of a train, under the system of working, to leave the station with his train;

(5) "ballast train" means a train intended for the carriage of ballast, stone, material or fuel when picked up or put down either between stations or within station limits;

(6) to "block back" means to despatch a message from a station intimating to the next station on either side on a single line, that the block-section is obstructed or is to be obstructed;

(7) "block-section" means that portion of the running road between two stations on to which no running train may enter until permission to approach has been received from the station at the other end of the section;

(8) the expression "connections," when used with reference to a running road, means the points and crossings or other appliances used to connect such road with other roads or to cross it;

(9) "day" means from sunrise to sunset;

(10) "Engine Driver" means the person for the time being in charge of a working locomotive engine;

(11) "fixed signal" includes a semaphore arm for use by day and a fixed light for use by night;

(12) "fouling point" means the point at which the infringement of fixed Standard Dimensions occurs, where two tracks cross or join one another;

(13) "Ganger" means the person in charge of a gang of platelayers or other workmen employed on the permanent-way;

(CHAP. I.—PRELIMINARY.—RULE 1.)

(14) "goods train" means a train (other than a ballast train) intended solely or mainly for the carriage of animals or goods;

(15) the expression "Government Inspector," when used with reference to any railway, means an Inspector appointed to exercise any functions under the Indian Railways Act, 1890, in respect of that railway;

X of 1890.

(16) "Guard" includes a brakesman or any other railway servant who may for the time being be performing the duties of a Guard;

(17) "Inspector of Permanent-way" means the railway servant performing the duties of an Inspector of Permanent-way, by whatever designation he may be known on any particular railway;

(18) "last Stop signal" means the Starting signal or (if there are two Starting signals) the Advanced Starting signal;

(19) "main line" means the line ordinarily used for running trains through and between stations;

(20) "mixed train" means a train intended for the carriage of passengers and goods or of passengers, animals and goods;

(21) "night" means from sunset to sunrise;

(22) "obstruction" or "obstructing" means a train, vehicle or obstacle on or fouling a line, or any condition which is dangerous to trains;

(23) "ordinary train" means a train, whether passenger, goods or mixed, which is entered in the Working Time-tables;

(24) "passenger train" means a train intended solely or mainly for the carriage of passengers and other coaching traffic and includes a troop train;

(25) "permission to approach" means the permission given from a station to a station in rear for a train to leave the latter and approach the former;

(26) "running road" means the track, which may consist of one or more lines with the cross-over roads connecting them, to be used by a train when entering or leaving a station or when passing through a station or between stations;

(27) "running train" means a train which has started under an authority to proceed and has not completed its journey;

(28) "special instructions" mean instructions issued from time to time by the authorised officer in respect to particular cases or special circumstances;

(29) "special train" means any train which is neither an ordinary train nor a ballast train;

(30) "station" means any place on a line of railway at which traffic is booked and dealt with, or at which an authority to proceed is given under the system of working;

(CHAP. I.—PRELIMINARY.—CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—GENERAL PROVISIONS.—RULES 2-5.)

(31) "station limits" mean the portion of a railway which is under the control of a Station Master and includes all traffic lines and premises within 250 feet, above and below the upper and lower points of any station. At stations at which there are no lower points, the lowest limits will be 250 feet from the centre of the station building;

(32) "Station Master" means the person on duty who is for the time being responsible for the working of the traffic within station limits, and includes any person who is for the time being in independent charge of the working of any signals and responsible for obtaining and sending the permission to approach and for giving the authority to proceed;

(33) "station section" means that section of station limits at a Class B station which is included between the facing points and the lower Scotch Blocks.

(34) "system of working" means the system adopted for the time being for the working of trains on any portion of a railway; and (35) "train" means an engine, with or without vehicles attached.

Classification of stations.

2. Stations shall, for the purposes of these rules, be deemed to be divided into the following classes, namely:—

Class B stations—where permission to approach may be given for a train before the line has been cleared for the reception of the train within the station section or within the station limits, as the case may be;

Class C stations—block-huts, at which no trains are booked to stop; and Class D stations—stopping-places or flag stations, which are situated between two consecutive stations of Class B or Class C, and do not form the boundary of any block-section.

CHAPTER II.

SIGNALS.

A.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

General use of signals.

3. The signals prescribed in these rules shall be used for controlling the movement of trains in all cases in which exceptions are not allowed by approved special instructions.

Kinds of signals.

4. The signals to be used for controlling the movement of trains shall be—disc or fixed signals, hand signals, and detonating signals.

Use of night signals by day.

5. The signals prescribed in these rules for use by night shall also be used by day in tunnels and in thick or foggy weather.(a)

(a) Ordinary cloud mist is not meant.

CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—FIXED SIGNALS —HAND SIGNALS.—RULES 6-11.)

B.—FIXED SIGNALS.

Description of Disc Signals.

6. Warning Disc Signal is a fixed green disc to be used when caution is necessary.

7. Danger Disc Signal is a fixed red disc to be used as a stop.

Description of Banner Flag.

8. A Banner Flag is a temporary fixed danger signal consisting of a red cloth supported at each end on a post and stretched across the line to which it refers.

C.—HAND SIGNALS.

Hand signals how made.

9. A Hand signal shall be made—by day, by showing a flag or hand, and, by night, by showing a light.

Stop signal how given.

10. The Stop signal shall be given—

by day,—

(a) by showing a red flag, thus—

or

(b) in the absence of flags, by raising both arms with the hands above the head, thus—and, by night,—

(i) by showing a red light; or

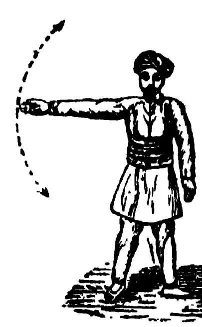
(ii) in the absence of a red light, by violently waving a white light.

Proceed with caution signal when used and how given.

11. The Proceed with caution signal must be used when it is intended that a train should proceed slowly, and shall be given—

(CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—HAND SIGNALS.—RULE 11.)



by day,—

(a) by waving a green flag vertically, thus—

or

(b) in the absence of flags, by waving one arm in a similar manner, thus—and,

by night, by similarly waving a green light.

(CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—HAND SIGNALS.—DETONATING SIGNALS.—RULES 12-15.)

12. The Proceed signal shall be given—

by day,—

(a) by holding a green flag steadily, thus—

or

(b) in the absence of flags, by holding out one arm steadily, thus—and, by night, by holding a green light steadily.

13. In shunting operations, signals shall be given as follows:—

(1) to move away from the person signalling, a green flag or green light moved slowly up and down.

(2) to move towards the person signalling, a green flag or green light moved from side to side across the body.

(3) to slow down, the above signals to be displayed slower and slower until the Danger signal is given.

D.—DETONATING SIGNALS.

14. "Detonating" signals (otherwise known as "Fog" signals) are appliances placed on the rails so as to explode with a loud report when an engine passes over them, for the purpose of attracting the attention of Engine Drivers.

15. (1) All Station Masters, Guards, Engine Drivers, Gangers and Gatemen, and all other railway servants on whom this duty is laid by the Railway Administration, must keep a stock of detonators.

(2) Each Railway Administration shall be responsible for the supply, renewal, periodical testing and safe custody of such detonators, and for ensuring that their use is properly understood.

(CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—DETONATING SIGNALS.—CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 16-24.)

Placing of detonators in thick or foggy weather.

16. In thick or foggy weather, whenever it is necessary to indicate to the Driver of an approaching train the locality of a signal, two detonators must be placed on the line, by a railway servant appointed by the Station Master in this behalf, about ten yards apart and at least one hundred yards outside the outermost signal of the station.

Placing of detonators in case of obstruction.

17. (1) Whenever, in consequence of an obstruction of a line, it is necessary for a railway servant to show hand danger signals at some place short of such obstruction, he shall put on the line one detonator, half-way out to such place, and three detonators, about ten yards apart, at such place.

(2) If the said railway servant is recalled before the obstruction is removed, he must leave down three detonators and must on his way back pick up the intermediate detonator.

Placing of detonators on a mixed gauge.

18. In all cases where the use of detonators is necessary under these rules, on a mixed gauge, detonators must be placed on one rail of each gauge, or on the rail common to both.

Securing of detonators on the line.

19. Detonators must be placed on the line with the label or brand upwards, and must be secured by bending the clasp round the upper flange of the rail.

Renewal of detonators on the line.

20. Every railway servant placing detonators on the line must see that they are, when necessary, renewed immediately after a train has passed over them.

Signals to be kept ready for

21. All signals must be kept ready for immediate use.

CHAPTER III.

WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.

Standard time.

22. The working of trains between stations shall be regulated by the standard time prescribed by the Governor General in Council, which must be sent daily to all the principal stations on the railway.

Adherence to advertised time.

23. No passenger train or mixed train shall be despatched from a station before the advertised time.

Passenger train not to stop where not advertised to call.

24. Except in accordance with special instructions, no passenger train shall be stopped for the purpose of taking up or setting down passengers at a station at which it is not advertised to call.

NOTE.—Authorised stopping places for passengers, otherwise than recognised stations.

The following only will be observed as stopping places for passengers when they may have occasion to join or alight from a train, and on timely notice being given to the Station Master of the nearest station or to the Guard in charge of train of their desire to stop at any of the undermentioned places. The duration of stoppage at any point should not exceed one minute. The luggage of passengers cannot be either accepted or delivered at any of these stopping places. Passengers must arrange to book and take delivery of their luggage at the nearest Railway Station :—

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 25-31.)

1. Choonbatty Siding.
2. Giddapahar.
3. Clarendon Hotel.
4. Goethal's Siding.
5. Wood Cot.
6. Dilaram Road.
7. Brewery Siding.
8. Rungbool Siding.
9. Wilk's Hall Road.
10. West Point Road.
11. Rose Bank Road.

Notice of running.

25. No train shall be allowed to run unless previous notice has been given, when practicable, to all stations concerned.

Single line working.

26. Where trains are being run on a single line, no train shall be allowed to leave one station for another, until it has been ascertained that the line between such stations is clear of trains coming from the opposite direction and, except as contemplated in Rule 77, of all other known impediments.

Two trains not to enter station at same time on a single line.

27. Where there is a single line, two trains shall not be allowed to enter a station at the same time, but the train having precedence must be admitted first, and the signals applying to the other train must be kept at "danger" until the first train has been brought to a stand at the station.

Permission to approach and authority to proceed.

28.(1) No person other than the Station Master may ask for or give permission to approach or give authority to proceed.

(2) An authority to proceed given to a running train shall lapse as soon as the last vehicle of the train has passed the Station Section.

Pushing engine.

29. (1) No engine shall be allowed to push any vehicle, except—

(a) within station limits, or

(b) as provided in rule 44(3), or

(c) in accordance with special instructions.

(2) Trains may be pushed on the Reverses on receiving a caution signal from the pointsman in charge. The speed to be limited to six miles an hour. All brakesmen must be on the alert.

Engine running cab foremost.

30. All trains proceeding up-hill must be drawn by an engine running funnel foremost: all trains proceeding down-hill must be drawn by an engine running cab foremost. This rule may only be disregarded

(a) At the Reverses, see rule 29(2).

(b) Under a written order issued by the authorised officer.

(c) Between Ghoom and Darjeeling.

Guards, Jemadar Brakesmen and Brakesman

31. (1) Except under special instructions, no engine with vehicles attached shall be despatched from any station without the full complement of Brakesmen.

Position in train.

(2) Every Guard must, except under special circumstances, ride in his own brake-van or braked vehicle.

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 31-36.)

(3) In all cases, the Jemadar Brakesman must be on the last vehicle running on the train including trollies.

NOTE.—One Jemadar Brakesman and 3 Brakesmen are necessary for each train drawn by an A class Engine; and one Jemadar Brakesman and four Brakesmen for each train drawn by a B class Engine.

Means of communication with passengers.

32. No passenger train or mixed train shall be despatched from any station unless it be provided with means by which a Guard can communicate with, or get access to, every passenger carriage in the train.

Explanation.—A goods vehicle in which passengers are carried is not a "passenger carriage" within the meaning of this rule.

Loading. IX of 1890.

33. (1) No wagon or truck shall be so loaded as to exceed the maximum gross load on the axles fixed under section 53, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or such less load (if any) as may have been prescribed by the Railway Administration. See Rule 149 and seq.

(2) Except under approved special instructions, no vehicles shall be so loaded as to exceed the maximum moving dimensions prescribed from time to time by the Railway Board.

Couplings.

34. No vehicle that is not furnished with screw couplings or with a central buffer coupling of approved pattern shall be attached to a passenger or mixed train.

Dangerous vehicles.

35. (1) No vehicle which has been off the line shall be allowed to run between stations until it has been examined and passed by a competent Carriage and Wagon Examiner:

Provided that, in case of a derailment between stations, the Engine Driver may, if he considers it safe to do so, take slowly to the next station a vehicle that has been off the line.

(2) If a Guard or Station Master has reason to apprehend danger from the condition of any vehicle on a train before it can be inspected by a Carriage and Wagon Examiner, the Engine Driver shall be consulted, and, if he so requires, the vehicle shall be detached from the train.

(3)" Damaged" or "unfit to run" vehicles, should have the following forms pasted on them when found damaged or unfit to run.

(a) The Green Form No. L. C. W. 13 is to be pasted on vehicles when found to have been damaged.

(b) The Red Form No. L. C. W. 14 is to be pasted on vehicles which may be considered unfit to run.

In each case the Station Master, who discovers the damaged vehicles as per (a) and (b), must report this to all concerned.

Dummy truck.

36. When the load in a truck projects to an unsafe extent beyond the end of the truck, an additional truck shall be attached, to act as a dummy.

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 37-42.)

Private engines and vehicles.

37. No engine or other vehicle, the property of a private owner, shall be allowed to enter upon the railway, except in accordance with special instructions.

Train-lights.

38. At night, and in thick or foggy weather, other than ordinary cloud mist—

(1) no train shall be worked outside station-limits unless it has—

(a) the head-lights prescribed by the Railway Administration, which is the "Wells" or other approved pattern; and

(b) in the case of an engine with vehicles attached, at least one red tail-light; and

(c) in the case of the failure of the "Wells" light the ordinary white head light, and in the case of a single engine, a red tail lamp; and

(d) in the case of a single engine the ordinary "Wells" head light.

(2) no engine shall be employed in shunting within station limits or in a siding unless it has the head-lights and tail-lights prescribed by the Railway Administration; and

(3) when a train has been shunted for a following train to pass, the tail-light and side-lights must be dealt with in accordance with instructions given by the Railway Administration.

Tail-board or tail-lamp.

39. In order to indicate by day to the staff that a train is complete, the last vehicle must be distinguished by affixing to the rear of it either a tail-board, a tail-lamp, a red flag or such other device as may be authorised by special instructions.

Limits of speed generally.

40. Every train must be run on each section of the line within the limits of speed sanctioned for that section by special instructions.

NOTE.—The sectional speed sanctioned shall be shown in the Working Time-table, a copy of which shall be supplied on issue to the Government Inspector.

Limit of speed through facing points.

41. No train shall be run through facing points at a speed exceeding 8 miles an hour, or such lower rate as may be prescribed by special instructions:

Provided that, if the points are interlocked with a fixed signal, or are locked in a manner approved by the Government Inspector, trains may run over them at such speed as may be approved by the Government Inspector.

Protection and working of points.

42. Where there are points in the main line at a place which is not a station, provision for the protection of such points, by signals or otherwise, and for working them, shall be made in order to secure the safe working of trains to the satisfaction of the Government Inspector.

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 43-44.)

Care of facing points when train runs through station without stopping.

43. When a train is to run, without stopping, through any station that is not interlocked, the Station Master of that station, or some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions, must proceed to the facing points and satisfy himself that all facing points over which the train will pass are properly set and locked.

Working of ballast trains.

44. A ballast train may be worked only with the permission of the Station Master on each side and in accordance with special instructions.

(1) A Guard or Jemadar Brakesman must accompany each ballast train running on the line.

(a) No person shall be appointed to be a Guard or Jemadar Brakesman of a ballast train unless he has had the necessary experience as a Train Guard.

(2) The Guard or other person in charge of a ballast train must, before giving the starting signal, require the coolies working with the train and riding in the open trucks to sit down.

(3) A ballast train may, in accordance with special instructions, be pushed by an engine either when running on the line or when being taken back into the station from which it was started:

Provided that the speed shall not exceed nine miles an hour, or such lower rate as may be prescribed by special instructions.

(4) No ballast train shall be stopped between stations to take up or put down material unless—

(a) the permission of the Station Master of the station next before the place of stopping has been obtained before the departure of the train from that station; and

(b) the Guard or other person in charge of the train has, if practicable, arranged with the Station Master of each station as to place and time at which the next train is to be passed.

(5) When granting any permission under clause (a) of this sub-rule, the Station Master must give such instructions to the Guard or other person in charge of the train as he may consider necessary, and must, if necessary, communicate with the Station Master of the other station concerned.

(6) When a ballast train is intended to run through from one station to another, without stopping, it must be treated as a special train.

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 45-49.)

(7) When ballast wagons are left on a siding outside station limits, the Guard or other person in charge of the train must secure a wheel of the wagon nearest to the points of the siding, and must see that the wagons are otherwise properly secured in accordance with such directions as may be issued by the authorised officer, and that scotch blocks, where provided, are fastened.

Warning before moving a ballast train.

45. Before a ballast train is moved, the Engine Driver must give two clear whistles at an interval of half a minute, as a warning to the coolies that the train is about to move.

Control of shunting.

46. Shunting operations shall be controlled by Hand signals, or by verbal directions, as occasion may require.

Moving of vehicles so as to obstruct running road.

47. No vehicle shall be moved so as to foul or obstruct any running road unless the previous sanction of the Station Master has been obtained.

Shunting on steep gradient.

48. When any vehicle is being shunted on a steep gradient, the railway servant in charge of the operation must see that a sufficient number of brakes are put on, that sprags or hand-scotches are used when necessary, and that all necessary precautions are taken to prevent the vehicle getting out of control.

Use and locking of scotch blocks.

49. Whenever any hand shunting has to be done or any vehicles have to be detached at stations, or intermediate sidings, the scotch block at the lower end of the station or siding must be locked across the rail. When the operations are completed the Scotch block must be carefully locked back clear of the line. The responsibility for seeing that the rule is carried out is determined in the following manner:—

(a) At stations when the hand shunting or detaching of vehicles are not in connection with any train to which a Driver is attached, the responsibility rests with the Station Master.

(b) When the hand shunting or detaching of vehicles is in connection with a train to which a Driver is attached both the Station Master and the Driver will be each held personally responsible for the due observance of the rules.

(c) At intermediate sidings the responsibility rests on the Driver alone.

(d) Scotch blocks have been fixed and each block has been supplied with a good padlock (similar to those supplied to Switch-slide-clamps at intermediate sidings, between stations and the key for those Scotch blocks is similar to those supplied for Switch-slide-clamps).

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY—TRAINS STOPPED BETWEEN STATIONS BY ACCIDENT, FAILURE OR OBSTRUCTION.—RULES 50-53.)

Loose shunting.

50. Loose shunting of, or against, vehicles containing passengers, explosives or live-stock is prohibited.

Working in case of accident or failure of electric connections.

51. In case of accident to the line or to any train, or of failure or interruption of electric connections, trains must be worked between stations in accordance with special instructions.

(1) When telegraphic communication is interrupted between any two stations, and the usual "Line-clear" message cannot, in consequence, be obtained direct, every effort must be made to obtain it by communicating through the station next beyond or next back, but should the interruption be of such a nature as to render this impossible, the Station Master may allow a train to proceed under a caution order (green form), provided that no train is due in the opposite direction, and that the Station Master has reason to believe that the line in the direction in which the train is proceeding is clear. This caution order to proceed must state fully the reason why "line clear" has not been obtained, and must restrict the speed to 7 miles an hour.

(2) In total interruption of telegraphic communication on any section trains booked out by the District Traffic Superintendent's Office running to the working time table should be adhered to. Any special train advertised should only run as a following train, and this will be noted on the line clear of the preceding train.

(3) Signallers should note that when reporting interruptions, contacts, &c. the advice of such should be signalled to the addresses as follows.

To A. S. Copy G. M.; D. T. S. and I. T. M.

Scotch blocks to be approached with caution.

52. The localities where main line Scotch blocks have been fixed, should, at all times, be approached (by trains or trollies) with caution, in case the blocks may have been tampered with by outsiders, &c.

TRAINS STOPPED BETWEEN STATIONS BY ACCIDENT, FAILURE OR OBSTRUCTION.

Train stopped between stations.

53. When a train is stopped between stations, the Guard (or Driver) in charge of the train must, unless the stoppage will only be one for a few minutes, immediately ascertain the cause; and, if the stoppage is other than incidental or authorised, and if he finds that through accident or for any other reason the train cannot proceed, the following action shall be taken, namely:—

(1) the said Guard (or Driver) must immediately either himself go back or send a qualified person back, to protect the train;

(2) the person so going back to protect the train must plainly show his hand Danger signal to stop any approaching train, and in addition to his hand signals must take detonators (to be used by day as well as by night), and must place them upon the line on which the stoppage has occurred, as follows, namely:—

(a) one detonator, 150 feet from his train, to be placed on the way out; and

(b) three detonators, ten yards apart, not less than 100 yards from his train, or at such distance as has been fixed by special instructions;

and must also continue to show his hand Danger signal, to stop any approaching train, until he is recalled;

(3) when such person is recalled, he must leave down three detonators, and must on his way back pick up the intermediate detonator;

(4) the Engine Driver must at once show a Danger signal to the front, and must proceed to protect the train in front in the manner prescribed in clauses (2) and (3), either by going himself or by sending his Fireman or some other qualified person;

(5) When the line is blocked by slips, or any other cause, and it is necessary to return a train,—after ascertaining that the line is clear and when it is not possible to send a qualified person back as prescribed in sub-rules (1), (2) and (3), the Driver must in such a case proceed very cautiously and have his train protected by a brakesman on foot preceding the train by at least 100 yards with a red flag or lamp, and in addition at least 3 detonators. These detonators are to be laid on the line at once if a train is heard approaching. Both trains must stop at once on hearing the report of a detonator.

(6) This rule does not apply to trains stopped within station limits or to incidental stoppages made under instructions from the Station Master of the preceding station.

Protection of trains approaching train stopped, or portion of train left on line.

54. (1) If more than one train should approach a train or a portion of a train stopped or left on the line outside station limits, the Guard in charge of the train which last arrives, or, if there be no Guard, the Driver of such train, must see that the precautions prescribed by rule 53 are taken for the protection of such train in the rear.

(2) When such precautions have been taken, all persons who went out to protect in the rear any train except such last train as aforesaid may return to their own trains.

Sending advice of accident or break-down.

55. If the engine is for any reason unable to proceed, the Guard in charge of the train shall send advice to the nearest station, stating the nature and cause of the accident, and, if assistance has been asked for, he shall not allow the engine or any portion of his train to be moved until such assistance arrives, provided that if the train is subsequently able to move it may do so at walking pace, but not unless a man has been sent with hand signals and detonators to protect the train, such man keeping at least 100 yards in advance of the train, the other end of the train being protected in a similar manner.

Light engine stopped on line.

56. If any light engine should, while on the line outside station limits, be unable to proceed, the Engine Driver must see that the precautions prescribed by rule 53 are taken for the protection of the engine, both in front and rear, employing the Fireman or some other competent person to assist him.

Train parting.

57. (1) If any portion of a train should, while in motion, become detached,—

(a) the Engine Driver must use his judgment to keep the front portion in motion if possible until the rear portion has been brought to a stand, so as to avoid the chance of a collision between the two portions, and

(b) the Guard or Brakesman in the rear portion must promptly apply their brakes and do all they can to prevent a collision with the front portion, or a run away back.

(2) As soon as the rear portion of the train has been brought to a stand, the Guard in charge of the train must protect that portion, in accordance with rule 53, both in front and rear.

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY—TRAINS STOPPED BETWEEN STATIONS BY ACCIDENT, FAILURE OR OBSTRUCTION.—RULES 58-59)

Portion of train left on line.

58. (1) When a train, stopped between stations, has to be divided in consequence of an accident or the inability of the engine to take the whole train forward, the Guard or Driver in charge of the train must, before uncoupling, put down the brakes, and must, if necessary, otherwise carefully secure the rear portion of the train to ensure its remaining stationary.

The rear vehicle must always be secured by a sprag or wedge independent of the brakes.

(2) If the engine is capable of proceeding either with or without vehicles, the said Guard shall give permission to the Engine Driver to uncouple and proceed to the next station, and may, if he thinks fit, give him written instructions to return on the same line.

(3) When the said Guard or Driver has taken action under sub-rule (2), he must immediately take steps to protect the rear portion of his train in accordance with rule 53.

(4) At night, or in thick or foggy weather as soon as the engine, whether with or without vehicles, is drawn forward, the said Guard must see that a white light is shown on the front vehicle of the rear portion of the train.

(5) When the front portion of the train is taken forward, a brakesman must, if it is practicable and safe to do so, ride upon the last vehicle of the said front portion of the train until it reaches the next station; but no tail-lamp or tail board shall be placed on it.

(6) When, under the written instructions referred to in sub-rule (2), the engine is to be brought back, the Guard or Brakesman in charge of the train must, until the arrival of the engine, continue to take the precautions prescribed in rule 53, for the protection in rear of the portion of the train left on the line, and shall not permit a following train to move any of the vehicles under his charge.

(7) The Engine Driver shall not bring his train back on the same line unless he has received written instructions, under sub-rule (2), from the Guard in charge of the train to do so.

(8) In case of Fire, the first precaution to be taken is to secure the wheels of the last vehicle by a sprag, or wedge, independent of the brakes and then detach the wagon or wagons on fire, spragging them also.

Large passenger trollies on Line Clear.

59. Large trollies running unattached to trains are to be treated as "special" trains.

(a) When running the large trollies, every effort should be made to act up to the rules, and 16 miles an hour should be the maximum speed on fairly straight lengths on the hill section. On curves, &c., speed should be reduced to a safe limit.

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—CLASS B STATIONS—SINGLE LINES—CLASS C STATIONS.—RULES 60-65)

CHAPTER IV.

SYSTEMS OF WORKING.

Systems of working.

60. (1) All trains working between stations must be worked on one or other of the following systems, namely:—

(a) Line Clear and Caution Message;
(b) Following Trains:
(c) Train-staff and Ticket;
(d) Pilot Guard; or
(e) One engine only.

(2) The Systems sanctioned for use on the Darjeeling-Himalayan railway are "Line Clear and Caution Message" or Combined Line Clear and Pilot Guard System. These must always be used unless circumstances make it necessary to work under "Special Instructions."

CLASS B STATIONS.—SINGLE LINES.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

61. The line shall not be considered clear, and permission to approach shall not be given, unless the whole of the last preceding train has arrived at the place at which trains usually come to a stand.

Obstruction in the face of an approaching train.

62. Obstructing the line, outside the facing points, in the direction of an approaching train, shall be permitted only under special instructions which take into consideration the speed, weight and brake-power of trains, the gradients, the position of the protective hand signals and the distance from which these signals can be seen by the Driver of an approaching train.

Obstruction within station section.

63. If the special instructions referred to in rule 62 are obeyed, and if the necessary signals are kept "on," shunting may be carried on continuously—provided the Scotch Blocks are the proper position.

Obstruction outside station section.

64. Obstructing the line between the station section and the outer signal shall not be permitted unless a railway servant specially appointed in this behalf by the Station Master is in charge of the operation, and unless—

(a) the block section into which the shunting is to take place is clear of an approaching train; or
(b) if an approaching train has arrived outside the station, the Station Master has personally satisfied himself that the train has been brought to a dead stand:

Provided that the line may not be obstructed under clause (b) in thick or foggy weather, or in any case unless authorised by special instructions.

CLASS C STATIONS.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

65. The line shall not be considered clear, and permission to approach shall not be given, unless the whole of the last preceding train has passed and is continuing its journey.

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—THE SECTION CLEAR SYSTEM—THE LINE CLEAR AND CAUTION MESSAGE SYSTEM.—RULES 66-69.)

THE SECTION CLEAR SYSTEM.

Essentials and application of the Section Clear system.

66. (1) Where trains are worked on the Section Clear system,—

(a) no train shall be allowed to leave a station unless permission to approach has been received from the station ahead, and

(b) such permission shall not be given unless the line is clear up to the first Stop signal of that station.

(2) The said system is applicable only to Class B stations; and to single lines only, unless otherwise authorised by approved special instructions.

THE LINE CLEAR AND CAUTION MESSAGE SYSTEM.

Essentials of the Line Clear and Caution Message system.

67. Where trains are worked on the Line Clear and Caution Message system, no train shall be allowed to leave a station, unless—

(a) permission to approach has been obtained by telegram from the station ahead, and

(b) the Engine Driver has been given a written authority to proceed, certifying that the line on which he has to travel is either—

(i) absolutely clear of trains; or

(ii) occupied only by trains running in the same direction at time intervals.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

68. Such permission to approach shall not be given unless, either—

(1) the line on which the train is to travel is absolutely clear of trains and all other known obstructions, and the whole of the preceding train has passed inside the station section or has arrived at the place at which trains usually come to a stand, or

(2) the line on which the train is to travel is occupied only by a train running in advance in the same direction, at an adequate interval of time, and a line has been prepared in the station for the reception of the train running in advance.

Nature of the authority to proceed.

69. (1) In case (1) of rule 68, the authority to proceed referred to in rule 67 shall be a Line Clear Certificate stating that the line is clear.

(2) In case (2) of rule 68, the said authority to proceed shall be a Caution Certificate stating—

(a) that the line is occupied only by trains running in advance in the same direction at time intervals; and

(b) the time of the departure of the said train, and the place at which it will next stop.

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—THE LINE CLEAR AND CAUTION MESSAGE SYSTEM.—RULES 70-72.)

The line clear certificate referred to in general rule 69 is a copy of the telegraphic message from one station to another, stating that the line between the two stations is or will be (when certain conditions specified in the message have been fulfilled) clear of all trains and of all other known impediments for the passage of a particular train. The telegraphic message must only be despatched as a reply to an enquiry received from the station from which a train is to start.

Restrictions on grant of authority to proceed.

70. An authority to proceed shall not be granted at any station in case (2) of rule 68—unless the preceding train has been given a clear 5 minutes start.

Delivery of authority to proceed to Engine Driver or Guard.

71. (1) Every authority to proceed shall be delivered by the Station Master, or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf under special instructions,—

(a) to the Engine Driver, if the train runs through the station without stopping, or (b) to the Guard in charge of the train, if the train stops at the station.

(c) to the Engine Driver, if there be no Guard in charge of the train.

(2) When an authority to proceed is delivered to the Engine Driver under clause (1) (a) of this rule, a duplicate shall be given to the said Guard.

(3) When an authority to proceed is delivered to the said Guard or Driver under clause (1) (b) and (c) of this rule, it must be either—

(i) handed personally to the Engine Driver, or

(ii) countersigned by the Guard, and then handed to the Engine Driver either by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

(4) An authority to proceed shall not be handed to the Engine Driver under sub-rule (3)—

(i) until the train is nearly ready to start, or

(ii) if the train is waiting to pass another train—until the whole of the latter train has come in and is clear of the running road for the former train.

Responsibilities as to proper preparation of authority to proceed.

72. (1) When an authority to proceed is delivered to the Engine Driver under clause (1) (a) of rule 71, the Station Master must see—

(a) that it is properly filled up;

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—THE LINE CLEAR AND CAUTION MESSAGE SYSTEM—THE FOLLOWING TRAINS SYSTEMS.—RULES 73-77.)

(b) that the date and time of the receipt of the line-clear or caution telegram upon which it is based are noted thereon;

(c) that it applies to the particular train to which such telegram refers, and

(d) that it is signed in full and in ink.

(2) When an authority to proceed is delivered to the Guard in charge of the train under clause (1) (b) of rule 71, he must, before it is handed to the Engine Driver, satisfy himself on the several points mentioned in sub-rule (1) of this rule.

(3) Whether the train stops or runs through a station, the Engine Driver must satisfy himself, so far as he may be able to do so, on the several points mentioned in sub-rule (1) of this rule, and if he finds that any of them are not complied with he must not proceed with his train until the mistake or the omission is rectified.

Obstruction in face of approaching train followed by another train.

73. Obstructing the line outside the facing points in face of an approaching train followed by another train for which a permission to approach has been given is prohibited.

Obstruction when approaching train is not followed by another train.

74. At a station where an approaching train is not being followed by another train, shunting shall not be carried on except where the special instructions referred to in rule 62 are obeyed, and the necessary signals are kept "on," in accordance with rule 64.

THE FOLLOWING TRAINS SYSTEM.

Essentials of the Following Trains system.

75. Where trains are worked on the Following Trains system, they may be despatched from one station to the next, following each other in succession in the same direction on the same line at intervals of 5 minutes, until it has been mutually arranged by telegraph between the Station Masters at either end of the section that such succession is to cease.

Condition precedent to working of trains on the Following Trains system.

76. Trains shall not be worked on the Following Trains system unless the Station Master of the station ahead has telegraphed his readiness to receive the trains, and has given his assurance that no train will be allowed to leave his station for the station from which the Following Trains are to be despatched until the latter have all arrived at his station and until he has received permission to despatch trains in the opposite direction.

Conditions to be observed in working trains.

77. When the Following Trains system is adopted, the following conditions must be observed, namely:—

(a) no train shall be allowed to start until the Engine Driver has been given a written authority to proceed and a written acknowledgment thereof has been obtained from him, the train being stopped for the purpose, if not booked to stop;

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—THE FOLLOWING TRAINS SYSTEM—THE TRAIN-STAFF AND TICKET SYSTEM.—RULES 8-80.)

(b) the authority to proceed shall state the time of the actual departure of the preceding train, the place at which it is next to stop;

(c) the Engine Driver of each preceding train must have been informed of the fact that a train will follow, and of the probable period which will elapse before the following train will be allowed to start;

(d) a train shall not be allowed to follow another from a station unless there has elapsed, since the departure of the previous train, an interval of not less than 5 minutes in daylight or after dusk 15 minutes, or such shorter interval (if any) as may be fixed by special instructions;

(e) all the trains shall be timed to run at the same speed, and such speed shall not exceed 12 miles on the Hill, and 16 miles on the Terai Section an hour, except under special instructions;

(f) no shunting shall be carried on while following trains are approaching, and

(g) the actual time of the departure of each train must at once be intimated by telegraph to the station ahead, and the actual time of arrival of each train must at once be intimated to the station in rear.

Application of certain rules.

78. Rules 71 to 73 shall apply to working on the Following Trains system.

Cessation of working on the Following Trains system.

79. When it is intended that no more following trains shall be despatched in the same direction, the Station Master shall intimate such intention by telegraph to the station ahead, after which no more trains in either direction may be despatched between the two stations until the last train has arrived at the station ahead and the line has been cleared between the two stations.

THE TRAIN-STAFF AND TICKET SYSTEM.

Essentials of the Train-staff and Ticket system.

80. Where trains are worked between two stations on the Train-staff and Ticket system—

(a) a single Train-staff must be kept at one of such stations, and

(b) no train shall be permitted to start from either of such stations to the other unless the said Train-staff is at the station from which the train starts and has either been handed to or shown to the Engine Driver by the Station Master when giving such permission.

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—THE TRAIN-STAFF AND TICKET SYSTEM.—RULES 81-85.)

System where applicable.

81. Trains may be worked on the Train-staff and Ticket system only when the line is single and only between such stations as have been declared by special instructions to be staff-stations.

General conditions.

82. Trains shall not be allowed to follow one another in the same direction between staff-stations, unless the Engine Driver has been properly warned of the time of departure of the preceding train and of the place at which it will next stop, and

(1) in the case of a passenger train to follow a goods train, or a goods train to follow a slow passenger train, an interval of 5 minutes by daylight or 15 minutes after dusk has elapsed since the departure of the preceding train, and

(2) in any other case, either—

(i) it has been ascertained that the preceding train has arrived at the next station in advance, or (ii) an interval of 5 minutes has elapsed since the departure of the preceding train.

Engine Driver to have staff or ticket.

83. No train shall be started from a station unless the Engine Driver has in his possession to be carried with him on the journey, either the Train-staff or a Train-staff Ticket, for the section of the line over which the train is about to travel.

Staff or ticket by whom to be delivered to Engine Driver.

84. The Train-staff or Train-staff Ticket shall be delivered to the Engine Driver by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

Staff or ticket when to be delivered to Engine Driver.

85. (1) When no other train is intended to follow before the Train-staff will be required for a train running in the opposite direction, then, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (3), the Train-staff shall be delivered to the Engine Driver.

(2) When other trains are intended to follow before the Train-staff can be returned, then, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (3), a Train-staff Ticket, indicating that the Train-staff is following, shall be delivered to the Driver of each train except the last; and the Train-staff shall be delivered to the Driver of the last train.

(3) When a train is assisted by a second engine in the rear, a Train-staff Ticket shall be delivered to the Driver of the front engine and the Train-staff shall be delivered to the Driver of the rear engine:

Provided that, if both the engines attached to the train are to travel over the entire length of line to which the Train-staff applies, and the train is to be followed by other trains, a Train-staff Ticket shall be delivered to the Driver of each of the engines attached to the first-mentioned train.

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—THE TRAIN-STAFF AND TICKET SYSTEM.—RULES 86-90.)

(4) When a train is assisted by a second engine in the front, the Train-staff or a Train-staff Ticket, as the case may be, must be delivered to the Driver of the leading engine.

(5) When a ballast train has to stop between stations, the Train-staff shall be delivered to the Engine Driver.

(6) The Train-staff or a Train-staff Ticket shall not be delivered to the Driver of any train until the train is ready to start.

(7) The Engine Driver shall not accept a Train-staff Ticket unless he sees the Train-staff at the same time in the possession of the person who delivers the Ticket to him.

Staff to be kept on engine.

86. When the Train-staff is delivered to the Driver of a train, he shall place it in a conspicuous place provided for the purpose on the engine.

Trains not to be started until staff returned.

87. When the Train-staff has been taken away from a station by the Driver of a train, no other train shall be started from that station to follow the first-mentioned train until the Staff has been returned to the station.

Staff or ticket to be given up, and ticket to be cancelled, on arrival of train.

88. (1) Upon the arrival of a train at the station to which the Train-staff or a Train-staff Ticket extends, the Engine Driver must immediately give the Staff or Ticket to the Station Master, or to some railway servant appointed by special instructions to receive it.

(2) The person to whom any such ticket is so delivered must immediately cancel the same.

Procedure when engine is disabled.

89. (1) If an engine which carries the Train-staff breaks down between two stations, the Fireman must take the Staff to the staff-station in the direction whence assistance can best be obtained, in order that the Staff may be available at the station for delivery to the Driver of the assisting engine.

(2) If an engine which carries a Train-staff Ticket breaks down between two stations, assistance must ordinarily be obtained only from the station at which the Train-staff has been left. But if assistance can more readily be obtained from another station in the opposite direction, immediate steps must be taken to have the Staff transferred to the other end of the section.

(3) Whenever an engine has broken down between two stations, the Fireman must accompany the assisting engine to the spot.

Tickets how kept.

90. Train-staff Tickets must be kept in a ticket-box provided for the purpose and fastened by an inside spring, the key to open the box being the Staff to which the tickets apply.

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—THE TRAIN-STAFF AND TICKET SYSTEM—THE PILOT GUARD SYSTEM.—RULES 91-95.)

Train-staff how kept.

91. The Train-staff, when at a station, shall not be left in the box, but must be kept by the Station Master in safe custody.

Distinguishing marks on staff tickets and boxes.

92. (1) Each Train-staff must have shown upon it the name of the staff-station at each end of the portion of line to which it applies.

(2) The Train-staffs and Train-staff Tickets and boxes for the different portions of the line must be distinguished by different colours.

(3) "Up" and "down" Train-staff Tickets must also have distinguishing marks.

Form of ticket.

93. Every Train-staff Ticket shall be in the following form:—

(Back of ticket.)

The Engine Driver shall not accept this ticket unless he sees the Train-staff for the portion of line which he is about to enter.

This ticket is to be given up by the Engine Driver immediately on arrival to the Station Master or other person authorised to receive it, and such person must immediately cancel it.

Record of tickets issued.

94. The Station Master must keep a record in a book of each Train-staff Ticket issued, showing the number of each ticket and the particular train for which it was issued.

THE PILOT GUARD SYSTEM.

Essentials of the Pilot Guard system.

95. Where trains are worked on the Pilot Guard system,—

(a) a railway servant (hereinafter called a Pilot Guard) must be specially deputed to pilot trains, and

(b) no train shall be allowed to leave a station except under the personal authority of the Pilot Guard.

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING—WORKING OF TRAINS ON THE COMBINED "LINE-CLEAR AND PILOT GUARD" SYSTEM.—RULES 96-100.)

WORKING OF TRAINS ON THE COMBINED "LINE-CLEAR AND PILOT GUARD" SYSTEM.

Application of system.

96. This system will only be used when trains are booked to cross at intermediate stations where there is no telegraph office.

Following trains.

97. Trains may follow one another in the same direction between stations subject to the conditions prescribed in this Chapter, in addition to those prescribed in rules 67 and 68.

Pilot Guard's dress or badge.

98. The Pilot Guard must be distinguished by a red badge.

(a) No train shall be started from a station unless the Driver has, in his possession, a line clear certificate or caution certificate, and unless the Driver sees that the train is accompanied by, or that the signal for starting is given personally by the Pilot Guard wearing the badge prescribed by rule 98.

(b) Every train must come to a dead stop where a Pilot Guard has to be picked up or let down.

Trains to be accompanied or personally started by Pilot Guard.

99. Except as herein provided, the Pilot Guard must accompany every train, and must in all cases ride on the engine:

Provided that, when it is necessary to start two trains from a station following one another under rule 77, the Pilot Guard shall accompany the last train and shall personally give the signal for starting the prior train.

Pilot Guard's ticket.

100. (1) When the Pilot Guard does not accompany any train, he shall, before giving the signal for starting, deliver to the Guard in charge (or, if there be no Guard in charge, to the Driver) a Pilot Guard's ticket (on a printed form) properly filled up and signed.

(2) Every such ticket shall apply only to the single journey to the station named on it.

(3) If the train is in charge of a Guard, he shall, before the train is started, deliver the ticket to the Driver.

(4) All the "Line-clear and caution message" given under these rules will have printed upon them the word "Pilot" in large red letters on the white form and black letters on the red form.

(5) All Pilot Guard's tickets will be sent in by the Drivers attached to his journal.

EXAMPLES—

(a) If Mahanudy asks Kurseong, "line clear" for the Up Mail, and Kurseong, to avoid detention to a Down train, gives "line-clear" to Giddapahar Siding only, the Pilot Guard at Mahanudy, under the instructions of the Station Master, must start and accompany the Up Mail, having in his possession a written order on "line-clear" (Form T5) for the train coming from the opposite direction, which should be worded thus:—

"On arrival of No. 5 Up Mail at "Giddapahar Siding, line will be "clear for No. 4 Down Goods" and so on.

(b) If Teendaria wishes to send forward a train with extra wagons to Choonbatty to be followed by the Down Mail which attaches these wagons at that station, and Rungtong at the same time wishes to despatch an Up train as far as Loop No. 2, the procedure will be as follows:—

Teendaria would ask Rungtong for return line-clear to Choonbatty, and on arrival of Down Mail at Choonbatty the engine would return to Teendaria. The Pilot with caution line-clear for Up train proceeds to Loop No. 2, by Down Mail, and returns to Teendaria by that train from No. 2 Loop.

For two Up trains and one Down train—

(c) The Pilot Guard leaving Teendaria proceeds by the 24 Down train with two line-clear messages, and on arrival at Choonbatty he hands the one for No. 1 Up to the Driver and then goes on to Loop No. 2 and hands the line-clear to Driver of No. 3 Up and returns to Teendaria with that train.

(d) Rungtong gives No. 1 Up line-clear to Choonbatty only, and No. 3 Up to Loop No. 2 only, one Pilot Guard accompanies the first train with line clear for No. 24 Down from Choonbatty to Loop No. 2; the latter train with the 2nd Pilot with line-clear from Loop No. 2 to Rungtong.

In the "line-clear" given by Teendaria to No. 3 Up from Loop No. 2, the Driver is informed to follow No. 1 Up cautiously.

The same procedure is adopted for two Down trains and one Up train.

THE ONE ENGINE ONLY SYSTEM.

Essentials of the One engine only system.

101. Where trains are worked on the One engine only system, only one engine in steam, or two or more engines coupled together, shall be allowed on the line at one and the same time.

Application of the one engine only system.

102. Trains may be worked on the One engine only system, only on short branch railways having a single line of rails.

Procedure in case of accident.

103. (1) If a train becomes disabled and requires assistance, or if an accident occurs which renders it impossible for the engine (or, if two or more engines are coupled together, for either or both of such engines) to proceed, the Guard in charge of the train must instruct the Engine Driver to keep the engine stationary until his return, and must then proceed to the station from which assistance can best be obtained, and must inform the Station Master there of the circumstances.

(2) Such Station Master may then allow another engine to enter the line.

(3) Such other engine must be accompanied by the Guard in charge of the disabled train, who must explain to the Engine Driver where, and under what circumstances, the disabled train is situated.

(4) Such Guard shall be responsible for the safe and proper working of the line until each engine has left it and it is again clear.

(5) If there be no Guard in charge of the disabled train, the Fireman, or, if necessary, the Engine Driver, must perform the duties imposed by this rule on the Guard.

CHAPTER V.

USE OF ELECTRICAL INSTRUMENTS ON SINGLE LINES.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Application of Chapter.

104. This Chapter applies only to working on any of the following systems, namely:—

(a) Absolute Block,

(b) Section Clear,

(c) Line Clear and Caution Message,

(d) Following Trains.

Means of working.

105. Trains can only be worked by means of electric block instruments, except under exceptional circumstances which will be arranged for by "Special Instructions."

Provision of instruments.

106. Electric speaking or block instruments must be provided at every station except class D stations. These instruments must be of a type approved by the Government Inspector.

(CHAP. V.—USE OF ELECTRICAL INSTRUMENTS ON SINGLE LINES.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.)

SINGLE LINE TOKEN OR BLOCK INSTRUMENTS.

Code of Bell Signals.—The following Code of Signals is to be used, and each signal must be given slowly and distinctly :—

(CHAP. V.—USE OF ELECTRICAL INSTRUMENTS ON SINGLE LINES—GENERAL PROVISIONS.—RULES 107-108.)

Acknowledgment of signals.

107. (1) Each signal received must be acknowledged by the sending of its authorised acknowledgment.

(2) No signal shall be acknowledged until it is clearly understood.

(3) A signal shall not be considered to be complete until it is acknowledged.

(4) Should the station to which a signal is sent not reply, the signal must be repeated at intervals of not less than twenty seconds until the reply is received.

The Is Line Clear signal when to be sent.

108. In order to ascertain whether the station in advance is in a position to give a permission to approach to the station in rear, and in order to describe the train, the Is Line Clear signal must be sent to the station in advance.

(CHAP. V.—USE OF ELECTRICAL INSTRUMENTS ON SINGLE LINES—GENERAL PROVISIONS.—RULE 109.)

Forms for messages and authorities to proceed and who to despatch.

109. (1) All messages despatched in connection with the working of trains, and all written authorities to proceed, shall be written on forms specially provided for the purpose by the Railway Administration.

(2) Such forms shall be bound up in books and kept at each station by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

(3) Each of such books in use at a station shall contain a certificate, signed by the person by whom the book is kept, showing the number of pages contained therein.

(CHAP. V.—USE OF ELECTRICAL INSTRUMENTS ON SINGLE LINES—GENERAL PROVISIONS.—RULE 109.)

(4) The pages of each such book shall be progressively numbered in print; and when any telegram, certificate or permission written on any page is cancelled, the whole page, together with the counterfoil, must be marked as cancelled, and the page must be carefully preserved by doubling it on the counterfoil.

(5) Besides the progressive number and the serial number for the day every sent line clear or caution message must be allotted a private number by the Station Master or Signaller-in-charge on duty who signs the entry in the train message book.

(6) The private number will form part of the body of the line clear or caution message, and will be signalled as the last word in it. It must be duly recorded in the train message book of the station to which the line clear or caution message is signalled.

(7) Private numbers will not be given to any train messages other than line clear or caution messages.

(8) A private number allotted to a line clear or caution message subsequently cancelled, must not be reallotted: a fresh number must be given to each despatched line clear or caution message, whether cancelled or not.

(9) The object of the private number is to prevent the record, at a station despatching a train of a line clear or caution message as received, which has not been actually signalled.

(10) No line clear or caution message must be signalled, and no line clear or caution message must be received as valid without a private number, as the last word in the body of the message.

(11) The private number sheets are supplied by the District Traffic Superintendent, and are used in the following manner:—

One sheet only must be in use at a time. Numbers must be allotted to the successive despatched line clear or caution message in the order in which the numbers are printed in the sheet in use; and each number, as allotted, must be marked off with a line diagonally through it.

The numbers are printed in groups of five, and any numbers of a group of five, which have not been allotted up to 24 hours must be cut through vertically. The next day's date must then be written at the head of the next group of five, and each number be scored off diagonally, as used, during the next 24 hours: and so on till the sheet is exhausted.

(CHAP. V.—USE OF ELECTRICAL INSTRUMENTS ON SINGLE LINES—GENERAL PROVISIONS.—RULES 110-111.)

The numbers will be used in their consecutive order irrespective of the direction in which the trains are running.

(12) The number sheets must be kept in the Station Master's or signaller-in-charge's possession under lock and key, when not actually in use; no other person being allowed to see or have access to it. Each sheet as exhausted must be sent in sealed envelope to the District Traffic Superintendent, when it will be replaced by another.

(13) The sheets will be issued by the District Traffic Superintendent. A supply sufficient for one month (each sheet containing 200 figures) will be given to each Station Master and the sheets issued to each station will be numbered by the District Traffic Superintendent in the order in which he intends them to be used.

(14) When a sheet is being taken into use, the date must be entered above the left hand column, subsequent dates being entered in the space between the groups of five, as laid down in paragraph (11).

(15) The District Traffic Superintendent when visiting stations will be careful to see that the sheets are duly used; that numbers are scored off in proper order as allotted: and that the date is entered before the first number for the day.

(16) Private numbers should be written out as words, not as numerals and should be signalled as words.

(17) When asking and giving line clear for a pilot or light engine the number of the engine must always be given in the message.

Distinction of messages.

110. (1) Every message despatched in connection with the working of a train must distinctly describe the train to which it relates.

(2) For every train a separate inquiry and reply must be sent.

(3) Enquiry for line clear should be despatched on receipt of the out report from the station in rear. In no case must a line clear enquiry be despatched from a station prior to receipt of the out report except at terminal stations or under special working instructions.

Writing and signing of messages and authorities to proceed.

111. (1) All messages despatched in connection with the working of trains, and all written authorities to proceed, shall be written up in ink or with some other indelible substance, and shall be signed by the person authorised to despatch or issue the same.

(2) No message or authority to proceed shall be written out, either in full or in part, or signed, until necessary.

(3) No message shall be despatched, and no certificate or written permission shall be issued, except by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer.

Completion of messages.

112. No part of any message shall be despatched or acted upon until the whole message has been written out, except in view to the prevention of an accident or in some other case of emergency.

Preservation of messages and authorities to proceed.

113. Messages and authorities to proceed shall be destroyed at such time after issue as may be prescribed by special instructions:

Provided that no message or authority to proceed shall be destroyed in less than a fortnight after issue.

Cancellation of permission to approach.

114. When a permission to approach has been cancelled, no train shall be allowed to leave in the opposite direction until a message has been received acknowledging such cancellation and stating that the train for which the permission to approach has been given is and will be detained.

Engine Driver to have authority to proceed.

115. The Engine Driver shall not take his train from a station unless he has in his possession, as his authority to proceed, a Line Clear ticket or Caution ticket duly signed by the Station Master.

Authority to proceed when to be delivered to Engine Driver.

116. An authority to proceed shall not be delivered to the Engine Driver until the procedure prescribed in the foregoing rules in this Chapter, so far as it is applicable, with such modifications (if any) as may be prescribed under rule 109, has been followed.

Line Clear ticket.

117. Except under special instructions, the Line Clear ticket referred to in rule 115 shall be in the form prescribed in rule 109.

Caution ticket.

118. Whenever, in consequence of the line being under repair, or for any other reason, special precautions are necessary, the Engine Driver must have, instead of a Line Clear ticket, a Caution ticket detailing the reasons for taking such precautions.

Responsibility of Station Master as to authority to proceed.

119. The Station Master must see that the authority to proceed delivered to an Engine Driver is accurate, and that, when it is in writing, it is complete and is signed in full and in ink.

Authority to proceed when to be delivered to Engine Driver stopping at station.

120. If the train stops at the station, and is waiting to pass another train, the authority to proceed shall not be delivered to the Engine Driver until the whole of the latter train has come in and is clear of the running road for the former train.

Who to deliver authority to proceed to Engine Driver.

121. An authority to proceed shall not be delivered to the Engine Driver except by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

Delivery of authority to proceed when there are two Engine Drivers.

122. If two engines are coupled together, or if one engine is in front and another in rear of the train, the authority to proceed shall be delivered to the Driver of the leading engine.

Examination by Engine Driver of authority to proceed.

123. (1) The Engine Driver must see that the authority to proceed is accurate and applies to the section which he is about to enter, and, if the said authority is a ticket, that it is complete and is signed in full and in ink.

(2) If the conditions mentioned in sub-rule (1) are not complied with, the Engine Driver shall not take his train past or from the station until the mistake or the omission is rectified.

CHAPTER VI.

RAILWAY SERVANTS GENERALLY.

Supply of copies or translations of rules.

124. (1) The authorised officer shall supply

(a) to each station, and to each Locomotive Running Shed, a copy in English of the rules for the time being in force on the railway concerned under section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890; and

IX of 1890.

(b) to each railway servant on whom any definite responsibility is placed by the said rules, and who understands English, a copy of the said rules, or a copy of such portions thereof as relate to his duties.

(2) The authorised officer may, at his discretion, supply to any railway servant who does not understand English a translation, in a language which he understands, of the said rules, or of such portions thereof as relate to his duties.

Production of rules.

125. Every railway servant who has been supplied under rule 124 with a copy or translation of rules must produce the same on the demand of any of his superior officers.

Application for new copy of rules.

126. If any such copy or translation supplied to any railway servant should be lost or defaced, he must apply to his immediate superior for a new one.

Acquaintance with rules.

127. Every railway servant, whether supplied or not with a copy or translation of the rules relating to his duties, must make himself acquainted with such rules; and the Railway Administration must see that he does so.

Assistance in carrying out rules, and report of breaches.

128. Every railway servant must assist, whenever necessary, in carrying out the rules for the time being in force under section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, and must report forthwith to his superior any breach thereof which may come to his notice.

IX of 1890.

(CHAP. VI.—RAILWAY SERVANTS GENERALLY.—RULES 129-135.)

Prompt obedience to orders.

129. Every railway servant must promptly obey all lawful orders given by any person placed in authority over him.

Clerks and other office hands are railway servants under rule 129.

Hours of attendance for duty.

130. Every railway servant must be in attendance for duty at such times and for such periods as may be fixed in this behalf by the Railway Administration, and must also attend at any other times at which his services may be required.

Absence from duty.

131. (1) No railway servant shall, without the permission of his superior officer, absent himself from duty, or alter his appointed hours of attendance, or exchange duty with any other railway servant.

(2) If any railway servant desires to absent himself from duty on the ground of illness, he must immediately report the matter to his superior officer, and shall not leave his duty until a competent person has been placed in charge thereof.

Unprotected lights.

132. No railway servant shall place any unprotected light in any vehicle.

Obtaining spirituous or fermented liquor at stations.

133. No railway servant directly connected with the working of trains shall, when on duty or in uniform, obtain spirituous or fermented liquor at any refreshment room at a station, except in accordance with special instructions.

Conduct generally.

134. (1) The conduct of all railway servants must be prompt, civil and obliging.

(2) Every railway servant must at all times afford every proper facility for the business to be performed, and be careful to give correct information.

(3) All servants of the railway are strictly forbidden to employ any of the menial staff on private work, either during or after the usual hours of duty, or to engage in any trade or business either directly or indirectly.

Duties for securing safety.

135. (1) Every railway servant shall be bound—

(a) to see that every exertion is made for ensuring the safety of the public,

(b) promptly to report to his immediate superior any occurrence affecting the safe or proper working of the railway which may come to his notice, and

(c) to render on demand all possible assistance in case of an accident or obstruction.

(d) In case of an accident, the duty of clearing the line, i.e., of removing all damaged vehicles, lies primarily with the Locomotive Department, all other departments doing their utmost to assist.

(CHAP. VI.—RAILWAY SERVANTS GENERALLY.—RULE 135.)

(e) In case a passenger train is stopped by a slip or other obstruction and the traffic branch has no time to arrange transhipping coolies, it is the duty of the nearest officer or subordinate to the accident to help in obtaining coolies and helping the transhipment.

NOTE TO RULE 135 (1) :—

Officers of the Railway should read Government of India, P. W. Department Circular No. III Railway Traffic of the 14th February 1902 with its enclosures Nos. 1 & 2 and accompaniment.

1. Every railway servant is required to report to the nearest Station Master, with as little delay as possible any accidents on the Railway which may come to his notice. Where there is no Station Master, the report must be made to the railway servant in charge of the section of the railway in which the accident has occurred.

2. Any Station Master, who may receive a report that an accident has occurred on the railway, must immediately advise the persons mentioned in paragraph 6 (see below), according to the clause under which the accident may come. In order to reduce the length of the telegraphic advices sent to the officers named on the different clauses of paragraph 6, Station Masters should address such messages as follows :—

The spaces provided in Form L. T. 1 for "From (Station)" and "From (Person)" should be filled in, as usual, with the code initials of the station from which the telegram is sent, and the code letters (S. M.) denoting the despatching Station Master. The space provided for "To (Station)" should be filled in with the code initials of those stations at which the different officers reside, who are required to be advised in accordance with paragraph 6. The space provided for "To (person)" should be filled in with the code letters "Acdt" denoting accident, followed by the class letter, and the number of the sub-para. under which the accident should be classified.

On receipt of such a message, it would be the duty of the signallers to refer immediately to the class the message refers to, for the list of officers to whom copies should be sent, and to deliver to each a copy of the message in question accordingly.

3. The message itself should be written with care and be brief. Before telegraphing, the Station Master should endeavour to obtain the fullest possible particulars, and should carefully classify the message according to the information thus received. For example in the case of a dead body found on the line, the question whether the death was due to the individual being run over by a train or engine or to natural or other causes, should, if possible, be determined, before the accident report is telegraphed. When full particulars cannot be obtained without undue delay, the words "cause of death unknown" should be added to the message. In reporting derailments or collisions, the Station Master should make it quite clear, if any of the vehicles derailed or in collision were occupied by passengers, or were attached at the time of being derailed or in collision, to a train carrying passengers. Goods vehicles detached from a mixed train, and subsequently derailed or in collision during shunting should not be telegraphed as forming part of such mixed train, but reported by wire as derailed or collision during shunting, as the case may be. Similarly, an engine derailed or in collision while detached from its train should not be telegraphed as forming part of such train but simply as "Engine number."

The telegram should state what the detention to traffic is likely to be, as well as what assistance is required, if any; also if the transhipment of the passengers is necessary and what number of carriages is required. In cases of damage to road or rolling-stock, the wording of the telegram should be precise; such terms as wrecked, smashed or destroyed, should be avoided. The probable time it will take to put things right should also be stated, in order that traffic may be worked accordingly. See also the specific instructions hereinafter given regarding the details to be supplied in cases of accidents of the various kinds.

4. Every railway servant informing a Station Master of an accident or obstruction should, in the first instance, sign the telegram to "All concerned" as a voucher for its correctness; but it is not necessary that the message when signalled should bear the name or designation of any sender besides the Station Master.

5. Guards, Permanent-way Inspectors and Drivers, should not as a rule, telegraph to "All concerned," but they may send separate messages to the officers of their own Branches, if they consider it necessary to do so.

6. Telegraphic reports of accidents.

Class A.

1. Persons killed, or grievously injured* travelling by train or intending to do so, whether passengers or railway servants.

2. Servants of the railway or of contractors killed or grievously* injured while working or walking within railway limits. But slight abrasions or bruises, which are incidental to man's ordinary duties do not come under this head.

3. Trespassers or others within railway limits killed or grievously* injured.

4. Collisions between engines, trains, vehicles or trollies.

5. Collisions between trains, one of which carries passengers.

6. Any accident of a description usually attended with loss of human life, with grievous hurt, or with serious injury to property.

7. Damage to the line of such a nature as to render it unsafe for the passage of trains, or to probably cause delay to trains.

8. Serious damage to railway stock, or to public or private property.

9. Derailment of any trains carrying passengers, or any part of such trains. (Engines or vehicles not carrying passengers, which are detached from the body of a train carrying passengers, and are derailed while so detached, should not be classed under this head, but under D. 3.)

10. Averted collisions.

11. Any other unusual occurrence, affecting or likely to affect the safety of persons, or causing or likely to cause serious delay to traffic or mails or damage to the line, works, or railway stock.

On the occurrence of an accident under any of the above heads, the following persons are to be advised by telegraph :—

G. M. L. O.
D. T. S.

Nearest P. W. I.

Accidents under heads 1, 2, 3, 5, 6 and 9 must be reported by telegraph to the District, Civil, and Police Authorities, and to the nearest Police officer, and accidents under heads 1, 2 and 3 to the nearest medical officer.

All accidents under clause 4, in which passengers or other persons are injured, should also be reported immediately by wire to the medical officer, Tindharia.

All accidents under this head must be reported by the Station Master, in writing, to the senior policeman at his station; where there are no Police, the senior policeman of the nearest place should be advised.

The information which is required to be given, when reporting by telegraph accidents under class A, is as follows, and should be given in the order detailed :—

Mileage at which the accident occurred and the station nearest the spot.

Time and date of accident, and number and description of train or trains.

Nature of accident, and number of people killed or injured as far as known.

Cause of accident.

Probable detention to traffic.

Class B.

1. Running into or over cattle level-crossing gates, or obstruction of any kind.

On the occurrence of an accident under the above head, if damage is done to the line or rolling-stock, the same officer should be advised as in the case of an accident under class A; if no damage is done, the following officers alone should be advised by telegraph :—

G. M. L. O.
D. T. S.

Nearest P. W. I.

Information to be given when reporting by telegraph accidents under Class B—

Mileage where the accident occurred.

Date of accident and number of train.

Whether the obstruction was removed, or thrown off the line. Nature of the obstruction.

Class C.

1. Passengers, intending passengers, railway servants, or others dying from natural causes, or causes unconnected with the railways in trains on the line at stations, or within railway limits.

2. Dead bodies found on the line.

On the occurrence of a casualty of the above nature, the following officers should be advised by telegraph :—

G. M. L. O.

The place to which the coolie was going.

The name of the forwarding agent.

Class D.

1. Vehicles blown away from stations.

2. Trains put on a wrong line.

3. Derailments (within or outside station limits) of engines, vehicles or trains not carrying passengers.

4. Trains parting.

* The following kinds of hurt only are designated as grievous :—

(1) Emasculation.
(2) Permanent privation of the sight of either eye.
(3) Permanent privation of the hearing of either ear.
(4) Privation of any member or joint.
(5) Destruction or permanent impairing of the powers of any member or joint.
(6) Permanent disfiguration of the head or face.
(7) Fracture or dislocation of a bone or tooth.
(8) Any hurt which endangers life, or which causes the sufferer to be during the space of twenty days, in severe bodily pain, or unable to follow his ordinary pursuits.

(CHAP. VI.—RAILWAY SERVANTS GENERALLY.—RULE 135.)

5. Fires in trains, or in railway limits, but when there is serious loss of property, this accident comes under class A, 8.

On the occurrence of an accident under any of the above heads the following officers should be advised by telegraph :—

G. M. L. O. D. T. S.

Nearest P. W. I.

Information to be given when reporting by telegraph accidents under class D.

3. In the case of derailments—

Mileage where the accident occurred.

Whether or not traffic can be worked through.

Damage to rolling-stock and Permanent-way.

How long the line is likely to be blocked.

Assistance required.

5. In the case of Fires—

The nature of accident.

The amount of damage done.

The nature of the assistance required, if any.

1, 2 and 4.—In these cases—

The nature of the accident.

Class E.

1. Engine failures—

Engine failures, which do not cause an accident coming under any of the preceding clauses of this paragraph, should be reported by telegraph to—

G. M. L. O. D. T. S.

Nearest P. W. I.

Information to be given when reporting by telegraph accidents under class E.

The nature of the accident.

The cause which produced it.

Whether or not assistance is required.

7. Written reports of accidents.—

The railway servant who reports an accident to a Station Master must, without delay, submit a written report giving full details to the officer under whom he is directly serving for transmission to the head of the Branch. The written report should give the fullest particulars regarding the accident on form M. G. 14, and the following details must also be invariably supplied when accidents of the nature to which they refer take place :—

In case of accidents.—Locomotive Superintendent, Tindharia, should be furnished with a copy of telegraphic reports of the accidents class A. 4, 5, 7, 9 and D 3, and E. 1.

In case of death.—Personal description, caste, age and sex; cause of death, if known; number of train travelling by and date, number and class of ticket; and station to and from; number of passengers in the carriage and compartments; property how disposed of; whether body of deceased handed over to the police or buried. If not made over to Police, whether sent to Civil Surgeon or not.

In case of great destruction to public or private property.—The extent and nature of such loss should be stated as far as known.

In case of trains parting.—The cause of the train parting should be given; the position of the vehicle or vehicles of which the couplings gave way; and the extent of damage to stock, if any. In describing the position of any vehicle its place in relation to the engine should be given, thus :—"fourth from the Engine," "Sixth from the Engine," and so on. The total number of carriages in the train should also be stated.

In case of fires in trains.—The position of the vehicle in relation to the engine should be given; the extent of damage, if any, to the vehicle or its contents.

(CHAP. VI.—RAILWAY SERVANTS GENERALLY.—RULE 135.)

In the case of obstruction, placed on the line. The names and descriptions of the persons who are supposed to have put them there, and the measures taken with regard to the latter.

8. In case of a person being run over and killed, the body may be moved clear of the line, provided the position of the corpse is carefully noted before this is done. The body, however, must not be removed from the place where the accident occurred until examined by the police.

9. In all cases of dead bodies found on the line, unless it is known for certain that death was caused by the person being run over, a post-mortem examination will be held by the nearest Civil Surgeon.

10. In case of any serious injury to passengers or employés medical aid must at once be afforded to the sufferers. They must be properly and carefully attended to until removed to hospital, or until handed over to their relatives or friends. A local medical officer should be communicated with if he is nearer than any railway officer.

11. Every facility must be afforded to the Civil Police and Medical officers, to enable them to proceed to the scene of a serious accident.

12. Permanent-way men are responsible that each Station Master is informed of the dwelling of the gangmen living between his station and that on either side.

13. When the assistance of an engine is required between stations, either to convey workmen to the site of an accident or to bring in a train engine which is disabled the Driver and Guard of the disabled train must jointly sign a memorandum to the effect that another engine is required, and on receipt of this memorandum the Station Master will immediately telegraph for the assistance required. After such a memorandum has been signed by the Guard and Driver the engine of the disabled train must, on no account, be moved; and it must be protected according to rules.

14. The assistance of a second engine is on no account to be asked for by any Station Master, unless he has in his possession a memorandum signed by the Guard and Driver, stating that such assistance is required; and no engine is on any account to be sent to the assistance of a disabled train, between stations, except on the requisition of the Station Master responsible for reporting the accident.

(2) Every railway servant who observes—

(i) that any signal is defective, or

(ii) any obstruction, failure or threatened failure of any part of the way or works, or

(iii) anything wrong with a train, or

(iv) any defect in the permanent-way, works, or telegraph, or

(v) that a collision or other accident is imminent, whether on the main line or elsewhere, which may be averted by the timely exhibition of a danger signal, to exhibit the such signal, if it is within his power and means to do so.

(vi) any unusual circumstance likely to interfere with the safe running of trains or the safety of the public, must take immediate steps, such as the circumstances of the case may demand, to prevent accident; and, where necessary, must advise the nearest Station Master by the quickest possible means.

(CHAP. VI.—RAILWAY SERVANTS GENERALLY.—RULES 136-45

Consent required before interfering with signal.

136. No railway servant shall interfere with any signal or its fittings or connections for the purpose of effecting repairs or for any other purpose, except with the previous consent of the Station Master or other railway servant in charge of the working of the signal.

Knowledge and possession of hand signals.

137. Every railway servant employed on or connected with shunting operations of any nature, or the movement of trains, must—

(a) have a correct knowledge of hand signals, and

(b) have the requisite hand signals with him while on duty.

Signal lamps.

138. Every railway servant in charge of signals must see that the greatest care is taken in the cleaning, trimming and lighting of signal lamps.

Leaving vehicles in sidings outside station limits.

139. No railway servant shall leave any vehicle in a siding outside station limits, unless the vehicle is clear of all running roads and, except under special instructions, unless the wheels thereof are properly secured, or the Scotch Block, if provided, properly locked.

Obstruction of line.

140. No railway servant shall commence any loading, shunting or other operation by which any running road may be fouled or obstructed, without obtaining the previous sanction of the Station Master, or of some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions, who must see that all necessary steps are taken for the protection of traffic while such operation is being carried on.

Preparation for running of trains.

141. The staff must always be prepared, without previous notice, for the running of trains.

Finding of lost articles.

142. Any railway servant who finds on the railway or in any vehicle any article (whether belonging to the Railway Administration or to a private owner) which appears to have fallen from a train or to have been lost, must immediately deliver or send such article to the nearest Station Master, to be dealt with in accordance with special instructions.

Notice before leaving service.

143. Every railway servant shall, before leaving the service, give the Railway Administration the notice specified in his agreement (if any), or, if no notice is so specified, then one month's notice in writing.

Surrender of railway property on leaving service.

144. When a railway servant leaves the service he must deliver up to the Railway Administration, or to a person appointed by the Railway Administration in this behalf, any property in his custody which belongs to the Railway Administration.

Payment of Staff.

145. (1) No payment will be made by the Paymaster from the train excepting to the train staff on duty. The rest of the staff will only be paid when the Paymaster's trollies run through, in the regular course.

(CHAP. VII.—STATION MASTERS.—RULE 146.)

(2) No deduction is to be made from the pay of the staff by the Paymaster, unless the slip or paysheet bears the initial of the General Manager. Any of the staff, obstructing the Paymaster, in reference to payment of such debits, will be severely dealt with. They can however, if they wish, submit, after payment, an appeal, against such deductions, through the Heads of their Branches, and this will have the attention of the General Manager in due course.

CHAPTER VII.

STATION MASTERS.

Responsibility of Station Master for working.

146. (1) The Station Master shall be responsible for the efficient discharge of the duties devolving upon the several members of the staff employed, either permanently or temporarily under his orders at the station or within station limits; and such staff shall be subject to his authority and directions in the working of the station.

(2) The Station Master shall also be responsible that the general working of the station is carried out in strict accordance with the rules for the time being in force.

(3) The Station Master is personally responsible for the proper keeping of the cash books, and that they contain entries of all moneys received on whatever account: he must sign the books every day, certify the correctness of the entries, and see that the cash has been duly remitted to the cash office.

NOTE TO RULE 146 :—

Rates and Conditions.

For all Fares Rates and Conditions references should be made to the Current Joint Coaching and Goods Tariff published by the E. B. S. Railway, a copy of which should be with every Station Master.

Alterations to Appendices A & B of the General Rules.

References concerning alterations to the Appendices A and B of the General Rules of the Darjeeling Himalayan Railway published in 1908—will be found in the Joint Goods Tariff under the heading "Rules for the Conveyance of Dangerous Goods."

Instructions regarding Transmission of Station Earnings to Darjeeling.

All cash bags with station earnings must be deposited in the travelling cash safe fitted in the Guard's van of the up mail train. The Guard will sign a certificate in the attached form (No. S. N. 62). Each Station Master will be furnished with a book containing these forms. The signature of the Guard must invariably be obtained in ink. Cashier will also grant a certificate to the Station Master, Darjeeling, in the accompanying form (No. S. N 62 A). This latter form will also be countersigned by the traffic cash witness.

2. The cash will arrive at Darjeeling Station in the travelling cash safe every day by the up mail train. The

(CHAP. VII.—STATION MASTERS.—RULE 146.)

Traffic branch will be responsible for the money until taken over by the Cashier.

3. After the arrival of the mail train, every day, the Station Master at Darjeeling will see that the safe is removed from the Guard's van to the Cash Office, where it will be opened by the Cashier in the presence of a cash witness to be furnished by the Traffic Branch.

4. If any cash bag be found missing in the cash safe, the Cashier and the cash witness will immediately wire jointly to the Station Master who has not sent the bag, forwarding a copy of the Message to the General Manager and also to the Deputy Manager and Assistant Traffic Superintendent.

5. Should any of the bags be found torn or the locks or seals damaged, the Cashier and the traffic cash witness will have the bag examined carefully and note the circumstances and open such bag first, and if after opening, the contents do not agree with the remittance note, a joint telegram from the Cashier and the traffic cash witness should be sent to the forwarding Station Master. In cases of serious discrepancies, copies of such messages should be given to the General Manager and to the Assistant Traffic Superintendent for necessary action.

6. After the cash of one station is taken by the Cashier, the remittance note and the receipt will be initialled by the traffic cash witness. All corrections will also have to be initialled by the latter.

Instructions regarding "Railway or owner's risk."

I.—Staff concerned are required to note that the remark "at Railway Risk" or "at Owner's Risk" must be stamped on all invoices.

In case of failure to enter the remark "at Railway Risk" or "at Owner's Risk" on invoices, the receiving stations shall wire to the forwarding station enquiring whether the consignment is booked "at Owner's Risk" or "at Railway Risk," and the receiving station will be held responsible for the collection of the correct charges.

Instructions regarding irrecoverable under-charges.

II.—When undercharges are irrecoverable, in the absence of special agreement the following rules shall apply :—

In the case of goods invoiced "To pay," the forwarding station shall be responsible that the correct charges are entered on the invoice for the proportion due to the forwarding railway; the receiving station shall be responsible for the proportion due to the receiving railway.

For the charges due to any intermediate railway or railways, if incorrect charges have been entered on the invoice and the error remains undetected before delivery, both the forwarding railway and the railway which effects the delivery shall be responsible for the charge due to intermediate railways in equal division : in all other cases the railway which effects the delivery and collects the charges shall be responsible.

No shortage certificates to be issued when consignments are covered by risk notes.

All Station Masters, goods and booking clerks should note that no shortage certificates for consignments, which are covered by Risk Note should be issued and if any one is found to do so, he will do it solely at his own risk as the Company will not admit liability for such shortage or damage.

Filling in of Risk Note Forms.

Care should be taken to see that the blank space and other particulars provided in the Risk Note forms should be properly filled in by consignors of goods before they are accepted by the staff concerned, and as incomplete documents will not help this and the connected Railways in a court of law, the staff concerned are therefore instructed that under no circumstances must they accept incomplete Risk Note forms from the senders of goods and parcels. The Station Master or Clerks neglecting the above will be held responsible for any loss entailed upon the railway.

(CHAP. VII.—STATION MASTERS.—RULE 146.)

Filling in of Receipt Notes.

Station Masters, Goods Clerks and other staff concerned are instructed that in issuing Receipt Notes to senders or consignors of goods, both in local and through booking, they must invariably fill in the column which is provided in the same. In the case of through consignments proportions due to each line must be shewn separately in the Receipt Notes.

Quoting of Rates to the public.

All endeavours must be made by the staff to quote correct rates to the public. Any infringement of this order will be seriously taken up.

Charges for telegrams for rebooking parcels or goods, &c.

Station Masters, Goods and Booking Clerks and others concerned should note that whenever it is necessary to make use of the wire for rebooking a consignment or parcel, at the request of the consignor or consignee (as the case may be) to the forwarding or to some other station, or for tracing parcels or goods, etc., which have been lost or missing, but not booked in the usual way; they must realise beforehand the cost of the telegrams required to be sent in his behalf, and send them, as paid private messages and not on Railway service.

The attention of the staff concerned is also drawn to the following rules which are at present in force :—

"When telegrams are required to be sent enquiring for, or giving directions regarding luggage or property which has been left in any of the railways' waiting-rooms or trains, the cost of forwarding the message must be borne by the owner of the property."

Survey of Tea chest before accepting for carriage.

Consignees of Tea chests demand a survey of the contents of every chest of tea forming a consignment in cases where some of them only bear signs of wet or damage.

Station Masters and Goods Clerks of forwarding stations should carefully examine each consignment before granting a receipt and should note both on the receipt and invoice the numbers of chests on which there is any outward trace of damage so that the responsibility of this and connected railways may thus be minimized.

Carriage of birds and small animals in Crates.

1. On the Darjeeling Himalayan Railway no consignments of birds, small animals, etc., in cages or baskets will be accepted for despatch unless due provision is made by the sender for their food and water and all consignments in which birds, etc., are overcrowded will be refused.

2. Baskets measuring 4 ft. by 2 ft. by 1 ft. must not contain more than 20 fowls or 15 ducks. Consignments for distances of 200 miles and over will not be received unless they are accompanied by an attendant who will feed and water the birds during the journey.

(Note.—All baskets or crates containing birds, etc., should be made sufficiently strong so as to be stacked one above the other without damaging the lower crates.)

Instructions regarding submission of Coaching Returns and Collected Tickets and Pass Returns.

All Station Masters, Guards, Booking Clerks, Ticket Checkers and other staff concerned should note that statements of Coaching traffic and of Collected Tickets and Passes (in forms Nos. S. N. 8 and S. N. 28 respectively) will have to be prepared and submitted separately, viz., former by the Station Masters and Booking Clerks, on the day following the sale of the tickets, and the latter by the Ticket Checkers. The statement of collected Tickets, etc., for the up mail Train will have to be submitted on the date of collection and that of the down mail Train on the day following the collection to the office of the General Manager.

As regards passengers travelling by up and down mixed Trains, the Ticket Checkers will have to prepare and submit separate statements of collected tickets, etc., same as in the case of mail Trains. The Station Masters and Booking Clerks will also have to submit separate statements for sale of tickets by these and other Goods Trains.

Goods Trains which have no Ticket Checkers, the Station Masters of the several stations to which passengers are booked, have to collect tickets and submit separate statements of collected tickets on the day following the collection in form No. S. N. 28.

Any irregularity or delay in the submission of the statements by the staff concerned will be taken up in due course.

A supply of forms Nos. S. N. 8 and S. N. 28 will be sent to each Station Master and Ticket Checker, respectively, and all requisitions for future supply should be sent to the office of the General Manager.

Notice to be sent to sending station within six hours of the receipt of damage, deficiency, or loss of goods.

The staff concerned are hereby informed that any damage, deficiency or loss, to consignment of goods, parcels, or luggage, etc., must be notified to the sending and transhipment stations by telegram within six hours of the time at which the wagon containing the goods, etc., has arrived.

Instructions regarding Counterfeit coin.

All Station Masters, Booking and Goods Clerks and other staff concerned are warned that they should be careful to reject counterfeit coin or coin that have been fraudulently altered or have unduly lost weight otherwise than by fair wear and tear, it is open to objection that the coinage of any particular year should be singled out for special scrutiny.

Care should also be taken to scrutinise every Currency Note, and a record should be kept of the numbers. Notes of Rs. 50 and over should when possible, be signed by the tenderers.

Outstandings at Stations.

1. The attention of Station Masters, Goods and Booking Clerks, Signallers in charge is drawn to the following orders :—

2. Every debit, whether arising from error, in charging short remittance of cash, base coin or other cause, is payable by the person through whose fault it has been incurred. It is therefore the duty of Station Masters or other responsible Station Officers, on receiving a schedule of errors, undercharge memo, error sheet, or other advice of debit to ascertain by whom the amount is payable, and see that the following rules are strictly observed.

3. Immediately on receipt of undercharge memo., error sheet, schedule of short remittance, or base coin, or other advice of debit, it should be checked, and the debit, whether admitted or not, must be taken to account in the first Balance Sheet to be submitted to the General Manager's Office.

4. The debit, if admitted, should be paid in, within seven days; if objected to, the grounds of objection, with other necessary details, must be at once reported to the General Manager.

5. Debits on account of base coin, etc., returned by Cashier, and short remittances of cash must be made good at once, and no objection whatever will be entertained for debits of this nature.

6. When debits are due by a subordinate, who has been removed to another station, or who has left the service, the General Manager's office should be advised immediately with a view to realization

7. Neglect to deal with the undercharge memo., error sheet, and cashier's advices of short remittances, and base coin in the manner stated above will render the person at fault liable to punishment by fine, as well as to having the debit realized from his pay without further reference.

8. The Station Masters must see that all admitted debits are realized and remitted to the Cashier, within seven days, as required by para. 4 but if this is not done, the Station Master should submit the accompanying list (Form

(CHAP. VII.—STATION MASTERS.—RULE 147—148.)

No. 233) not later than 5th of every month, giving the name and designation of the person responsible, otherwise the Station Master, Goods Clerks or Head Booking Clerk will be held responsible for the same and recoveries made accordingly from their pay.

9. A list in Form (No. 232) must be submitted to the Head Office not later than 5th of every month both for goods and coaching debits showing the objected items of all Audit debits and the grounds of objection must be stated fully, brief explanation as "under reference" or "See letter No. " will not be accepted.

10. A list (Form No. T/231) which should contain all goods and coaching outstandings, due to error in accounts, i. e., where two invoices or way bills are issued or received. Invoices issued to wrong destination. Invoices issued "Paid" instead of "To Pay." Invoices issued for goods, etc., withdrawn, should be submitted along with the above returns (Forms No. 233 & 232). The circumstances relative to each case must be reported in full in the list, and the action taken, towards clearance of the items.

11. Goods and parcels lying undelivered over four weeks. —The attached list (Form No. 230) will include goods and parcels both "Paid" and "To Pay" not delivered. Only items over four weeks old should be entered, with full details as to cause of non-delivery. The action taken by the Station Master and Goods or Parcel Clerk towards their clearance should also be stated, viz., if the goods or parcels are on hand, consignee or consignor should be written to, and if no satisfactory replies are received, the General Manager should be referred to, regarding transferring the consignment to the Lost Property Office. If the goods or parcels have not arrived, the forwarding and junction station should be asked for particulars of despatch, etc., and the result reported to the General Manager. Full particulars, with number and date of each letter written, or goods or luggage and parcels return number, etc., must be stated in the list.

12. All the four lists must be compiled from the last Balance Sheet and submitted to the General Manager correctly and punctually every month. If there are no items to be entered in any list, a nil form must be submitted.

147. The Station Master shall see that all signals, all points, all Scotch Blocks, and the whole working machinery of his station are in proper working order, and shall immediately report all defects therein to the proper authority.

Responsibility for the working whole mach

(1) All weighing machines belonging to the various stations and goods sheds should be oiled and cleaned and adjusted at least once a month.

(2) All weighing machines should be kept on perfectly level platform as uneven ground interferes with correct weighment.

(3) All application for cleaning and adjusting weighing machines or the weigh-bridge at Siliguri should be made to the District Traffic Superintendent who will arrange with the Loco. Branch.

148. The Station Master must take steps to ensure—

Switches, points, facing points, signal and scotch-Blocks.

(a) that the switches of all traps, slip-sidings and catch-sidings, when it is not necessary that they should be open, are set against the line which they are intended to protect;

(b) that all points are correctly set, in accordance with special instructions, for the passage of trains or vehicles, and that all facing points are securely locked for the passage of trains;

(CHAP. VII.—STATION MASTERS.—RULE 149.)

(c) that all signals at his station are correctly worked;

(d) that no points should be open for shunting over the main line till the Scotch blocks are set in against the main line; and

(e) that when a train is to run through or "pass" a station, the Station Master or Signaller-in-charge is responsible for the proper setting and securing of all points.

Load of trains.

149. The Station Master must leave it to the discretion of the Driver to determine what load the engine can take; but every instance of refusal by a Driver to take the load prescribed must be reported by the Station Master to his immediate superior.

NOTES REGARDING LOADS—

The attention of all Station Masters and other staff concerned is drawn to the necessity of seeing that loads of all vehicles and parcel vans which are attached to the up and down mail trains and other trains are either evenly distributed or put in the centre to prevent the vans, etc., being derailed.

In the case of fowl vans the heavier packages to be on the floor of the vehicle.

Inspection Book at station.

150. An inspection note book must be kept at each station for the remarks and instructions of inspecting officials. This book must be kept in the personal custody of the Station Master, and produced by him on each occasion when any member of the inspecting staff visits his station. The Traffic Officers and Inspectors of Accounts will examine and initial these books each time they visit a station.

Equipment of station for hand-signalling.

151. The Station Master must see that his station is adequately supplied with all necessary equipment for hand-signalling.

Daily inspection of station.

152. The Station Master shall daily inspect the station, and see that all rooms, offices, platforms, latrines and other appurtenances are kept neat and clean.

*(This is subject to alteration by the Loco Superintendent.)

(CHAP. VII.—STATION MASTERS.—RULES 153—159.)

Responsibility of Station Master for property.

153. The Station Master of a station shall be responsible for the security and protection of the property of the Railway Administration at the station.

Responsibility of Station Master before giving permission to start train.

154. The Station Master must see before he gives the Guard or Driver permission to start a train, that all is right for the train to proceed.

Responsibility regarding passengers on large trollies.

155. Station Masters, and the officer-in-charge of Large Trollies running under "line clears," are responsible to see that no person other than one of the officials of the railway, travels on such trollies without first signing the Indemnity Form provided for such persons.

Examination of trains before starting.

156. When a train is examined by a Carriage and Wagon Examiner at a station, the Station Master shall not give permission to start the train until he has received a report from such Examiner to the effect that the train is fit to proceed.

Tail-lamps and tail-boards of passing trains.

157. (1) The Station Master must see that every train passing through the station is provided with a tail-board or tail-lamp on the last vehicle.

NOTE.—If a tail-board or tail-lamp be not available, a red flag or other device may be used in accordance with special instructions.

(2) If by day the tail-board or tail-lamp be missing or if by night the tail-lamp be out or be missing the Station Master must immediately advise the station ahead to stop the train, to see that the defect is remedied and to reply saying whether the train is complete or not.

Supply of rules, and distribution or exhibition of other documents.

158. The Station Master must

(a) that every railway servant subordinate to him who should be supplied with a copy or translation of these rules under rule 124 duly receives the same;

(b) that the Working Time-table in force together with all corrigenda and with the appendix thereto (if any), working instructions, and other notices having reference to the working of the line, are properly distributed or exhibited as may be required;

(c) that both the English and Vernacular sheet time-tables and fare-lists are correctly exhibited at all stations where traffic is booked; and

IX of 1890.

(d) that the Indian Railways Act, 1890, and Goods and Coaching Tariffs are available for inspection by the public.

Obedience to orders, and keeping of books and returns.

159. The Station Master shall see that all orders and instructions are duly conveyed to the staff concerned and are properly carried out, and that all books and returns are regularly written up and neatly kept.

(CHAP. VII.—STATION MASTERS.—RULES 160—166.)

(a) Station Masters shall receive their orders from, and report to, such Traffic Officers as may be placed over them by the authorised officer.

Behaviour of railway servants.

160. The Station Master must see that all railway servants at his station behave respectfully and civilly to the public and to passengers of every class.

Assistance to passengers.

161. (1) The Station Master must see that each member of the platform staff is acquainted with the times of arrival and departure of all passenger trains, so as to render information to the public when required.

(2) Upon the arrival at a station of a train carrying passengers, the Station Master must see that the station servants pay immediate attention to any indication shown by passengers of their desire to receive assistance.

Report of neglect of duty.

162. The Station Master shall report, without delay, to his immediate superior, all neglect of duty on the part of any railway servant who is under his orders.

Subordination of Railway servants to Station Master; his general responsibility.

163. All railway servants employed, whether temporarily or permanently, at a station or within station limits, shall, in carrying on their duties connected with the working of the line or station, be subject to the authority of the Station Master.

Shunting.

164. The Station Master must see that the shunting of trains or vehicles is carried on only at such times and in such manner as will not involve danger.

(1) The Station Master must see that vehicles standing at the station in sidings are properly secured in accordance with special instructions, and that scotch blocks, where provided, are fastened,—

(a) All vehicles detached from running trains and left in siding are to be secured so as to prevent them from being blown out in a storm or escaping in any other way, by passing a chain under the rail and round one or more of the wheels of the vehicles nearest to the points of the siding in which the vehicles are standing, and then, after fastening the chain by a padlock, coupling up the other vehicles to the vehicle so secured.

Closing of windows of empty compartments on siding.

165. The Station Master shall be responsible that the doors and windows of all empty compartments are closed when the carriages are standing on a siding, and that all purdas are fastened down.

Vehicles escaping from station.

166. If any vehicle escapes from a station, the Station Master must take immediate steps to warn the other stations concerned, and, as far as practicable, to prevent accident.

(CHAP. VII.—STATION MASTERS.—CHAP. VIII.—GUARDS.—RULES 167-171.)

Searching of trains and vehicles shunted off at station.

167. The Station Master shall be responsible that each train after finishing its journey, and all vehicles shunted off at the station as "empties," are carefully searched.

Accident or obstruction.

168. (1) When a report of any accident or obstruction is received by the Station Master, he must see that all necessary precautions are taken, by the most expeditious means possible, for the protection of traffic.

(2) If an accident happens to a train, the Station Master must arrange for all necessary assistance to be sent to the train.

(3) The Station Master shall as soon as practicable report each accident in accordance with special instructions.

CHAPTER VIII.

GUARDS.

Time of attendance of Guard at station.

169. Every Guard must be in attendance at the station from which his train is to start, half an hour before the time appointed for the departure of the train, or at such earlier time as may be ordered by the authorised officer.

Drivers and Guards from whom to receive orders.

170. Drivers and Guards shall receive their orders from the Station Master, or from some other railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer, and must apply to such Station Master or other railway servant for the time tables, equipment and stores referred to in rule 173.

Guard to be in charge of train.

171. After an engine has been attached to a train, and during the journey, the Guard or (if there be more than one Guard) the head Guard shall be in charge of the train in all matters affecting the starting, stopping or movement of the train for traffic purposes.

(a) All Guards, Ticket Checkers or others acting as Guards (or Drivers in the case of goods trains) will be held responsible for any theft or loss that may occur to goods, luggage or parcels made over to them, unless they can show that it was occasioned by circumstances beyond their control.

(b) Guards are strictly prohibited from accepting Parcels, etc., which are not entered in their guidances: every breach of this rule should be brought to the notice of the District Traffic Superintendent.

(c) Guards should obtain a receipt for every item delivered by them during a journey and at the termination of a journey; any omission to do so will be taken as presumptive evidence of non-delivery.

(CHAP. VIII.—GUARDS.—RULES 172-176.)

Subordination of Guards in station limits.

172. When a train is within station limits, the Guards shall be under the orders of the Station Master.

Guard's equipment.

173. (1) Every Guard must have with him, while on duty with his train,—

(a) a copy of the rules for the time being in force on the railway concerned under section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or such portions of them as have been supplied to him under rule 124,

IX of 1890.

(b) a copy of the working Time-table in force on the lines over which the train is to run,

(c) a watch,

(d) a hand signal lamp,

(e) a whistle,

(f) a red flag and a green flag, and

(g) such other articles, including a sufficient supply of detonators, as may be prescribed by the Railway Administration in this behalf.

(2) If any Guard is not in possession of any article mentioned or referred to in sub-rule (1), he must report the fact to the Station Master of his head-quarters station whose duty it shall be to make good any deficiency.

Permission to starting from station.

174. (1) The Guard in charge of a train shall not give the signal for starting the train from a station at which it has stopped until he has received permission from the Station Master.

(2) The Guard in charge of a train with passenger vehicles attached shall not give the signal for starting until he has satisfied himself that no passenger is getting into or out of the train, that no person is riding outside a carriage, and that, except in accordance with special instructions, no person is travelling in any compartment or vehicle not intended for the carriage of passengers.

Guard to examine notices before starting.

175. Every Guard, before starting with his train, must examine the notices issued for his guidance, and ascertain therefrom whether there is anything requiring his special attention on the parts of the line over which he has to work.

Duties of Guard before starting a train and during the journey.

176. The Guard or Driver when taking over charge of a train must satisfy himself, before the train is despatched,—

(a) that each vehicle of a train is properly coupled, loaded, and marshalled,

(b) that the train is provided with the prescribed brake-power, and that all the brakes are in working order,

(c) that the doors of all carriages and wagons are properly closed,

(CHAP. VIII.—GUARDS.—RULES 177-180.)

(d) that the train carries all necessary tail-boards and brakevan lamps, and that such lamps are lighted and kept burning brightly when required.

(e) that the cord or other appliance for communication between the Guard, brakesman and the Engine Driver is in proper working order,

(f) that all lashings, sheetings, if any, and chains are secure,

(g) that the doors, windows, and purdahs of empty compartments are properly closed,

(h) if the train be an exceptionally heavy one, that as many additional brakesmen as required are provided,

(i) that as far as possible, all passenger Trollies are to be turned so that on leaving Siliguri the foot outside brakes are all on the side nearest the platform. Drivers, Carriage Examiners, and Guards will bring to the notice of the Station Masters concerned, any departure from this order and rectify it before trains leave Siliguri or Darjeeling and check any vehicles that may be attached at intermediate stations and see that the brakes on them are in accordance with above.

(j) generally, that, as far as he can ascertain, the train is in a state of efficiency for travelling.

Duties of Driver and Guard as to loading of wagons and trucks.

177. The Guard or Driver in charge of a train must, unless this duty is, by special instructions, imposed on some other railway servant, carefully examine the loading of any wagon or truck which may be attached to the train at a station or siding; and should any wagon or truck become unsafe from the shifting or derangement of the load, he must, on the arrival of the train at the next station, at once have the load readjusted or the wagon or truck removed from the train.

Setting watch.

178. Before a train starts from a terminal or engine-changing station, the Guard in charge must set his watch by the station clock and communicate the time to the Engine Driver.

Passengers.

179. Every Guard shall give his best assistance to passengers entraining and detraining.

Passengers and others where to ride.

180. Every Guard must

(a) that no person rides outside a carriage, and

(b) that, except in accordance with special instructions, no person travels in any compartment or vehicle not intended for the carriage of passengers.

(CHAP. VIII.—GUARDS.—RULE 180.)

(c) that no railway servant shall travel in a train unless he is provided with a proper ticket or free pass.

(d) that no railway servant or person shall, otherwise than in the execution of his duty, ride in a brakevan or in any vehicle in which luggage goods or parcels is or are being carried.

NOTE TO (c)—

Subsidiary Rules for free fares.

(1) The following Free passes are to be recognised on the Darjeeling-Himalayan railway:—

Gold Khookri Passes.
Silver Khookri Passes.
Card Passes.
Paper or Cheque Passes.

(2) There are two kinds of Gold and Silver passes in use, viz., Complimentary and Service.

(a) Complimentary passes are in every case to be considered personal and non-transferable. Service Passes are transferable, but are to be used only by the holders of the office.

(3) Holders of gold and certain silver Khookri passes, also 1st class cheque or paper passes are authorized to travel in first class compartments and 2 servants in third, and with 3 maunds of luggage.

(4) Holders of second class Silver Khookri passes, or second class cheque or paper passes, can only travel in a second class compartment, and one servant in a third class compartment, with a free allowance of 1½ maunds of luggage.

(5) Holders of periodical card passes (first class) are only for the persons named therein with 1½ maunds of luggage and no servants.

(6) Holders of periodical card passes (second class) are only for the persons named therein and with 1½ maunds of luggage and no servants.

(7) Holders of third class passes can only use them for themselves and are not transferable, unless otherwise noted on the pass. Fifteen seers of luggage only is allowed free.

(8) Unless otherwise stated in the pass, only the prescribed amount of luggage is allowed to be taken free, and any excess is to be paid for.

(9) Only the General Manager and the Agents of the Railway are authorized to issue 1st, 2nd and 3rd class passes.

Third class passes only can also be issued by the Superintendent of Way and Works, the Locomotive Superintendent, and the Traffic Officer.

(10) The officers authorized to issue passes must submit a return of all passes issued by them monthly.

(11) The transfer of all passes, unless otherwise provided for on the pass or in the foregoing rules, is strictly prohibited, and persons using such or travelling with an irregular pass not signed, unless they can prove no fraud were meant, are liable to be prosecuted under Section 112 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890).

(CHAP. VIII—GUARDS.—RULES 181-183.)

(12) Exchange of passes with other Railways is not allowed with the exception of the Eastern Bengal State railway and the following scale is to be observed, both in asking for and granting passes.

I. Rs. 15 to Rs. 100 3rd Class.
II. Rs. 101 to Rs. 300 2nd Class.
III. Rs. 301 and upwards for superior establishment 1st Class.

NOTE.—Employés of the Subordinate establishment, if drawing salaries more than Rs. 300 will not be entitled to first class privilege passes. Menial staff are not entitled to privilege passes.

(13) The following is the scale to be observed for the issue of privilege and family free passes to the Company's servants.

Rs. 7 to Rs. 90 3rd Class Pass with luggage 15 seers.
Rs. 91 to Rs. 200 2nd Class Pass with luggage 1¼ maunds.
Rs. 201 to Rs. 300 and upwards, 1st Class Pass with luggage 3 maunds.

(14) A list of the persons authorised to use metal passes will be issued from time to time as a Staff notice.

Exchange of signals between Guard and Engine Driver.

181. The Guard or Jemadar Brakesman in charge of a train must exchange signals with the Engine Driver at such times and in such manner as may be prescribed by special instructions.

(a) As soon as the train has passed out of station limits,

(b) Whenever a train runs through a station without stopping.

(c) When starting any train after it has stopped outside station limits.

(d) After passing all siding points.

Guard to keep a good look-out.

182. Every Guard must keep a good look-out while the train is in motion and must satisfy himself from time to time that the tail-board or tail-lamp is in position, that all brakevan lamps, if required, are burning brightly, that the train is complete in every respect and is proceeding in a safe and proper manner.

Attracting attention of Engine Driver.

183. (1) If any Guard sees reason to apprehend danger, or considers it necessary for any reason to stop the train, he must use his best endeavours to attract the attention of the Engine Driver.

(2) In the absence of other means of communication with the engine, a Guard desiring to attract the Engine Driver's attention must apply his hand brake sharply and must as suddenly release it.

(3) When the attention of the Engine Driver has been attracted the necessary Danger signal must be shown.

(4) If the train is fitted with a continuous brake, the Guard may, in case of emergency, apply such brake to stop the train.

(CHAP. VIII.—GUARDS.—CHAP. IX.—BRAKESMEN.—RULES 184-189.)

Application of Guards' brakes.

184. (1) When the Engine Driver sounds three or more short, sharp whistles, or the brake whistle, the Guards must immediately apply their hand brakes.

(2) When a train is travelling down a steep incline, the Guards must, if necessary to steady the train, assist the Engine Driver with their brakes.

(3) Before any train starts down-hill, the Driver will see that the Jemadar Brakesman releases the levers of all brakes, and, if necessary, pins them down so as to put on the pressure required to hold the vehicles forming the train to a speed of 10 miles an hour.

Guard to see that train is stopped clear of fouling points.

185. When a train comes to a stand at a station the Guard must see that whenever possible the last vehicle of his train has cleared the fouling points of all points and crossings.

Detaching engine.

186. Whenever a train has been brought to a stand, and it is necessary for the engine to be detached from the train for the purpose of attaching or detaching vehicles, the Driver must, before the engine is uncoupled, satisfy himself that the brakes of all vehicles uncoupled from his engine are secured, and that wooden wedges are placed under the wheels of heavy vehicles. The Jemadar Brakesman must be left in charge of such vehicles until they are again coupled on to the engine.

Coolies on ballast train.

187. Guards or Brakesmen in charge of ballast trains must, before giving the signal to start, see that all the coolies are on the train, and must warn them to sit down.

Guard not to leave train till handed over.

188. No Guard in charge of a train shall leave it until it has been properly handed over in accordance with special instructions.

CHAPTER IX.

BRAKESMEN.

Duties of Brakesmen.

189. All the Brakesmen are under the orders of the Driver whilst running and are to obey any orders given to apply brakes immediately the signal is given from the engine. The signal for brakes is to be 3 short whistles for emergency and 2 for gradual application. (See Rule 184).

(1) Every Jemadar Brakesman must have the prescribed hand signals.

(2) The Jemadar and Brakesmen must on no account ride on the roofs of coaching vehicles, but must be within reach of the brake levers ready to apply them immediately both on the up and down hill journeys when necessary.

(3) The coupling and uncoupling of vehicles must be done by the Jemadar Brakesman only, under the orders of the Driver. No vehicle in a train is to be uncoupled without such orders.

(CHAP. X.—ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.—RULES 190—195.)

(4) The Jemadar and Brakesmen must see that no unauthorised persons ride in or on any vehicle containing luggage goods or parcels.

(5) The Jemadar Brakesman shall in all cases ride on the last vehicle of the train and shall exchange signals with the driver as laid down in Rules 181 and 183.

(6) Where there is no Guard to a train the Jemadar Brakesman must carry out, under the Driver's orders such rules as are applicable.

NOTE.—Brakesmen must also understand Rules 31 and Note 38, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 53 (6), 55, 57, 58 (1) (4), (5), (6), (8), 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135 (a), (b), (c), 137, 138, 139, 140, 142, 143, 144, 163, 171, 176, 177, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 212, 213.

CHAPTER X.

ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.

ENGINE DRIVER AND FIREMAN.

Engine Driver and Fireman when to attend.

190. The Engine Driver and Fireman must be with their engine at such time previous to the starting of the train as may be ordered by the authorised officer.

(a) The Driver must afford such assistance with his engine as may be required for the formation, arrangement and despatch of the train.

(b) The Driver must place his engine in front of the train not less than five minutes before the time of starting, unless otherwise ordered by an officer or Station Master in authority.

Manning of engine in motion.

191. Except when otherwise provided by special instructions, no engine shall be allowed to be in motion on any running road unless both the Engine Driver and the Fireman are upon it.

(a) In case a Driver becomes incapacitated on the journey, the Fireman is to take charge of the engine to the next station, and will be held responsible for observing all rules applicable to Drivers, whilst he is in charge.

Riding on engine or tender.

192. Except in accordance with special instructions, no person other than the Engine Driver and the Fireman shall ride on the engine or tender.

Fireman to obey Engine Driver.

193. The Fireman must obey the orders of the Engine Driver in all particulars.

Engine Driver and Fireman to keep a good look-out.

194. Every Engine Driver must keep a good look-out while the train is in motion, and every Fireman must also do so when he is not necessarily otherwise engaged.

Engine Driver and Fireman to look back.

195. The Engine Driver and the Fireman must frequently during the journey look back to see whether the train is following in a safe and proper manner.

(CHAP. X.—ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.—RULES 196—204.)

Throwing out water, fire or cinders.

196. An Engine Driver or Fireman shall not throw out water, fire or cinders when passing through a station yard or tunnel, or when on a bridge. Also should not open, or have open, the pit cocks of their feed pumps when passing persons, pointsmen, gangmen, carts or animals.

ENGINE DRIVER.

Engine Drivers' equipment.

197. Every Engine Driver must have with him, while on duty with his train,—

(a) a copy of the rules for the time being in force on the railway concerned under section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or of such portions of them as have been supplied to him under rule 124; IX of 1890.

(b) a copy of the Working Time-table in force with all corrigenda and with the appendix thereto (if any) on the lines over which the train is to run; and

(c) the equipment and stores prescribed by the Railway Administration in this behalf.

Engine Driver to examine engine before starting.

198. The Engine Driver must, before starting, satisfy himself that his engine is in proper working order.

Couplings.

199. The Engine Driver must satisfy himself that all couplings are in good order before leaving a terminal station, or a station where vehicles have been attached.

Duties of Engine Driver as regards Engine Lamp.

200. The Engine Driver must, before starting, see that the proper Engine Lamps are shown, and must see that the lamps are kept burning brightly at night and in thick or foggy weather.

Setting watch.

201. The Engine Driver must, before starting, set his watch to the correct time, as given to him by the Guard in charge of the train.

Engine Driver to examine notices before starting.

202. Every Engine Driver must, before starting, examine the notices issued for his guidance, and ascertain therefrom whether there is anything requiring his special attention on the parts of the line over which he has to work.

Duty of Engine Driver unacquainted with line.

203. If an Engine Driver is not acquainted with any portion of the line over which he has to work, he must obtain the services of a qualified railway servant who is acquainted with it, to assist him.

Permission and signals before entering on or crossing running road.

[illegible] No Engine Driver shall take his en- [illegible] or across any running road until he [illegible] ined the permission of the Sta[illegible]ion [illegible]aster and has satisfied himself that the correct signals have been shown.

(CHAP. X.—ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.—RULES 205-210.)

Engine Driver not to start without Guard's signal.

205. The Engine Driver shall not start from a station an engine with vehicles attached until the Guard in charge of the train has given the signal to start or in the case of there being no Guard, until he has satisfied himself that the train is properly equipped as in rules 31 and 176 and that the Jemadar Brakesman has given the prescribed signal for starting.

Moving of train carrying passengers, after it has been stopped at station.

206. When a train carrying passengers has been brought to a stand at a station, whether alongside, beyond or short of the platform, the Engine Driver shall not move it, except under orders of the Guard in charge of the train or to avert an accident.

Engine Driver to satisfy himself that correct signals are shown and line is clear.

207. (1) The Engine Driver must, before starting his train, satisfy himself that the correct signals are shown and that the line before him is clear.

(2) In the case of the first train of the day run up or down over any length of the line, the Driver will proceed with special caution and be prepared to pull up sharp at any moment in case of an obstruction.

Sounding the engine whistle.

208. Except under special instructions, the Engine Driver must always sound the engine whistle—

(a) before putting an engine in motion:

(b) when approaching curves, where riders or carts are likely to be met with;

(c) when approaching bazaars;

(d) when approaching stations where shunting is likely to be performed;

(e) for brakes to be put on;

(f) when approaching another train standing in a siding or another line partially, or totally obscured by steam or smoke;

(g) at such other times as may be prescribed.

Engine Driver to obey certain orders.

209. After an engine has been attached to a train, and during the journey, the Engine Driver must obey—

(a) the orders of the Guard in charge of the train, in all matters affecting the starting, stopping or movement of the train for traffic purposes; and

(b) all orders given to him by the Station Master or any railway servant acting under special instructions, so far as the safe and proper working of his engine will admit.

Regulation of speed.

210. The Engine Driver must regulate and control the running of his train as accurately as possible, according to the Working Time table, so as to avoid either excessive speed or loss of time; and he shall not make up between any two stations more time than is allowed in this behalf by special instructions.

(CHAP. X.—ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.—RULE 210.)

(1) In no case above the 8th mile-post is the maximum speed to exceed 12 miles an hour up-hill or 10 miles an hour down-hill. Below the 8th mile it is not to exceed 16 miles an hour. Through bazaars and facing-points the speed is to be limited to 5 miles an hour in the former and 8 miles an hour over the latter, and 6 miles an hour on reversing stations.

(2) The maximum speed for night-running is 7 miles an hour down-hill and 9 miles an hour up-hill for goods trains.

(3) Working trains between Ghoom and Darjeeling stations and the bazaar goods shed, and also through other bazaars on the line.

Working trains through bazaars.

(a) A man with a red flag* is to immediately precede the train, at a distance of about 100 feet at a walking pace, when passing to and from the bazaar goods shed and Darjeeling station, also when passing through the bazaars at Mahanuddy, Sonada, Kurseong and Jorebungalow, so as to warn pedestrians and riders, and signal the driver to stop. In all cases when Drivers notice riders whose ponies or led ponies are frightened by the train they should halt till the ponies are clear of the train.

(b) All trains will be worked under caution order from Darjeeling station to the bazaar goods shed and back.

(c) The speed of trains must not, under any circumstance, exceed 4 miles an hour, (i.e., an ordinary walking pace), when passing through "Judge's" and other bazaars along the line as per paragraph 1, and drivers must not increase the speed until they have satisfied themselves that the flagman has safely rejoined the train: speed must also be considerably reduced on nearing Darjeeling, specially on rounding the Tonga Road bend near Khagjhora (where the mail engine gives two whistles), and opposite huts at Moss Bank the greatest caution must be observed in running trains.

(d) Under no circumstance must rolling stock be pushed by engines to and from the Darjeeling bazaar goods shed. The engine in all cases is to be at the front end of the train and a smart look-out is to be kept and all brakesmen are to be ready for an emergency, and to prevent people jumping on the trucks. No stranger or staff unconnected with the working of the train should be allowed to ride on the engine or train.

* Drivers to depute one of the oilers from their engine to carry the flag

(CHAP. X.—ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.—RULES 211-218.) 117

Start and stopping train. Passing restive animals.

211. (a) The Engine Driver must start and stop his train carefully and without jerk.

(b) The Engine Driver must slacken speed when passing restive horses, ponies, &c., on the cart road. He must, if necessary, stop to allow the animals to pass.

Exchange of signals between Engine Driver and Guard.

212. The Engine Driver must exchange signals with the Guard (or if there be no Guard, the Jemadar Brakesman in charge of the train), at such times and in such manner as may be prescribed by special instructions. See rules 181 and 183.

NOTE.—If signals are not exchanged as provided for in Rule 181 the Driver must stop his train.

Assistance of brakes.

213. When the Engine Driver requires the assistance of the brakes he must give two short sharp whistles. To stop dead in an emergency, three short sharp whistles.

Engine Driver to see that train is stopped clear of fouling points.

214. When a train comes to a stand at a station, the Engine Driver must see that whenever possible his engine is clear of the fouling points of all points and crossings.

Shutting off steam.

215. In stopping a train, the Engine Driver must determine where to shut off steam by paying particular attention to the gradient, the state of the weather, the condition of the rails, and the length and weight of the train.

Permission of Guard to detaching of engine from train.

216. When a train not fitted with the continuous brake has been brought to a stand outside station limits or on a grade, the Engine Driver shall not detach his engine from the train without the permission of the Guard in charge of the train or if there be no Guard, the Driver must see that the precautions noted in rules 48, 49 and 186 are carried out.

Hose or water-crane

217. After taking water from a tank or water column, the Engine Driver must see that the hose or water-crane is left clear of the line and, when it is provided with fastenings, that it is properly secured.

Engine Driver not to leave engine when on duty.

218. No Engine Driver shall leave his engine when on duty, whether at a station or on the running road, except in case of absolute necessity and after a competent man has been placed in charge of it.

(a) Engines when in steam must never be left on the main line or in a siding without being in charge of a person capable of taking care of them. Engines, either in steam or dead, must, in all cases, have their regulators properly closed, cylinder cocks open, reversing lever out of gear, and brakes screwed on.

(CHAP. X.—ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.—RULES 219-224.) 119

Attention to Signals.

Engine Driver to obey signals, and to be vigilant and cautious.

219. (1) The Engine Driver must pay immediate attention to and obey every signal, whether the cause of the signal being shown is known to him or not.

(2) He shall not, however, trust entirely to signals, but must always be vigilant and cautious.

(3) The absence of a signal from a place where a signal is ordinarily shown, or the imperfect showing of a signal, must be regarded as a "danger" signal.

Duties of Engine Drivers as to signals when two or more engines are attached to train.

220. When two or more engines are attached to a train, the Driver of the leading engine shall be responsible for observing signals, and the Driver of the other engine or engines shall watch for and take signals from the Driver of the leading engine.

Signal at "danger."

221. (1) When the "danger" signal is shown to a train in any of the methods prescribed by chapter II and in every case mentioned in rule 219(3), the Driver must stop the train as quickly as possible.

Infringement of the distance limit between trains.

222. If a Driver is, from some unforeseen cause obliged to allow a following train to approach inside the usual limit, he shall sound his whistle and show a danger signal. In case the following train is too close for the leading train to stop without danger of collision, the Driver of the leading train must drop a man with a danger signal, and not pull up till the following train has stopped.

Duties of Engine Driver when the All right or Proceed with Caution signal is shown.

223. (1) When the All right signal is shown to a train, the Engine Driver may proceed at such speed as may be prescribed by special instructions.

(2) When the Proceed with Caution signal is shown to a train by gangers or other workmen employed on the permanent-way, the speed of the train over the portion of the running road protected by such signal shall not exceed 5 miles an hour, or such lower rate as may be prescribed in this behalf by special instructions.

(3) When the Proceed with Caution signal is shown to a train by any railway servant not referred to in sub-rule (2), the Engine Driver must reduce speed.

Duties of Engine Driver when engine explodes detonator.

224. (1) When an engine explodes a detonator, the Engine Driver must immediately reduce speed and be guided by the signals that he may receive.

(2) If no hand or other signals are at once visible to the Engine Driver, he must immediately bring his train to a stand, and may then—

(a) if it is day, and he has a clear view of the road—proceed very cautiously at such reduced speed as will enable him to stop short of any Danger signal or obstruction; or

(CHAP. X.—ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.—RULES 225-231.) 121

(b) if it is day, and he has not a clear view of the road, or if it is night, or if the weather is thick or foggy—proceed very cautiously on hand signals given by the Guard in charge of the train (or the Fireman, if there is no Guard), who must walk ahead of the engine for this purpose; and

(c) if, within a distance of half a mile from the point where the explosion occurred, he meets no further detonators and sees no signals—resume ordinary speed.

Duties of Engine Driver in case of accident, failure, or obstruction.

225. If any of the circumstances mentioned or referred to in rule 53 and observed by the Driver or any Guard involve danger to the traffic, then—

(a) if it is necessary for the safety of the traffic to do so, the Driver must stop the train as soon as practicable, and protect his train as noted in rule 53.

Precautions when view of signal is obstructed.

226. If, in consequence of a fog or storm or for any other reason, the view of signals is obstructed, the Engine Driver must take every possible precaution, especially when approaching a station or junction so as to have the train well under control.

CHAPTER XI.

POINTSMEN AND SIGNALMEN.

Points to be kept clean and clear.

227. Every Pointsman must keep the points, levers, etc., under his charge clean, oiled, and clear of stones or other obstacles, and see generally there are no defects.

Duties of pointsman observing anything wrong with train.

228. If any Pointsman or Signalman should observe anything wrong or unusual in a passing train, he must report the circumstance to his superior officer; and, if the occurrence is of such a nature as to involve danger to the train or to the public, he must show a "danger" signal to the Guard and Driver.

Pointsmen to be duly certified.

229. Except as maintained in rule 232 only certified men examined by the Permanent-way Inspector of the section and the District Traffic Superintendent shall be allowed to work points. These certificates should be filed with the men's personal cases in the General Manager's Office.

Pointsman to have flags and lamps.

230. Every Pointsman and Signalman must, while on duty, have with him flags and lamps for hand signals.

Duties of pointsman in case of obstruction.

231. Should there be any obstruction on the line within the sight or knowledge of any Pointsman or Signalman, he must show a "danger" signal, and must continue to show such signal to any trains approaching in the direction of the obstruction until the obstruction has been removed and the line made clear and safe.

(CHAP. XI—POINTSMEN AND SIGNALMEN. —CHAP. XII.—RAILWAY SERVANTS EMPLOYED ON THE PERMANENT-WAY OR WORKS.—RULES 232-238). 123

Reverses.

232. At the Reverses at least two selected pointsmen will be placed in charge of the points. These men will be employed under the direct orders of the mistree of the length to assist in keeping their points and crossings and the permanent-way within 250 feet of their points in order, but unless engaged on such work, they must always be at their points.

Report when points, etc., are damaged.

233. Whenever points, crossings, or guard-rails are damaged, the Pointsman in charge must protect them and immediately arrange to report the circumstances to his immediate superior.

Pointsmen and Signalmen not to leave signals.

234. A Pointsman or Signalman shall not, while on duty, leave the points or signals which are under his charge.

CHAPTER XII.

RAILWAY SERVANTS EMPLOYED ON THE PERMANENT-WAY OR WORKS.

Condition of permanent-way and works.

235. Each Inspector of Permanent-way shall be responsible for the condition of the permanent-way and works in his district.

Maintenance of line.

236. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must—

(a) see that his length of line is efficiently maintained, and

(b) promptly report to the Engineer in charge all accidents to or defects in the way or works which he may consider likely to interfere with the safe running of trains.

Keeping of permanent-way material.

237. (1) Each Inspector of Permanent-way must see to the security of all rails, chairs, sleepers and other permanent-way material in his district, and that such of the said articles as are not actually in use are kept clear of the line and properly stacked.

(2) Each Inspector of Permanent-way or authorised officer must see that all broken or defective rails, chairs, sleepers, or other permanent-way materials on the length of line under his charge are removed from the road with the least possible delay, and that sound materials are substituted for them.

Inspection of permanent-way and works.

238. (1) Every portion of the permanent-way must be inspected daily on foot by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

(CHAP. XII.—RAILWAY SERVANTS, EMPLOYED ON THE PERMANENT-WAY OR WORKS.—RULES 239-242.)

(2) All bridges and works in charge of the Engineering Department, including scotch blocks, points and crossings, must regularly be inspected in accordance with special instructions.

(3) The Permanent-way Inspectors will be responsible to maintain all scotch blocks in their respective lengths in proper working order, painted in red and free from any mud or other obstruction.

Supply of documents to Inspector and Sub-Inspector of Permanent-way

239. Each Inspector and Sub-Inspector of Permanent-way shall be supplied with and be responsible for obtaining—

(a) a copy of the Working Time-table for the time being in force, with all corrigenda and with the appendix thereto (if any); and

(b) a copy of the schedule of Standard Dimensions for the time being in force under the orders of the Railway Board.

Ganger in each gang

240. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must see that in every gang employed in his length of line there is a competent Ganger.

Knowledge of signals and equipment of gang.

241. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must see—

(a) that every Ganger employed under him has a correct knowledge of hand signals and detonating signals; and

(b) that every gang employed in his length of line is supplied with a permanent-way gauge, two sets of flag signals, two hand signal lamps and twelve detonators, in addition to such other tools or implements as may be prescribed by special instructions.

(c) to the due observance of such of these rules as affect the Platelayers or other workmen employed on the permanent-way in his section.

Inspection of gauges, signals, tools and implements.

242. (1) Each Inspector of Permanent-way must at least once in every month inspect the permanent-way gauges, flags, signal lamps, detonators, tools and implements supplied to the gangs under rule 241, clause (b), and ascertain whether the said gauges are correct, whether the said flags, signal lamps, detonators, tools and implements are in good order, and whether any of the said articles have been lost.

(2) He shall also see that any defective or missing articles are replaced.

(CHAP. XII.—RAILWAY SERVANTS EMPLOYED ON THE PERMANENT-WAY OR WORKS.—RULES 243-246.)

(3) Each Inspector of Permanent-way must keep a register of the names and places of residence of all Gangers employed on his section to enable him to call upon them to summon their gangs whenever their services may be required.

Responsibility of Ganger as to signals and safety of line.

243. Each Ganger must see—

(a) that the signals supplied to him under rule 241, clause (b), are kept constantly in proper order and ready for use;

(b) that the men in his gang each have a correct knowledge of hand signals and detonating signals;

(c) that his length of line is kept safe for the passage of trains;

(d) that all rails, chairs, sleepers, pieces of iron or wood and other permanent-way materials, and all tools and implements, under his charge are carefully placed so as to be quite clear of the line and at least five feet away from the rails; and

(e) that cattle, and persons walking on the line are kept off as much as possible.

(f) Each Ganger must immediately collect the men of his gang whenever their services may be required.

Flood.

244. If, owing to heavy rain, a flood occurs on the railway, each Ganger must carefully examine the action of the water through the culverts and bridges on his length of line; and should he see any cause to apprehend danger to the works, must immediately show the proper signals for trains to proceed with caution or to stop, as necessity may require, and inform the Inspector of Permanent-way of the circumstances; and until the said Inspector arrives, must take precautionary measures for securing the safety and stability of the line.

Fire.

245. If a fire occur on any railway premises at or near any portion of the railway where gangmen are employed, they must endeavour to extinguish it to prevent it from spreading.

Work involving danger to trains or traffic.

246. A gang shall not commence or carry on any work which will involve danger to trains or to traffic without the previous sanction of the Inspector of Permanent-way, or of some competent railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions; and the railway servant who gives such sanction must himself be present to superintend such work, and shall see that the provisions of rules 250, 251, 254 and 255 are observed; and if necessary ask Station Masters of the station on either side of the work to caution Drivers:

(CHAP. XII.—RAILWAY SERVANTS EMPLOYED ON THE PERMANENT-WAY OR WORKS.—RULES 247-253.)

Provided that, in cases of emergency, when it may be necessary for safety to commence any such work before the said railway servant can arrive, the Ganger may commence work at once and must himself see that the provisions of rule 255 are observed.

Work in thick or foggy weather.

247. In thick or foggy weather, no rail shall be displaced, and no other work which is likely to cause obstruction to the passage of trains shall be performed, except in cases of absolute necessity.

Blasting.

248. No railway servant employed on the way or on any works shall carry on any blasting operations on or near the railway except as permitted by special instructions.

Putting in or removing points or crossings.

249. Except in cases of emergency, no railway servant shall put in or remove any points or crossings otherwise than as permitted by special instructions.

Presence and responsibility of Ganger.

250. When repairing, lifting or lowering the line outside station limits, or when performing any other operation outside station limits which will make it necessary for a train to proceed cautiously, the Ganger must himself be present at the spot and shall be responsible that the caution signals prescribed in rule 255 are shown.

Lifting permanent-way.

251. In lifting the permanent-way,—

(a) no lift shall be made of more than 1½ inches at once,

(b) every lift must be made so as not to occasion any sudden change of gradient;

(c) both rails must be raised equally and at the same time.

Ballast.

252. (1) Ballast shall not be thrown up between the rails higher than rail level, and must be thrown as much as possible on the outside of each line or between the two roads.

(2) The rails must be kept clear of ballast, gravel and other material.

Duties of Ganger when apprehending danger.

253. If a Ganger considers that the line is likely to be rendered unsafe, or that any train is likely to be endangered, in consequence of any defect in the way or works or of abnormal rain or floods or any other occurrence, he must take immediate steps for securing the stability of the line and the safety of trains, by using the prescribed signals for trains to "Proceed with Caution" or to "Stop," as necessity may require; and shall as soon as possible report the circumstances to the nearest Station Master, the Inspector of Permanent-way and the Sub-Inspector (if any).

(CHAP. XII.—RAILWAY SERVANTS EMPLOYED ON THE PERMANENT-WAY OR WORKS.—RULES 254-257.)

Precautions before commencing operation which would obstruct the line.

254. No person employed on the way or works shall commence any operation, such as changing or turning a rail, which would obstruct the line and necessitate the showing of Danger signals,—

(a) until such signals have been shown, and,

(b) if within station limits, until he has also obtained the permission of the Station Master and all necessary signals have been placed at Danger, and kept so till the Station Master has been informed by the authorized officer that the line is clear and safe for traffic.

Showing of signals.

255. (1) When "Proceed with Caution" hand signals have to be shown, a man shall be sent, in each direction, at least 100 yards and as much further as the circumstances of the case may render necessary, to show these signals in such a manner as to be plainly visible to the Driver of an approaching train.

(2) Another such signal shall also be shown at the spot where cautious driving is required, and a "Proceed" signal shall be shown to the Engine Driver as soon as the train has cleared the portion of the line over which cautious driving was necessary.

(3) When Danger signals have to be shown under this chapter, they must be shown at an adequate distance (not less than 300 feet) in both directions from the place of obstruction.

(4) Danger signals must also be shown near and short of the point of danger.

(5) Danger signals must be supplemented by detonators in the manner prescribed in rules 16 to 20.

Protection of train.

256. Every railway servant employed on way or works shall, on the requisition of the Guard in charge of a train or the Driver thereof, render assistance under rule 53 for the protection of the train.

Telegraph posts and wires, and signal wires.

257. (1) Each Ganger must report to the Inspector of Permanent-way whenever any telegraph post on his length of line appears to be in an unsafe state, or whenever any of the telegraph or signal wires on his length of line are broken, slack or entangled, or touch each other or any building.

(2) Where the maintenance of the telegraph is under the control of the Government Telegraph Department, the said Inspector shall forward to that Department every such report relating to the telegraph posts or wires.

(CHAP. XIII.—LORRIES AND TROLLIES—LORRIES—RULES 258—259.)

(3) Each Ganger must see that all grass, creepers, boughs of trees and rubbish are removed from the signal wires, and (where the maintenance of the telegraph is not under the control of the Telegraph Department) from the telegraph wires on his length of line.

CHAPTER XIII.

LORRIES AND TROLLIES.

Distinction between Lorries and Trollies.

258. (1) For the purpose of the following rules in this chapter, a vehicle which can be lifted bodily from the line, or pulled off the road easily, by one or two men shall be deemed a trolly, and any similar but heavier vehicle shall be deemed a lorry.

(2) A trolly shall not, except in cases of emergency, be used for the carriage of permanent-way or other heavy material, and when so loaded, it shall be deemed, for the purposes of these rules, to be a lorry.

(3) Large passenger or motor trollies will work under the same rules and conditions as a train and the responsibility of the officer in charge is the same as that laid down for Guards and Drivers of trains.

Lorries.

Conditions under which lorry run.

259. (1) No Lorry may be placed on the line except by a railway servant appointed to do so by special instructions.

(2) Such railway servant shall accompany the lorry, and shall be responsible for its proper protection and for its being used in accordance with the following regulations:—

(a) A lorry shall ordinarily be run only by day and when the weather is sufficiently clear for a signal to be seen, and shall show a red flag.

(b) Before a lorry is placed on the line, whether loaded or empty, the line shall be blocked between the stations it is proposed to work,—provided it is possible to do so without interfering with the working of trains. In every case where a trolly is working at night, the line must be blocked, and hand lamps showing red instead of flags used.

(c) When the line has not been so blocked and a lorry whether loaded or empty is placed on the line, intimation must be given to the nearest Station Master in writing, stating what work will be done on the line, and at what mile and nearest bridge the lorry is likely to be met with. The

(CHAP. XIII.—LORRIES AND TROLLIES—SMALL LORRIES—RULE 260.)

Station Master must either before the lorry leaves his station, or immediately on receipt of the message that the lorry is to work, caution the next station on the section where the lorry is to work, and give permission to the railway servant in charge to work, in writing. The Station Master must endorse on the line clears of all trains that such a lorry is working near such a mile or bridge.

(d) It is the duty of the railway servant in charge to remove it ten minutes before the known arrival of any train.

(e) A lorry so working shall be preceded and followed at a distance of not less than 300 feet with men holding danger flags walking inside the track, and the men so preceding and following the lorry must also be provided with detonators, which shall be used when the weather is misty immediately a train is heard approaching.

(f) When the lorry is stopped for loading or unloading between stations, 2 detonators shall be placed on the line at a distance of 10 yards apart by the men preceding and following.

(g) The above precautions must be taken till the lorry is removed from the line, and a message from the railway servant in charge has been received by the men following or preceding that it has so been removed and not till then can the danger signals be removed.

(3) A lorry when not in use must be placed 5 feet clear of the line, and the wheels must be secured with a chain and padlock.

(4) No lorry can be attached to any train.

Small trollies.

Conditions under which a small trolly can be run.

260. (1) No trolly may be placed on the line except by a railway servant, or official who has permission from the General Manager.

(a) Such railway servant or official must always have in charge of the trolly, whilst it is on the line, a well trained trolly man, who shall thoroughly understand the duties required of him.

(b) The railway servant or official to whom the trolly has been entrusted is responsible that his trolly man knows his duties, and understands all the rules relating to trollies.

(CHAP. XIII.—LORRIES AND TROLLIES—SMALL TROLLIES.—RULE 260.)

(2) No trolly whatsoever is allowed to work on the line between Darjeeling and Sookna without the person in charge of the same handing a message or a telegram to the nearest Station Master, stating he is leaving that station at — hour — minutes and proceeding to —.

(a) It will be sufficient if the Station Master initials the original message or a copy of the telegram handed in and returns it to the person in charge of the trolly as an authority to proceed and that he has warned the next station or all the stations the trolly is likely to run through.

(3) It is the Station Master's duty to warn the next station that the trolly is on the line and in his turn to telegraph ahead to the destination given in the telegram.

(4) The Station Masters should endorse on the Line Clears of all up trains likely to meet the trolly that such trolly is on the road.

(5) It is the duty of the person in charge of the trolly to ascertain the movements of all trains coming from the direction in which he intends running.

(a) When there is any prospect of meeting an engine or train from the opposite direction, a trolly must invariably be preceded at a distance of 100 yards by a man with a red flag, and the speed must be limited to 6 miles an hour.

(6) No one, excepting an employé of the Company, shall be allowed to travel by trolly without special authority. It is the duty of Station Masters to report any infringement of this rule.

(7) Trollies must be returned to their destination, as far as possible, by goods trains, when the load allows.

(8) When a trolly is being hauled up-hill, the trolly man in charge must precede it 100 yards with a red flag.

(9) Every effort must be made to avoid attaching trollies to passenger or other trains over the length of line upon which there are reversing stations, viz., between the 16th mile and the 24th mile, so that cutting off and running back the trollies up the reverses immediately in front of the passenger train may be avoided.

(10) The attaching of any trolly to a special passenger train is strictly prohibited.

(11) All trollies must be removed some 10 feet clear of the line and their wheels secured with chains and padlocks when not in use.

(12) No trollies shall run at night, except when absolutely unavoidable, in this case they must show a red tail light and a conspicuous head light.

(13) The speed, on no account, should exceed 15 miles an hour and less, on sharp curves, as a maximum for small trollies.

CHAPTER XIV.

GATEMAN, LINE AND BRIDGE CHOWKIDARS.

261. No person shall be appointed a gateman, Bridge, or line chowkidar, unless he has a knowledge of signals. Knowledge of signals.

262. Every gateman, line or bridge chowkidar must be supplied with day and night hand signals and keep such signals in proper order and ready for use. Supply and care of hand signals.

263. The Gateman, Line or Bridge chowkidar on duty must see that the channel for the flange of the wheels is always clear before the passage of a train at the level crossings. Channel for flange of wheels.

264. Every Gateman, Bridge or Line chowkidar on noticing any obstruction on the line, must at once remove it, or, if unable to do so, must show Danger signals and do his best to stop approaching trains. Obstructions.

265. If a Gateman, Bridge or line chowkidar notices that a train has parted, he shall not show a danger signal to the Engine Driver but must endeavour to attract the attention of the Engine Driver and Guard by shouting and gesticulating. Parting of a train.

266. Every Gateman, Bridge or line chowkidar must, as far as possible, prevent any trespassing by persons or cattle. Trespassing.

CHAPTER XV.

PENALTIES.

267. (1) If any railway servant commits a breach of any of the rules hereinafter mentioned, he shall be liable to punishment as follows, namely:— Penalties.

No. 766L.S.-G.—The 6th April 1908.—The following rules framed by the District Board of Bhagalpur, with the approval of the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division, under section 15 of the Bengal Ferries Act, I of 1885, for the management of public ferries under the management of the District Board have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor and are published for general information:—

Bhagalpur.

RULES UNDER SECTION 15, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885 FOR THE DISTRICT BOARD OF BHAGALPUR.

Rule 1.—In these rules the term "Chairman" means the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the District Board of Bhagalpur, the term "Magistrate" means the District Magistrate.

Rule 2.—Every public ferry under the management of the District Board of Bhagalpur shall either be held khas by the Chairman, or be leased by public auction.

Rules for the Management of Public Ferries held khas.

Rule 3.—For every public ferry, which is held khas, the Chairman shall, from time to time—

(a) provide such boats, landing stages, rest-houses, and other appliances as he shall think proper,
(b) appoint a suitable person to superintend the plying of the ferry, provide and pay boatmen, receive the authorised tolls, and remit the same to the treasury;
(c) fix, with the approval of the Commissioner, the tolls to be levied from persons using the ferry;
(d) cause a schedule of such tolls, legibly written in the vernacular, to be fixed up on both landing stages;

(e) determine the maximum number of passengers, animals, carts, vehicles, and goods which each ferry-boat shall carry, and cause a notice to this effect, to be affixed to each boat;
(f) determine the hours within which the boats shall ply, and the minimum number of journeys to be made every day; and
(g) provide for the prompt convenyance of the mails at all times across the ferry.

Rule 4.—Any person may compound for tolls payable for the use of the ferry; and if the ferry should be closed before the expiry of the period for which such person has compounded for tolls payable for its use, he shall be entitled to a refund, the amount of which shall bear the same proportion to the whole sum paid by him as the period remaining bears to the whole period for which he compounded. Such refund shall be made under the orders of the Chairman.

Rules for leasing out Ferries.

Rule 5.—When it has been determined to lease the tolls of any public ferry by auction under section 9 of Bengal Act I of 1885, the Chairman shall, at least 15 days before the auction is held, cause an advertisement of such auction to be published, both in English and in the vernacular, in such place and in such manner as to him shall seem expedient.

Rule 6.—The advertisement shall specify—

(a) the time and place of the sale;
(b) the period for which the ferry is to be leased, and the dates between which the lessee shall be bound to ply the ferry every year;
(c) the number and description of the boats to be maintained, the strength of the crew to be employed on each, and the maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles, and the bulk or weight of goods each is authorised to carry;
(d) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide the boats, and to keep them in repair;
(e) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide and keep in order the landing stages and the rest-houses or travellers' sheds, if any, at either or both banks of the crossing;
(f) the minimum number of crossing to be made daily at any particular season of the year;
(g) the rate of tolls to be levied;
(h) the persons and things to be ferried over free of toll, as provided in Rule 14;
(i) the instalments in which the rent for the ferry is to be paid; and
(j) such other particulars as the Chairman shall consider necessary.

Rule 7.—A copy of the advertisement and of the rules, and the form of agreement required to be executed under section 9 ot the Act, shall be posted up in a conspicuous place in the Chairman's office, and attention shall be called to the rules and the form agreement on the day of auction.

Rule 8.—On the day of the auction the lessee to whom the ferry has been, knocked down, shall deposit three months' rent as security for the due fulfilment by him of the conditions of his lease. This deposit may, however, at the discretion of the Chairman, be dispensed with in the case of small ferries in which boats or canoes are not provided by the District Board. The Chairman shall be in no way bound to accept the highest bid made, and shall give due consideration to the claims of a former lessee, if he is prepared to give what seems a fair rent.

Rule 9.—In cases in which the ferry is leased for only a year, or part of a year, the lessee shall be held liable for the rent for the entire period the moment the ferry has been knocked down to him. In cases in which the ferry is leased for a number of years, the liability for each year's rent shall accrue from the first day of the year.

Rule 10.—The contract which the lessee will be required to execute under section 9 of the Act shall be in the form appended to these rules.

Rule 11.—As soon as possible after the contract has been executed by the lessee, the Chairman shall furnish him, free of charge, with a copy of these rules, a list of the authorised tolls duly signed under section 19 of the Act, and two notice boards having written on them legibly in the vernacular, the schedule of tolls applicable to the ferry, the number of boats which the lessee is bound to keep plying, the number of men by whom each boat is to be manned, and the maximum number of passengers, etc., each boat is allowed to carry. The notice boards shall be fixed by the lessee in a conspicuous place at both banks of the ferry, and shall be kept by him in a proper condition. On the expiry of his lease they shall be returned by him to the Chairman.

Rules for the management of ferries leased by public auction and for regulating their traffic.

Rule 12.—The lessee shall be bound to ferry over diligently, carefully, and with the least possible delay all passengers, vehicles, animals and goods which may come to the ferry ghât to be ferried over.

Rule 13.—The rate of tolls to be levied shall be those fixed by the Chairman, with the approval of the Commissioner, under section 18 of the Act.

Rule 14.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

(a) mails, mail-carts, dâk-runners and Government telegraph messengers on duty ;
(b) commissariat stores, animals and vehicles, when accompanied by a chalan from the Commissariat Officer;
(c) persons or property mentioned in section 3 of the Indian Tolls (Army) Act, 1901 ;
(d) Police and other public officers and process-serving peons, panchayats and village chaukidars when travelling on duty with their bonâ fide baggage, horses palkees, or other conveyances ;
(e) Executive officers of the District Road Department and officers of the Education, Veterinary and Sanitary Departments when travelling on duty with their conveyances and the men or animals attached thereto and their personal attendants ;
(f) members of the District and Local Boards travelling on duty connected with their their office, as such members, with their conveyances and the men or animals attached thereto and their personal attendants;
(g) coolies engaged in repairing roads, with their tools and instruments, whether employed immediately under the District or Local Board or by contractors working under the same. All servants of the District Board on duty with their conveyances and the men or animals attached thereto. All stores belonging to or for the use of the District Board ; and
(h) persons carrying dead bodies or property sent in by the Police.

Rule 15.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls from persons who wade or swim across, or take cattle or other animals or property across at their own cost and risk, or from persons who cross themselves, or take other persons across without charge in their own boats or in boats exempted by the Chairman from the operation of section 16 of the Act.

Rule 16.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset, but the lessee may employ the boats in ferrying passengers across at any time after sunset, provided each boat so employed carries a light, which must be displayed in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 17.—The Magistrate may, if necessary, fix the times for the crossing of the mails and dâk-runners, and may, as occasion arises, vary such times. He shall, in all such cases, give notice in writing to the lessee of the times at which the mails are to be ferried over, and it shall thereupon become the duty of the lessee to see that arrangements are specially made for the crossing of the mails immediately on their arrival at the ferry ghât, and that no delay is allowed to occur in their transit.

Rule 18.—The lessee shall provide and keep in proper order, to the satisfaction of the Chairman, the landing stages on both sides of the ferry, and shall move them, when necessary, according to the rise and fall of the water. He shall also provide proper rest-houses or travellers' sheds on the banks of the ferry, as required by the Chairman, and shall make all proper arrangements and provide all suitable accommodation on the ferry boats for passenger and goods traffic.

Rule 19.—The lessee shall mark on each boat the number, of passengers, animals and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorised to carry at a single trip.

Rule 20.—When any ferry which has been leased for a given period is discontinued under the orders of the Chairman before the expiry of that period, the lessee shall be allowed a deduction in the rent payable for the unexpired portion of the term of the lease. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Chairman that the lessee has suffered any loss, consequent on the discontinuance of the ferry, the Chairman may allow him such compensation as he thinks deserved.

Rule 21.—In the event of the ferry being discontinued before the expiry of the lease, either by order of the Chairman or otherwise, all persons who have compounded for the tolls for its use shall be entitled to receive a refund calculated as in Rule 4, and unless the claims of all such persons have been satisfied by the lessee, the Chairman shall have authority to satisfy the claims out of the deposit made by the lessee under Rule 8.

Rule 22.—The lessee shall, when required by the Magistrate to do so, but not otherwise, furnish all information in his power regarding suspicious persons or classes of persons who may have been or may come to be ferried over.

Rule 23.—The lessee shall be bound to furnish such returns of traffic as may, from time to time, be called for by the Chairman, and for this purpose he shall keep up a register of traffic in the form to be prescribed by the Chairman.

Rule 24.—If the lessee desires to establish communication across the ferry by means of a bridge of any kind, he shall first obtain the sanction, in writing, of the Chairman, and shall, on obtaining such sanction, carry out any orders which the Chairman may make regarding the opening of such bridge for the through passage of vessels and rafts. Such bridge shall on no account obstruct the free passage of the stream.

Rule 25.—The Chairman may at any time require the lessee to repair or replace any boat which he considers to be in a dangerous state of disrepair, and the lessee shall thereupon be bound to repair or replace it as directed.

Rule 26.—Police officers will report at once any instance of mismanagement of a public ferry, the insecurity of the boats, landing stages, slopes or approaches, and any other defect in the working of the ferry which may come to their notice.

Rule 27.—The ferry boats belonging to any public ferry shall not be plied when the current, wind or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe and endanger the lives of the passengers.

Form of Agreement.

THE District Board of Bhagalpur do hereby lease to me hereinafter, called the lessee, son of resident of mauza , pargana thana , district ; and I, the said lessee, do hereby take the lease of the public ferry across the river and situated on the road from to at the rent of Rs. upon and under the following terms and conditions, viz :—

1. I, the lessee, have deposited with the intent that the Chairman shall hold the same until the determination of the lease, as partial security for the due performance by me of the stipulations herein contained and for the observance by me of the provisions of the Bengal Ferries Act, I of 1885 and the rules framed under it, and may deduct therefrom any rent which may become due, or penalties which may be awarded under sections 23, 24 and 25 of the said Act.

2. I, the lessee, do hereby acknowledge to have received a copy of the rules under section 15 of the Act aforesaid, and to be aware of the provisions of section 10 of the Act, under which I am legally bound to conform to them—I also acknowledge to have received a list of the tolls to be levied at the ferry.

3. The lease to me is to be for , namely, from the to the , and during this period I shall be bound to ply the ferry from the to the every year.

4. I hereby agree :—

(a) (to provide boats for the ferry and) to keep the boats (provided by the Chairman for the ferry) in proper repair, to take proper care thereof, and in default to pay to the Chairman the cost of such repairs as are rendered necessary through my carelessness;

(b) to employ a crew of men on each boat;

(c) to make at least crossings every day to make arrangements that the boats should start at the hours from the landing places;

(d) to (provide and) keep in order the landing stages and the travellers' sheds on either or both banks of the river and the slopes and approaches to the ferry;

(e) to affix the table of tolls furnished by the Chairman at some conspicuous place near the ferry on both landing stages.

5. I shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

(a) mails, mail-carts, dâk-runners, and Government Telegraph messengers on duty;

(b) Commissariat stores, animals, and vehicles, when accompanied by a chalan from the Commissariat officer;

(c) persons or property mentioned in section 3 of the Indian Tolls (Army) Act, 1901;

(d) Police and other public officers and process-serving peons, punchayats and village chaukidars when travelling on duty with their bona fide baggage, horses, palkees or other conveyances.

(e) Executive officers of the District Road Department and officers of the Education, Veterinary and Sanitary Departments when travelling on duty with their conveyances, and the men or animals attached thereto, and their personal attendants;

(f) members of the District and Local Boards travelling on duty connected with their office, as such members, with their conveyances and the men or animals attached thereto, and their personal attendants;

(g) coolies engaged in repairing roads, with their tools and instruments (whether employed immediately under District or Local Board, or by contractor working under the same; all servants of the District Board on duty with their conveyances, and the men or animals attached thereto; all stores belonging to or for use of the District Board); and

(h) persons carrying dead bodies or property sent in by the police.

6. I shall not charge or demand tolls from persons who wade or swim across, or take cattle or other animals or property across, at their own cost and risk, or from persons who cross themselves or take other persons across without charge in their own boats or in boats exempted by the Chairman from the operation of section 16 of the Act.

7. I hereby agree to pay the rent in the following instalments into the District Treasury to the credit of the District Board :—

			Rs. A. P.	Date.
1st	...	...
2nd	...	...
3rd	..	...
4th	...	...

If at any time before the expiry of the period for which the ferry has been leased to me, I be removed therefrom for any breach of the terms and conditions of the lease, or for any wilful breach of any of the rules under section 15 of the Act, I shall be liable to pay rent up to and including the instalment due next after my removal.

8. If the rates of toll are reduced during the currency of my lease, or the exemptions from the payment of it are extended, this agreement is to be modified accordingly. I shall be given a fair opportunity of satisfying the Chairman as to the effect of the change; and if the terms proposed by him thereafter are not such as I can reasonably accept, I will, according to the law, immediately carry into effect the order, reducing the rates of toll, or extending the exemption from payment of it, but will at the same time state the amount of rent I may be willing to pay under the actual circumstances of the case. Should my offer appear to the Chairman to be inadequate, it shall be competent to him to remove me and place another person in charge of the ferry, and for such time as I remain in charge of the ferry after the issue of the order reducing the rates of tolls, or extending the exemptions from payment of it, I shall pay rent only at the rate tendered by me.

9. If I make default in the payment of the rent for the ferry, or of any penalty which may be lawfully imposed, or if I do not observe and perform the covenants herein contained, it shall be lawful for the Chairman to remove me from the charge of the ferry, and to settle the same with some other person or hold it khas. After such removal, I shall not be entitled to any part of the proceeds of the ferry or to levy any toll therefor. And if the rent on reletting the ferry fall short of the amount at which it was leased to me, and the District Board thereby incur loss, I shall be held responsible for such difference or loss, the amount of which may be deducted from my deposit. If the deposit does not cover the loss incurred, the rent due from me (and the amount of tolls refunded by the Chairman under Rule 21 of the rules under section 15 of the Act, the total amount which is deficient shall be recoverable in the manner set forth in section 12 of the Act), and all sums which I become liable to pay in virtue of this agreement shall be recoverable as a public demand under the provisions of Bengal Act I of 1895. It shall be lawful for the Chairman to deduct the amount of rent which I may default to pay from my security deposit, and to direct me to recoup the same within a given time, and, on my failure to do so, to remove me from the charge of the ferry.

10. I will not assign, sublet or part with the possession of the ferry without the previous consent in writing of the Chairman.

11. I shall not claim any compensation on account of the roads being closed for repairs, or on account of inundations or the breaking down of bridges on account of deficiency of water in the river on which the ferry is situated.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta,

or

the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or

the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

FORECAST OF THE RABI CROPS OF BENGAL, 1907-08.

THE following note is published for general information.

E. A. GAIT,
Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 4th April 1908.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

FORECAST OF THE RABI CROPS OF BENGAL, 1907-08.

[On an average of the five years ending 1905-06, the area under summer rice, which is included in this forecast, in the territory to which it relates, has represented some 0·2 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.]

Explanatory.—This forecast furnishes an estimate of the area and outturn of the rabi crops excluding wheat, cotton, oilseeds and sugarcane for which separate forecasts are issued. Of these crops the chief are rice, barley, gram and other food crops (including oats, rahar, kalai, mung, peas, lentils, khesari, kurthi, buck-wheat, cheena, potatoes, yams, melons, chillies, and other vegetable crops). One-half of the rabi area of the Province is included in the seven districts of the Patna Division and of the remainder, three-quarters is included in the Bhagalpur and Presidency Divisions. In the districts of the Burdwan, Orissa and Chota Nagpur Divisions the rabi crop is of minor importance.

2. Character of the Season.—The failure of the monsoon prevented the sowing of a normal area and the dryness of the soil affected the growth of the crop sown. The first rain came in the middle of December and showers fell in January and February, improving the prospects, especially in Bihar. The season has been a very bad one in Lower Bengal and Chota Nagpur and even in the Bhagalpur and Patna Divisions it has not been a favourable one.

3. Area sown.—The normal area under these rabi crops in this Province is now estimated to be 7,982,100 acres. The area actually sown this year was only 5,990,200 acres or 75 per cent. of the normal.

4. Outturn.—The estimated outturn in the 19 districts where the area under rabi is 15 per cent. or more of the total cropped area of the district is as follows:—

Darbhanga, 100; Muzaffarpur, 82; Purnea, 80; Patna, 78; Bhagalpur, 74; Khulna, 73; Monghyr, 67; Gaya and Saran, 65; Singhbhum, 60; Champaran, 59; Midnapur and Sonthal Parganas, 58; Shahabad, 56; Palamau, 53; Murshidabad 43; Nadia 39; Jessore 37.

According to the District Officers' estimates the outturn of the various rabi crops of the Province amounts to 70 per cent. of a normal crop compared with 75 per cent. estimated last year. The summer rice crop is estimated at 73 per cent. Following the usual method of calculation the gross outturn of the Province comes to 814,100 cwts. compared with 1,014,600 cwts last year.

Offg. Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

Patna ...	1,326,000	1,082,100	Barley	75,000	75,200	71,400	87	87			10,440			The drought which continued up to December affected the sowing of the full normal area. Resowing of large areas was done after the good showers of the 11th January last, since when prospects greatly improved. The rate paid to cultivators for crude opium has remained satisfactory for many years, while the prices of other rabi crops have steadily risen. This explains partially the decrease in area.

Not yet commenced	The crops suffered for want of rain at the beginning of the season, but rain in January last was very beneficial. Their prospects now are good. The date of sowing was normal except in the case of opium which was late. The decrease in area is due to want of rain in the beginning of the season. Last year's area and outturn under poppy have been revised after enquiry

There was some scarcity of rain at the time of sowing and some of the high lands could not be sown for want of moisture. Foggy weather in January did some damage to paddy and other cereals which were in flower at the time. Standing crops at present are doing well. The date of sowing was generally normal. The tobacco crop suffered on account of unseasonable weather.

RESOLUTION ON THE HOWRAH BRIDGE BUDGET ESTIMATE FOR THE YEAR 1908-1909.

No. 1357Marine.

Government of Bengal

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 7th April 1908.

RESOLUTION.

Howrah Bridge Budget Estimate for the year 1908-1909.

READ—

Letter No. 10323, dated the 24th March 1908, from the Vice-Chairman of the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, submitting the Budget Estimate of the Howrah Bridge for the year 1908-1909.

RECEIPTS.

The receipts for the year 1908-1909 have been estimated at Rs. 2,34,000 against Rs. 2,22,000 of the previous year, showing an increase of Rs. 12,000 which is due to a larger provision under the head "Receipt from Railway Traffic." The interest accruing on investments of the Reserve Fund has also increased.

EXPENDITURE.

The expenditure has been estimated at Rs. 2,18,600 against Rs. 2,10,000 of the previous year. The increase of Rs. 8,600 is chiefly under the head "Stores."

As a net result there is an estimated surplus of Rs. 15,400 against Rs. 11,400, in the last year.

The Lieutenant-Governor sanctions the estimate under section 21 of Act IX(B.C.) of 1871.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

W. A. INGLIS,

Secretary.

* The report is for the week ending the 28th March 1908.

GENERAL SUMMARY.—Very slight rain fell in parts of Darjeeling, Cuttack, Sambalpur and Cooch Behar. Rain is urgently wanted in Lower Bengal and in Orissa for the preparation of lands for the next season's sowings and for the sugarcane crop. Harvesting of rabi crops still continues. Though the planting of sugarcane is going on, its progress has been checked for want of rain in parts of the province. The prospects of rabi crops are bad in the Presidency Division and also in parts of Orissa, but fair in Bihar. Boro paddy is suffering for want of rain in Howrah and Balasore. The mahua crop in the Khondmals is reported to have been damaged by hail. Stocks of food-grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad and Balasore. Prices of food-grains show a tendency to rise in the Presidency Division. In the rest of the province they are generally stationary. Cattle-disease prevails in Gaya, Bhagalpur, Cuttack, Puri and Ranchi. The condition of cattle is reported to be bad in Balasore. The fodder and water supply is becoming scarce in places in Murshidabad, Khulna, the Santhal Parganas, Balasore, Angul, and also in the districts of the Burdwan Division, Howrah excepted. Scarcity is apprehended in Nadia and Jessore. Persons on test-works in Bankura, Ranchi and in Orissa were 6,650, and 15,552 persons received gratuitous relief, of whom 14,442 were in Orissa.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Engineering Department should apply to the Principal in the prescribed form, stating University Registration number, on or before the 15th May 1908. Each application must be accompanied by a registration fee of Re. 1, which will in no case be returned.

The session begins on Monday, the 1st June 1908.

Candidates must furnish proof that they have passed one of the following tests·—

(1) The B.Sc. or B.A. examination in the B Course in Physics and Chemistry of the Calcutta University. The candidate's age must be under 23 years.

(2) The F.A. examination of the Calcutta and Madras Universities.

(3) The Intermediate examination of the Allahabad and Punjab Universities.

(4) The Intermediate examination for the degrees of B.A. of the Bombay University.

The candidate's age in (2), (3) and (4) must be under 21 years.

In selecting candidates who have passed the F.A. (all other things being equal), preference will be given to those who have passed in Sanitary Science in addition to the ordinary subjects of the F.A. examination.

The maximum number to be admitted is limited to 40. The position in the University examination and the age of the candidate will be taken into consideration when selection is made, and such selection will be made by the Principal.

The tuition fee for students of the Engineer class is Rs. 10 a month for each month of the year, vacation included.

One junior scholarship of Rs. 20 a month, one of Rs. 15 a month and six of Rs. 10 a month tenable for two years will be given to students who have been admitted to the College and who do not hold University scholarships.

The selection will be made in the following order :—

(a) B.Sc.'s

(b) B.A.s, who have taken up B Course, and

(c) F.A. candidates (except those who have passed in the third division).

There will be in addition one scholarship of Rs 20 a month and one of Rs. 10 a month for Europeans or Eurasians who have been admitted to the College, tenable for two years.

Every applicant, before admission to the college, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, fitness for manual labour and eyesight.

Forms of application for admission, and any further particulars will be supplied on application to the Principal.

Revised Rules for the Engineer Department are under the consideration of Government. If they are sanctioned before the actual commencement of the session, they will be held to bind candidates admitted this year.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.,

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta,

or

the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

Proceedings of the Bengal Legislative Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Abstract of the Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, assembled under the provisions of the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892.

THE Council met in the Council Chamber on Saturday, the 4th April, 1908, at 11 A.M.

Present:

The Hon'ble SIR ANDREW FRASER, K.C.S.I., Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, presiding.
The Hon'ble MR. W. C. MACPHERSON, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble MR. R. T. GREER, C.S.I.

NEW MEMBERS.

Th Hon'ble MR. R. T. GREER, C.S.I. and the Hon'ble MR. E. P. CHAPMAN took their seats in Council.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

MALARIA IN MIDNAPUR AND BANKURA.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked :—

Is the Government aware that Malaria is slowly advancing westwards in the districts of Midnapur and Bankura, which were quite free from it a few years ago? Will the Government be pleased to institute an inquiry into the causes of it, and prevent the further spread of Malaria, if possible?

The Hon'ble MR. OLDHAM replied :—

"Government is not aware that Malaria is advancing into tracts of Midnapur and Bankura which were quite free from it a few years ago, but will cause inquiry to be made into the matter. The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad if the Hon'ble Member will place at his disposal any definite information that he may have obtained in this connection, which may facilitate the investigation. Government hopes to be able shortly to depute a special Medical Officer, with the necessary staff, to make systematic inquiry into the nature and causes of the fevers prevalent in certain parts of the Province."

MANUFACTURE OF SALT IN THE BENGAL AND ORISSA SEA COASTS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked :—

Will the Government be pleased to consider the advisability of encouraging the manufacture of Salt in the Bengal and Orissa Sea Coasts, where Salt was manufactured before, by giving concessions by way of remission of the Salt-tax for a time, and by small subsidies to one or two Companies that may be prepared to make the experiment of manufacturing Salt again in these Provinces?

The Hon'ble MR. OLDHAM replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer given by the Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh to a similar question asked by himself in this Council on the 2nd of February last year, when the Hon'ble Member was informed that after careful consideration in 1902, the revival of the industry in this Province was held to be impracticable, and that Government did not propose to take any steps in the direction suggested."

CHINESE CARPENTERS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked :—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the fact that Chinese Carpenters are slowly monopolizing all Government work, and that Indian Carpenters, as a class, are slowly dying out? The European colonies object to Chinese labour, because it is cheap. Does not the Government consider that the Indians have more reasonable cause of complaint at the introduction and employment of Chinese labour, which is dearer than Indian labour?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to take such measures as may enable Indian carpenters to hold their own against Chinese carpenters?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied :—

"(a) There is no justification for the suggestion that Chinese carpenters are slowly monopolizing all Government work and that Indian carpenters are dying out. It is unfortunately the fact that Chinese carpenters are more skilful and are therefore necessarily employed where fine work is required; but the Government believes that ample employment is available for competent Indian carpenters.

"(b) It is no part of the policy of Government to interfere with any person of whatever race, class or creed in the exercise of his trade or profession, provided that trade or profession is unobjectionable and is carried on in a legitimate manner."

CHINESE SHOE-MAKERS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked:—

Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the fact that a very large portion of the trade of boot and shoe-making is in the hands of the Chinese? Will the Government be pleased to take such measures as may enable Indian shoe makers to hold their own against the Chinese?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied:—

"The Hon'ble Member is referred to the reply to the preceding question."

KABULI TRADERS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE asked:—

Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the annual influx of Kabuli traders in Bengal and their oppressive ways of disposing their wares and realizing their supposed dues from the simple people in the Mufassal? Has the Government considered why the trade in which these Kabulis engage is not in the hands of the Bengalis?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied:—

"As far as the trade of the so-called Kabulis is legitimate, the Government has no desire to interfere with it. There have been complaints of oppression by traders of this class, but there is no information before the Government, which would lead to the belief that the ordinary law is insufficient to meet the case."

THE CASE OF GIRIDHARI LALL MARWARI.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH asked:—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been called to the case of Giridhari Lall Marwari, reported in the Calcutta papers of the 18th March, 1908?

(b) Is it a fact that Mr. Lyall, the District Magistrate, ordered a further inquiry into the case of Giridhari Lall Marwari for having attested a bond on which one Chargolal brought a suit which was dismissed for default, after the Marwari was discharged by a Deputy Magistrate who held the preliminary inquiry?

(c) Is the Government aware that after the order for further inquiry was quashed by the High Court, a Civil Suit was instituted by the alleged debtor upon the bond to have it declared a forgery; and has the attention of the Government been called to the fact that the plaintiff in the suit admitted that he engaged his Pleader under orders of Mr. Lyall and he did not pay the Pleader's fees?

(d) Is it a fact that, after the bond was declared a forgery by the Munsif and while an appeal was pending, the Public Prosecutor moved Mr. Lyall for further inquiry, and that further inquiry was granted and Giridhari Lall Marwari was arrested on a non-bailable warrant issued by the Magistrate?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to state if it approves of the District Magistrate being mixed up in the trial of Civil Suits between private parties?

(f) If not, will the Government be pleased to take notice of the conduct of Mr. Lyall?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"The attention of Government has been called to the statements made in the Calcutta papers of the 18th March, concerning the case of Giridhari Lall Marwari. Government has at present no information concerning the facts of the case. It is understood that the case is now pending before the High Court, and it is not proposed to consider whether any action on the part of Government is called for until it has been disposed of."

FEES AND FINES UNDER THE PURI LODGING-HOUSE ACT, 1871.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH asked:—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the amount of fees and fines collected annually under the Puri Lodging-house Act, taking the average of the last three years, and the amount of annual contribution out of the fund to the Municipality of Puri?

(b) In view of the important object for which the fund is collected, will the Government be pleased to take into consideration the desirability of appointing a Committee, consisting of responsible local men, who may co-operate with the Magistrate of Puri in attributing the fund to its proper object?

The Hon'ble MR. OLDHAM replied:—

"(a) The following figures give the information asked for:—

Years.	Amount of fees and fines collected.	Amount of annual contributions to Municipalities.
	Rs.	Rs
1904-05	29,257	8,444
1905-06	39,297	11,656
1906-07	30,935	6,226
Total ...	99,489	26,326
Average ...	33,163	8,775

"(b) The Lieutenant-Governor has under his consideration the desirability of having a Committee to assist with their advice the District Magistrate and Health Officer in carrying out the provisions of the Act at Puri."

THE SAMBALPUR (EVIDENCE) BILL, 1908.

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to repeal the Central Provinces Laws Act, 1879, in the district of Sambalpur, be taken into consideration. He said:—

"This Act is really a formal matter; its object being purely to bring the Civil Courts of Sambalpur into line with the rest of Bengal, as regards their procedure in recording evidence. Formerly, the Courts were under the Central Provinces Laws Act, but now that Sambalpur has been joined to Bengal and that its Courts are subject to the High Court and are presided over by Members of the Judicial Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, there is no reason why this condition of things should continue."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE PURI LODGING-HOUSE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1908.

The Hon'ble MR. OLDHAM presented the Report of the Select Commtteei on the Bill further to amend the Puri Lodging-house Act, 1871.

THE BENGAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1908-09.

IN the absence of the Hon'ble NAWAB BAHADUR OF MURSHIDABAD, the Hon'ble MAHARAJ-ADHIRAJ BAHADUR OF BURDWAN, at the request of the President, read the following speech on behalf of the former:—

"Your Honour—I propose not to make any elaborate criticism on the Bengal Financial Statement of 1908 09; but only some remarks on matters which appear to me to be of special importance.

"With regard to Receipts, I see the revised estimate for 1907-08 of Land-revenue was two crores, ninety-four lakhs and fifty thousand; but the estimate of 1908-09 is two crores, ninety-nine lakhs and fifty thousand, i.e., five lakhs in excess of the current year's land-revenue. In view of the famine and scarcity in Bengal, it is difficult to understand how improvement in Land-revenue can be expected next year.

"Then as regards the revenue from Excise, I beg respectfully to deprecate the progressive increase of Rs. 5,00,000. Increase of revenue from Excise is undesirable, and the Administration should try to secure the maximum of revenue with the minimum of consumption.

"The estimated increase of Rs. 1,50,000 in the Assessed Taxes does not commend itself to me. The provision in the budget estimate gives encouragement to Government officers in the assessing department to increase the tax, and this gives rise to an idea, which the public entertain, rightly or wrongly, that the assessees are overtaxed and their valid and genuine objections are not properly dealt with.

"As regards expenditure it is, no doubt, very satisfactory to find that Education has attracted greater attention of the Government than hitherto, and the expenses are increasing. But, I venture to think that the amount provided is not enough. I regret to find that, with regard to Primary Education, only Rs. 1,800 have been provided for Inspecting Maulvies, and Rs. 3,420 for Mode Muktabs. It is no doubt very kind of the Government to start Muktabs and have Inspecting Maulvies for spreading Primary Education amongst the Muhammadans, but, what I beg to observe is, that efficiency and utility cannot be secured by observing too much economy.

"Then with regard to Female Education, the provision of Rs. 1,200 for Muhammadan female education is not at all adequate. A monthly expenditure of Rs. 100 on this head cannot be expected to further the cause.

"The question of Free Education has attracted the attention of the Government, and I believe the time has come when there ought to be not only free, but compulsory education, and provision ought to be made in the budget estimate for the same.

"It is very gratifying to find that there will be special assessment from Imperial Revenue for Police re-organization, and we feel grateful to the Government of India for the liberality shown. I should, however, like to observe that hitherto the attempt to improve the efficiency and honesty of the Police, by increasing pay, has not proved a success; and therefore the expenditure of money for the re-organization of the Police should be made carefully. I venture to suggest that the public might, with advantage, be taken into confidence for effecting the desired reform.

"Sanitary improvement of the Province is a subject to which, I crave leave to urge, greater attention ought to be paid, and a lump provision of Rs. 4,50,000 seems to me to be inadequate. I regret to find that the improvement of the Bhagirathi River finds no place in the Budget Estimate; a subject which in the last budget debate I endeavoured to bring very prominently to the notice of the Government. In view of the development of the Railway lines, as a means of communication, the Bhagirathi may perhaps be left out of consideration; but for the supply of drinking water and the preservation of the health of the large population on both sides of the river from its entrance to Nadia, the necessity of the improvement cannot be overestimated. No private successful effort in this direction is possible, and the Government certainly ought to consider the question seriously in view of its importance.

"The price of food-grains has risen very high, and there is very little chance of fall in the price in the near future. Grain Compensation Allowance to officers on small pay has been provided for, and this allowance, I am afraid, is likely to be a burden of a permanent nature. The public is grateful to the Government for the concession made in favour of officers of certain classes. I beg to suggest that the compensation allowance ought also to be given to officers who do not enjoy the privilege, on account of the pay limit. The concession ought to be extended to officers whose pay does not exceed fifty rupees per month, and will be very greatly appreciated.

"A special assessment of Rs. 2,60,000 has been made from the Imperial Revenues in connection with the Famine Relief Scheme, and, in the budget under discussion, besides Rs. 8,50,000 for Grain Compensation Allowance, provision of Rs 1,56,000 has been made for Famine Relief Charges. In my humble opinion, the amount is not sufficient. I have every reason to believe that the Government will not fail to make adequate provision for saving the lives of famine-stricken people, who will be in need of help. The Government has got a very onerous duty, and though the public also have come forward for raising funds to tide over the difficulty and to relieve the Government to a certain extent in the discharge of its duty, I am sure the administration will successfully cope with the present situation and will not be charged with allowing a single human being to die from starvation."

The Hon'ble MR. LARMOUR said:—"Your Honour—Even if I had the desire to criticise the Financial Statement which has been presented to the Council, it appears to me that the time is somewhat out of joint for doing so. It is not, and does not claim to be, a Prosperity Budget, for we have fallen on a series of lean years, due probably to causes quite beyond our control, and we must all earnestly hope that they will soon come to an end. I am fully aware that we cannot ask for any alteration of, or amendment in, the Statement before us, nor for any remission of, or relief from, taxation of any sort, direct or indirect; but there are certain subjects referred to, and arising out of, this budget, on which perhaps a few words would not be out of place.

"The first subject that suggests itself to me, as I suppose it would suggest itself to any one and everyone having the welfare of this great City at heart, is the Calcutta Improvement Scheme, regarding which it may surely be said that 'hope long deferred maketh the heart sick,' and sick we certainly are, when year after year rolls by and nothing is apparently done. Ten years ago, Sir Herbert Risley unfolded in this Council a fearful and gruesome tale of the state of Calcutta, and his remarks on that occasion gave us hope that in the not far distant future something would be done to ameliorate the condition of affairs which he had disclosed. What has been done and how far have those hopes been justified? A year or so later, Sir John Woodburn submitted proposals for a scheme of Suburban improvement. Five years later, a Conference was held, and in 1905 various public bodies were asked for their views, which were communicated promptly and without loss of time, and there apparently the matter ended; save that last year a second Conference was held, but to us who are not behind the scenes, it does not seem that a Conference means an improvement. Just a year ago, Sir Harvey Adamson stated in the Supreme Council that 'the scheme would probably 'soon' be taken in hand; but here again we are left very much in the dark, for the Government definition of the word 'soon' would appear to differ considerably from the generally accepted meaning of the word. It may be urged that a few years in the life of a nation or a city are no more than a few days in the life of an individual, and that in this sense the word 'soon' is justified; but we, as individuals, would prefer to see it applied in its literal sense, for there is not a man in this room, there is not an intelligent citizen of Calcutta, who does not consider that the sanitation and improvement of this City are clamant wants; yet it may be fairly asked what has been done during the last ten years and the answer could be equally fairly summed up in one word, nothing, literally nothing?

"In this connection, I note that so far back as 1903-04, say five years ago, the sum of rupees fifty lakhs were set aside in the nature of a trust to be utilized towards the Improvement Scheme. If, through causes at present unknown to the public, that scheme has been delayed with the indefinite prospect of being taken in hand 'soon,' that does not afford any valid reason why this large sum, if it cannot be utilized for any other purpose, should be allowed to lie idle. I am subject to correction, but it does not appear that any attempt has been made to put it out to interest. If it had been invested, say at even 3½ per cent., which might have been done very easily, it would have made a very substantial and useful addition to the trust and would have been of material assistance in the financial arrangements of the scheme, when and if it does assume a practical form. If I am correct in my assumption, is it unreasonable to ask that this oversight should now be rectified?

"Another matter to which a little attention might be given is, the housing of the poorer classes of Government servants. We hear all round a great deal of the increased rents in Calcutta; we hear of the necessity of official residences being provided, and we hear occasionally of such residences having been bought. This is quite as it should be, and no possible exception can be taken to such action, so long as the tax-payer is satisfied that a fair remunerative return is made on the capital outlay. But, Sir, I do not think that what is being done, or has been done, goes far enough. So far, these residences are apparently intended only for officials on large salaries, who, it would appear to the uninitiated, are in a position to secure suitable residences, if they choose to pay for them. I speak with all reserve and only from the information placed before us; and from this it does not appear that anything has been done, or is contemplated to be done, to provide decent house accommodation for the poorer class of clerks and others on salaries of about Rs. 500 a month and under. These are the men on whom largely depends the efficient working of the machinery of Government, and these are they who are mostly in need of, and are unable to obtain, decent accommodation with the very limited means at their disposal. I trust, Sir, that some attention may be drawn in this direction, where improvement is so much wanted.

"I trust I may be pardoned if I take up a very little of the time of the Council by alluding to a subject which I personally and naturally have very much at heart, and that is the important question of industrial training, which appeals not only to a few directly interested individuals, but to every thinking man, who is concerned in the advancement of the best interests of the country. We fully recognize that Government has been no niggard in the provision that has been made for the promotion of Education, nor would I for one moment advocate any retrograde movement in this direction Let us educate our youths by all means, even though at present there would seem to be a considerable excess of supply over demand for men with University letters after their names, who find it difficult to obtain outlets for the exercise of their attainments. But, Sir, the man who can work with his hands, aided by his brains, will never lack for lucrative employment. The upraising of a nation will never be accomplished by platform oratory or political agitation, but will materially depend upon the men who know how to turn to good account the workmanship of the trained and skilful handicraftsman. It is in this cause, that I plead for the assistance of Government. I fully recognize that this is not an opportune moment to ask for much in the way of a grant for Industrial Training. I am also aware of the fact that some progress has already been made in this direction; but I would urge it as a matter of importance that, when we have passed through our times of depression and when it shall once more become the pleasing duty of the Financial Secretary to present a Prosperity Budget, this subject should receive more attention at the hands of Government.

"In connection with this subject, I note certain questions in the paper this morning regarding Chinese labour. I am quite prepared to emphasize what has been put forward by the Hon'ble Member, and it is certainly a fact which my experience has proved that the Indian, or more strictly speaking the Bengali, Carpenter, is being slowly, but surely, supplanted by his Chinese competitor. What the Chinaman's system of training may be I am not in a position to say, but it undoubtedly is far superior to anything that the Indian Carpenter can or does get. Again, speaking from my own experience, this gradual dying out of the Bengali Carpenter is very materially due not only to his lack of training, but also to the disinclination of parents to let their children follow the calling of mechanics. I have known several instances of Bengali Carpenters, in my own employ, bringing their sons to me to be taken on as clerks in my office, with an Entrance or First Arts qualification. Twenty-five years ago, our workmen were nearly all Bengali Hindus, and there was not a single Chinaman in our employ and only one or two Muhammadans. Now we have a large number of Chinamen, and among the Indians the Bengalis are in a very small minority. The Chinaman it is true gets larger wages, but he earns his money to the hilt; works steadily; takes only one or at most two holidays in the year; is sober, punctual and intelligent, and does not need to be continually urged to his work. The Bengali, I am constrained to say, is very much to the contrary. He gets small wages certainly, but he earns for his employer even less than he gets. As a rule, he takes little or no real interest in his work, and if not carefully watched, will scamp his job. This, therefore, is an argument which forcibly brings to the front the necessity that exists for some system of training that will improve the status of the Indian Mechanic.

"I feel sure that in taking this opportunity of thanking Your Honour's Government for the liberal grants made to the Medical Institutions of Calcutta, I am only expressing the unanimous sentiments of the whole community, official and non-official, European and Indian, alike. This is money well spent, and will invoke the blessings of all those whose lot it may be to derive benefit from those institutions."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—"The Hon'ble the Financial Secretary deserves every praise and congratulation for the painstaking and sympathetic frame of his maiden Budget, and for the clear and lucid manner in which it has been handled and presented under severely trying circumstances. If it is not given to us to be able to compliment him, on what in Council parlance has come to be known and called a 'Prosperity Budget,' a phrase that I confess I have not been able to understand, it is none of his fault, but more our misfortune; and the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary has the fullest measure of our sympathy and commiseration.

"Thanks to the exigencies and mysteries of a system, that is one other thing that I do not understand, hardly two successive budgets are framed or presented by the same Financial Secretary, and the wonder is that they do it so well. It makes non-official Members look small in their own estimation and that of their constituents, that during two years of their term they achieve so little in comparison.

"I also gladly bear willing testimony to the marked and ready courtesy of the Financial Secretary and Your Honour's other Secretaries and the Members of the Board of Revenue, to the non-official Members of Your Honour's Council, who were fortunate enough to be associated with them, in the consideration of the draft budget at the informal Conferences that Your Honour was pleased to have convened. Failing a constitutional basis for exercise of rights, in regard to preparation and control of the annual budget, such Conferences come nearest to what may, in the existing state of things, be done for giving Members of the Council an advance insight, as it were, into what would be laid, cut and dried, on the table in a few days or weeks, and which no criticism or debate would in any way alter or amend. In regard to an undoubted concession and indulgence, one is loath to offer remarks and criticisms that may be regarded as ungracious; particularly on the part of one who, almost immediately after his joining the Council was, through Your Honour's kindness, permitted to enjoy the distinguished honour of being invited to these Conferences. But Your Honour's well-known tolerance for criticism, however unreasonable, if well-meaning and bonâ fide, encourages me to observe that if these Conferences are to be really useful, it would be an advantage to associate with them as many of the non-official Members as would have the time and inclination to join. They should, moreover, have timely access to materials for effective study of, and comment on, the proposed provisions; and should have some slight measure of that trained assistance, which is a strong point of one of the largest and best organized and most resourceful of Secretariats in British India.

"Association with the Conferences, to which I have just referred, was to me personally an honour for which I cannot be sufficiently thankful. At the same time, I cannot help thinking and observing, ungracious though it may appear, that if the number of non-official Members invited to these Conferences was really to be limited, newer and less experienced Members like me, might, with advantage, make room for the more capable and the more experienced.

"And it would be a distinct advantage to allow non-official Members, willing to work and study, facilities and assistance in the shape of reference clerks and shorthand typists. Non-official Members are mostly busy men, generally without the adventitious aids that so largely contribute to successful under-secretariat work. At such a time of stress, amidst their own engrossing work, assistance, such as I speak of, would be of great value and would be highly appreciated. If their work in Council is not as well done as it might and would be done under other circumstances, it is really a matter for consideration, as to whether some such slight assistance might not be forthcoming. The outward and visible symbol of the glory and dignity of their office is the awe-inspiring Chaprassi, that Your Honour with great effect and felicity classed and characterized not long ago; and if non-official Legislators are to be of some use to Your Honour's Government, as it is their place to be, and not mere budget-time show things of no consequence, I would, on behalf of my Colleagues, respectfully ask Your Honour to consider whether some slight office help, of the description that I have indicated, may not be given, before it is time for us to lay down our office. Through the courtesy of the Legislative Secretary and the Superintendent of Government Printing, which I desire to acknowledge, I had prompt and welcome 'first aids' in pressing matters that I brought to their notice, the like of which may much contribute to permanent healing; this makes me think that organized assistance, such as I ask for, need not be prohibitive in costs or upset the Secretariat machinery.

"I sincerely trust that my critics will not tell me that there is no formidable legislative measure likely to be before the Council during my time; that such extravagance cannot be thought of, when money is needed for other and more pressing expenditure, and that there is no sufficient plea or warrant for such an unprecedented departure. In the very budget now before us, we have provisions for strengthening the Legislative Secretariat, by the welcome accession of a member of my own profession, which would ordinarily connote present or expected accession of work. Shorthand typists, attached to convenient groups of non-official Members and authorized to obtain necessary information and papers from the departments concerned, would make the Members' work light, acceptable, efficient and welcome; and any slight extra expenditure would so far be a really profitable investment, if our association in Council work is to be more than nominal.

"Before passing on from the question of these Conferences, I desire further to add that our hurried and ill-thought-out suggestions and observations were received with patience and some information was supplied; some comments were made and some slight additions and alterations, in minor and inconsiderable matters, were vouchsafed I am not at liberty to refer at length to these confidential proceedings, but am bound to say that for the most part our recommendations which, we were in the first instance expected to make on the spur of the moment and on the spot, and were subsequently embodied in notes, were put off; generally with replies to the effect that funds were not forthcoming for the schemes that we urged and that the Government was pledged to the schemes objected to, or they had already been undertaken. Thus it was, that no substantial impression has been made on the budget by these Conferences.

"Regarding the accessibility to materials, I would respectfully ask Your Honour to consider if, for due consideration of the matters in issue, in their proper perspective, it is not only desirable but absolutely necessary, that full information in the shape of budgets, prepared and sent up by the different departments, should be made available to Members who may desire to consult them. If non-official Members be regarded as the proverbial sand-grain in official optics, my plea would necessarily fail. If, on the other hand, in the spirit in which Council expansion is supposed to be moving they be regarded as valued auxiliaries, and not opponents of the departments concerned or the Government generally, they should be welcome to know all that they want to know or should know and should have opportunities of bringing home to Your Honour's Government and this Council on behalf of their respective constituencies, as it were, which for present purposes would be the various departments, their special needs and requisitions.

"In this view of things and as representing the Educational interests of the Province, I took the liberty of trying to ascertain its real Educational requirements and requisitions, and nearly all that departmental rules have permitted me to know is to be found in the published budget papers, accessible not only to the Members of the Council but to all diligent students of public affairs, interested in the question. I do not mean for a moment to suggest that a Solicitor should take a Civilian's place in the department, which, after by no means unpleasurable and unprofitable experiences of a departure which has been justified in every way, in the fulness of time is now getting back its own. But I do venture to suggest and claim that the real and living needs of the department should be better known to one who has the honour of [illegible] the University and is supposed thereby and therefrom to represent the [illegible] educational interests of this great though divided Province; so that the [illegible] the department might be supported or challenged if need [illegible] and before Your Honour's Government.

"And in this cont[illegible] am free to confess, Sir, the partial weakness of my position in so far that, although I happen to represent the University interests of both the Provinces, I represent but a fraction of their non-university interests. But this admitted weakness is of no vital consequence to the points at issue, and, if anything, it proves that the University, which has before it a veritable giant's work that must be performed with a lapidary's skill, firmness and tact, should be represented on the Eastern Bengal Council as well; particularly because it is so unworthily represented at the present moment in Your Honour's Council. It is a pity, no less than a wonder, that a University representative on the Eastern Bengal Council was not thought of by the framers or critics of the scheme that gave Bengal a second Province and a second Legislative Council; and may, for aught one know, give it a second High Court and a second University in time: for Education, on all admissions, is the most important interest that could be thought of or provided for by any responsible Government.

"And this, Sir, is not my own assertion, though it well accords with my views. I shall not, at this time and place, inflict on the Council educational platitudes and educational truisms that are hoary with age, for it is alike needless and useless to do so. I shall content myself by referring to the pronouncement of Your Honour's gifted and capable Secretary, the Hon'ble Mr. Gait, whose confirmation as Chief Secretary has been welcomed all round, who, in closing the last year's Budget debate, rightly characterised the Educational as the most important subject of all. In his recent able and exhaustive Quinquennial Educational report Mr. Earle, the outgoing Director of Public Instruction, says in effect the same thing, which is endorsed by Your Honour's own frank and forceful resolution on the highly interesting and instructive report. His Excellency, the Viceroy, in replying to the address of the Bharat Dharma Mahamandal the other day made similar remarks, which were repeated by His Excellency, as Chancellor of the Calcutta University, in his Jubilee Convocation address the other day. And our distinguished Vice-Chancellor who, without having had the chance of having been an Educationalist by profession, has made educational questions his life work, and whose re-appointment has been welcomed by all, more than endorsed the Chancellor's utterances. These are all pronouncements fresh in public memory. And it is hardly necessary to go back to more ancient times or to quote more interested authorities, for illustrating the truth of the Hon'ble Mr. Gait's claim that Education is the most important question of all, important from the point of view of the ruled and the ruler alike, important intrinsically as well as from the low-grade point of view of economy and expediency, political and otherwise. It is not necessary to labour points of admitted truth, except as an insurance against 'Lest we forget', and to see and test how far theory and practice are reconcilable.

"Coming at once to details which, having regard to the importance and supreme interest of the subject, I beg leave to examine at length the figures for the year under the head Education, which stand somewhat as follows:—

"In the Hon'ble Mr. Oldham's speech, laying the budget on the table, we were told that the Educational outlay, from Provincial Funds, has steadily risen from 26 lakhs in 1902-03 to 42½ lakhs in the revised estimate for the current year. We are also told that part of this increase has been borne by the Imperial Government. The one or the other statement must, however, be incorrect; for, if the Imperial Government is bearing any portion of the 42½ lakhs (which is really the case), the outlay from the Provincial Funds cannot be 42½ lakhs. Turning to the budget proper (pages 20 and 21), we find the budget estimate for the next year is Rs. 50,00,000 in round numbers, which similarly includes Imperial grants, such as those under the heading of 'University and Private Collegiate Grants,' amounting to Rs. 1,60,000. Coming, however, to the General Review (page 12), we find that the Educational budget of the year is not Rs. 50,00,000, but is so much as Rs. 61,60,000. If this was any but a mere transfer entry, we should have expected the Financial Secretary triumphantly claim, in his introductory speech, that the Educational budget of Bengal, Provincial or otherwise, has risen from 26 lacs in 1903 to near upon 62 lacs in 1908. He judiciously refrains, however, from such a claim with discreet modesty, because the figures Rs. 62,60,000 are made up as a result of the recent classification of accounts under the orders of the Imperial Government, by which the adjusting head of contributions between Provincial and Local has been abolished; and more than 11½ lacs of rupees spent on Education by local bodies is shown in the Provincial Budget, because it is said that most of the expenditure from the District Fund Accounts is met from grants from Provincial Revenues, that is, revenues which used to be available for Provincial purposes in pre-Self-Government times, such as receipts from ferries and pounds which were localized on the introduction of Local Self-Government.

"Local Self-Government is some years old, and, with increasing age, is soon expected to expand. The framers of the Localization Scheme had never thought of giving the Provincial Government credit for what the local bodies themselves would do by virtue of localization; but, apparently, the scheme is working so well that the Imperial Government thinks that to put their work and the Provincial work together as one whole would make a braver show than to let Provincial work appear all by itself. The methods of classification of accounts, now introduced, may not actually take away with one hand what the other has given; but the paper array of munificence, of which the Hon'ble Mr. Oldham would not lay undue stress in his opening speech or in the budget itself, finds unaccountably prominent reference in the General Review.

"The figures given in the General Review require more than passing examination. Whereas by way of popularizing an unpopular institution, Rs. 80,000, the gift of the Government of India, is devoted to University Education. As can be gathered incidentally, from page 2 of the General Review and nowhere else, Rs. 80,000 out of a lakh and 60 thousands more are given by the Government of India for Collegiate Education, that is, to assist the private colleges to meet the requirements of the University. Neither of these sums is anything like adequate, having regard to the immensity of the area and the vastness of the requirements. For European and Eurasian education there is an Imperial grant of Rs. 65,000, and for Technical Education there is a grant of Rs. 35,000. The total extent of educational assistance that Bengal gets from the Imperial Government is thus Rs. 2,10,000.

"Imperial liberality is not so stinted and limited in some other directions, for the state of affairs is a shade better in regard to Famine Relief, for which Rs. 2,60,000 have been allotted, and in regard to Sanitation, for which a strictly ear-marked sum of Rs. 4½ lakhs has, by way let us hope, of a beginning, been allotted.

"Imperial liberality is, however, the most marked in the case of the Police; because, for Police re-organization, 12 lakhs of rupees has been allowed, and a further sum of Rs. 21,000 has been allowed for relieving Municipalities of police charges. It can serve little useful purpose to repeat the hard things that have been said often regarding such patent disparity; and if the Police requires strengthening and re-organizing, as it admittedly does, we have no reason to grudge the necessary grants, particularly when Provincial revenues are relieved and the grant happens to be Imperial, as it well may be. A better, more efficient, less corrupt and more civil Police would be a boon that no one can reject or resent, and it ought to afford some further field of employment for our educated men by holding out better pay and prospects in its ranks than obtains at the present moment. But Education has stronger claims and higher rights that the Imperial Government has not adequately recognized, which is a grievance that we respectfully ask Your Honour's Government to bring home to the Imperial Government, for this, if for no other reason, that a better educated community will require less Police and Jail expenditure, which between them cost more than a crore and-a-half, and will require possibly less famine relief. We are glad and thankful that Your Honour made a brave stand in the Imperial Council for Your Honour's own Province, for assistance in regard to Grain Compensation Allowance and for release of Public Works Cess for the benefit of the Province; or, in other words, for a more liberal Provincial Settlement that would not oblige us to go up to the Government of India at every turn, hat in hand, for special allotments. But so long as the special allotment system obtains and Provincial Governments have to resort to mendicancy, few claims can be higher or ought to be better recognized than those of Education and Sanitation.

"Between directing, inspecting and miscellaneous charges, whatever that may include, we have Rs. 8,25,000 out of the total of 50 lakhs. The Government Colleges, general and professional, that are not within the range of inspection cost 12 lakhs and a-half. The Government Schools (general and special, whatever that distinction again may be) cost over 14 lakhs. Grants-in-aid to private schools amount to over 15½ lakhs, and Scholarships come up to only Rs. 1,70,000. Last year there was an item of Rs. 1,41,000 under the heading of 'Re-organization of Salaries', but there is no charge under this important head this year; nor is there any provision for Primary Education and other educational schemes this year, as against a provision of Rs. 4,54,000 last year, which had not been expended we suppose.

"There may be some provisions, covering this ground, under the heading 'Special Government Schools' which, among other things, shelters remarkable charges like those of Reformatory Schools and increased dietary for Reformatory school students. The whole thing is so much mixed up that it is impossible to get a sufficient idea as to how much is for Education proper and how much is for absolutely extraneous purposes, which ought not to have been permitted to swell the Educational budget. For example, according to the General Review as well as the actual budget figures, we have a lump provision of Rs. 35,000 for Technical Education; whereas, in the Hon'ble Mr. Oldham's speech, we have it that Technical Education, in all its branches, accounts for an aggregate provision of more than six lakhs. The most curious and diligent will find a difficulty in making up the six lakhs from any of the figures in pages 20 and 21, even if the whole of the costs of the Civil Engineering College, amounting to Rs. 3,27,700, be taken into consideration.

"If there was any real object in making mere paper entries, the charges for Agricultural and Veterinary Colleges and similar other institutions, might well have been brought under Education, instead of Agriculture; and if Reformatory Schools are to come under Education, Jails and the Police, which are supposed in some quarters now-a-days, to have excellent educative effect, may as well do so and the array would be braver still. This cannot and ought not to be the idea and the object, for, from page 22 of the budget, we find that the charges for the Medical Schools and Colleges, amounting to Rs. 3,76,000, rightly come under the heading 'Medical' and not 'Educational'; and if there was to be a mixing up, I would much rather have the Medical Education charges included in Education proper than the Reformatory Schools charges, though there may be authority and precedent for this. What I have urged at some length ought to constitute a powerful plea for timely publication of details, for intelligent appreciation of the situation, and for determination, as to how much is for education proper and how much is for educational paraphernalia, of which we are apt to have more now-a-days than of the real article.

"An outstanding feature of the Educational figures is the preponderance of the directing and inspecting charges, though that which is to be directed and inspected has not proportionately expanded. According to the General Review, inspection charges amount to 6½ lakhs, and the charges for the legitimate subject-matter of inspection, the 'General' Government schools, amount to Rs. 6 lakhs and 17 thousand. The 'Special' schools, costing 7 lakhs, 15 thousand, cannot claim or need any very considerable share of this inspection, for we have Reformatory Schools and such like things included under the heading. The Private Schools, which cost 15 lakhs, 61 thousand, in gra its-in-aid, also do not undergo very extensive inspection, though it is fairly ex ting. These classes of institutions, which are the only institutions requiring [illegible] le of inspection under present arrangements, come up to a total [illegible] the inspection charges y themselves come up to 6½ lakhs, according to the General Review. If, however, the figures under the head 'Inspection', at page 20 of the budget be correct, the inspection charges are not 6½ lakhs but 6 [illegible] and 87 thousand. The discrepancy, though hardly requiring reconciling, is another plea for publication of details. Out of Rs. 2,31,000, representing the year's addition of non-recurring Educational charges, only Rs. 29,000 is for purposes other than inspection; and 2 lakhs and 2 thousand are for inspection proper. Inspection may be, and no doubt is, highly necessary for sound Education; but inspection-ridden education that is primarily starved can never prosper, and it is a moot question whether more money ought not to be spent on the articles to be inspected than on the inspecting machinery. And some of the schools, receiving quite vulgar fractions of the grant of 15 lakhs, would be decidedly the better for less exacting inspections and more liberal grants. Inspection on inspection and inspection of inspection is apt to end in shrimps and water-weed floating in the improved milk-supply, as happened in the case of the fabled Royal consumer of old. The University proposes to have its own inspections to see that schools are conducted in accordance to its prevailing idea of things; and it would be a move in the right direction to help the University in getting its inspecting staff instead of augmenting the Government inspecting agency, whose very strength may prejudicially affect the University proposals. It is a matter for serious consideration, and I earnestly invite the attention of the Government to this phase of the Educational problem. Now that the University is in direct touch with the schools, University inspections would be much more needed and useful than Government Inspections; and here is a field of co-operation with the University, which Government should welcome and make full use of. It should spend more on Education itself than on Inspection of Education, which somehow or other seems to be the dominant idea according to recent notions.

"In connection with the recent augmentation of inspecting agencies, I desire to draw your Honour's attention to some Educational transfers. It struck me that there is now-a-days much freer interchange between the teaching and inspecting staffs than is likely to be beneficial to either branch of the service. It may be erroneous to speak of them as two branches of the service, under the exsisting order of things. But teaching is hardly likely to be of a superior order, so long as teachers and professors have to look to inspectors' posts for remuneration and recognition; and there is bound to be loss of administrative efficiency, if trained inspectors are likely to be drafted on to teaching work indiscriminately. A well-marked line of cleavage seemed to be apparent in recent times, and if that was judiciously maintained it would hardly be necessary to have two distinct branches of service. But, if for any object, interchange of officers, like what has been going on of late, be deemed necessary, the sooner the branches are separated and the teaching branch be made self-contained and permanently more attractive, the better for real Educational reform.

"We cannot gather from the budget before us as to what the exact and actual requirements of the Edncation Department for the year was; and all that we have is what the Financial Department, out of regard to its own resources, has been able or has thought fit to allow, possibly in consultation with the Hon'ble Mr. Streatfeild who is directly in charge of the Department. We do not know how and on what principles and by whom the process of cutting and clipping has been conducted; and whether an arbitrary line has been drawn somewhere in the expert budget? I trust I shall be pardoned for giving expression to these misgivings, for such arbitrary lines are not entirely a myth. Instances are not wanting, though fortunately rare, in which experts in Science have made requisitions for scientific instruments, which a superior department or a superior officer in the same department has sanctioned up to a certain length down the list of requisitions, without thinking fit to have the requisition suitably revised and re-cast as a whole, by reason of the proposed retrenchment. Such interference is least tolerable in the Ed[illegible]; and if the Government is not able to sanction more than [illegible] of the departmental requisition either the departmental requisitions [illegible] carefully revised in the light of the possible sanction, or a lump [illegible] should be made and the department should be left to re adjust its requirements. This may be anticipating Decentralization to a certain extent, but would undoubtedly contribute to good work and efficiency; and if the idea cannot be immediately or entirely worked out a certain amount of departmental elasticity ought to be permissible, so that the pressing wants, that the Financial Department may have failed to appreciate, may to some extent be attended to.

"The most noticeable omission in the Education budget of the year is, that of sufficient or any provision for extension of the Presidency College. After straining one's eyes all through the budget, one comes across an item of Rs. 20,000, at pages 3 and 13 of the General Review, for improvements in the Presidency College, a non-recurring charge, which must be intended for purchase of instruments and implements and such like things; and neither for strengthening of the staff, nor for puchase of land or erection of buildings. At page 13, there is a lump provision of Rs. 25,000, for strengthening the staffs of Government Colleges, against the necessary minimum of ten times as much, in which the Presidency College may no doubt duly share. It is well-known that all our Government Colleges are undermanned, and if College authorities were invited or encouraged to complain or suggest we should have requisitions for two, if not three, Professors and Demonstrators, instead of a solitary one that has now to do all the work. And they should have to be Professors and Demostrators on higher pay, with better prospects and of quite a superior calibre. In this connection, Dr. Moris Travers' note on his inspection of the Presidency College affords grounds for serious reflection; and if the Presidency College is not as well-equipped and as well-manned, as it ought to be, the University will be powerless in regard to other colleges, with far lesser resources. The putting down of Rs. 20,000, for improvements or the possiblity of participation in the lump provision of Rs. 25,000 for strengthening of staffs, would be wholly inadequate; and the provision of Rs. 20,000, for improvements, brings one back to the question of removal or extension in situ. If the College is ever and at all to be removed, expenditure of Rs. 20,000, or any sum for improvement, would be wholly misspent. I should like, in passing, to make similar remarks in connection with the expenditure of Rs. 36,000 on the improvement of the Sibpur Laboratory, in view of its proposed removal to Ranchi. If, on the other hand, the Presidency College is not to be removed substantial outlay on the Laboratories and the Library will be needed, and, removal or no removal, the staff must be materially strengthened as soon as possible, for many important branches of study are and have to be neglected.

"And then comes the substantive question of Extension or Removal: The Government has definitely pronounced that there is to be no removal; but there will be improvement in situ as decided at the Belvedere Conference of the 3rd of July last. It is not correct to say that the conclusion come to at the Conference was that, subject to the sanction of the Secretary of State and to the existence of funds, land might be acquired in the vicinity of the present building for expansion. It was declared that the scheme had been definitely decided on and must be carried out gradually; that it was necessary at once to notify the land required for acquisition, and to provide funds for that in the first place. It was admitted and declared that the longer the matter was delayed the greater the prices would have to be paid for the land, and that it was essential, therefore, to take up the land without delay. It was observed, with great justice and propriety, that it would be harsh and impolitic to notify the land and not proceed with the acquisition, as fast as it was reasonably possible. It was stated that it would be well to acquire the land within 2 years, and funds ought to be provided for that purpose, which the Financial Department was asked to do in July last; so that land might be acquired within the last and present year, or rather the present and the next financial year. The acquisition notifications were ordered to be issued at once, and were as a matter of fact issued at once and are carrying important legal incidents, to which even the Government cannot shut its eyes. Steps were ordered to be taken at once with regard to acquisition, which meant something more, I suppose, than mere issue of notifications. Nothing was done last year. This year's budget is also a perfect blank, so far as this important question is concerned; and there is no explanation for the omission in the Financial Secretary's speech, or in his General Review or in the budget. We have of course Dr. Traver's powerful plea, renewed in his report for removal of the College. It is dated so late as the 24th of January, 1908, and the public could hardly be blamed if, reading Dr. Traver's report between the lines, it were uncharitable enough to construe the omission of this essential budget provision as an index of the disinclination of the Government to embarrass future and further consideration of the question, by including easily avoidable expenditure. Nothing could be more explicit and definite than the decision of the Belvedere Conference, or Your Honour's pronouncement after the last year's Budget debate; and, if the sanction of the Secretary of State was needed, it is greatly to be regretted that it was not sought or obtained before the notifications were issued and people's ordinary and inalienable rights were interfered with to their serious detriment and prejudice. It is, in relation to projects above ten lacs, that the sanction of the Secretary of State is needed; and as the idea was to acquire the land in two years, the estimate might have been spread over two years and the delay, due to the formality of obtaining the sanction of the Secretary of State, might and may yet be avoided. If Provincial Revenues are inadequate, the Imperial Government, which can afford a gift of 12 lakhs of rupees for Police re-organization, might easily afford a similar or even lesser gift in aid of Education; and we would strongly and earnestly beseech Your Honour to impress the urgent nature of the need upon the Government of India, so that work may be partially begun next year and completed the year after. Till the Presidency College is placed on a proper basis, the educational standard of the country will not be adjusted and this delay will throw back all real reform for a number of years. The matter is thus not of the every-day type, but is one of truly vital importance to the educational future of the country. We do hope and trust that, before the time comes for Your Honour to lay down the reins of your exalted office, it will be possible for Your Honour to mark its close with this great educational work, greater in value in our eyes because out of deference to public opinion; and at variance with Your Honour's cherished ideas and wishes in the matter, Your Honour has been graciously and generously pleased to consent to the retention and improvement of the Presidency College, where in the midst of many memories it stands and has stood. We have great confidence, Sir, in your suasive powers, and we feel sure that if matters are put before the Government of India, with proper vigour and emphasis, the prevailing wail due to this serious omission will yet be turned into a joyous pæan of praise.

"There has no doubt been a clear increase of eleven lacs and-a-half of rupees in three years of Your Honour's regime, for which we have every reason to be grateful; for it betokens a sincere and sustained desire to give its due share of importance to this most important question. Considering how the Provincial revenues are dealt with by the Government of India under the Settlement system, it would be difficult to say that Your Honour's Government is not doing nearly all that can be done; but our and Your Honour's Government's plea must persistently be for more generous treatment of the educational situation, the verities of which have been abundantly realized, recognized and admitted by the Government of India in more than one place and on more than one occasion. And how such pleas can operate, when strongly and earnestly put forth, must be shown by the success or otherwise of Your Honour's appeal in aid of the Presidency College extension scheme, which I invite and beg of Your Honour to make. In the Viceroy and in the Finance Member of the Government of India, we have friends of Education who are able and willing to see things in their proper perspective; and if the other Provinces have claims, that ought to be recognized, we certainly do not propose to press and push ours to their exclusion. For, Sir, with regard to Education more than with regard to other things, we must realize that 'India forms one great Empire; that the Provinces are largely connected in interest, and that in this great body if one member suffers the other members suffer with it.' A badly-educated India is bad for the rulers as it is certainly bad for the ruled; and a better educated, strong, loyal and resourceful India will require far less policing and far less internal militarism, than the Government thinks is good for it at the present day. He will be a friend of Bengal, among our pro-consuls, who is able to impress this view of things on the responsible Advisers of the Imperial Government; and we shall rejoice to feel and to be able to say that Your Honour has laid the foundation of a lasting superstructure of national gratitude. We propose to give ourselves and Your Honour no rest, till, between Provincial and Imperial resources, a substantial beginning of the Presidency College scheme has been made; and if Your Honour takes up the matter in right earnest, as I have no doubt Your Honour will, we ought to get the first instalment of beneficence earlier than we think.

"As I have stated above, the objecting Members of Your Honour's Council are frequently met by one stereotyped reply: 'The Government is pledged or committed to this scheme and it must be provided for.' To no scheme could Your Honour's Government have been more definitely and inviolably pledged and committed than the Presidency College scheme, and it is a matter of regret and wonder that the Financial Department took no steps to have the pledge redeemed. We, therefore, appeal to Your Honour and ask Your Honour to go up to the Government of India to have the engagement kept inviolate, and I appeal with confidence and hope.

"There are other important Building projects, in connection with advancement of learning, to which I should very much like to draw the attention of the Government and the Council, but to do which I find little encouragement indeed, considering how the Presidency College extensions are faring. All the same, I feel it my duty to refer to a highly-important scheme, the extension of the Senate House buildings, which must be undertaken in the immediate future. The munificent gift of His Highness the Maharaja of Durbhanga, which all true lovers of Education trust is but the earnest and fore-runner of a freer flow from the purse of our wealthy magnates, will make the building of a long-needed University Library soon possible. But we are in the position of people who have funds to build, but no suitable land to build on. There is no doubt, at the back of the Senate House, land long acquired for, the purpose of a library; among other things, acquired at a time when no one thought that it would be possible to have a fine Library building, such as 2½ lacs of rupees ought to be able to procure. A building, such as we could then afford, had best perhaps be away in the back ground. But if I could make all feel like I feel in the matter, I would have the Ramessar Library, right on the road frontage, with its lofty and attractive facing, an instructive object-lesson to our philanthropically-inclined millionaires. Working upon ideas such as these, I pressed that the market to the south of the Senate House should be acquired and the Ramessar Library should be located on the corner plot; the back land away from the tram-line being reserved for the press, the laboratories and other buildings. There can be no doubt that the market will, sooner or later, have to be acquired, and it would be a grave economical blunder to delay the acquisition longer than can be helped. The Vice-Chancellor had long suggested and insisted on this acquisition; and that it has been so long deferred, through want of funds, is distinctly unfortunate. And it is now doubly unfortunate that we do not know where fittingly to place the Ramessar Library, for the University has still no funds. I invite Your Honour to come to its aid. We may probably be told that all such grants have hitherto been made from the Imperial Funds, and that is the greater reason for the Provincial Government also doing some of its duty to the University in this direction. That the need is pressing is beyond all questions, for we shall have to pay a good deal more later on for what may cost us less now; and if the Provincial Government gives us some slight assistance, its good example may not improbably be imitated by the Eastern Bengal Government, and we may also fittingly press the Government of India for its contribution of aid in such shape as may be fitting; the University may thus be assisted to get that which it would be next to impossible for it to achieve unaided, at least within a reasonable time. I would, therefore, beg of Your Honour's Government to be pleased to provide a substantial portion of the costs of these highly important and beneficial public works.

"There are some other necessary and urgent building works, in connection with the Educational work of Bengal, to which I feel it my duty to draw Your Honour's attention before passing on to other matters. Large works have recently been undertaken in connection with the Medical College and the Medical College Hospitals; but, having regard to growing requirements, they are nothing like enough. One of the principal works in progress is the Surgical block of the Medical College, for which there is a budget allotment of two lacs and thirty thousand rupees; and this year the fourth block of the Medical College has been provided for at an expense of 90,000 rupees. But the College is badly in need of properly-equipped Biological and Physical Laboratories, and also a hostel for non-military students. The last two are urgently needed for compliance with the University regulations, which had for the time being to be re-laxed to a certain extent, and no time should be lost in providing Government institutions with what is being insisted on in the case of private institutions. Much stress has recently been laid on proper hostel accommodation, as a necessary educational machinery; and such a machinery would be most needed in the case of medical students who, if they are not living with their own people, are best nearest their hospitals, and whose hours make it impossible for hostel or mess authorities, at a distance and unconnected with the College, to exercise proper check and control. The Hooghly College also is sadly in need of proper hostel buildings as well as of separate school buildings, which are insisted on by the University regulations; and I desire to impress upon the Government the necessity of early supply of these bare necessities. There is another much-needed hostel which has been practically promised for a long time, and that is in connection with the Darjeeling School. I was glad to see it announced in the newspapers that the Bengal Education Department will shortly purchase, at a cost of Rupees 20,000, a plot of land for the construction of a Hostel and for a play ground near the school; but I see no budget provision for it If the newspaper announcement is not a mistake, then the mistake in the budget should be corrected; and if it is a mistake, then also will the budget require correction, in regard to this long and much-felt want, at a place where Your Honour's Government is located for a considerable part of the year and where many Government servants are obliged to keep their children for education.

"The Government of India, to which we owe the present Educational policy for good and evil, owe heavy duties and responsibilities which it has not adequately recognized and is not realizing. To make an admittedly unpopular University Act as popular and acceptable as possible, it began with an inconsiderable grant of eighty thousand rupees towards the bettering of non-Government Colleges in Western Bengal, and another inconsiderable sum in Eastern Bengal which could but go a very small way towards real reform. The Chancellor's recent announcement, about endowment of a Chair in Economic Science, which I trust will be fittingly called the Minto Chair, is an important step towards realization of the duties of the Government of India in the matter, so far as relates to the University proper. The Government Colleges, which are important adjuncts of the University system, require a great deal of strengthening and supplementing. In the words of Your Honour's recent Resolution, the question as to how far the reforms introduced by the new University Act and the new University Regulations are to be real, is very largely one of funds? Heavy expenditure is needed in many directions for the proper development of the Colleges, according to the new ideals; and the means by which this expenditure is to be met not only in Government Colleges but in deserving Private Colleges, without resources of their own, is a problem of the utmost gravity. As Mr. Earle has justly remarked in his admirable Educational Report, it is now, as it always has been and will be, for the Government Colleges to take the lead in shaping a better model for general Education; but the Provincial Funds available are insufficient to do more than ensure a bare compliance with the regulations. We must, therefore, look to the Government of India for substantial help. Much remains to be done to put the staff and appliances, even in the foremost of the Government Colleges, on a proper footing; and whenever any important schemes of reform are put forward, the Government is met with the problem of making two rupees do the work of four or perhaps more. There is one unbroken and agonizing cry for more men, better men, better paid men and better classes of men; and the Government is obliged to say, in a sober and considered document, that it is beyond the power of the Government to meet all or nearly all the demands made upon it and the one hope of real progress seems to lie in the liberality of private persons.

" 'The demand made upon the Government', which in the words of the Resolution, the Government is unable to meet, is, we take it, in respect of its own institutions and institutions that it aids. And the Director, in his Report, more than once calls attention to the large share of Educational expenditure in England, which is met from endowments and private contributions. English analogies are not to be applied in this country to Educational matters, was the criticism, last year in this Council, in reply to the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, whose uncomfortably ample and heavy mantles have fallen on weak and unworthy shoulders. And may not his successor ask, in all humility, as to why analogies like this should be forthcoming with regard to the particular matter of Private Endowments alone? Where are the endowments to come from, for which the Government is placidly waiting for realization of Educational ideals of its own creation or framing, in its own colleges and institutions? What we are pleading for strenuously in this Council is for bettering of Government models at Government expense, and we are told that real reform is impossible, except with the aid of private liberality. The standing complaint is that the Government does too little for the people in the matter, taking its own institutions and aided institutions together; and the reply practically amounts to this, that the people must not only do nearly all in regard to their own institutions, but must help Government institutions as well. Referring to the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu's statistics last year, showing how small a sum is spent on Education in India compared to European countries, the Hon'ble Mr. Gait said that it is obvious that expenditure must depend on the income available; and that it was quite clear that the Government of India cannot rival Switzerland in spending more than Rs. 9 per head of the population on Education, when its total revenue from all sources is not much more than Rs. 4 per head. But it strikes us that Switzerland does a really heroic thing in spending more than Rs. 9 on Education, out of an income of not more than 1£ to 5s. per head, which according to popular ideas would be something like Rs. 13 and according to the current rate of Exchange would be Rs. 19 per head. Our Government spends the magnificent be as well to examine the matter with some little care. The hon'ble gentleman apparently overlooked that the public revenue of the Republic, which is happily safe from all Kaiser-Tweedmouth controversy, had an income in 1903 (from which year's figures the percentage was taken) of no more than £4,257,200 from a population of 331,300, which gives a revenue of something like £1-5s. or about Rs. 19 per head, out of which Rs. 9-11-2 (Rs. 3,20,200) was spent on Education. Or, in other words, the Government of Switzerland spends nearly half of what it gets, against a pice and a quarter out of the rupee that our Government gets. But then the Executive power of the Republic is in the hands of the National Assembly, the President of which has a salary of £ 720, the Vice-President and other members of the Council being paid £ 480 a year, and all other expenses being naturally proportionate. Of course Switzerland is without a standing Army, a reform that the Zakka Khels would welcome in this country with great relish and gusto, and even the Militia, which effectively takes the place of the standing Army, have to provide their own badges and uniforms. These are not reforms immediately within the range of practical politics in this country, and since even our Assistant Magistrates will not look with complaisance at the Swiss President's pay, we shall not expect our Government to spend half its revenue on our Education. But would a paltry four anna bit per head, out of more than four rupees that we bring to the Imperial Coffers every year, though starved and famished, be too exacting a standard for our Educational demands? Is it a demand, we ask, that, in the terms of the Hon'ble Mr. Streatfeild's recent Resolution, is beyond the power of the Government to meet? If it is all to be a question of figures, statistics and proportions, you have to look at the question as an entire whole; and we have a right to complain and do complain that just a little more than one-sixty-fourth, just a little more than a pice in the rupee, that you take out of us in the shape of revenue, though most of us can never afford even a meal a day, should be spent upon that which is a certain insurance against lawlessness, to put it on no higher grounds.

"And what princely and munificent endowments do you expect from a people out of whom the Government with its powerful, resourceful and watchful tax-taking machinery, of grotesquely manifold order, cannot take out more than Rs. 4 per head, in the shape of Provincial and Imperial taxes and revenues? By way of indicating as to what the people are doing, I would briefly refer to events like these. Ours are a people with perennial Famine conditions, prevailing from year's end to year's end. Ours is a community loaded with lower middle classes, whose conditions are much more pitiable than those of the labouring and agricultural classes, as Your Honour, with great effect and pathos, stated the other day at the Town Hall Famine Relief meeting. It is these very classes, whom the present abnormally high prices so severely affect; from which our students and teachers mostly come, and see how manfully, in spite of their known and admitted troubles, they are trying to do their duty in the matter of Education. And it is chiefly from these classes, in other countries, that the munificent Educational and other endowments come. What wonder then that Educational endowments, in this country, are few and far between? I shall not, for my present purposes, refer to gifts of gentlemen and noblemen like the Maharaja of Durbhanga, the late Babu Prasanna Kumar Tagore, the late Maharaja Sir Jotindra Mohan Tagore, the late Mr. Prem Chand Roy Chand, the late Babu Guru Prasanna Ghose and the many minor donors, who have contributed to the twenty-six lacs of rupees worth of endowments in the University of Calcutta, to which the Vice-Chancellor of the University referred the other day in his Convocation address. These are endowments that might and ought to be manifolded if all who, in similar spheres of life, have the capacity, as also the inclination to imitate the noble-minded donors whom I have named. Nor shall I, by way of justification or vindication of our people's position in regard to this matter, refer to events like the foundation of institutions like the Hindu School, the Hare School and the Bethune School, by private enterprise; nor to the foundation of institutions, in recent times, like the Indian Association for Cultivation of Science, the Association for assisting our young men to proceed to Foreign Countries to study Industries, the National Council of Education and the Bengal Technical Institute and other Institutions, in connection with which a great deal of energy and money is being spent in a quiet and workmanlike way: all tending to the educational and economic salvation of the country. I would rather confine myself for the present to what the people themselves are doing in a still more unostentatious way every day of their life, and the evidence of which is to be found in the Government Reports and the Government Resolution, though to a very limited extent.

"In Your Honour's Resolutions on the Quinquennial Educational Report, it is observed that the expenditure during 1906-07, on Secondary Education, was Rs. 25,43,105, of which Rs. 5,58,303 was from the public funds. The total expenditure on Primary Education, during the same year, was Rs. 25,50,768, of which the public funds contributed Rs. 8,94,749 or 35·1 per cent. The total expenditure on the education of girls and women was Rs. 5,46,803, of which the public funds contributed Rs. 2,80,631. In regard to European schools the public funds contributed Rs. 1,55,790 out of Rs. 11,67,077 in 1901-02. We have no information in the Resolution and Report regarding Arts and Technical schools all over the country, that are entirely supported by private funds; these institutions do not submit any return to the Government, being in no way subject to Government control or inspection. For similar reasons, no information is available in regard to our great private and Missionary Colleges and Muhammadan schools and Maktabs and Madrasas, Sanskrit toles, various Homeopathic and Ayurvedic and Yunani schools, and last and not the least to our Allopathic Colleges, some of which will soon fittingly claim affiliation, which do not exist or work for pecuniary gain, but generally at a loss to the promoters; and are carrying on the educational work of the country under the heaviest conceivable handicap, against which some measure of Government relief is now being gradually vouchsafed.

"In passing, I may be permitted to draw Your Honour's attention to the excellent work that is being steadily done at these medical schools and colleges, and the hospitals attached or affiliated to them, by private exertions and out of contributions that Your Honour's Government rarely hears anything about. A body of non-official workers is being trained up, some of whom are in their own respective spheres able to hold their own against all comers. While non-officials are being freely associated in other important public work, people are naturally asking themselves, and would like to ask the Government, as to whether the talents and devotion of non-service medical men could not be some way utilized and their work recognized and encouraged, under a well-thought-out scheme, in which service interests would of course in the first intance be safeguarded? An attempt like this has recently been made in Bombay, and if it has not quite succeeded, it is because of mistakes that would have to be carefully avoided elsewhere. It would be a welcome, wholesome and necessary departure, the author of which would be long and lovingly remembered by all interested in problems of Sanitation and Medical Education. Our Law Education is mostly in private hands, and the most that Government attempts is the keeping up of the profitable and obsolete Pleadership Examination. This is another field of Education in which a re-arrangement of ideas will soon be necessary, though in a somewhat different direction.

"Though private liberality in these domains may not be very large or very much in evidence, it would hardly be correct to say that a proverbially poor people are not doing what they can, by way of supplementing Government endeavours. I say all this not by way of apology, but for emphasizing the need of more liberal treatment of the situation by the Government, Provincial as well as Imperial. The paramount need for greater expenditure is admitted and means must be found, if it is not to be said that the Government has upset our notions of things and has set up ideals, in realizing which it will not help us to its utmost, no, not even in its own schools and Colleges; better far that there was no new University Act and that we were allowed to go our own way in modest humility and work out our educational salvation as best as we could, and in as long a span of time as possible. We never understood why otherwise, for teaching and learning of science, elaborate and costly appliances, which we could not afford, should have been insisted on; and why on failure to provide them at a price, perfectly beyond our means, all science teaching was to stop? The opening lecture of Dr. Schuster showed up the weakness of a position like this with unmistakable clearness, and the learned Professor made some of us flinch and wince that we have been party to the insistance that true science needs forbidding and prohibitive paraphernalia; and he has re-convinced us of what we had long been convinced that it is the men and not upon costly apparatus in handsome, lofty and well-equipped and expensive laboratories, with hot and cold water and other comforts and conveniences laid on in abundance, regardless of costs and resources, upon which proper science studies will be possible. And we must see that teaching and research work go on side by side, except in exceptional cases, and that the one does not militate with the other. There has been painfully abundant evidence of late that the people will never be able to afford all this out of their own resources, and a helpless Government now appeals to private liberality. The old world ideal is shattered, and in the words of the Vice-Chancellor, in the Convocation address, as well as of Your Honour's Resolution to which I have previously referred, the available funds are insufficient to do more than ensure bare attainment of the new ideal. Even the Government Colleges have to be starved in regard to the full curriculum, and subjects after subjects have to be given up in Colleges where they were favourites before; and if this is the state of things in the Government Colleges, what is likely to be in private and Missionary institutions? It is a problem, not only of an utmost gravity, in the words of Your Honour's Resolution, but of the gravest anxiety. Who is to solve it, and when and how? I am very much afraid it is the Government and the Government alone, and not the people; for a good long time yet to come, that can afford the solution. If the Government is unable or unwilling to extend a helping hand, there is bound to be a re-arrangement of ideas, and most of the Education of the country will pass away out of Government and of University control. It is clear that so long as the present system of settlement attains, the Provincial Government is powerless to do all that is required, and the Imperial Government, the rich legacy of whose advanced Educational policy the country is now called upon to enjoy, for good or evil or both, must come to our aid; and we look to Your Honour with confidence and hope for a proper presentment of the case to the Government of India on our behalf, and the first instalment of such assistance will have to be in connection with the Presidency College. The country will await the issue with anxiety.

"The proposal for the removal of the Sibpur Engineering College to Ranchi raises an important question, which I referred to in Your Honour's Council at the last meeting, and as the reply was slightly encouraging I would beg of Your Honour to consider, before finally deciding, as to whether the Technical Department proper had not best be retained near the important centre of trade, commerce and industry, where practical work of all descriptions would be within easy reach? I would beg leave further to raise the question in connection with the budget also, as to whether the whole of our Technological Education should not be administered by experts, better able to handle it than lay educationalists, in the same way as medical and agricultural education is administered? Our people have, after a prolonged lapse, recognized the urgency of Technical Education, and in the various private institutions that I have named a good beginning has been made. Your Honour and Your Honour's responsible officers have on our invitation seen some of this work, and enough indication is forthcoming of the earnestness of the desire to profit by such education. Here is an untrodden field of self-help which is likely to be fully utilized, and the Government has not been troubled for direct aid. But there is an important direction in which Government aid is possible and desirable, and that is by superior training, to turn out from the Government Technological Departments properly qualified and trained teachers, who could make the people's work easier. We have tried teachers from Europe and America; we have tried teachers from Japan and from various centres of Indian industry, and somehow or other the result has not been satisfactory. Capable, devoted and willing teachers are as badly needed in the technological side of education as in other sides, and the Government will be doing an important duty, in its own well-equipped model Colleges, if it succeeds in training and turning out capable workers and thorough teachers, whose field of usefulness is very large, in fact practically unlimited. They will find employment in public as well as private schools and workshops, and will themselves prove to be the nuclei of economic and industrial developments of no mean magnitude. Bengal is essentially an agricultural country, and the result is that with the slighest depression of agriculture, which is unfortunately the normal condition of things now-a-days, and the suffering not only of the agriculturists but of the untold thousands who depend upon agriculturists, mostly as idle hangers-on, is acute beyond conception. As a distinguished and high-placed expert officer of the Government has been good enough to suggest to me, the remedy is in starting small industrial centres in agricultural areas, by way of supplementing local resources. By spasmodic and adventitious aids, such as have been asked for in the Council today, shall we preserve and better our industries; but we must set to business in an organized manner.

"The idea is well-worth taking up and considering, and I crave Your Honour's indulgence for one brief moment while I refer to it. If Government or private enterprise is unequal to the task, Municipalities, District Boards and Village Unions may, under proper direction and supervision and with some slight aid, do useful work in this connection. The general idea is to have suitable workshops in important and selected centres; where cultivators' relatives and all who care may be taught practical work of weavers, blacksmiths, carpenters, makers of agricultural implements, carving, rattan work, dyeing, moulding of bricks and tiles and various other small arts and useful industries on a small scale that one might think of and name. With the recent disruption of the caste and guild systems, there has been a good deal of economical and industrial disturbance, and things have to be re-arranged in this, as in many other spheres of life. I have seen important centres where it is difficult to get a good blacksmith or a good carpenter, or even the average brick-moulder. If local industrial facilities like this could be provided, there would be communal as well as individual good, and an agriculturist would not have to travel miles to a distant village or town to get everyday implements mended or made? nor would brick-moulders have to be imported by the gang per season, from distant parts, at a prohibitive cost. The thing could be worked out at a comparatively small cost, according to a properly thought-out scheme, and a large number of village idlers who go only to swell the criminal classes could find profitable work, and agricultural congestion would to a certain extent be relieved. These workshops need not be self-contained in all centres and ought not to be costly and pretentious. Boards of local members may be constituted for directing the management, organizing prizes for good work and for profitable sale of the outturn. It is by workmanlike handling of the subject, and not by inclusion of fancy subjects in the primary and upper primary courses of our schools, that real economic good can be expected. From a small nucleus like this, will there be evolved the opportunity of developing the most important work by degrees and small industries, and individual development will still be an economic salvation under suitable conditions. This has been recognized in the peoples' institutions, where small and profitable industries are being given due prominence; and the Government will have to supplement our endeavours in this direction, while not unmindful of the larger works on which it is already or is about to be engaged. The difficulty is to create these nuclei, and he will be a good friend of the country and the Government, who will organize and work a network of these small workshops and industrial centres, side by side with our model agricultural farms and educational institutions, and his name will be handed down to grateful generations. As has often and truly been remarked, the country is not yet suited for the development of large and organized industries, and individual efforts must, for a long while yet, be fostered and taken care of.

"And, side by side would, and, may, there be the promotion of Primary Education, for which the Government is prepared to do so much. Every régime has its fads and fetishes that the next generation has the satisfaction of seeing exploded, and one has only to study between the lines of Your Honour's recent Educational Resolution to see how some of these exploded schemes are faring. We are told that the proportion of pupils, in upper primary schools, has shown no advance during the last 15 years. We are officially and authoritatively told that this, coupled with the unpopularity of middle vernacular schools, points to the conclusion that vernacular teaching, beyond the elementary stage, does not under present conditions commend itself to parents, as being of practical value. 'Craik's pursuit of knowledge under difficulties' will, therefore, yet need revising and re-editing, and the teaching of English must not be attempted to be thrown back. Further down, in the same Resolution, we see that the system introduced by the Resolution of 1901 has proved a failure, as regards both intellectual training of the children and the proper teaching of the vernacular. A revised syllabus for the infant section and for Standards I and II has been published, which will be introduced for 1910. It is said to be clear, from this syllabus, that it is educationally sound; but to my mind its failure is also foredoomed, for reasons that I shall try to explain later on as they strike me. We are next told that the Commercial classes of the Presidency College have failed to be popular, and the reason to my mind is, that they sought to turn out mere assistants and clerks (which are best trained in the lowest office rungs) and did not aim at giving real commercial education of a superior and attractive type. The failure is somewhat of the nature of the failure of the Fort William College and the earlier Government educational enterprises, which similarly aimed at the out-turn of good clerks, writers and assistants, and did not care to make real education its goal. The list of educational failures is by no means yet exhausted. We have it in the words of the Resolution that the work done in agricultural classes, attached to high schools, has not at all been satisfactory. In fact, says the Resolution, the footing on which they were started was not such as to render success possible.

Steps are now being taken, we are told, to place these classes on a business footing, and one must be pardoned for wondering as to why business footing was the last and the latest thing to be thought of, and not the first and foremost? In order for them to be successful, these classes must not be considered as a part, but must be no more than mere auxiliaries of high schools, somewhat on the lines that I have been trying to indicate. We have it again that the B classes, attached to zilla schools, have proved a failure. Attempts are being made to foster the developments of these classes, and the Director remarks that their ultimate success must depend upon the extent to which the classes of Indian society, who use secondary schools, are prepared to encourage their sons to take up work, other than Government service or clerical employment. This connotes a misconception of the objects of the high schools as well as of these classes against which we protested from the beginning, and which accounts for the present failure. Those who will want good workmen or good foremen, carry on their work, we take it, on a business footing; and they will not care for amateurs from High School Agricultural classes or zilla school B classes, where the teaching of the special subjects for obvious reasons cannot be adequate. So far as manual training is necessary as a part of general training, as recognized on all hands, have it by all means in our schools, but not as a likely reproductive factor. That must be on an entirely and essentially business footing; and to control and regulate Industrial education like this, as well as the higher Engineering and Technological education, we badly want a well-equipped, separate and special Educational Department, which will not make the many mistakes that Mr. Earle's conscientious and thorough work has discovered. My plea for such a department is thus strengthened, and we are glad to note in the terms of Your Honour's memorable Resolution that old errors have been realized: 'and we do hope and trust that really sounder ideals will now be put forward.'

"Let me here explain why I have misgivings as to the ultimate success of the revised Syllabus, which is claimed to be educationally sounder than its predecessors and which is to be introduced from 1910. This is neither the time nor the place to go into details of so important and technical a question like this, and I shall have barely time to examine only one of its most important phases.

"It appears from the Resolution of the Bengal Government (in the General Department) No. 1028T.-G., dated 10th June, 1907 (vide Calcutta Gazette of 19th June, 1907), that the Government will prepare model text-books for the Lower Primary Scholarship Examination, in accordance with a revised Syllabus appended to that Resolution, and that these books will replace, from 1910, all the Lower Primary text-books now in use. It has no doubt been provided that if the public can prepare equally good or better books, these will also be accepted. What the inevitable effect of such a provision may be, I need not attempt to forecast. But it appears to me undesirable and unnecessary that the Government should enter into competition with the public, and there can be no doubt that the interest of students, as well as of education in general, would be best served by leaving the preparation of text-books to open competition. At a time when literature has made admitted advance in Bengal, the necessity for fostering School-Book Societies does not exist, and the recent strong protest of our publishers, regarding matters of this description, must still be fresh in public memory. Preparation of model text-books by the Government might be considered necessary only on one or other of the two suppositions,—first, that there are good reasons for apprehending that the public will fail to prepare suitable text-books; and, second, that the Government can secure the services of such experts of exceptional ability as may not care to prepare text-books themselves. None of these suppositions are warranted by the existing state of things, and books made to order are generally unsatisfactory.

"As a justification for the first supposition, it may possibly be urged that though the preparation of Lower Primary Science Primers now in use had been left to open competition, no good books are yet available. But, if good Science Primers have not been available, may it not be that the fault lies more with the syllabus itself than with the authors? Is not a Lower Primary Science Primer a strange medley of more than half a dozen of scientific subjects (Botany, Zoology, Physics, Chemistry, Agriculture, Hygiene, Domestic Economy, etc.), and no single author could be expected to do justice to all these subjects, within the small compass necessarily allowed? The Syllabus has now been revised, and the [illegible] Primers will be replaced and better books may be [illegible] There are no good grounds to suppose that our authors, some of [illegible]m are well-advanced, will prove incompetent to prepare [illegible]iterature books for the Lower Primary examination, even if we concede that they could not prepare good Science Primers of the above-mentioned type.

"As to the second supposition, which might justify preparation of model text-books by the Government, it may gravely be doubted if the abilities of the experts, whose services the Government may secure, will be superior to those of the experienced authors whose books are now in use; for, it is obvious that, the most competent persons will as a rule prefer to write books on their own behalf, since the remuneration for doing the same work for the Government must and ought to be far less attractive. It would be interesting to know the names of a few experts, whose services the Government may expect to secure, and compare them with those whose books are or are likely to be available in the market. If it be urged that the preparation of each book will be entrusted by the Government to a committee, consisting of three or four persons, and that a book prepared by a number of persons in consultation with one another will be superior to a book written by an individual author, it may be pointed out in reply that the advantage, even if real, can but be very small; and that far better books are bound to be produced by open competition, especially as one of the rules of the Text-Books Committee makes it obligatory upon authors to revise their books at intervals.

"Under these circumstances, I would ask the Government, which has much more serious and pressing work in hand, to modify their decision, with regard to the preparation of model text-books, particularly in the case of Arithmetic and subjects like Literature, Geography, History and Grammar, in which excellent books already exist. And in regard to subjects in which there are no books yet up to the mark, model text-books should be withdrawn from circulation as soon as equally good and better books are available; for they will then have served their purpose, and the Government can have no intention of undertaking reproductive public works in the book-making line. It appears from paragraph 9 of the Resolution referred to already, that the first list of approved books, written according to the new system, will be issued in July, 1909, and that private authors will be given one year's time to prepare their books (from June, 1908, to June, 1909). Under this arrangement, it will be almost impossible for a private author to get his book approved in July, 1909; for he will have to prepare the book and get it printed, and then the book will have to pass through (1) a confidential preliminary examination, and (2) a formal examination by the Text-Book Committee. All this will require considerable time. The result will be that the Government text-books will have a monopoly for the Lower Primary examination, 1911, though, probably, it is not the intention of the Government to create a monopoly on its own behalf, even for a single year. So, if the Government must prepare model text-books, it is desirable that their introduction into schools may be postponed at least by another year; and that it should be officially notified that the examination of all books, submitted by private authors on or before a certain date to be fixed by the Government, shall be finished by the Text-Book Committee, in time for the first approved list published under the new system. By precautionary measures like these, the Government will minimise the chances of failure of the description, regarding which I have taken the liberty to warn the Government not without hesitation and anxiety.

"My remarks on Educational topics have already been so lengthy, that I cannot take up many other phases of this and other questions that are of pressing interest. But I cannot close this subject, without referring to the all-important question of the status and pay of our Professors and Teachers. In the existing state of the public and private purses, we cannot expect the country to be strewn with Eton and Harrow teachers, or Cambridge and Oxford professors; for we have neither rich endowments nor the capacity to pay large fees, which make such a state of things possible. It is, however, clear and admitted that the existing state of things will not do and must at once be changed for the better. Your Honour's Government has earned our abiding thanks by realizing this; and, in these sentiments of gratitude, we have the supreme pleasure of associating the name of Mr. Earle, whose earnest and single-minded endeavour during the period of his office, has been to better the position of our teachers and professors. And fortunately for them and us and for our after-comers, the Government of India has also realized the state of things and decided, we hope, to come to the rescue of the Local Government. We sincerely trust their aid will be more solid than in the shape of mere advisory and sympathetic resolutions, and that the resources of the Local Government will be substantially supplemented. The question has often been referred to in Your Honour's Council; and now that it is engaging the earnest and careful attention of Your Honour's Government as well as of the Imperial Government, it may not be amiss to shortly review the situation and indicate the points on which immediate reform is necessary, and would be possible without prohibitive costs.

"The scheme for re-organization of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services of Bengal was introduced with effect, as I understand, from September, 1905. The Bengal Government deserves our thanks for attempting improvement; but the scheme has not appreciably benefited our Educational Officers, and has therefore failed to remove the prevailing discontent. One of the causes of this discontent is extremely slow promotion; and as this is a matter of some importance I beg leave to examine it in detail, though this has on former occasions been referred to in the Council and elsewhere, though not with more effect than I expect from my remarks.

"Promotion is slow for two reasons—First, the number of posts in the three lowest classes is very large; and the number in the higher classes is comparatively small. The inevitable result is that, even under the most favourable circumstances, nearly three-fourths of one's period of service must be spent in getting through the three lowest classes. A glance at the following figures, showing side by side the number of posts in each class of the Provincial Educational Service, and the number of posts in the corresponding class of the Provincial Executive Service, will satisfy the Government that promotion in the former service must be extremely slow.

		II	III	IV		VI	VII	VIII
Provincial Executive Service	6	8	18	57	84	87	50	43
Provincial Educational Service	4	6	7	11	13	18	26	39

"If the number of posts, in different classes of the Provincial Educational Service, was adjusted in the same relative proportions as in the case of the Provincial Executive Service, the figures would have been as follows:—

Class	I	II	III	IV	V	VI	VII	VIII
Number of appointments ...	2	3	6	20	30	30	17	15

"If these figures, especially those for Classes V, VI, VII and VIII be compared with the actual figures for the corresponding classes, the most important cause of slow promotion will be obvious.

"The second cause of slow promotion is, the practice obtaining in the Education Department of appointing officers direct to some of the higher classes of the Provincial Service. Since the constitution of the Provincial Educational Service in 1896, more than twenty officers were appointed direct to Classes VI and VII, and even to class IV. In consequence, most, of the posts in the highest classes are now held by officers, who will retire later than most of the members of the intermediate classes. This practice of making appointments direct to the higher classes of a graded service has, I believe, no parallel in any other service; and it serves to bring about a very undesirable and abnormal state of things in the Provincial Educational Service. In all other graded services, members of the highest class retire in due order and their places are gradually taken by members of the next class, so that there is a steady flow of promotion, and every officer may expect in due course to get to class I. In the Provincial Educational Service, a smaller number of officers, belonging to the highest classes, is benefited in consequence of this practice, at the expense of the rest of the officers in the lower classes, who form the majority. I do not wish to suggest that officers, who were appointed direct to the higher classes, are getting more than what they deserve, or even all that they deserve. Some of them, in fact, are graduates of European Universities, who fully deserve to be appointed to the Indian Educational Service. The point that I wish to make is, that their inclusion in the Provincial Service list has seriously blocked the promotion of other members, who form the majority.

II.—Promotion in the Provincial Educational Service as compared with that in the Executive branch of the Provincial Civil Service.

"A Deputy Magistrate gets Rs. 400 in 10 to 11 years, while a great many of the officers now in classes IV, V, VI and VII of the Provincial Educational Service will have to retire on Rs. 300 to Rs. 400. Accuracy of this statement can be verified on reference to the Civil List and the History of Services of Gazetted Officers.

III.—Illustrations of slow promotions in the past.

"(a) On reference to the History of Services of Gazetted Officers, it will be seen that many deserving members of the Provincial Educational Service retired on Rs. 250 or Rs. 300.

"(b) The number of posts in the lowest class is so large that a good many years must elapse before an officer can get through it. One of our best Professors took more than eight years in getting through the lowest class. Another well-known and successful Professor is getting only Rs. 200, in spite of the recent re-organization, after ten years of service. A third, who is on extension now, is getting Rs. 300 per month.

IV.—Comparison of the average monthly income of Provincial Educational Officers in different Provinces.

"The figures in the second and third columns of the following tabular statement showing the strength and cost per mensem of the Provincial Educational Services in the different provinces are taken from the Resolutions of the Government of India on the Quinquennial Review of Education (1892-93 to 1896-97), by Mr. J. S. Cotton, published in the Gazette of India of the 4th November, 1899.—

I Province.	II No.	III Cost per month.	IV Average income per month.
		Rs.	Rs.
Bengal	113	29,250	259
Madras	32	10,850	339
Bombay	23	8,400	365
North-Western Provinces and Oudh	24	7,750	323
Punjab	17	6,100

Since the recent re-organization, the figures for Bengal have changed, so that the average monthly income is now Rs. 310. But it should be pointed out that this represents nothing real, for the average income in the case of the small number of officers, now in the highest classes, is much larger (nearly Rs. 500); while that of others in lower classes is in consequence much less than Rs. 300.

V.—Remedies.

"More money. It is essential that a large amount of money should be spent in improving the prospects of promotion.

"The number of posts in the three lowest classes should be considerably reduced, and there should be a corresponding increase in the number of appointments in the intermediate classes. The distribution of posts in the different classes should be on the same scale as in the case of the Provincial Executive Service, and at the same time the class on Rs. 350 should be abolished and a class on Rs. 800 added. If these suggestions be accepted, the number and pay of eight classes of the Provincial Educational Service will be as follows:—

Class.		II	III	IV		VI	VII	VIII
Pay ...	800	700	600	500	400	300	250	200
Number of posts	2	3	6	20	30	30	17	15

"Another alternative suggestion may be made. The grade system may be altogether abolished and a system of progressive pay similar to that in vogue in the Indian Educational Service may be introduced. A Provincial Service officer appointed on Rs. 200 a month should get Rs. 400 a month in ten years by an annual increment of Rs. 20 per month. He should then get an increment of Rs. 100 per month at the end of every five years.

"No appointment direct to a higher class should be made. It should be strictly insisted upon that all first appointments to the Provincial Educational Service should be made to the lowest class, and under no circumstances to a higher class. It appears that appointments direct to a higher class of the Provincial Educational Service arise in three different ways:—

(a) first, there are some special posts included in the Provincial Service List, to which it may be necessary to appoint officers on higher initial salaries than the minimum pay of the Provincial Service;

(b) Gentlemen of special merit, such as graduates of European Universities, are some times appointed direct to higher classes, and

(c) lastly, deserving members of the Subordinate Educational Service, when promoted to the Provincial Service, are often appointed to a higher class.

"As to (a), the remedy is to exclude the special posts from the Provincial Service, and introduce a system of progressive pay for those posts, as in the case of the Personal Assistant to the Director of Public Instruction. In passing, I may be permitted to observe that this appointment should ordinarily go to the Provincial Service.

"As to (b), appointments may be made to the Indian Educational Service, or personal allowances may be granted.

"As to (c), there will probably be no difficulty in the future, since the minimum pay of the Provincial Service has now been raised to Rs. 200; provided all officers of the Subordinate Service, eligible for promotion to the Provincial Service, be promoted to that service, before they rise to class I (Rs. 250) in the Subordinate Service.

"The maximum pay should be brought in a line with the corresponding branches of the Executive and Judicial Services, in order to make the Educational Service permanently attractive.

"A fair number of the more meritorious members of the service should be allowed to hold Principalships of Colleges and the Assistant Directorship of Public Instruction should, as I have stated above, be thrown open to the service. And, in the interest of efficiency, it is of the utmost importance that capable Professors, who have made their mark as teachers or in research work, should not by way of promotion be drafted on to the Inspector's branch of the service. Teaching proper should be lucrative and honourable enough to attract or retain the best available talent in the country which, sad to think, is by no means the case, as it undoubtedly was before, when we had teachers and professors whose names are held in loving memory by generations of grateful students, who have made their mark.

"The present practice is to appoint Indians, as a rule, to the Provincial Service, while the Indian Service is recruited in England. When Europeans are appointed to the Provincial Service, they are generally appointed to the higher classes which tends to the block. Thus Educational appointments do not altogether depend on academic distinctions and educational qualifications, and distinctly inferior men, who cannot hold their own against the more meritorious members of the Provincial Service, are appointed to the superior service. On the other hand, even the most distinguished graduates of Indian Universities cannot, as a rule, aspire to be members of the Indian Service. This could hardly have been anticipated at the time of the organization of the two services; and the effect is, that most of our distinguished Judicial Service or the more lucrative appointments under the Government of India, such as those in the Financial Department, some at least of the most distinguished Indian Judges of the High Court and members of the learned professions intended to devote their lives to teaching work, and but for the current anomalies they would have been Educationalists by profession as well as choice. The Local Government is powerless in the matter of rewarding genuine scholarship, and the most loyal and zealous service among the members of the Provincial Service, by promotion to the higher service and the two services, have come to be what they are not in theory. Scientists, of European reputation, and distinguished graduates and honours men of Oxford and Cambridge, whom for obvious reasons again I shall not name, are to be found among the ranks of the Provincial Service, even after 15 or 16 years of approved service in the department. A further anomaly has grown up in course of time. An Indian honours man of Oxford or Cambridge is in the Provincial Service, because recruited in India; while a European—perhaps his contemporary in England—perhaps his junior, with no higher academic distinction and sometimes decidedly his inferior in attainments, is in the higher service, because recruited in England.

"A comparison of dates would show that some of the Indian members of the Provincial Service, who have European qualifications, joined the Department long before the Provincial Service was organized. These officers were placed outside the classified lists and naturally expected that, in course of time, they would be absorbed into the higher service. It is more than doubtful if they would have joined the Department, had they anticipated the present position and prospects of the Provincial Service. To them, the hardship and injustice is all the greater.

"Sir Alfred Croft, who was the Director of Public Instruction in Bengal when schemes for the Provincial Educational Service were being discussed, made no secret of his view that, by European officers he meant officers who had obtained high degrees in European Universities, and not merely by race. As the services are now constituted, an European officer can hardly be said in practice to mean an officer with European qualifications only.

"Previously, it was quite usual to promote deserving officers from the lower to the higher branch of the service. In this way, the following were appointed members of the Indian Educational Service: Babu Prasanno Kumar Sarvadhikary, Pundit Mohesh Chunder Nayaratna, Dr. P. K. Ray, Dr. J. C. Bose, Mr. M. M. Percival, Rai Bahadur Radhika Prasad Mookerjee and Rai Bahadur Bromho Mohon Mullick.

"I believe at one time there were no less than five or six Indians, that is ⅕th or ⅙th of the cadre, in the higher branch. There are in the Provincial Service officers enough to make similar promotions again possible, and, if this is done, it will in no way impair the efficiency or status of the superior service, and will remove the existing tensions in the Provincial Service; and the cheering prospects of promotion to really deserving men will considerably improve the latter service. As to the definite proposal of the Government of India, I beg to state in addition to what I have already stated—

(a) Only lately the intermediate grades of the service have been added to and the initial salary has been raised from Rs. 150 to Rs. 200 a month. This has not altogether relieved the congestion in the service, and will not be relieved till the more distinguished officers are drafted on the superior service.

(b) It is obviously desirable that our best men should be attracted to the Education Department. The present constitution of the services, however, does not tend to this; and as I have tried to show, unfortunately for this country, its best talents are diverted on to other channels. I may be permitted to refer, in this connection, to the case of the holders of the State scholarships elected by the Calcutta University. These scholarships are tenable in one of the older English Universities, viz., Oxford or Cambridge, and according to the terms of the scholarship the scholar must graduate in one of these ancient seats of learning. It might have been expected that scholars, so trained, would elect to join the Education Department. With the exception of very few indeed, all the scholars elected to compete for the Indian Civil Service and mostly succeeded. While rejoicing that so many of my countrymen should have had an opportunity of entering the Civil Service through State aid, which they would probably not have been otherwise able to enter, I cannot help regretting that the Educational service should have failed to be attractive to a fair member of our State scholars. If it has failed to be attractive, it is because of disabilities and disqualifications, which are unknown even to the Civil Service. They should be removed, in order that there may be real reform and improvement; and here not the Local Government but the Government of India, which has been graciously pleased to move in the matter, not a day too soon, can be of great service, if it will.

"There is one other point to which I take this opportunity of drawing attention. There should be as little financial barrier as possible against the employment of a reasonable number of well-paid assistants and demonstrators in Government service and Technical Colleges, to enable the work to be properly developed; and also by way of furnishing training ground for good teachers. Though some expenditure would be involved, the return in output would be ample compensation and good men should have an opportunity of quick advancement. In our research scholars, we have a body of men who would be trained into a fair body of teachers and professors and whose services are not fully availed of at present. The result is, they have to go back to the services and professions which their less distinguished and capable contemporaries have joined before them much to their advantage, while they themselves were engaged in research work, that merely delayed and retarded their professional career. Unless the services of the research scholars are utilized in a way advantageous to them and to the educational service, research work is likely to be unpopular, which from the worldly point of view is not apparently paying.

"The special consideration in the Provincial Educational Service, of graduates in English Universities and Prem Chand and Ray Chand students, is contained in the orders laid down in paragraph 14 of the Bengal Government Resolution No. 1244, dated the 26th March, 1897. It runs thus:—That graduates in honours of English Universities and Prem Chand students should originally be appointed to class VI (Rs. 250) of the Provincial Educational Service; that after a service of three years in that class, they should have a claim to the first vacancy in class (V Rs. 300), and that after a further service of three years in that class, they should have a claim to the first vacancy in class IV (Rs. 400).

"Government Notification No. 774, dated the 21st February, 1900, extends the above privilege to successful Post Graduates Research scholars. In the rules issued in that notification, it was laid down that scholars and those who might desire to enter the Educational Service of the Government of Bengal. would be considered to have equal claims to employment with those who had been Prem Chand students.

"Government Notification No. 905, dated the 6th July, 1900, withdraws the above rules, on account of representations of other officers of the service, the service having since considerably enlarged."

"It is time to consider whether some special consideration and consequent modification of rules is not necessary, by way of encouraging graduates of English Universities, Prem Chand Ray Chand Students and Research scholars and other meritorious officers, whose claims cannot be adequately dealt with in the ordinary course of things.

"No less important a question is that of Government Grants, for with it is intimately connected the question of the Staffing of our Private Schools and Colleges. The grant of Rs. 80,000 a year, for private and Missionary colleges, the benefaction of the Government of India, is all too small, as those who have to weigh and adjudicate upon the claim of the different institutions know to their bitter regret and chagrin. Here the Eastern Bengal Government is, through similar beneficence, able to make separate provisions for the colleges within its jurisdiction, regarding the allotment of which the University authorities have as yet had no visible hand. The Local Government may fairly be asked to supplement the grants of the Supreme Government; and till that is possible, real reform must be slow and tardy. And our private schools stand in no less need of aid than our colleges, and aid such as is now forthcoming is, in many cases, not only inadequate but is worse than useless. An experienced and honoured Government servant, who has long retired on a well-earned pension, tells me that the meagre salaries received by the lower teachers in our aided schools are a grievance, which in these days of abnormally high prices, which have unfortunately to be referred to in every connection, demands prompt redress. Meagre salaries greatly prejudice the teaching in our schools; because the recipients of such salaries are compelled to supplement their resources by trying to earn other small sums of money as private tutors, a function which prevents them from giving undivided attention to their teaching work. The grants to schools are generally so small and depend upon compliance with conditions, which compel an utterly rotten system of school management. A school receiving a grant must itself contribute a definite quota or proportion to the school fund, must pay the teachers a definite scale of salaries and forfeit the grant, or submit to its reduction if it fails to comply fully. But full compliance with such conditions is impossible in the case of many village schools, and grants are therefore protected in some cases by means, which are hardly honourable. This state of things, according to my informant, who was himself a Secretary of one of these schools, which post he had to resign in disgust, exists and has always existed, probably not without the knowledge of some Educational Officers. That this is possible, in what should be the purest and most immaculate of Departments, is because the grants are of the most illiberal and insufficient character and depend upon impossible conditions. A high educational authority, the head of one of the foremost of our Missionary Colleges, assures me, that such a condition of things interferes with freer flow of private liberality in educational channels. A more generous and reasonable grant-in aid system would call into existence more and better private schools and colleges, and I would ask Your Honour to re-consider the grant-in-aid system as a whole and place it on a footing, needed to prevent its degenerating in the way that the experts, to whom I have referred, assured that it has degenerated.

"The educational needs of our Muhammadan friends are still much neglected; and, in connection with the forthcoming schemes of primary education, it is of the utmost inportance to consider whether adequate allotments should not separately be made in Muhammadan interest, in proportion to population, out of funds placed at the disposal of District Boards? The few model Muktabs, that have been started, cannot possibly make any impression on the situation, and much more expenditure is needed to remedy the educational backwardness of Muhammadans. An important question in this connection is, the need of employing teachers to teach Arabic and Persian, whose mother tongue is Arabic or Persian, as the case may be; and here also the question of money is bound to be predominent. A distinguished European official, identified with educational interests, was good enough to put it to me, in connection with the question of schooling fees, as to whether it would not be possible to make some concession in the case of two or more brothers at a Government school or College, viz., the eldest might be charged full fee while the younger brothers might be charged less in some proportion to their numbers? I am told that such a system exists in the Punjab; and having regard to the educational backwardness of Muhammadans, I would respectfully suggest such an experiment, in their case, at all events, in these Provinces.

"Excluding expenditure under inspection, grants-in-aid and scholarships, we gather that the following special provision has been made for Muhammadan education:—

	Rs.
Calcutta Madrassa	61,800
Elliott Madrassa Hostel	5,109
Murshidabad Nawab's Madrassa ...	20,000
Muhammadan female education in Patna	1,200
Maktab scheme	3,420

"This is an educational field requiring and deserving special treatment, and we cannot persuade ourselves that all that can and ought to be done is being done in the matter. The educational backwardness of our Muhammadan fellow subjects is a reproach to the community, and the Government and Hindus would not only not grudge but would welcome measures, that would improve their position and give them equal educational advantage.

"The grants towards helping the Students' Hostels and Messes Committees will be inadequate next year, and at least twice as much as the last year's figure should be provided. Rupees 9,000 is the present grant to Calcutta hostels and messes, and it will have to be raised to at least Rs. 15,000.

"We are glad and thankful that sanction has already been obtained for making necessary payments out of the general Educational grant of the year. The success or otherwise of the Hostel system will, for many reasons, and in many quarters, be keenly watched.

"The grant for Female Education is all too small, compared to its necessities and importance. We are told that a provision of more than 3½ lacs have been made under this head, including training institutions for girls. Greater expenditure is necessary for obtaining suitable Zenana teachers, considering the difficulty of recruiting them, a difficulty that prospects of handsome remuneration alone may in time overcome.

"There is no special grant ear-marked in the budget in aid of Art Schools, a deserving class of institutions that are doing useful work, and which, if properly supported, may do better work, both esthetic and industrial. It would be possible to eke out suitable grants from the general grant, no doubt; but stress has to be laid on the subject in order to ensure attention.

"And generally it may be said that there is no country in the world, so poorly provided with endowments for educational purposes, as India, whether by the Government or the people; and yet there is no country more in need of them. As long as this is so, it is the duty of Government to provide for the maintenance of a system of universal Primary Education; for it is the first duty of a State to see that every child receives at least the elements of Education.

"Nor can Secondary and University Education be neglected, and they both must be put on a sound financial and rational basis.

"It is the Schools that require financial support and re-modelling first of all, for they are feeders of the University; and to secure this, teachers must be trained and their prospects improved. All this means money and, in present circumstances, we must look to the Government for it. A much larger and more adequate appropriation from the public funds, provincial and imperial, is now urgently required for the proper equipping and staffing of high schools and colleges and for the training of teachers before we can hope to see the improvement, which the new University Regulations were framed to effect.

"I would, therefore, urge upon the Government the necessity of setting aside a much larger sum for Education than has been done. Without this, it is vain to look for any real advance. Machinery, without motive power, is useless, if not worse.

"My remarks on Educational topics have reached undue proportions, and I have to apologise for such length. The aspects are so many and so varied that the barest reference to them is bound, in the aggregate, to be long. As the opportunities, even for such bare references, are so few, I trust that Your Honour and the Council will pardon the length of remarks, which in more capable and practised hands and with greater leisure, might have been somewhat condensed.

"Closely allied to the subject of Education and no less important are those of Temperance and Social Purity, which seriously affect the moral welfare, and I do not know why I should not add, the physical welfare, of the City and the Province.

"The public are awaiting, with expectation, some pronouncement regarding the Bengal Excise Bill. I am informed that Your Honour's Council and the Select Committee appointed by it, spent many hours in the spring of 1904 upon what was then stated and admitted to be an urgently needed reform of the Bengal Excise Act, VII of 1878. This Council is well aware of the circumstances that have spelt procrastination in the re-submission of that Bill; but I think it well to point out that, in these four years, the net Excise revenue has risen in the Province from Rs. 1,30,11,358 to Rs. 1,53,44,423, or twenty-three lakhs in all. Each year that passes signifies the gradual spread of the drinking habits among certain classes of the people, and consequently greater difficulty in carrying out the avowed policy of the Supreme Government, to 'minimise temptation to those who do not drink and to discourage excess among those who do.'

"The evidence placed before the Excise Committee, recently appointed by Your Honour, revealed the unsatisfactory character of the present Excise Administration in this City—the steady increase of drinking, excessive facilities arranged on no apparent principle, and without local consideration—large sales of imported liquors among sections of the population who, according to the finding of the Excise Commission, should not use it—an undesirable congestion of shops in certain parts of the City, and of hotels in the neighbourhood of Bentinck Street, Wellington Street and other points too numerous to mention. As the findings of the Excise Committee have not yet been made public, though it is hoped they soon will be, I desire only to observe that the public will be disappointed if the results of that investigation and the character of the evidence adduced do not result in—

(a) an immediate and considerable reduction in the drinking facilities of the City;

(b) an administrative reform, under which the Revenue Executive shall share with some other authority the power of deciding the number and location of all future licenses;

(c) local opinion receiving much more consideration, so that to some extent the people chiefly concerned may have an opportunity of saying how many grog-shops they require and where they may be located;

(d) an insistence that the standard of quality of all liquors sold, whether country or foreign, shall be subject to periodical and rigid examination;

(e) a definite legislative measure, that shall not be a skeleton; allowing rules to be framed thereafter in accord with the personal idiosyncrasies of the Revenue authority for the time being, but that shall incorporate as part of the Act, all those reforms, the need of which has been so long admitted, viz., no sales to children or drunken persons, the limit and hours of retail sales, the structural fitness and sanitary character of all shops, the minimum distance of one shop from another, and so on.

"In my own immediate neighbourhood, near the crossing of the Wellington Street with the Bow-bazar Street, there are two drinking-dens literally within a few hundred feet of one another, and both doing lucrative business all hours of the day and most of the night. The British Parliament is legislating to counteract the admitted curse of intemperance, as the result of which no less than 30,000 licenses will be abolished within the next few years. The Bengal Legislature, which has the opportunity of legislating to prevent the curse falling upon the country, is losing golden opportunity every day and is thereby adding to the difficulties of the situation. In 1904, the Government of India objected to the local option clause. Then came the Commission and the Government of India's criticism on its findings; then the appointment of the late Excise Commission, and nothing more has been heard since, excepting rumours about divided opinion. In the meanwhile Intemperance, and revenue that prospers by intemperance, have been steadily increasing, and the agonized cry of a long-suffering public is, 'How much longer?'

"Turning now to a subject that is admittedly a difficult problem in our civic life, and upon which silence is supposed to be golden, I desire to voice the opinion of all the respectable sections of the various communities of the city to thank Your Honour for the legislative action taken in the recent amendment of the Calcutta Police Act. The judicious use of the powers, conferred by that Act upon the Commissioner of Police, has led to the most desirable removal of a number of houses of ill-fame from the vicinity of Churches and schools, and I would add theatres and places of public amusements and resorts; and no right-minded man can object to the student class of the city being kept, as far as possible, from unnecessary temptation. It is to be noted, however, that the Act aims further at dealing with the main thoroughfares and great channels of communication, and that the recommendation of the Municipal Commissioners is necessary, before Your Honour can notify the Commissioner of Police to take effective action in clearing such thoroughfares of undesirable habitations. I should like to inquire if the Commissioners know of the power thus placed in their hands by the Legislature, and, if so, how much longer are our Civic authorities going to permit some of our leading streets, including Corporation Street itself, to be a moral disgrace to the City?

"Objection may, with justice, be urged against a policy of disturbance that only drives the social sin to darker haunts away from public scrutiny, and as we ought not to have the Jasowaras of Japan or cannot have the Sa[illegible]anpura of the Ain-i-Akbari days, where a list of all Visitors, including high officials, was scrupulously kept, segregation must proceed on proper basis. In this connection, it is worthy of consideration whether some system of the 'Homes' and 'Refuges' cannot be organized in suitable neighbourhoods, for rescue of those who are willing to leave the evil path; for it is not enough to unhouse and dislocate wrong, but there should be some attempt to encourage repentance.

Your Honour appointed a Special Committee to report to you on certain aspects of this evil, which, if successfully dealt with, would go far to materially reduce the extent and character it has unfortunately been allowed to reach. I may assure Your Honour that, in this matter also, public opinion would approve and support any legislative action that would accord the young life of our city the protection and aid it may legitimately claim at the hands of the State. And nothing would be more grateful to us than to be able to see Your Honour complete the work that Your Honour has so well begun.

"Next, in point of importance, are Law and Justice, and I naturally turn first to the High Court under this heading. A sum of Rs. 3,000 has been sanctioned for strengthening the ministerial Department of the Appellate side of the High Court. No provision has, however, been made for the Original side of the Court, where every office is undermanned and every subordinate officer is under-paid. With the increase in the number of Original Courts, the ministerial work has enormously increased; and orders and decrees are necessarily delayed and work suffers generally. With the recent appointments of the Official Referee and Assistant Referee, the idea seems to have got abroad that the High Court must not expect any further assistance from the Government; and, if the idea is at all well-founded, no idea could be more disastrous. If the High Court Judges have themselves made no reference, all that can be said is, that such a reference ought to have been and ought to be made; for all who know anything of the working of the Original side of the Court, know that there is great dissatisfaction in the offices themselves and in the profession in all its branches. The High Court has now its new building nearly completed, and partial removal to it will soon take place. There will be considerable costs entailed by the removal, and if there is no budget provision for this, the removal can hardly wait another year. Here also some provision is urgently needed. Before leaving this subject, I desire to voice the gratitude of the community on the permanent appointment of Mr. S. P. Sinha to a post of the highest trust, which was the unrealized day-dream of the foremost of Indian Advocates of the time, Mr. W. C. Bonerji for 'Moti, the Advocate,' never came about. I desire also to congratulate the Government, in this connection, on the better recognition of the claims of the Bar to Police Court appointments; greater confidence in which, let us hope, will soon be restored by more discriminating appointments and by overhauling the work and appointment of Honorary Magistrates. While Government Solicitors' and Public Prosecutors' fees and special fees, in what are known as Swadeshi cases, are more than ever, it is sincerely to be hoped that the rumours about attempts to cut down the emoluments of the highest Law Officers of Government are not well-founded.

"I may now be permitted to make some observations regarding the prospects of the Judicial Branch of the Provincial Civil Service. Important pronouncements have been made regarding the separation of Judicial from Executive functions, which we have not yet sufficiently understood and realized, and which will take time to ripen into practical work. Whatever happens, the Judicial Service will soon have to be placed on a sounder basis all round.

I.—PARTITION OF THE SUBORDINATE JUDICIAL SERVICE.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle, in reply to a question by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose, said in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 10th November, 1906, that the question regarding the separation of the Judicial Services of Bengal and Eastern Bengal was under the consideration of the Government. Though such a division would prejudicially affect the prospects of Munsifs of Eastern Bengal, our own Munsifs may be slightly better off, which may be a matter of congratulation so far. The total number of Munsifs and Subordinate Judges in both the Provinces is 314 and 61, respectively. At present, therefore, the proportion of Munsifs to Subordinate Judges is 5·1 to 1. But on Partition, in Eastern Bengal, there would be 136 Munsifs and 19 Subordinate Judges; and in Bengal, 178 Munsifs and 42 Subordinate Judges; that is to say, the proportion between the two branches of the Subordinate Judicial Service in Eastern and Western Bengal, would be 7·1 to 1 and 4·2 to 1, respectively. In other words, while at present, roughly speaking, one in every five Munsifs has the chance of being a Subordinate Judge, if the service be partitioned, in Eastern Bengal one in every seven; and in Western Bengal, one in every four, would have the same chance: that is to say, Munsifs of the old province will have nearly double the chance of those belonging to the new province, of being promoted to the superior branch. To render the chances equal in both the provinces, the number of Subordinate Judges in Eastern Bengal would have to be increased from 19 to 32. The average salary of a Subordinate Judge is Rs. 708 per mensem. To raise the present strength of the Subordinate Judges to the above figure, the Eastern Bengal Government shall have to spend Rs. (708 x 12 x 13 =) 1,10,448 a year. We have no right to suggest any such expenditure to another Government; but this phase of the question of partition is of sufficiently general interest to be worthy of mention in this connection, specially as the appointments will still continue to be regulated by the High Court to a certain extent. And, in passing, the comparative bettering of the position of our own officers is worthy of note and admission.

"In the Budget debate of 1906 the Hon'ble Mr. Richardson, on behalf of the Government, was pleased to say: 'The Government has under its consideration certain proposals for improving the conditions of the Subordinate Judicial Service, as regards the rules regulating leave and pension.' Previous to this in March, 1906, the Hon'ble Mr. Richardson, in reply to a question by Babu Ambica Charan Mazumdar said: 'The question of amending the rule according to which officiating periods of service cannot be counted towards pension is already under consideration, and the Government hopes to be able to make some definite pronouncement regarding it at an early date.' On the 10th November of the same year, in reply to Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, Mr. Richardson again said that the Bengal Government was in communication with the Government of India, with regard to these proposals. On the 12th January, 1907, the Government, replying to a question on the same subject, expressed itself as follows: 'The proposal that Munsifs should be permitted to count the broken period spent by them in officiating appointments before confirmation as pensionable service, is still under consideration.' The members of the service would feel gratified to learn that the proposals of the Bengal Government have been approved by the Government of India.

II.—Increase of Pay and Prospects.

(a) Abolition of the fourth grade.

"The grievances of members of the Judicial Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, who are admittedly a 'very competent and deserving body of officers' (vide the Hon'ble Mr. Streatfeild, in the Bengal Council on 8th February, 1908) are many and various. I mention here only the most prominent. First, as regards pay. It has often been urged (vide Calcutta Weekly Notes, 12th March, 1906, and 20th May, 1907), that Munsifs as soon as they are made permanent should be placed in the third grade on Rs. 250. At present, they officiate for two to three years on Rs. 200, and are then made permanent on the same salary in the fourth grade, which is called the 'probationary grade.' This is a misnomer, for Munsifs are recruited from the ranks of practising lawyers and three years of experience as officiating Munsifs give them a thorough judicial training. Their confirmation in service depends upon the favourable report of the District Judges under whom they serve. As Mr. Justice Jackson said long ago (quoted by Maharaja Jatindra Mohan Tagore in the Supreme Legislative Council on 28th March, 1877), 'Munsifs, even at the beginning of their career, are well prepared for the performance of their judicial duties, and failure in that respect is of great rarity.' The increase of pay here advocated can be supported on various grounds. In the first place, the price of food-grains, the wages of servants and house-rent have gone up to an extent unknown before; and, on this ground, the salaries of ministeral officers are soon to be increased. In the second place, formerly Munsifs used to begin service on Rs. 250, and the charge would merely rehabilitate them to their former condition. Thirdly, members of the Provincial Police Service draw an initial pay of Rs. 250, and neither in previous training and educational qualifications, nor in social status and official dignity, do they surpass members of the Judicial Service. Fourthly, that officers belonging to the Provincial Executive Service begin at Rs. 200 cannot be advanced as an argument against this proposal; for, generally speaking, a Deputy Magistrate begins to draw Rs. 200 when he is much younger, and at the age when a Munsif is confirmed in service, he usually draws Rs. 300 a month.* Fifthly, the increase of pay suggested above would work out to Rs. 29,400 per annum, which is less than the pay of one second grade District Judge. Sixthly, considering the profit which Government makes annually from civil litigation, amounting to considerably over fifty lakhs of rupees, this slight increase should not be grudged.

*The maximum age at which a Deputy Magistrates can enter service is 25, while the minimum age at which it is practicable for a Munsif to be confirmed in service is 30.

(b) Personal Allowance to first grade Munsifs invested with higher original powers.

"Again, Munsifs of the first grade who are vested with higher original powers should receive a personal allowance of Rs. 100|a month. It is well-known that the Government has often expressed its willingness to create a grade of Munsifs on Rs. 500 a month—thus admitting the necessity for such a grade—provided the High Court agreed to the abolition of the first grade of Subordinate Judges on Rs 1,000 a month. But the High Court has stood firm on that point, and quite justifiably in our opinion, with the consequence that Government has refused to create a special grade of Munsifs on Rs. 500. The solution of this problem may be found in granting a personal allowance, such as that proposed to such members of the first grade of Munsifs as are called upon to exercise jurisdiction over suits above Rs. 1,000, but not exceeding Rs. 2,000 in value. It is obviously unfair not to give some additional remuneration to such Munsifs, for the extra work thrown upon their shoulders—work which is properly the sphere of Subordinate Judges. The bestowal of this special jurisdiction, on a large number of senior Munsifs, has made it possible for the Government to confine the strength of the higher original Courts to their present limits and saved it a large amount of expense. The arrangement would also have its analogy in the Executive Service, where special allowances are granted for special work; and this constitutes a considerable source of income to officers of that service.

(c) Temporary Promotions.

"Another serious grievance of the members of the Subordinate Judicial Service is, that when a Subordinate Judge or Munsif goes on deputation to a higher appointment or takes furlough, or some other kind of leave other than privilege and casual, the senior officers of all the lower grades in succession, down to the lowest, are not in any way benefited by the temporary vacancy thus caused in the service. To almost all the other departments of the Public Service—ministerial officers not even excepted—this indulgence is invariably shown.

(d) Joining time and Additional Munsifs.

"A practice has grown up by which Munsifs and Subordinate Judges are deprived of the joining time, to which they are entitled on transfer under the Civil Service Regulations. These officers are now transferred during short vacations not lasting more than three or four days, and ordered to take over charge at the new station on the re-opening day. More consideration should be shown to gentlemen of their position who usually live with their family and are put to the greatest inconvenience, by being transferred on such short notice. Similarly, the practice of appointing senior officers as extra or additional hands, to relieve congestion of work at particular places when the appointment of junior officers would serve the purpose just as well, should be discontinued, as it causes unnecessary hardship to the officers concerned.

(e) Munsifs' Quarters.

"Munsifs' quarters have been built in many sub-divisional towns and chaukis, and I welcome some additions in this year's budget They are very welcome and supply a long-felt want. For, as Justice Prinsep in his Minute, dated 15th July, 1885 (vide Calcutta Gazette, Part I, 10th March, 1886), observed:—

'At the sub-divisions, contrast between the accommodation given to Judicial and Executive officials is specially remarkable in their private arrangements . . . . . The contrast is not only in the Court-houses, but in arrangements made for private accommodation. The Deputy Magistrate lives in comfort in a building belonging to the Government, the Munsif must be content with the best lodging that he can procure; and when his Court is often placed in a small||village, the only lodging procurable is so unsuitable that he is forced to send his wife and family to his own house. Is it surprising that, with such disadvantages, the Executive should be regarded as the favoured service, and that Judicial Officers should feel that their interests and comforts are neglected? In education, in intelligence, in devotion to the public service, in public estimation, I venture to state that the officers of the Subordinate Judicial Service are not surpassed by those of any other department under the Government. Why, then, should the claims of this branch of the service always be deferred to those of other departments?'

"The attempt that is being made, to provide Munsifs in outlying stations with suitable dwelling-houses, therefore, deserves all praise. But it must, nevertheless, be urged that the scale of rent fixed for such houses, viz., 10 per cent. of the pay, operates with undue severity on the Munsifs; for a house-rent of Rs. 30 or Rs. 40 per month in a mufassal village is rather high, and is usually more than can be commanded by the best private residences. A more reasonable scale would be the one given below, and I recommend it for the favourable consideration of the Government:—

Munsifs		House-rent.
		Rs.
1st grade	... ...	30
2nd „	... ...	25
3rd „	... ...	2'
4th „	... ...	1t

"It would not be out of place to mention here that Deputy Magistrates, who are Sub divisional Officers, have to pay no house-rent at all.

(f) Secret Reports

"Two other grievances, which require to be dealt with in a sympathetic spirit, may now be mentioned. In submitting their annual Administration Reports, District Judges are required to record their opinions regarding 'the character, qualifications and official merits of the Subordinate Judicial Officers' (Rule 63, Chapter X, General Rules and Circular Orders of the High Court, Volume I). These opinions are treated as strictly confidential and never made known to the officers conerned, and yet they form the basis of their promotion and preferment.

"It has often been ruled by the Privy Council (vide X, C.W.N. 969) and the Calcutta High Court (vide XII C.W.N. 65), as an elementary principle, which is binding on all persons who exercise judicial or quasi-judicial powers, that an order should not be made against a man's interest, without giving him an opportunity for being heard. Is it then just that the very officers, who have been warned by the High Court not to pass judgment against a person without giving him a chance of defending himself, should be condemned unheard by the High Court? Such a procedure is rapidly demoralizing the whole service, and officers are coming more and more to think that to keep the District Judge in good humour is the sole duty of their official existence, for it is a terrible weapon that has been placed in the hands of the District Judge; for District Judges, like all other persons, are very human, and if it is necessary in the interest of discipline to arm them with great power over their Subordinate Judicial Officers, it is also necessary, in the interests of justice and efficiency, that the latter should be given an opportunity of being heard in self-defence, before action is taken against them on the ex parte statement of their official superiors. Sir Richard Couch is reported to have said (vide the speech of Maharaja Jotindra Mohan Tagore in the Supreme Council, Gazette of India, 28th April, 1877): 'The appeal from a Munsif is in most cases heard by a Judge, who is not superior in knowledge and ability to the Judge whose decision is appealed against; in some instances, he is inferior.' Sir William Markby is also known to have expressed similar views. Is it likely that Munsifs should not feel conscious of this, and being conscious, should not regard the implicit reliance of the High Court, on the opinions of District Judges in matters concerning themselves, as more or less in the nature of an anomaly, besides being iniquitous? The Hon'ble Mr. Gait, Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal, said the other day in giving evidence before the Decentralization Commission, that officers of the Indian Civil Service who were unfit for higher appointments should be compelled to retire on such pension as they had earned; but he was careful to add that he would not extend the rule to the Provincial Civil Service, and his reason was: 'one sees such divergent opinions expressed about the same officer.' Every member, of both the branches of the Provincial Civil Service, knows to his cost how true it is. If ability had been considered the sole test of merit, such divergent opinions would not be possible; the fact of the matter is, that these opinions are almost always coloured by the personal preconceptions and idiosyncrasies of the Civilians under whom members of the Provincial Service happen to serve for the time being, and it is therefore neither safe nor just to rely absolutely on such opinions. One of the most estimable of men and officers, that it has been my fortune to know, was kept out of his long deserved Subordinate Judgeship, because of his having been described in the secret reports as 'Erratic;' and not a little endeavour was necessary on the part of a sympathetic High Court before this cloud was lifted.

(g) Representations.

"The other matter, which arises for consideration in this connection is, that at present there is no well-defined channel for laying the grievances of individual Subordinate Judicial Officers before the High Court, in the matter of transfer and the like, it being entirely discretionery with District Judges to forward to the High Court any representation made by a Subordinate Judicial Officer. If Munsifs and Subordinate Judges are expressly authorized to communicate demi officially with the Registrar of the High Court on these subjects, or if it be made compulsory on the part of District Judges to forward such representations with his remarks, favourable or otherwise, the complaint would cease to exist. In the matter of demi-official correspondence, members of the Provincial Executive Service enjoy greater facility; in the case of the Provincial Judicial Service, District Judges or the Registrar of the High Court do not always treat such correspondence with consideration.

IV.—DISPOSAL, THE SOLE TEST OF MERIT.

"It is a matter of common complaint among members of the Subordinate Judicial Service, and it is also well-known to lawyers practising in the Mufassal, that disposal has now become the sole test of merit, and a good Munsif is daily coming more and more to mean one who shows a large numerical out-turn of work. It is forgotten that an officer who, besides the usual routine work, shows a daily average of say two contested cases, must either deal generally with easy cases, or do his work in a slipshod and perfunctory fashion. To sacrifice quality of work to quantity is a most mischievous policy, and is bound to lead to the deterioration of the service and serious injustice. When a Judicial Officer has to dispose of a large number of cases, within a fixed time, there is hardly much scope left him for a careful consideration of all the points at issue, and the study and discussion of the questions of law and fact involved. The District Judges are required to submit a concise statement regarding the outturn of work of Munsifs and Subordinate Judges once every quarter, and rule 59 of Chapter X of the General Rules and Circular Orders of the High Court says: 'these statements will be taken into consideration by the Court in connection with transfers and promotions in the Subordinate Judicial Service.' Generally, though not always, the High Court calls for explanations from such officers as are found to have shown a deficient outturn of work; and the number of such explanations, which the High Court has to consider every quarter and ultimately accept as satisfactory, must be very large indeed. But what I was going to point out is, that there is no rule emphasizing the need of examining the quality of the judgments delivered by these officers, which ought to be a matter of greater importance, if justice be the primary object aimed at. Had such a rule existed, the average outturn would certainly have been smaller, and the number of Munsifs and Subordinate Judges would have to be increased.

V.—STATUS AND PRESTIGE OF THE SUBORDINATE JUDICIARY.

"The status and prestige of Subordinate Judicial Officers instead of being gradually improved are being steadily lowered, thus bringing them down more and more to the level of ministerial officers in relation to the District Judge. It will not be denied that in point of culture, learning and ability, the difference between the District Judges and the Subordinate Judiciary has appreciably diminished, and that the proper relation between them ought to be that subsisting between Senior and Junior colleagues. A little more consideration, for the feelings and sensibilities of members of the Subordinate Service, would add immensely to its popularity.

(a) Contract Contingency grants.

"Take, for instance, the case of the small monthly expenditure which have to be incurred in every Munsif or Subordinate Judge's office, and which are met from the District Judge's contract contingency grants. These expenses are necessary in connection with the purchase of matches, candles, small articles of furniture and the like, and in executing petty repairs. No distinction is, however, made between large and small items, and for every pice spent by the Munsif or Subordinate Judge, the previous sanction of the District Judge has to be obtained. Not only does a Munsif try suits up to Rs. 1,000 in value, but in Small Cause Court cases he is vested with final and summary jurisdiction, with respect to suits up to the value of Rs. 100. A Subordinate Judge has unlimited original jurisdiction and exercises Small Cause Court powers over money suits, not exceeding Rs. 500 in value. Government officers, who are vested with such large powers over the pecuniary concerns of the public, including the Secretary of State for India, cannot spend a pice out of the public funds without the District Judge's permission. This irksome, irritating and unnecessarily suspicious policy of petty pinpricks should be abolished; and the interests of economy would be sufficiently safeguarded if a small uniform scale of monthly grants were sanctioned to meet the contingent charges of Subordinate Judicial Officers, and the registers of such expenditure kept by them subjected to periodical inspection by the District Judge.

(b) Ministerial Appointments.

"In official parlance, a Munsif or a Subordinate Judge is the head of an office, and the District Judge is the head of a Department. At present, all appointments, down to that of an orderly peon which is likely to last for more than two months, are made by the District Judge, under section 31 of the Civil Courts Act of 1887. Under the Civil Courts Acts of 1871 and 1881, however, all appointments, in a Munsif or Subordinate Judge's establishment, used to be made by the head of the office himself, subject to the approval of the District Judge. The effect of this change has almost invariably been the reduction of the head of the office to a cypher in the estimation of his staff, and the bestowal of unlimited patronage in the hands of the District Judge's sarishtadar and the nazir. This centralization of power, in the Civil Judicial Department, is irritating and unnecessary. There is no statutory rule which makes it incumbent on the District Judge to consult a Subordinate Judicial Officer when promoting, transferring or degrading a ministerial or menial officer on his establishment; and oftener than not, the District Judge acts in these matters on his own initiative, without reference to the head of the office. This is not calculated to raise the Subordinate Judiciary in the esteem of amladom; nor does it make the maintenance of discipline easier for them.

(c) Power of District Judges to suspend Munsifs.

"A most significant illustration of the anachronism which characterizes some of the provisions of the Civil Courts Act is furnished by section 29, which lays down that a District Judge may in urgent cases go the length of suspending a Munsif and report the fact at once to the High Court. This rule was framed to meet the exigencies of a time long past, when Munsifs were no better than the amlas of the present day in respect of education and reputation for honesty, and when communication was not so easy as at present. Now-a-days it is impossible to conceive of a case of judicial corruption or misconduct so urgent that it cannot be suitably dealt with by the High Court, through the medium of the electric telegraph with due despatch and promptitude. As a matter of fact, District Judges do not find it necessary to exercise the power vested in them by this section; but the fact that it exists on the Statute Book none the less shows how slow the Government is to move with the times, in matters affecting the Subordinate Judicial Service. This unnecessarily humiliating provision should be repealed, as the first step towards an improvement in the status of the Service.

"Munsifs have been described as 'Judgment-producing machines,' and it is well-known that they are overworked. Nobody will deny that the improvements here suggested, if carried out, will make their lot a little happier. To the vast majority of them, the hope of a first grade Subordinate Judgeship or an Officiating District Judgeship, at the end of their career, is a delusion and a snare. Such illusory prospects do not tempt them or cheer up the gloom of a singularly monotonous career, which often ends in diabetes and premature death. Some of the real hardships and grievances from which they suffer, I have tried to point out at the risk of being voted wearisome, and I shall not mind this vote if some good comes to the services. Visions of glory, such as those implied by a remote District Judgeship, are not unoften displayed before their eyes (vide the Hon'ble Mr. Richardson's speech in the Bengal Council on 7th April, 1906), but more substantial good will be done to them if, instead of wasting time in drawing such eloquent fancy-portraits, the powers that be were to devote their attention to a few simple remedies and make an earnest and sympathetic attempt to give effect to them.

"Let me now briefly refer to some other items of the budget, which would require more detailed and careful examination; but which after taking up so much of the time of the Council already, I can now ill afford. Foremost of these is the question of Sanitation. Complaints were made at the previous year's Budget debate regarding the insufficiency of provision under the head of Sanitation, having special regard to the increasing ravages of Malaria. Provision for combating Malaria should be clearly shown and be sufficient. Under the head of 'Sanitation' would come the items about which pointed attention was drawn last year—

(a) jungle-clearing;

(b) improvements of silted rivers and water-channels, such as the Bhairab valley drainage and Bhagirathi valley drainage;

(c) removal of obstruction of water-courses;

(d) improvement of water-supply in the mufassal—sinking of artesian wells to which attention was called last year, and excavation of tanks.

"Under heading 'Miscellaneous' (page 4, Appendix), grants for some Water-works are shown. No provision for the Hooghly Water-works has been shown, because no scheme has been yet matured. But it ought to be matured at once, and will, we hope, be ready next year. There is a strong public feeling with regard to this matter, and it is important to bear in mind that on the improvement of the health of places near Calcutta, towards which greater Calcutta could extend, would to a considerable extent depend the health of Calcutta. Great things have recently been claimed on behalf of Calcutta, about which Calcutta residents are naturally sceptical. Realization of the Calcutta Improvement Scheme, in the not very distant future, has again been promised, and Your Honour has vigorously summoned lagging merchants to their places in the front, in which they were with so much solicitude placed. But let us reiterate, as our representatives have pressed over and over again, that a better and greater Calcutta will not be possible till the surroundings are cleared and till Calcutta concerns are once more placed in hands that have the most interest in them, by a judicious and sympathetic amendment of the Municipal Act. The civic wet-nursing that has gone on so far, is pronounced insufficient, nay, unwholesome, and Municipal Government is described as a 'hopeless farce,' under the new-born system. And the fumes of the ten-year old vintage are still very much in evidence, judging from the utterances of the Hon'ble Mr. Larmour, to which we have just listened. Never could there be better opportunity of amending the Act than when the present and the past Chairman of the Corporation are on the Council, and when the Council may have further the assistance of several present and past members, who knew and know its working thoroughly well. And it would be exceedingly appropriate and grateful, Sir, to have the close of Your Honour's régime associated with the restoration of metropolitan civic life. If the needs of greater Calcutta were more in view, we should not have had to send away the Engineering College at an enormous cost from unhealthy surroundings, which a mere fraction of the cost of the proposed removal would improve.

"We are thankful that the general question of Sanitation is engaging the attention of the Government of India, and a small Imperial grant has after all been made. What sanitary improvements can do, in the way of lowering death rates, can be seen in England, where death rate has been reduced from 20 to 15·5 per thousand in 20 years. During a similar period in India, it has gone up from 28 per thousand to 36 per thousand. The representatives of the people are, therefore, bound to draw pointed attention to the matter, year after year. The necessity of providing and clearing tanks and wells in the Mufassal should be incessantly impressed upon all local bodies; and, having regard to the dangerous river pollution that has been steadily going on for some years in the neighbourhood of Calcutta, the question of supply of filtered water, within the mill regions, along both the banks of the Hooghly, cannot possibly be trifled with. Mr. Hankin's recent researches show that the water of the Ganges and the Jumna is hostile to the growth of the cholera microbe, not only owing to the absence of food materials but owing to the actual presence of an antiseptic of a mysterious description, that has the power of destroying this microbe. Science has thus justified time-honored tradition; but we are afraid that this may not strengthen our protest against pollution, but may, on the other hand, justify, prolong and vindicate that pollution in the interest of trade and industry.

"Regarding jungle-clearing and other important sanitary undertakings, I desire to draw the attention of the Government and of the district authorities to the recent formation of bands of sanitary workers all over the country. The merest of helps and the slightest of encouragements—at all events absence of all discouragement—will be a great help to these veritable 'pioneers,' who Ruskin-like are determined, spade in hand, to do a much neglected and long-needed work. What good work in these directions our young men are capable of, was abundantly illustrated in connection with the recent Ardhodaya Jog festival, as Your Honour was good enough to testify; and it would be a gain all round to promote and encourage such work and bring people back to the olden ideas of things, in which the King and the King's officers have to lead the way. His Majesty the King-Emperor has been graciously pleased to do so already by his sympathetic pronouncements, in connection with plague prevention. It remains for the officers to follow suit, and however much one may spend money on rat catching or flea-destroying, which subsequent scientific ideas discountenance, the outstanding fact remains that Sanitation proper should not be neglected; and before hygienic novelties are pressed on a starving people, they should be better fed, better housed, better clothed, have better drains and better water supply. When these common-place necessities are forthcoming, sanitary reforms will be automatic, and to this end our strenuous and serious efforts must bend.

"The provision for compensation for dearness of food ought, I think, to be enlarged; we are once again thankful to Your Honour for Your Honour's powerful plea in the Imperial Council in this behalf. With increasing dearness of food, the sufferings of the lower middle classes is indescribable; and relief to clerks drawing Rs. 50 and under and not Rs. 30 and under should at least be provided. I am glad the Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad has also taken this view of things. In Bombay, where the suffering is less, there has been, I understand, a provision like this. This will no doubt entail much heavier expenditure, but the situation demands it. We are glad to have the assurance of Your Honour's Secretaries that the matter is separately under consideration, and we hope to see early fruition. A painful and regrettable phase of the scarcity question is, the increase of registration fees, indexing indiscriminate transfer of holdings, apparently to money-lenders to stave off the passing evil of the hour. It is a serious question whether this cannot and ought not to be minimised, if not stopped, and whether the scope of the relief-loan system cannot be suitably enlarged? At all events, in deserving cases, which ought not to be difficult to discriminate, full profits should not be made out of the people's woes; and the scale of fees may be capable of revision, though a discount, and by no means a premium, ought to be put upon thoughtless and avoidable alienation.

"Allied to this is the subject of Famine Relief which is really of no greater importance, for the sufferings of our lower middle classes are past describing and imagining. We are told that the amount that may be required, according to the latest revised reports received from the local officers under Famine Relief, has been provided for thus:—

	1907-08.	1908-09.
	Rs.	Rs.
Imperial	8,00,000	7,50,000
Provincial	...	2,50,000

"If the situation alters, so as to necessitate a larger expenditure for the purpose of giving adequate relief, an additional grant will be made, we are told, with the sanction of the Government of India, which is satisfactory so far and there need be no present apprehension about the matter.

"One phase of the question is, however, a puzzle to me—the recent strikes and labour difficulties and the difficulty of obtaining domestic servants, in spite of admitted and patent scarcity. If these difficulties are so noticeable, even in times of stress and trouble, the question of legislating upon the relations of master and servant and of artisan and employer, and between capital and labour, generally, cannot long be relegated to the back ground, if serious economic, social and domestic troubles are to be avoided. A philanthropically inclined gentleman offered to pay for the travelling, clothing, up-keep, treatment and employment and return home, after a stated time, of a hundred persons from a famine area, and he had no response. The Government and the people are alike interested to ask and know as to what this may mean?

"We are grateful that Your Honour's Government is, through the medium of the recent Fisheries inquiries, doing important work, for bettering the food-supply of the country; and I sincerely hope to see early success of these labours. I confess that, for what such opposition might be worth, I was opposed to the purchase of a fishing trawler, for which budget provision has been made, and even the knowledge that the purchase was already a fait accompli did not seem to me to alter the situation. I had, however, the advantage of talking the matter over with Mr. Ahmed, whom Your Honour has selected for carrying on Mr. K. G. Gupta's work, and I was convinced of the immense possibilities in the direction aimed at. I desire, therefore, openly to withdraw my opposition and give the provision my humble support, none the less warmly, because we hope to have the proud distinction of setting an example even to the first City of India. But what I do complain of about the matter is, the fait accompli element; for we do not understand, at least without some explanation, why budget provisions should be needed or made for what had already been not only decided on, ordered and purchased, but was actually on its way out? In these remarks, I desire to include the provision for the second cruiser for the Sandheads, at a cost of nearly five and-a-half lakhs of rupees, which, as we gather, is similarly situated.

"A large item of a lakh and twenty thousand rupees has been allotted to the Calcutta Municipality, for re-alignment of drains in the new Presidency Jail. We are told that the Government of Bengal was committed to this expenditure, when the Victoria Memorial Scheme was inaugurated. I have not been able to get particulars of such a committal; but I do venture to think and urge that it is the Memorial Funds that ought to bear these costs, as well as the cost of building the Jail, a lac and fifty thousand out of which is budgetted this year, particularly, as there seems to be no immediate or very near prospects of more beneficial employment of the funds. Whereever else it may be, there is in my mind no confusion of ides regarding the matter.

"A large sum of Rs. 45,000 has been budgetted as a grant for alteration of the Circular Canal Bridge. I submit this is unnecessary and undesirable, and I would respectfully ask Your Honour to expunge this item. The existing bridge, though old and old fashioned, is good enough for its purposes, and the improvements are needed for the benefit of the Tramway Company, who will take their trebly reproductive lines over the bridge. They will pay a mere paltry sum of Rs. 15,000 and the remaining 45,000 is to be paid by the Government, for which there is no plea or justification. Only the other day, a very necessary bridge on the southern side of the canal was negatived, though the Corporation was ready with a handsome contribution; and if any money is to be spent on bridges by the Government, it should be for the provision of urgently needed new bridges like this, and not by way of aiding and benefitting private enterprises, steadily earning fat dividends.

"I have trespassed far too long on the patience and forbearance of the Council, and my apology once again is the vast and varied range of interests to be traversed. The Budget debate is about the only opportunity that non-official members have of drawing the attention of Government to important public questions, though in the course of the year there may be some change for the better, or as some apprehend for the worse. What is in store, is hidden away from the ken of normal humanity and is veritably on the knees of the gods. The heart is weary and sick with waiting, and it is best not to pitch public expectation too high, lest the disappointment be proportionate. After longer years of travail and labour than memory can recall, the first move towards the bettering of the relations between the Judicial and the Executive is about to be attempted, but commentaries and elucidations are awaited with interest for expounding the situation. Public judgment has therefore been judiciously suspended, and upon Your Honour's Government and the Government of East Bengal, the close connection between which is thus officially emphasised, will fittingly devolve the first toils of elaborating schemes, pregnant with possibilities.

"The present is not only an anxious time, but is also a time of stress, strain and struggle, the character of which is hard to divine and will be harder to control, if due appreciation and restraint are wanting all round. So long as people's interests are in the hands of officials like those that welcomed the pick of our culture at the Rector's Jubilee party last month under shadows of sickness and sorrow that, thank Heaven, are gradually lifting, there need be no serious apprehension about the future. It is no less a misfortune of the governors than of the governed, that there can be but the least affinity in this country between the official head and the official hand, the official heart and the official tongue, for the tongue dare not utter what the heart feels, and the hand is not permitted to do what the head dictates. The limitations and possibilities of officials in India are unique, such as are not open even to those born unto the purple elsewhere, for the veriest tyro may rule rulers of men to-morrow. Amidst hollow artificialities and in mistaken zeal, however, golden opportunities are often worse than frittered away. There is no country in which people are more thankful for the smallest of small mercies, and not the least of the achievements of the Decentralization Commission will be the bettering of the relation between officials and non-officials to which throughout its sittings so much prominence has justly been given. Such cordiality, if genuine, will of itself solve many an outstanding administrative problem of difficulty, and the gentlest of whisperings will achieve more than the most brutal of the doomed whipping. 'Live and let live' is the agonised cry, and when the pursuer, the prosecutor and the punisher are different under the new régime; when prestige ceases to loom unhealthily large; when superior courts and officers have not, at every step, to check magisterial and executive vagaries, as has almost been the rule in the near past all over the Continent; when living, education and sanitation are all broad-and-firm based;—then and then alone will the ruler's work be easy, profitable and pleasant, and then will people realize that the prospect is not so gloomy, so weary, or so desolate, and they have something real to live for and work for. While Mr. Redmond is with mock-pathos and moderation pleading for the same treatment for the Irishman as the Frenchman receives at Quebec and the Dutch in the Transvaal, the Indian is the object of contempt and contumely at home and abroad, and the situation is getting more and more complex, with possibilities of mischief in unscrupulous hands. The antidote can never be growing repression and the attachment of the bayonet and the baton to the same belt. Larger confidence and greater premium on endeavours on the side of law and order, are sovereign remedies, and sympathy and appreciation can work marvels even at the breaking-point. Under soothing and wholesome influences like these, law and order are bound to be assured commonplaces, and the power of resisting plague, famine and other earthly woes may yet return to a people, the last vestiges of whose manhood are fast ebbing away, by a long course of untold sufferings. Under the changed order of things the cultivation of stout optimism, the lastest of scientific panaceas, may be possible, and it is devoutly to be hoped that a 'morning of morbid tendencies and incapacity' will veritably be 'changed to an eventide of productive usefulness.'"

The Hon'ble BABU GAJADHAR PRASAD said:—"Your Honour—It has often been said that the debate on the Budget has at best an academic interest and is utterly hollow in its character. But I feel no hesitation in making the remark that Your Honour's Government has effected improvements in the system which prevailed in the past, and is certainly favourably inclined towards a real expansion of the privileges which we, the non-official Members of the Council, at present enjoy. The informal discussion of the Financial Statement among the Members, both official and non official, before its formal presentation to the Council is an important departure from the old beaten lines and likely to be productive of some good to our community.

"I deem it my duty first to congratulate the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary on the simplicity and lucidity of the statement which he has laid upon the table. I am sorry he has not been able to show any large surplus; indeed we have not got before us a Prosperity Budget. Famine Stricken Provinces can hardly be expected to have Prosperity Budgets.

"I think it fair to thank the Government of India for making an additional grant of Rs. 22,47,000 from the Imperial Revenues, and to thank Your Honour for making provisions in the Budget for Famine Relief and for other works of sanitary, educational and agricultural improvements. But I cannot at the same time help mentioning that the sum of money allotted for the purpose of Famine Relief does not seem to be enough for the year 1908-1909. It is well-known that the paddy crops have suffered much this year; somewhere by inundation, somewhere by drought and somewhere by both. Comparatively very small areas in Bihar yielded a normal quantity of paddy. I think the villages situated on both sides of the canals only had a normal quantity of paddy. The rabi in many cases could not be properly sown for want of moisture in the soil at the time of sowing; but some lands were anyhow sown, and the prospects of rabi seemed to be brilliant. Unfortunately in some parts of Bihar, they also have suffered from heavy hailstorms and rains, and many tenants have lost a good deal of money and labour over these crops. In short, the year is a bad one and all sorts of crops have been more or less damaged. Orissa is stricken with Famine, and I am afraid lest Bihar should be similarly affected.

"I am fully aware of the fact that the distress in some other parts of India is greater and more severe than in Bengal; but I cannot close my eyes to the intense scarcity which is afflicting the millions in our midst. It is possible that the Government may soon be called upon to face the difficulty and to take some measures for the protection of the people under its charge. The budget itself shows that there has been an increase in the income from Registration. This fact is an index to the poverty of the people and to the greater and greater hold which the money-lender is day by day having upon them. Under the circumstances, the Government should be prepared to spend a large amount of money for this purpose; the provision in the Budget is not adequate. In every year of abnormal distress, such items of expenditure, as can be conveniently put off, should be put off; for instance, the reclaiming of the Sundarbans at the cost of Rs. 50,000, survey of the Sundarbans at the cost of Rs. 20,000 and such other items. The sum of money, thus saved, should be devoted to the relief of the poor. In answer to my question in the Council meeting on the 8th February, the Government was pleased to state as follows:—

'The Government is aware that the prices of food-grains in Bihar are high, but there is no Famine anywhere at present. Takavi loans are being given freely in districts where they are needed, and arrangements have been made for relief operations. These will be commenced without delay should the necessity arise.'

"But unless we provide a sufficient amount of money in the Budget no arrangement can be satisfactorily made for relief operations, should such a necessity arise.

"In this connection, I note with pleasure that the Government generously desires to continue the grant of Grain Compensation Allowance to low-paid officers, but I should be glad if we could afford to grant some such compensation to all officers drawing less than Rs. 50 per month; for there is no doubt that the middle classes of our people are feeling most the severity of the Famine.

"Irrigation.—I am glad to find that much has been done and is being done for Canal Irrigation. It is through the Sone Canal this year, that large areas situated on both sides of the canal yielded paddy crops and have got good rabi. It appears from experience that we cannot have full rain every year. As the large majority of the people of this Province live upon agriculture and their well-being depends upon proper arrangement for irrigation, and as it is impossible to have canals in every locality, I beg respectfully to suggest the introduction of a system of well-irrigation. The system of well-irrigation has, I hear, been tried in the Madras Presidency and there is no reason why it should not be tried in our part of the country. In Bihar, the depth of the well is not very great. If the Government provides big wells with big water-lifting machines, it is very likely that it would be a source of considerable profit, both to the Government and to the people. If the Government is required to spend Rs. 20,000 on the well-irrigation of a village, having 1,000 bighas, and if it charges Rs. 3 a bigha as water-rate, it would mean a substantial help to the people and a clear source of income to the Government. In places where it is not practicable to have canal irrigation, it would, I submit, be expedient to establish a system of well-irrigation. In my opinion, no tenant or zamindar will grudge to pay water-rate for irrigation by means of wells; they will rather pay more for it than for canal-irrigation, and that for the following reasons:—

(1) They will be sure of having some produce every year.

(2) According to my information, gathered from experienced cultivators, well-water brings out larger produce than canal-water. Well-water is a better fertiliser.

(3) Some lands in some localities irrigated by canal-water are being deteriorated day by day on account of silt deposit, and there is no such risk in Well-irrigation.

(4) When on account of drought rivers are dried up, canals cannot supply a sufficient quantity of water; but that will not be the case with wells.

(5) In his budget speech at the Bengal Council on the 7th April, 1906, the Hon'ble Mr. Inglis very properly remarked: 'With respect to Irrigation, in my opinion, it is undoubtedly the case that where, as on the Sone Canals, rice has taken the place of other crops, requiring less water or not requiring irrigation at all, there is some increase in sickness, which we call in a general way malarial fever. This may be due to a rise in the level of the sub-soil water or to other causes; but, whatever the cause, I believe it to be a fact that you cannot have a purely artificial cultivation of rice on a large scale without some bad effect on health' This evil cannot exist if Well-irrigation is resorted to. Again, there is another useful means of irrigation. But this also cannot be utilized without the help of the Government. There are numerous small rivers and rivulets which can be used as canals, for irrigation purposes.

"I have noted above my humble suggestions for the provision of greater facilities for Irrigation; they are based on crude ideas and have not been subjected to scientific scrutiny. But the subject is so important that I beg to invite the attention of the Government to it, and to request that it may consult its scientific experts, and see if it can take any such action in the matter. We should never lose sight of the fact that India is an agricultural country, and that any harm to its agricultural interests would spell its ruin.

"Excise.—It cannot but be deplored that the Government is under the necessity of accepting revenue from the liquor traffic. It is now a well-established fact that intemperance is a curse, and that no pains should be spared for its suppression. In every age and in every country, it has been severely condemned; and nowhere more than in India. The people of our land are by their habits, as also by their religions, remarkably averse to drink. Anything, therefore, which places temptations in their way and which has the likely effect of leading them astray, should be deprecated as much as possible. The Government should do all that it can for the discouragement of the liquor traffic; no anxiety for gain should interfere with the right performance of its duties. And I am glad that not only the Government of Bengal but the Government of India and the Secretary of State have more than once given out their approval of the principle I have referred to above.

"The Government of Bengal in its Resolution appointing the Commission of 1883-1884 stated: 'It is unnecessary here to recapitulate all that has been said against and in favour of the outstill system, which is in force over practically the whole area of the Province outside Calcutta and its environs. One thing is clear, that there has been a serious increase in drinking among the people. That increase is not confined to the area under the outstill system, but that it has taken place throughout a great part of that area is not open to question. Whether the causes in operation are the same as those which have caused the increase in the smaller area under the Sader distillery, or whether they are special causes, either inherent in the system or brought into force by the present application, it is impossible for the Government to allow this increase in drinking to continue, without making every effort to ascertain their causes, and if possible to remove them. No consideration of revenue can be allowed to outweigh the paramount duty of the Government to prevent the spread of Intemperance, so far as it may be possible to do so.' I believe there has been no change in the policy of the Government since 1883, when this Resolution was published.

"Your Honour's Government has always been friendly to the cause of Temperance. The actual Excise revenue in 1906-1907 was Rs. 1,60,81,592, and the revised estimate of 1907-1908 was Rs. 1,70,00,000, the present budget estimate is Rs. 1,75,00,000, half of which is our Provincial share. Such a big jump in the Excise revenue is deplorable. If the estimate of revenue is raised, the Officers placed over the Excise Department may come to believe that they are bound to try for a proportionate increase of revenue in their respective districts, and may thus be led to display extra zeal in the raising of the receipts from Excise. Revenue may be increased by the raising of the price, but this means may not always succeed in decreasing drunkenness. I have learnt on inquiry that when the revenue of a particular shop is increased, the shopkeeper sells liquor cheaper than before (of course he sells adulterated liquor and thus secures a larger sale). There is here also a risk of increasing drunkenness.

"It is strange that no rate has been fixed by the Government for the sale of liquor by the shop-keepers. Shop-keepers are at liberty to sell liquor at any price which suits them. The Government should fix at least the minimum price of the liquor to be sold at the shops. Unless the Government lays down any such restriction, drunkenness is bound to increase and the morals of the people are liable to be injuriously affected. The Excise Bill is pending before the Bengal Council. I have proposed amendments to the following effect, viz., 'no license for the sale of any intoxicating liquor or drug in any locality shall be granted against the wishes of the majority of the people of that locality, and that no intoxicable liquor or drug should be sold to women or to children below 16 years of age.' The Government is a guardian of the people; it has to promote their interest; it has to protect them from evil. There is no reason why it should allow women or young boys to be assailed by temptations. If a man who has attained the age of discretion contracts evil habits or falls into ways of debauchery, the Government or even his parents can hardly help it. But it is otherwise with women and young boys. In the latter case, the Government and the parents are to a great extent the controlling authorities. The Government should so far as practicable help the parents in keeping the children straight.

"Again, I do not see how any Government can reasonably oppose the principle of local option. A liquor shop should never be thrust upon a people that do not like it. It is gratifying to note here, that the Government has not unoften laid down the principle that such shops should not be opened in the vicinity of important public institutions. But that is not enough. I humbly submit that the Government should formally recognize the rule of local option and make it incumbent upon its Excise Officers to respect the rule. I have known numerous instances in which the opinion of the people of the locality concerned has been utterly disregarded and treated with a contempt which it did not deserve. The Excise Committee also did not condemn the principle; indeed its report supports, to a certain extent, the proposal that due provision should be made in, the Excise Act, for the ascertaining and respecting of public opinion.

"The Excise Committee recommends a general prohibition of the sale of liquor to children. The Committee, no doubt, hesitates to put a sudden stop to the sale to women; but the Committee is, I see, of opinion that the local authorities should have power to stop such a sale, in case of need But if the sale is an evil, I do not understand why it should not be put a stop to by the Government; why should such a matter be left to the discretion of the local authorities? I believe the British Government will soon have in England a Licensing Act which would largely reduce the evils attendant upon the liquor traffic, and I hope our Government will not fail to grant us the boon of local option in the Bill which is yet pending before it.

"Before I pass on to another topic, I should like to speak a word or two about cigarette smoking. Cigarette smoking among schoolboys prevails to an alarming extent and does, it is held, immense harm to their health and studies. Is it possible to restrict its use among boys by legislation?

"Assessed Taxes.—There is an increase under this head also. The actual figure of 1906-1907 in the Provincial share was Rs. 24,33,631, and the revised Budget estimate for 1907-1908 was Rs. 25,25,000, and the present Budget estimate is Rs. 26,25,000. Of course, this figure represents half of the really estimated income under this head,

"I think in these days of scarcity, this figure in the budget is alarming. If the estimate is kept at such a high figure, every officer in charge would deem it necessary for him to increase the tax to its utmost limits. The result may be that the people who expected reductions on account of any falling off in their incomes would find their prayers unheeded, or that those who did not deserve to be assessed would be saddled with the burden. It cannot be gainsaid that, in India, during the days of scarcity, the income of the people is considerably reduced; no increase in the Income-tax should be expected. In the preparation of the Budget, I humbly think the actuals of the last year should be our guide.

"Education.—It cannot be doubted that all the Provinces are equally entitled to the support and sympathy of the Government. The Government is ma bap to all of them. But just as the parents devote more attention to their infant children than to those that are grown up and are capable of carving out their career, the Government is bound to lend greater help to the weak and the infirm in their faltering steps on the path of education. Similarly, the more advanced provinces are morally bound to help their less advanced sister provinces. Bihar cannot be adequately grateful to the Government for the improvements that have been already made, and that are likely to be made in the immediate future in the Patna College and the Temple Medical School. Your Honour's Government has indeed done much for the well-being of these two important Educational Institutions in that Province. But Bihar badly needs and richly deserves some encouragement at the hands of the Government, in the matter of Technical Education. On the 25th January last, I suggested in one of my questions in the Council that the Bihar School of Engineering should be raised to the status of a college. The Government was pleased to reply as follows:—

'It is hoped that the Sibpur Engineering College will shortly be removed to Ranchi. This site will be in all respects as favourable for Bihari students as for students from the rest of Bengal. The Lieutenant-Governor, as at present advised, does not consider that there is room for a second Engineering College in this Province. It would not be possible to have another College equally efficient with the College now situated at Sibpur.'

"I agree to the opinion that it would not be possible at present to have another College equally efficient with that now situated at Sibpur; but I think it would not be easy for one College at Sibpur or Ranchi to accommodate all the students of Bihar and Bengal. And I am humbly of opinion that the present requirements of Bihar would be sufficiently met if the Bihar School of Engineering were raised to the status of a second class College, teaching up to the F. E. Standard of the Calcutta University. I have had discussions on the subject with some eminent Government Educational Experts. A scheme has been prepared in consultation with them. The scheme is as follows:—

Teachers and menial servants in the Bihar School of Engineering.		Teachers and menial servants required for a second grade College teaching up to F. E. standard.		Rooms in the school building.	Rooms required for a second grade College.	Present staff in the Workshop of the Bihar School of Engineering.		Staff required for the Workshop of a second grade College. "It would appear that only two additional Professors and some additional expenditure in the workshop would be required in case the school is raised to that standard; there would be in all probability a recurring charge of only about Rs. 6,000 a year and an initial outlay of Rs. 10,000, for the purchase of some machinery: the latter, of course, would be non-recurring.

"Then there is another important factor, viz., the income from the fees and fines of the College. It is probable that the Government will not have to spend a very large sum of money for the maintenance of the College. It is expected that the income from F. E. class and the workshop will not be inconsiderable. We have got at present a splendid building, with a splendid hostel attached to it; and I respectfully submit we should try to widen the usefulness of the school. It is really a very fortunate circumstance that we can raise the status of the school at a cost of only Rs. 6,000 a year. The Government should not fail to avail itself of such an excellent opportunity. Only a little help from the Government will place the people of Bihar under a deep debt of gratitude. The fund which was spent on the construction of the building and the equipping of the Institution was raised by private subscription, on the occasion of His Majesty's visit to Patna. The chief donor was Nawab Syed Lutfali Khan Bahadur, C.I.E., of Patna. The Board of Visitors of the School spent its fund with the hope that they would have a College. If the Board, of which I have the honour to be a member, had known that there would only be a school, the Board perhaps would not have agreed to spend such a large sum of money on a building. A school would not require such a grand building. It is hoped that an institution, which is connected with the memory of His Majesty's visit to Patna, would receive from the Government a large measure of attention. It may not be out of place to remind Government that it has very recently abolished the Government Law Class at Patna, and has thus been relieved of a recurring charge entailed by the maintenance of a Law class. In these circumstances, the Government will, I fervently hope, invest a little more money in the Bihar School of Engineering.

"There is another first class College in Bihar, i.e., the Bihar National College, which deserves special notice. It was founded by the late lamented the Hon'ble Babu Saligram Singh, and his brother the late Babu Bisseswar Singh; they were truly patriotic Biharees. The Institution was started with a view to give cheap high education to Bihar. • It was not at all a mercenary business. It was never in want of accommodation or funds. But the new University Regulations made an uncommonly heavy demand upon its purse and put a strain upon its resources, consequently Government aid became a necessity. It has done much towards the imparting of cheap education to Biharees, and Bihar is indebted to the founders of the Institution. Bihar cannot be adequately thankful to Your Honour for the aid which has been granted to this Institution, and I hope the Government will not neglect this Institution if any further aid is needed.

"Law and Justice.—It is a well-known fact that some of the Criminal Courts in the Province hold their sittings till late hours in the evening. The causes are various: sometimes it is the pressure of business, sometimes it is a piece of indiscretion on the part of the presiding officer concerned; but I beg humbly to submit that these sittings cause a good deal of inconvenience to the litigants and their lawyers. There would be very little murmuring if it were settled that each of the Criminal Courts would hold its sittings at night. If the parties came prepared to be present at a night sitting, they would not feel the inconvenience much. But as matters stand, the whole thing rests on uncertainty, on the whims or the caprices or for the matter of that, on the common sense of the Officers concerned. If a Pleader or a Barrister, who goes to Court at 11 A.M., is made to work, without previous notice, till, say 9 P.M. or 10 P.M. at night, he cannot but feel very much inconvenienced. I frankly admit that there may be occasions on which late sittings may be necessitated by the circumstances. But the liberty given to the officer, of holding late sittings should, I submit, be hedged in by proper safeguards.

"It may here be noted that the Calcutta High Court has in its note to rule 1, Chapter I, Part I, Volume I, of the General Rules and Circulars laid down the following for the guidance of the officers of the Civil Courts:

'The daily sittings of each Court shall ordinarily extend from 11 A.M. to 5 P.M. If the Government is of opinion that there is a greater pressure of business in the Criminal Courts than in the Civil Courts, or that the criminal business is generally more urgent than the civil, the Government, which is always the best protector of the public, can direct its officers ordinarily to hold their Courts from 11 A.M. to 5 P.M., and record their reasons whenever they are compelled, by pressure of business or by any other cause, to depart from the rule. These Officers may also be asked to give previous notice to the parties, whenever they deem it necessary to hold late sittings.

"I considered it my duty to draw the attention of Your Honour's Government to the subject only because I see that, if only a little remedial measure be taken by Your Honour's Government, a fruitful source of misunderstanding, a cause of friction between the Bench and the Bar, between, I may go so far as to say, the rulers and the ruled, will be done away with. I know there have been several cases in which such late sittings have caused much unpleasantness and have disturbed not a little the harmonious relationship existing between the officers of the Government and the parties concerned. As there is no such order of the Government to guide them, many officers, well-meaning, intelligent and courteous have to do their business in a way which runs counter to the wishes of the public and causes them serious inconvenience. If in order to avoid night sittings the Government has to incur any additional expense the Government should not I submit, hesitate to do it.

"Provincial Rates.—Famine, Plague and Cholera reign supreme in Bihar; and Sanitation cannot be neglected with impunity. In the first place, it is, I humbly think, necessary for the Government, as well as for the people, to devote some attention to the Sanitation of Villages. The villages are, generally speaking, in an insanitary condition. It is no doubt one of the duties of the District Boards and the Local Boards to look after the Sanitation of the Rural Areas. But there are two things necessary to the performance of that duty :—

(i) Distinct and clear direction of the Government as to the proportion of the income of the Board which should be spent on Sanitation.

(ii) Pecuniary aid from the Government to the District Boards for the purpose of carrying out Sanitary Schemes.

"The Sadar Local Board of Patna introduced, some time ago, a system of Village Sanitation. The system proved successful and was approved by the Government and noticed in its Resolution, reviewing the report on the Working of the District Boards of Bengal, 1900-1901, in the following terms: 'The Patna and Dinapore Local Boards inaugurated a regular system for cleansing villages and rural towns, which mainly consisted of the removal of filth and rank vegetation, the filling up of ditches, and works of a like nature. The example is one which other Local Boards would do well to follow, not only as a remedy when plague or other epidemics are rife, but as a help against their occurrence.' The Government desired the other Local Boards of the Province to follow the example thus set to them. But I find from experience, gained as the Chairman of the Patna Sadar Local Board, that the Sanitary Schemes cannot be properly completed and carried out for want of funds. The village population is as much entitled to the help and sympathy of the Government as the city population. If the District Boards, and the Local Boards that are under them, spent a fixed proportion of their revenues and if they received some substantial help from our benign Government, the fate of the village people would be appreciably bettered and their best interests considerably advanced.

"Miscellaneous.—I thank the Government for its allotment of Rs. 1,00,000 to Puri, of Rs. 77,000 to Gaya and of Rs. 75,000 to Monghyr, for their water-works. In this connection, I cannot help reminding the Government that something must be done for the Patna Water-works. When His Excellency, Lord Elgin, visited Patna, His Excellency remarked that Water-works and Drainage were twin sisters, and that where Drainage had been already constructed, Water-works must be had. If the pucka drainage had not been made, the kutcha drains would have absorbed all filthy matters; but pucka drains cannot so absorb them and the result is bad smell and the poisoning of the atmosphere; and thus Water-works have become more urgent on account of the existence of the pucka drains. When I asked a question in the Bengal Council meeting of the 8th February last on this subject, the Government was pleased to state:—

"The charges for projects of local Water-supply should ordinarily be met from local resources. The Government cannot be expected to do more than make contribution from the general revenues to supplement local subscription.

"The most recent estimate for a scheme of Water-supply for the City of Patna, made in the year 1900 by the Sanitary Engineer, amounted to about 20 lakhs of rupees, and the annual maintenance charges were estimated at Rs. 40,000. It is out of the question that the Government should make a grant of the whole cost. Moreover, the Lieutenant-Governor is advised that the Municipality is not in a position to meet even the maintenance charges of such a scheme.'

"I think the answer was given under a misapprehension, that Patna Water-works could not be had for less than Rs. 20 lakhs; but I have got a complete report on the subject jointly prepared by Mr. Ross, the then City Magistrate, and Mr. Cumming, the then Chairman of the Patna Municipality. It shows that the Water-works can be had at a much lower cost than Rs. 20 lakhs; there are several estimates, viz., 20 lakhs, 15 lakhs, 13 lakhs, the lowest being Rs. 7,31,223. The question naturally arises, how can even this amount of 7 lakhs be raised? In answer to this, I humbly submit that in Bihar, rather in Patna Division. there are many wealthy and liberal Raj estates that could very easily subscribe at least one lakh each for the purpose of Water-works at Patna; but, except Darbhanga, all the big Raj estates, i.e., Bettiah, Hatwa and Dumraon, besides other big estates like Nurhan, &c., are under the Court of Wards. I think the Court of Wards can fairly sanction a donation of Rs. 1,00,000 from each of the three Raj estates, and one lakh from the other comparatively minor estates under the Court of Wards. The Maharaja Bahadur of Darbhanga, who gave Rs. 50,000 to the Patna Municipality some time before the birth of the Maharaj Kumar, will, with his usual generosity, surely give us a large donation. We have already Rs. 1,00,000 at our disposal; the balance may easily be contributed by the Government.

"It would appear from the above that the proposal for the Water-works at Patna is not quite unreasonable, and the question need not be altogether brushed aside. Your Honour's Government will always be gratefully remembered in connection with this boon.

"Your Honour's Government has, I am glad to be able to say, done not a little for the sanitary improvements of the town of Patna, and I trust this will be the finishing touch. I hope the Hon'ble Mr. Greer, the late Commissioner of Patna, who knows Patna and Patna Division very well, will bear me out and support me in this matter. The proposal for the Water-works at Patna may be considered selfish by some critics; but it is not really so. Patna is the chief town of Bihar and is a seat of the Government. The Province and the Government are interested in its sanitary improvements, and I hope Your Honour's Government will not fail to do as much as it is possible to do in this direction."

The Hon'ble MAHARAJ ADHIRAJ BAHADUR OF BURDWAN said:—"Your Honour—Though, unfortunately, owing to partial failure of crops in certain districts of Bengal as well as to the heavy expenditures, the Budget before us is not one with a big surplus, yet my hon'ble colleague, the Financial Secretary, is to be congratulated for the excellent way in which he has framed his Budget and has distributed the amounts to the heads under which there are

"I thank Your Honour for allotting a lac of rupees for housing the Officials at Burdwan. This has been a crying need, and I hope that, if a lakh be found insufficient, Your Honour's Government will enhance the contribution, as proper residential quarters for Government Officials are essential everywhere, especially in places which are unfortunately not free from Malaria.

"Talking of Malaria, Sir, I would have liked much to have expressed my opinion on the present wants of sanitation in the villages, not to speak of the drinking-water problem; but, as the Bengal Local Self-Government (Amendment) Bill is, I understand, now under the consideration of the Imperial Government, and as in it the necessary formations of Sanitary Boards have been introduced, I refrain from remarking until the Bill comes up for discussion in this Council.

"There is one point, Sir, on which I wish to draw your attention, and which has an immediate bearing on the Famine problem in the country, namely, the question of proper preservation of pasture-lands in Bengal. I am not aware, Sir, if there is any special enactment to protect these very necessary lands from being maltreated; but if there is no such protective measure it ought, in my humble opinion, to receive the attention of Government. There are many zemindars who take care of the pasture-lands and see that enough grazings for cattle exist in their zemindaries, but there are several, mostly petty zemindars, who show an extraordinary apathy towards this most important subject. I hope, Sir, that some necessary legislation towards the protection of such pasturage will be forthcoming before very long.

"Under no Lieutenant-Governor has Bengal received such encouragement and help in the way of hospitals, dispensaries and other medical and sanitary institutions as she has been lucky enough to get during Your Honour's régime, and for which we, the inhabitants of and settlers in Bengal, cannot be sufficiently thankful to you, Sir.

"Though no provision has been made in this Budget for helping us to go on with our scheme of the Central Hospital at Burdwan, I trust the year will be financially a good one, and that from the surplus Your Honour will be able to contribute something towards this much-needed hospital by a supplementary grant.

"I was much struck with the Zenana Private Patients' Wards that were not so very long ago opened by Her Excellency Lady Minto at the Lady Dufferin Hospital, and I hope, Sir, that the people of this Province will appreciate the kind thought that prompted you and Lady Fraser to start these Cottage Wards for the women of this Province, and that a time will soon come when the Government will be hampered with requests to build more such Cottage Wards and which, I am sure, with private munificence and the usual liberality of Government, will, when the needed time comes, enable them to build more such useful wards for purdah ladies.

"Encouraged by the kind interest that Your Honour takes in things medical, I venture to lay before you a proposal which I hope, Sir, will receive the consideration that it may deserve at the hands of Your Honour's Government. Sir, as you are well aware the only Sanitarium that exists at present for the exclusive use of the Natives of Bengal is the Lowis Jubilee Sanitarium up at Darjeeling. This institution has served the purpose for which it was started, and during the Puja vacation and in the cold weather the place is often crowded with visitors and men in indifferent health who go up to the hills for a change.

"But, Sir, this institution is only resorted to by the well-to-do Bengalis and Indians. The poor middle class is still without a home or sanitarium in Bengal. It is this class, Sir, that needs such an institution badly; it is this class, Sir, that wants a good sanitarium and a healthy place with family quarters, where the not-over-well-to-do middle class folk could go to with their sickly wives and children to get a change and to get rid of the many diseases that they are susceptible to, owing to want of proper clothing, food and sanitation. This class is mostly made up of the clerical community who work as clerks in Government offices, railways, big mercantile firms and in the offices of private individuals, and among whom the majority cannot aspire to be Burra Baboos; but who, nevertheless, in many cases are sons of respectable middle class men and who, though they have to borrow in secret, for the sake of living, would rather die than live to be humiliated by their secret woes being made public. The scheme, I admit, is a costly one, but it is worth considering. Just let us for a moment imagine what a blessing it would be if we were able to alleviate the mental and physical sufferings of the members of this well-deserving class by being able to give them a sanitarium to go to, where at a moderate cost they could give themselves and their families the much needed change that they require. "The institution, if founded, should be run on such lines so as to make it possible for such men to be able to just afford to go and stay in such a place. The scheme wants working out, and if Your Honour's Government takes up the matter, I am ready to place my humble services at their disposal. Such an institution should be located in a place like the Pareshnath Hills, where I believe the zemindar of these hills intends leasing out lands for building sites, and, if this be so, the first help that the Government could give the scheme would be to procure a good large plot of land at a low rent and in a high and healthy locality for this proposed sanitarium. Failing this place, Ranchi or places like Simultala, Madhupur on the East Indian Railway line would, I should say, be equally suitable. This is a point which can only be decided, of course, if the scheme is taken up. If the Government favours this scheme and promises to contribute, if not a rupee for every rupee raised by public subscription, even eight annas for every such public rupee, I am willing to put my shoulders to the scheme, and, if the Government gives me the above assurance about its share of contribution, I am ready to contribute a lac of rupees, as my humble donation, towards this unselfish scheme for a truly charitable object.

"Sir, your régime is drawing to a close and though I am glad to think, God willing, we shall have you to rule over us for some months yet, yet this is the last Budget meeting that we shall have the pleasure of seeing you presiding over in this Council; and as this is the only opportunity I could have had to publicly express the gratitude of my humble self and the community that I belong to, I beg to say, Sir, that the kindness, the consideration and the sympathy that you have shown to us Noblemen of Bengal as a community, not to speak of your great friendliness towards us individually, is one that we can never forget; and I venture to assure Your Honour, on my own behalf as well as on behalf of many of my brother zemindars who have often spoken to me in most appreciative terms about Your Honour's kindness and unfailing courtesy, that we cannot be too grateful to you, Sir, and that we shall always look upon you as one who, as a ruler, tried to do what he thought best and kindest, and who, as a man, was a true and genuine friend to those that had the good fortune to gain his confidence and friendship."

The Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI, BAHADUR, said:—"Before I address myself to the salient features of the current year's Financial Statement, I deem it my duty to make grateful acknowledgments to Your Honour for having permitted some of the non-official Members to informally discuss the draft Budget with the Secretaries in the various departments of Government, before it took the final shape in which it was submitted to the Government of India for sanction. Much larger facilities had been given to some of the non-official Members this year than in the year before, when Your Honour for the first time granted this privilege by way of experiment. Since the rules for the annual discussion of the Financial Statement restrict the right of the Members to merely expressing pious wishes, it is indeed gracious on Your Honour's part to seek the informal co-operation of the non-official Members in the final preparation of the Budget. I flatter myself with the hope that Your Honour has no reasons to be disappointed at the result; and that in future it will be an unwritten rule of this Council to ascertain and consider the views of all the non official Members, when the Budget is in course of preparation. A Conference over the draft Budget is bound to be futile, so far as the non-official Members are concerned, unless advance copies of the draft budget are placed in the hands of the non-official members at least a couple of days before the meeting.

"The gradually waving closing balance since 1903-04 has, in the financial year just expired, reached the point quite close to the obligatory minimum. While on the one hand, this has operated as a serious handicap against the framing of a prosperous Budget in the year which has just set in; on the other hand the necessity to allot money for coping with the prevailing scarcity, which is keen in the non-permanently settled zone of this Province, I mean the Division of Orissa, the tract which of all parts of Bengal succumbs easily to the inroad of Famine, coupled with the charge for Grain Compensation Allowance—and what is that but famine relief expressed in less sensational vocabulary—has prevented the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary from making more liberal provisions for many useful purposes and projects which are required for a progressive administration. It is a matter for congratulation that in spite of the heavy demands on the Imperial Exchequer owing to the widespread famine in the United Provinces and in other tracts, the Government of India have made special assignments of a net total of Rs. 22,47,000.

"The forcible appeal which Your Honour made at the last Budget Meeting of the Imperial Council has, I hope, convinced the Government of India that the charges for Grain Compensation Allowance should be regarded as part of the famine charges, and as such should be provided out of the Imperial revenue. I take this opportunity of urging before Your Honour that the local bodies and the municipalities should be relieved of the burden of contributing any portion of the direct expenditure, to combat famine, which come under the head of 'Famine Relief'; as also the indirect expenditure in the shape of Grain Compensation Allowance. In the revised Budget for local bodies, for the year 1907-08, the expenditure for Famine Relief has been estimated to be one lac and thirty-two thousand, and Rs. 24,000 has been put down as the famine-relief expense for the current year. The local bodies and the municipalities have been relieved of the payment of fees to Government for Banking and Audit. This has doubtless increased to a slight extent their capacity to spend more largely on Sanitation.

"Fuller information required in the Financial Statement.—I thank the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary for the lucid exposition of the budget which has helped us in a great measure to thread the maze of figures, which must be an inseparable feature of all budgets. But still, a fuller and more specific information is needed to explain for what specific purposes the grants for Civil Works in charge of the Civil Officers and of the Public Works Department and for the larger items under the several non-recurring charges, will be spent. The present Financial Statement, like those that have preceded it, omits to furnish any clue by which the non-official Members and the outside public can find out, to what extent, allotments made for useful public purposes in a year have not been wholly or partially utilized in the year; together with such explanations as would be deemed necessary, showing particularly how far the unexecuted portion of the works is covered by re-grants in the succeeding year. I venture to think that Your Honour will be pleased to consider the desirability of embodying this useful information in future Fnancial Statements. Public Works should be fairly representative of the principal heads of administration, such as Education, Police, Medical and Courts of Law. Out of the expenditure of fifty lacs fifty-four thousand rupees for principal works in progress, specially stated in the first part of the general review of the Budget Estimate of the year, the insignificant proportion of one lac and seventy thousand represents works on Educational buildings. I shall dwell on the expenditure on Education later on. A comparatively large proportion of expenditure represent works for the more convenient accomodation of police Force in Calcutta and Howrah.

"Investment of the special grant of fifty lacs for the Calcutta Improvement Scheme.—Since 1903-04, the year in which the Government of India made a special grant of fifty lacs of rupees for the Calcutta Improvement Scheme, which, as the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary said: 'is of the nature of a trust and cannot be utilized for any other purpose,' this large sum of money has been idly swelling the closing balances year after year. From replies evoked by the impatient queries in the Imperial Council at its last Budget Meeting, it seems to me to be certain that quite two years more must elapse before the scheme will be ripe for practical operation, or arrive at that stage when the actual expenditure of this money will be required. The public have grown weary of waiting, and I doubt not Your Honour will hear a good deal about it from my hon'ble friend, Babu Radha Churn Pal, who has an undoubted right to be heard on matters pertaining to Calcutta. I have been unable to guess why the practical advice of Mr. Bertram, as regards investment of surplus monies at the credit of Government, has not been followed in the case of this special grant. In the present year of stress, the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary will, I trust, be in a better mood to appreciate the wisdom of Mr. Bertram's counsels, who, as an object-lesson of prudent thrift, pointed to the swelling lacs derived from the investment of the Victoria Memorial Fund. I commend this to Your Honour's careful consideration.

"Excise and Income-tax.—The receipt side of the budget anticipates the normal growth of revenue under all heads, the prevailing scarcity notwithstanding. The progessive increases under Excise and Income-tax, specially in a year when we are under dark shadows of famine, are not complacently viewed by the public. Times out of number the progressive growths of these heads have been explained, and at times explained away. If the amount of Excise revenue is a true index of the degree of intemperance which prevails in a Province, then comparing our Excise revenue with that of Madras and Bombay as also of other Provinces, Bengal cannot certainly be found guilty of excessive insobriety. I venture to hope that the administration of the Excise Department will not lead to an adverse verdict.

"Receipts under Registration.—I am afraid, Sir, the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary has been too sanguine as regards receipts under 'Registration,' for he calculates a nominal increase over an abnormally high figure of the revised estimate which, as explained by him, was due to larger number of registrations on account of high price of food-grains. Coming to the expenditure side of the budget, I find that the Registration Department, after paying its expenses, earns a substantial profit. I, therefore, welcome the additional expenditure to strengthen the clerical staff of the Registration offices, which will ensure expedition in the works of that Department.

"Large expenditure on the Re-organization of Police.—Sir, I regret I cannot view, with unalloyed satisfaction, the large expenditure on the re-organization of the Police Department. It is simply natural that Your Honour, who presided over the Police Commission, should set about enthusiastically on the reformation of Police. The Government of India has made very liberal assignments for this purpose. The people are most anxious to see the Police reformed. The expenditure on this Department has been rising by leaps and bounds since 1902-03, but I regret to say that the improvement in the morale or in the dexterity in the detection of crime has not kept pace with the growth of expenditure. The Superintending and the Inspecting staff have been largely re-inforced, and so far the improvement has been quantitative; and I wish I could say that the improvement had been to an equal extent qualitative as well. To my humble apprehension, the real reform of the Police can be brought within the range of possibility, by the judicious operation of the scheme announced by the Hon'ble the Home Member of the Government of India of entirely separating the Judicial and Executive functions in the two Bengals. The fulfilment of a long-cherished and much-debated ideal, though tardy, will be welcomed most warmly. The bare outline of the scheme has been placed before the public, and I do not feel justified to take up the time of this Council at present by attempting a criticism on the details of the scheme.

"Education.—Comparison with Madras and Bombay.—The next question to which I wish to invite Your Honour's attention is, the inadequate provision made for the advancement of Education. After the powerful appeal made on behalf of Education by the representative of the Calcutta University, I do not feel called upon to dwell at length on that subject. I shall, however, address a few observations on Secondary and Primary Education. On the occasion of previous Budget debates, the expenditure on Education, in all its branches in European counties, had been exhibited to show in what backward condition our system of Education and Educational Institutions stand. To which the invariable reply has been that the disparity of conditions, financial and otherwise, fails to furnish common basis for comparison. I shall steer clear of the furcoat logic and try to stimulate a healthy emulation, by comparing the state of Education in this Province with that of Bombay and Madras. Of Bombay and Madras, the latest official reports on Education I could get hold of were those of 1905-06. Of Bengal, I quote the figures from the latest Quinquennial Review of the Progress of Education, 1906-07. There is considerable difference in the population of the three Provinces. Speaking in round figures, the population of Bombay is 18½ millions; that of Madras is 38½ millions, and that of Bengal is 50¾ millions, according to the Census of 1901. Bearing in mind this marked difference of population, I shall exhort Your Honour to consider the following tabular statements. A glance at these statements will show that Bengal stands at the bottom of the scale at a considerable distance from Bombay and Madras, and I may add from some other Provinces as well:—

"I think I can profitably quote one passage from the famous Resolution of 1904 of the Government of India, in which the Educational Policy in India has been fully discussed.

"On the general view of the question, the Government of India cannot avoid the conclusion that Primary Education has hitherto received insufficient attention and an inadequate share of public funds. They consider that it possesses a strong claim upon the sympathy, both of the Supreme Government and of the Local Governments, and should be made a leading charge upon Provincial Revenues."

"The italics are mine. Sir, I shall ask you to consider how far Your Honour's Government has succeeded in making the expenditure on Primary Education 'a leading charge' upon the Provincial Revenue; and if the provision for Secondary Education has been at all adequate. In spite of the stress and strain caused by the inroads of famine and plague on Madras and Bombay, the public expenditure on Education in those Provinces has been on much more liberal scale than what has been provided for Secondary and Primary Education in Bengal, which is comparatively free from the ravages of famine and plague.

"In the special statement of additional recurring charges under Education, it is to be regretfully noted that out of an additional recurring expenditure of two lacs and thirty-one thousand rupees, one lac and thirty-seven thousand is provided for increasing the inspecting staff and rupees fifty-five thousand for travelling allowance of additional officers, by whom I believe the members of the inspecting staff are referred to; and only rupees twenty-five thousand has been provided for strengthening the Government Colleges. No provision has been made for training up a better class of teachers for the schools, and surely enough better teachers are wanted before inspection.

"I regret to find that the last year's grant for construction of Guru-training schools had not been utilized. There has been a pronounced tendency to strengthen the Inspecting Agency for Primary Schools, which, I have no doubt, will serve a useful purpose; but before that, and I should say in the very forefront, the proper training of gurus and teachers and the multiplication of schools should find place. Sir, there is not much indication visible of the development of the commercial and industrial sides of the Primary Schools, for all that the bulk of the people must rest content with is, that kind of education which will help them to provide themselves with practical livelihood. What is wanted for the vast rural areas and rural population are rural schools, imparting education which will make them thriving agriculturists and artizans.

"I am not unmindful of the fact that the Government of India is seriously considering the laudable but ambitious scheme of making Primary Education free. If the financial possibility of such a scheme is established, it will augur the brightest prospect for India. Sir, the Maharaja of Baroda has already shown the way. At the Industrial Conference at Calcutta in 1905 he said, with legitimate pride and satisfaction: 'The measure (free and compulsory education) was being worked with satisfactory results in one part of the State for a number of years. Emboldened by the success of this experiment, I have decided to make Primary Education compulsory throughout the State and absolutely free.'

"Technical Education moves forward wearily slow. For the last two years and-a-half, we have been hearing of the Central Weaving School in Serampore, to which the smaller schools in different parts of the Province will be co ordinated. Beyond the acquisition of land for the purpose of the Central School, nothing more has been done. The provision of Rs. 35,000 for Technical Education by which, I presume, the recurring expenses of the Weaving School is to be met, is being repeated year after year to no purpose. In response to the newly-awakened interest in industrialism amongst the people of Bengal, this Province should have been studded with industrial schools to educate skilled labour for all our industries. As it has been decided to remove the Engineering College from Sibpur to Ranchi, it is absolutely necessary that a Technological Institute should be established in or near Calcutta, for teaching such subjects as dyeing, designing and calico-printing, which may be regarded as necessary auxiliaries to weaving and which should be taught in the Central Weaving School of Serampore; and tanning, glass-blowing, ordinary and artistic carpentry, smithery, pottery, brass and bell-metal manufacture and bamboo-weaving.

"Sir, the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary has said that an aggregate provision of more than six lacs have been made for Technical Education, in all its branches. I wish he had vouchsafed further information to explain what kind of Technical Education is to be furthered with this money, and whether it is a new item of expenditure or the annual normal expenditure.

"Agriculture.—The main industry of this country, and particularly in Bengal, is Agriculture. Out of a population of about 50¾ millions of souls in Bengal, the rural population amounts to quite 47¼ millions. In recent years, both the Government of India and the Provincial Government have commenced to make strenuous efforts for the promotion of Agriculture, by the establishment of a College in Pusa for the study of the science of agriculture, and for researches and experiments on scientific lines. A number of experimental and demonstration farms have been established, one of which is, I believe, financed by my hon'ble friend, the Maharaj Adhiraj Bahadur of Burdwan.

"This year's budget provides for the building and equipments of an Agricultural College at Sabour. The Agricultural Department of the Engineering College of Sibpur will be merged in the new College. A new department devoted to Agriculture has been opened. Most laudable efforts are being made to encourage the opening of Co-operative Credit Societies which, according to the latest reports, are growing financially as well as numerically. And, lastly, six Travelling Inspectors have been appointed for the six divisions. All these show useful activities for the advancement of agriculture. But has practical fruits been achieved? Is not the agency for the diffusion of expert information, amongst the agricultural class, hopelessly insufficient and defective? I shall remind Your Honour of the well-known aphorism as to the excellence of statesmanship which can make two blades of grass grow where one grew before. If the improvement in the old traditional method of husbandry can bring about a larger outturn of food-grains, which would represent even an average increase of grains of the value of four annas per acre of land actually cropped an immense credit of reserve will be built against all scarcities, and it will constitute the best Famine Insurance Fund. In Bengal, the number of acres under food-grains, in 1905-06, was 36,522,400 acres. At the rate of four annas per acre, the figure works up to quite 90 lacs of rupees. To what an enormous extent will this improve the resisting power of the rural population in times of scarcity? Sir, he will be the greatest benefactor of this country who will help to place the husbandry of this country on a footing of equality with the agricultural countries of Europe.

"Travelling Agricultural Instructors.—Sir, the Pusa Agricultural College are issuing Scientific Tracts and Journals, and the Agricultural Department are issuing agricultural blue books and vernacular leaflets. But how can the valuable information contained therein be accessible to the mass of agriculturists? Most of them are illiterate and reside far out in the Mufassal, where even the vernacular leaflets never reach. Besides, it is absolutely necessary that the practical way of carrying out the instructions and suggestions, contained in the reports and leaflets, should be shown to the agriculturist. I am loath to believe that it is seriously contemplated that six Inspectors, located in the six divisions of this Province, will do this. At least a reasonable start can be made by employing in each district a Travelling Instructor, who should have a demonstration farm of 20 to 30 bighas in some central part of the district. He should go about from village to village. Agricultural Societies should be formed, composing of men of the stamp of the members of Union Committees and Panchayets, who may conduct their business in their own vernacular, and the Travelling Inspector might be the President of these rural societies. The members of these societies, as also other intelligent agriculturists, might be asked to see the operations of the demonstration farm of the district. These Associations may be federated in District Agricultural Associations, and District Associations federated in Divisional Agricultural Associations. I think I am not too sanguine in thinking that it is quite possible to find out 34 trained men—men who have passed out of the Agricultural Department of the Engineering College or out of Agricultural Schools in other places, who could be located in each of our 34 districts. I believe the pay of the Travelling Inspector will not exceed Rs. 100 a month. The expenditure of Rs. 3,400 a month for Travelling Inspectors, for all the districts, will be money most usefully employed—a hundredfold more useful than frittering away money over Agricultural Associations, such as we have at present; which, without meaning the slightest disrespect, are more ornamental than useful. These Travelling Inspectors, I am sure, Sir, will prove very valuable levers of agricultural progress.

"In this connection, I shall even, at the risk of being prolix, draw Your Honour's attention to a portion of the report of the Recess Committee, on a department of Agriculture and Industries for Ireland in 1896. On page 74 of the printed report, the Commissioners say: 'We may here explain a feature of it (Educational system) which has a more direct reference to the promotion of agriculture than it has to education and which, as shown by the evidence, has been found one of the most effective means of improving the methods of the Agricultural class on the Continent. We refer to the system of Travelling Instructors which Ireland herself was one of the first counties to adopt.' And again: 'The functions of these experts would be (a) to conduct conferences and courses of lectures for the farming classes in their district; (b) to act as consulting advisers to the farmers of their district in the direct management of their holdings; (c) to superintend and assist in the agricultural course at the Primary Schools and (d) to direct the cultivation of Example Plots.' Each Travelling Instructor should be allotted a district, the size of which 'would be determined after experience by the new department.' These are conclusions arrived at after the most careful inquiry, and which in their practical application have achieved wonderful results in Ireland. I earnestly beseech Your Honour to conduct the operations of the Agricultural Department in channels, which will be of immediate sound results and which will help the agriculturists to grow two blades of corn where one or none grew before.

"The State aid to agriculture should be on a greatly more liberal scale than what the budget under discussion discloses. Advancement of agriculture will do more for this country than all other economic schemes of amelioration put together. One more word on this subject and I am done. In my humble opinion, the Head of the Agricultural Department ought to be a permanent official, with expert knowledge of the highest kind, and at the same time possessing the talent for organization.

"Inspector of Septic Tanks in Factories.—I find Rs. 31,900 is allotted for Inspector of Factories. I am not quite sure what is the exact nature of his function. All that I can say, and I feel I have a right to say as one whose residence is in close quarters of factories, is that it is absolutely necessary that a special expert in the practical working of septic tanks should be appointed to inspect the septic tanks attached to the many factories on either side of the river, between Budge-Budge and Chinsura on the one side and Garden Reach and Naihati on the other. Septic tanks are liable to get out of order when the effluents, which pass into the water, are not far removed from decomposed human excreta. The strictest watch should be kept over the septic tanks for the safety, health and comfort of the vast population that inhabit the riparian municipalities.

"Grants for Water-supply in Bengal and Madras compared.—Sir, the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary has said that 'we have provided liberal grants-in-aid towards local drainage and water-supply.' I am most deeply interested in one of the several filtered-water schemes referred to by the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary when he presented the Budget before the Council, and I am deeply grateful to Your Honour's Government for the hope of liberal help which has been held out. 'Liberal' is a term which, like many other things, admits of degrees of comparison. Again, Sir, I shall ask your attention to what is now being done in Madras—the so-called benighted Presidency. In the March number of the Indian Public Health, on page 313, the Editor says as follows:—

'The Government of Madras has decided to make a free grant of rupees three-and-a-half lacs towards the cost of the Coimbatore Water-supply Scheme, and have offered the Municipality a sum of two lacs on the special condition of repayment in thirty years, with interest at 4 per cent. per annum. The scheme is estimated to cost, roughly, rupees five-and-a-half lacs.'

"Again, the February number of the same journal informs us that, in view of the inability of the Municipality of Berhampore in the Madras Presidency to meet the entire cost of Water-works, which has been estimated to cost Rs. 3,03,920, the Madras Government will be prepared to make a free grant from Provincial Fund towards the cost of the scheme not exceeding Rs. 1,52,000, and will be prepared to apply to the Government of India for sanction for lending the balance of Rs. 1,51,920 to the Municipal Council from the Provincial Loan and Advance Account, on the special condition of repayment in thirty years with interest at 4 per cent. per annum. I shall earnestly ask Your Honour to graduate the liberality of grants for Water-supply scheme on the Madras scale.

"Special grant for Sanitation in Urban Areas and Water-supply in the Riparian Municipalities.—We are grateful to the Government of India for providing a recurrent grant of four and-a-half lacs of rupees a year to Bengal, for to use the words of the Hon'ble the Finance Member of India: 'expenditure on the improvement of the public health, with special reference to the prevention of plague and the sanitary improvement of the sanitary condition of urban areas.' I shall respectfully ask Your Honour to consider if, with the aid of the special grant, it would not be possible to finance the comprehensive scheme, prepared some years ago, for the supply of filtered water to all the riparian Municipalities, containing a large number of factories and septic tanks. If the cost of the initial outlay for the pumps, engines, filters and main-pipes are borne by Government, I venture to think that the Municipalities acting in co-operation will, by the imposition of a reasonable Water-tax, be able to pay for the cost of maintenance of the main Water-works; as also pay the cost of distribution pipes within their respective areas. Sir, if a tax on Jute, which will largely be derived from the many jute factories, whose existence within these riparian Municipalities is a source of discomfort to and a menace to the health of the permanent citizens residing in them, is going to be utilized for the improvement of Calcutta, I confidently hope that Your Honour will regard it as a reasonable claim of these municipalities to look for a large share of the special grant to enable them to supply filtered water to the residents, including the numerous workers in the factories within their respective jurisdiction. I trust this question will receive Your Honour's sympathetic consideration.

"Landlords' fees.—Sir, the next question I respectfully crave Your Honour's attention to is the difficulties which the landlords labour under in withdrawing the large accumulation of landlords' fees now lying in deposit in Government Treasury. I had been in communication on this subject with Mr. Slacke, whose genial presence we so much miss to-day and who, I hope, will come back to this Council with renewed health. It is in contemplation that in each district lists of the unclaimed deposits lying severally to the credit of the landlords should be prepared, and copies of which should be available to the persons interested. As the time within which the deposits could be withdrawn is limited by law, I would respectfully ask Your Honour to pass necessary orders which will facilitate the withdrawal of the hitherto unclaimed deposits by the landlords.

"Public Works Cess.—In conclusion, allow me to assure you that the whole Province must be grateful to Your Honour for representing to the Government of India to set right the obvious injustice of applying the Public Works Cess to other than local purposes. It would be some satisfaction to the landlords and tenants if the contribution levied from them, in the shape of Cesses, should be devoted to purposes in which they are immediately interested. It will afford great consolation to the large body of Zamindars, who are not yet reconciled to the ingenious theory which seeks to make out that the imposition of the Cesses does not militate against the basal principles of the Permanent Settlement. I trust that in the next year the localization of the Public Works Cess will be an accomplished fact."

The Hon'ble MR. SUTHERLAND said:—"It has been the fashion in this Council, when we have a Prosperity Budget and a fat surplus, to congratulate the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary thereon. I have often wondered—however desirable such a surplus—if this state of things is a truer indication of prosperous development in a Province, than a Budget with a lean surplus like that which we have before us to-day.

"So long as our revenues are maintained I hold we may congratulate the Government and ourselves on the heavy expenditure entailed by a policy of progress and development, such as the last few years have shown. Of course, we shall ever ask for more; it is only human but so long as economy must for a time be the order of the day it is perhaps idle to make appeals for further expenditure.

"I take it in a Budget debate it is the duty of each non-official Member, according to his lights to suggest in what directions it may seem to him economies might be effected, and where money in the future could be well and profitably expended.

"Now, it is obviously easier and more pleasing for Hon'ble Members to trot out their pet schemes for improvements, than to show where money can be saved; but I propose to refer, in passing, to one or two items of possible economy.

"In the first place, I would mention the proposed Agricultural College at Sabaur, and in this matter I should perhaps make some personal explanation. We often hear criticisms of such and such a project, from persons having no sympathy with the particular object in view. In conjunction with others, I was instrumental in starting the farm for agricultural improvements at Dulsing Serai, in Bihar, some nine years ago. The late Sir John Woodburn and Sir Edward Law came to see the work we had inaugurated, under the able guidance of Mr. Bernard Coventry; and partly, perhaps, as a result of their visit, schemes were matured which finally developed into the great Institute at Pusa. Be this as it may, the site chosen for the Institute was a few miles away from our farm, and Mr. Bernard Coventry became its first Director.

"I am closely connected with agricultural undertakings, and have for years taken a deep interest in what science is doing to improve agricultural methods in India. I shall, therefore, I hope, not be misunderstood when I venture to question whether the expenditure, and recurring expenditure too, which the proposed College at Sabaur will entail, should be embarked on at once?

"At one time, I believe, Dehra Dun was thought to be a suitable site for the Agricultural Institute for all India; but wiser counsels prevailed and Pusa was selected, fortunately for Bengal.

"At Pusa, the Government Scientists are in the heart of a highly cultivated district, with so intelligent and go a-head a body of men as the present Bihar Planters, scattered for miles around. In fact, the best possible medium, in the shape of the Planters, is to hand for the proper dissemination of scientific knowledge in a practical form to the raiyats, who after all, I venture to think, are the only people to whom it is worth teaching improved methods of agriculture.

"I doubt if at this stage a college to teach educated Indians the science of agriculture is really very practical, unless it is certain that the students will be drawn solely from the zamindar class; and even so, my experience, as far as it goes, is that the educated Indian in Bengal is often less interested in scientific agriculture than the European in India.

"With all deference, therefore, I cannot help thinking, Sir, that it is possible we are going or trying to go, just a little too fast.

"In view of the personal explanation which I have made, I hope that I shall not be misunderstood when I say, that although in theory the Sabaur project may be attractive, no harm would be done by allowing it to remain in abeyance for the present. We have already this splendid Institute at Pusa, with its unique advantages of position and with its large staff of scientific experts: and might we not wait a little and watch the results of its operation before embarking on this other scheme?

"I should like to say, with regard to the remarks which fell from the Hon'ble Babu Gajadhar Prasad, I certainly hope the Government have no intentions of creating an Industrial College in Bihar. In my humble opinion, the College at Ranchi should be ample to meet the present wants of the Province.

"There is another direction in which I think some money might well be saved or, rather, made for a particular object. I refer to the grant of Rs. 50,00,000 for the Calcutta Improvement Scheme. We may apparently now rejoice that, like her other coy and backward sister the, Sara Bridge, the Calcutta Improvement Scheme is at last to see the light of day. I also ask, as the Hon'ble Mr. Larmour and others have done before me, why the 50 lakhs which is ear-marked for a specific purpose should not bear interest in the meantime?

"Surely, it should be a simple matter to place this money on fixed deposit with a Bank? I am quite aware that Government balances in the ordinary course cannot be so treated, but as I said this money is ear-marked and a thing apart from the ordinary balances of Government.

"Your Honour is so fully alive to the pressing need of opening up this vast and congested city, that it would be a mere waste of valuable time to dwell on this aspect of the subject; but I hope I shall be pardoned if I again draw attention to a matter I raised in this Council Chamber seven years ago, which is closely allied to any Calcutta Improvement Scheme. I then said:—

'The expansion of this city on sanitary lines is one of the problems which must be faced sooner or later, and, in my opinion, it is our business to look ahead and grapple with the problem sooner rather than later. Calcutta at present is like a person with only one lung, namely, the maidan, and we shall, I think, be conducing to her welfare and longevity if we provide her in accordance with Nature's precedent with a second lung, in the shape of a maidan towards Tollyganj. This can to-day be done comparatively cheaply by acquiring the land, which is at present available; while, if we delay, the natural expansion of the town may encroach on this free space to such an extent that the successful execution of such a scheme would entail an enormously greater financial outlay.'

"To this my friend Mr. Baker, the then Financial Secretary to the Government of Bengal, replied that he entirely agreed with me, the more so as if my scheme were taken up at once it would be comparatively inexpensive, and for that reason he smilingly referred me to the Corporation as the proper body to do it.

"Now, Sir, I hold to-day, as I held seven years ago, that Calcutta, a the capital of the Indian Empire, has a claim for help not only from the Province but from India as a whole; and indeed this is now admitted. If conditions, such as prevail in England, existed here some wealthy citizen might come forward and give the city a park on its southern side (the direction in which the town is inevitably extending); but we, Europeans in India, both official and non-official, cannot alas, be described as wealthy, and failing some Indian nobleman or gentleman wishing to place the City of Palaces under an everlasting debt of gratitude and thereby perpetuating his memory for all time, we perforce look to Government, in the interests of posterity, to provide the second city of the British Empire with a second lung, ere it is too late. The urgency for action, before the opportunity slips by, is my only excuse for re-interating this appeal.

"My predecessor, Mr. Bertram, asked for increased and better means of communication in the shape of roads in the mufassal. I should like to endorse what he said. Sometimes, when on a long dâk up-country I wish that Bengal enjoyed the splendid roads of Ceylon.

"No doubt in Lower Bengal, suitable road material is a difficulty and the wheels of the bullock cart are destructive; but it seems to me a reproach to the countrymen of General Wade and the late Mr. Macadam that after all these years our existing roads for the most part are so indifferent, while more new feeder roads to fresh lines of railway are not made.

"I began by saying I thought we should congratulate the Government on its expenditure of late years.

"I remember, Sir, in the days of a falling rupee, how little it was then possible for Government to do? From some of the criticisms that have fallen from Hon'ble Members and from what one occasionally reads in a section of the Press, one would almost suppose that the Government of Bengal was hardly capable of any good action for the public welfare. By all means criticise, but let us non-officials be fair. What are the facts?

"Large sums of money have in the last few years been spent on public works of great usefulness, more especially on the hospitals of Calcutta, which are a living testimony to the benevolent rule we enjoy. Agriculture, improvements of waterways and fisheries of this Province have not been neglected; while grants have been given to help menials and men on low salaries, to cope with the present high prices of food-stuffs. But, beyond all this, liberal grants have been made for education, sanitary improvements and for the Police.

"Now with regard to the Police, I should like to emphatically disassociate myself from the comments one hears in some quarters where we are told that a great deal too much money is being expended on the Police. I do not imagine the Police in India are perfect. Who does? But every thoughtful man, if he is acquainted with existing conditions in the mufassal, must know that the police force and the village chaukidars are almost the only machinery we have as a medium between the Government and the people. Surely it is of paramount importance to do what may be possible to improve that machinery. I do not suggest that an increase of a few rupees pay will necessarily make a dishonest man honest; but a great and much needed reform has begun, and I say we have no right to cry out because it costs money.

"In conclusion, Sir, while the financial horizon may be dimmed by a passing cloud, I desire to offer my congratulations to Your Honour's Government on the immense progress and development of this rich Province during the past few years."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"Sir,—On the occasion of last year's Budget debate, we invited Your Honour's attention to the desirability of making the Financial Statement more lucid and comprehensible than it has hitherto been, so that its perusal may enable an ordinary reader to find out how far the projects of reform, provided in the preceding year's budget, have been carried out; and, if for any cause their progress has been arrested, the cause which led to such arrest, and also such other details as will make the position of the Government intelligible to the public. Your Honour was also pleased to observe that, in regard to future budgets, it would be a very good thing if the Head of each of the principal Departments would draw up, in time for the budget discussion, a brief statement showing its actual expenditure and the work that it has done during the past year and also what he proposes to do during the coming year. But we are disappointed to find, that the Financial Statement placed before us follows, like its predecessors, the same mystic outline in matters of detail, and one will in vain tax one's brain to find out from it whether all or any of the works, shown in the last year's statement as 'Civil Works in charge of Public Works Department' or 'Civil Works in charge of Civil Officers', have been carried out or even taken up. For instance, Rs. 75,000 was allotted in the budget of 1906-1907 for drainage in Puri Municipality, and a similar sum was provided in last year's budget and in the present budget; also Rs. 1,00,000 has been provided for sanitary improvement and water-supply in Puri Municipality. There is nothing in the budget to indicate whether the same provision is being carried over from year to year or the present year's allotment is a supplementary grant. May we hope that the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary or the Secretary of the Department concerned will favour us with a statement showing how far the works, provided in the last year's budget, have been carried out and, if any of them have been abandoned, the cause which led to such abandonment.

"Looking into the detailed remarks on the current year's budget, we find, that the receipts under the heads 'Stamps', 'Excise', 'Assessed Taxes' and 'Registration' show a steady increase, and that the actuals of the first ten or eleven months of last year have largely exceeded those of the corresponding period of the preceding year. If this had been due purely to what is called 'Normal Expansion' or 'Progressive Increase', it would certainly be regarded as a matter for congratulation, as the increase of revenue means ordinarily the increase of prosperity in the country. But, when we bear in mind that the cause of this increase is attributable to abnormal circumstances, such as the increase of registration fees being due to the increased number of registrations on account of high price of food-grains, we are led to associate such increase with dismal surroundings.

"Excise.—As regards Excise, we are assured that the Government deprecates an expansion of the Revenue, which is the direct result of increased consumption, and that the Excise policy of the Government has never been influenced by Revenue considerations. We are thankful to the Government for advocating such a noble and humane policy. But, at the same time, we find that year after year the Excise revenue is increasing by leaps and bounds, and we are told that such increase is manifesting itself in spite of all checks that the Government is putting on the growth of drunkenness in the country. The inference we are invited to draw is, that it is due to a sudden influx of wealth among the low class people addicted to drink. But, when we find that the outstills, at least a large number of them, are even in the present day located on tempting sites, and that in spite of our having cried hoarse over the question of their removal from such sites, the Government did not think it proper to do so, we become rather sceptical in our belief as to how far the Government policy, based on non-revenue considerations, has hitherto been given eff ct to. The history of past years shows a lamentable disregard of the avowed policy of the Government. But we must gratefully acknowledge the attempts recently made in the direction of abolishing the outstills and extending the Distillery System in accordance with the recommendation of the Excise Committee. But, if the carrying out of the reform recommended by the Excise Committee takes time, which it is bound to take, the Government, to be consistent with its policy, should take steps for the removal of the outstills from their existing sites which are admittedly objectionable.

"Last year, I drew the attention of the Government to the evils arising from excessive growth of drunkenness in Chota Nagpur, anp I am thankful that, in the district of Manbhum, the Distillery System has already been introduced, and that in other districts in the Division, the same system, as I am told, will be gradually introduced; but may I ask whether, pending final abolition, any of the outstills in the Division have been removed from their present objectionable sites? To offer temptations to the low class people to drink, by placing the liquor-shops on the roads and places frequented by them, is a policy which cannot be too strongly deprecated, and the sooner this blot in the Excise Administration of the Province is removed, the better.

"Dearness of Food-grains.—On the expenditure side of the budget, the first and foremost item that calls for attention is the provision made for compensation for dearness of food-grains. Last year when we discussed the budget, we consoled ourselves with the hope that with a favourable monsoon and favourable harvest the strain, caused by dearness of food-grains, will disappear in the near future. We find, however, that our expectations have not only been not realised, but that we are in a worse situation than before. It would hardly serve any useful purpose to trace the causes which have brought about this chronic dearness of food-grains, but it may not be out of place to mention here that the extensive encroachment which jute cultivation is making on paddy-lands, even in such districts where it was formerly either unknown or at any rate very rare, is affecting in some measure the out-turn of paddy. Moreover, the steeping of jute-plants, in tanks ond other water-reservoirs, is also increasing the insanitary condition of the locality. This evil is increasing, and, unless some remedy is devised to remove or at least to lessen it, the paddy-lands of some of the important districts in West Bengal will in no distant date be converted into lands for jute crops and malaria; and other diseases, which are already rampant in rural areas, will make greater havoc. The question is deserving of attention at the hands of the Government, and the District Officers should be impressed with its seriousness so that they may, in consultation with the local badies, try to devise means to check this growing evil.

"We are immensely thankful to Your Honour's Government for the provision made in the budget for Grain Compensation Allowance to all menials and ministerial officers, drawing pay of Rs. 30 and less per mensem. In the present situation, no money can be spent on a more useful object, and it is gratifying to find that the noble example initiated by the Government has been followed in many other offices and departments, which are not under the Government. But we had expected that the relief in this direction would reach this year to a larger number of officers and that the standard would be raised from Rs. 30 to Rs. 50, if possible. We are rather disappointed to find that the provision made this year, viz., Rs. 8,50,000, is lower than in the preceding year which was Rs. 9,50,000. The high prices of grains, which have been prevailing for some years past, have more seriously affected the position of the middle class people of the country, who are dependent on small fixed salaries, than even the poorer classes, who have no social position to maintain; and the Government will be entitled to the unspeakable blessings of our countrymen, if it can alleviate to some extent the distress of those Bhadralogs of the country, whose birth and social position make it impossible for them to seek public charity. In making this prayer, we are thoroughly alive to the responsibility which we cast upon the Government; but we may be permitted to mention that the country can very well afford to put up with the curtailment of the too liberal provision which has been made under other heads, such as Police, and even under such heads as inspection charges on Education; and the scheme for housing of Officials and purchase of Duff's College for the Calcutta Police, which is estimated at two lacs, can very well be deferred, as they are not of such an urgent character as affording relief to the poor officers of the Government, who find it really difficult to have two meals a day. We earnestly pray that Your Honour may be pleased to take our prayer into due consideration.

"Scheme for Improvement of Salaries of Ministerial Officers.—This question, of affording relief to the low salaried ministerial officers, makes us inquisitive about the fate of the scheme known as 'Improvement of Salaries of Ministerial Officers,' which has been in contemplation for some years past and for which the provision made in the budget is being carried over from year to year. On several occasions, questions were asked in the Council as to when the scheme would be finally given effect to, and the reply we have invariably received is, that the scheme is under consideration. If the relief which the scheme proposes to afford to these poorly paid officers had reached them in this time of famine and scarcity, it would have been greatly appreciated and gratefully acknowledged. May we ask when this long-deferred scheme will be carried out?

"Sanitation.—The ill-fated question of Sanitation in rural areas has scarcely made any appreciable advance in spite of our repeated appeals to the Government on this subject. The reply we have hitherto received is, that the Government is prepared to help the people if the people will help themselves. We are bound to say that such a reply is not commensurate with the heavy responsibility which lies on the Government on a question of life and death. Certainly the people should co-operate with the Government, otherwise no permanent good can result; but it is for the Government to lead the way and to initiate a definite and workable scheme. We were told last year, that the Government may be able to conduct here and there experiments, on approved lines, as an inducement to the people to take the matter up for themselves. May we know how many experiments were made in rural areas during the year which has just closed? In view of the supreme importance of the matter, the duty of the Government should go further than merely making a fixed contribution to the District Board and telling the people to seek their remedy from that body. We may be permitted to suggest that a grant out of the Provincial Fund should be ear-marked for this purpose; the District Officers should be asked to take the matter up in right earnest, and if necessary to form a Special Committee consisting of local men to appeal to the public for subscriptions; and, if the people find that the District Officer is taking a keen interest in the matter, they will readily join hands with him to carry out the reform, and the scheme is bound to be fruitful of results. It is feared that, in many parts of the country, to suggest that jungle should be cut down round the villagers' houses, would cause a rising of the population. But we need have no fears on this point, as the cutting down of jungles or trees to which the villagers attach value is not absolutely required for sanitary improvement; but what is really needed is, the clearing of rank vegetation and reclaiming of silted-up tanks, and we feel assured that the villagers will too readily assent to such acts.

"While we are earnestly appealing for sanitary improvements in rural areas, it is rather unfortunate to find that the grant for sanitary improvements made by the Supreme Government is reserved only for urban areas with special reference to the prevention of plague. But malaria and cholera are decimating the rural population of Bengal, and it is to be regretted that no special provision has been made for their prevention. 'The nation dwells in the cottage,' said John Bright, and the millions of Bengal live in their villages and their sanitation is a matter of the first importance and ought to receive prior consideration. Further, the urban areas can help themselves far more than the rural tracts.

"Education.—Coming to Education, we find that an expenditure of more than 50 lacs out of the Provincial Funds has been budgetted under this head. We are further told that numerous schemes for reform and improvement, that have been undertaken or are in contemplation, will call for an increasing expenditure, and that, out of the amount provided in the budget, Technical Education in all its branches will receive a liberal share—more than six lacs. We are immensely grateful to the Government for this increased appreciation of our educational needs. But we notice that the cost on Direction and Inspection is put down at more than 16 lacs, just one-third of the whole provision made under the head 'Education'. This seems to be quite out of proportion, and what I urged in this connection last year I feel bound to repeat this year. We admit that the grants made by the Government for Educational purposes have increased and that it is necessary that there should be an adequate directing and inspecting staff, but if a considerable portion of the provision is swallowed up by the inspecting staff, more important objects necessarily suffer.

"It is an undisputable fact that the efficiency of the Professorial Staff in our Government Colleges has been gradually deteriorating. We cannot reckon nowa-days, in that staff, any such name as may be compared with the distinguished names of Cowell and Lobb, Sutcliff and Woodrow, Croft and Tawney, Elliot and Booth. The cause of this deterioration is not far to seek. The prospects of the Professorial Staff are not inviting enough to attract distinguished graduates from England. Cannot the cost on Inspection and Direction be curtailed to some extent to raise the efficiency of the Professorial Staff which is most essential for the sound education of our youths? No expense will be grudged by the country in securing an efficient staff of Professors, whether European or Indian. The prospect of Indian Educational Officers is so limited that it does not induce the best graduates of our country to enter this department. We have in the present day only three Educationists in the superior grade, what is called the Indian Educational Service, and the rest, including a Chemist of European reputation like Doctor P. C. Roy, are relegated to the Provincial Service, with little prospect of promotion to the Superior grade. The posts of the Inspectors of Schools were hitherto given to several Indian Officers, but recently these Officers have all been made Additional Inspectors, and the Inspectorships are evidently reserved for Officers in the Indian Service. In answer to my question put in the Council on this subject, the Hon'ble Mr. Streatfeild has been pleased to say, that it is not the intention of the Government to reserve these appointments exclusively for Europeans; but, it remains to be seen, how many of our countrymen will be considered eligible for these appointments.

"An examination of the detailed statement on Education, as given in page 20, Appendix B of the Financial Statement, shows that a sum of Rs. 35,000 has been provided as a lump provision for Technical Education, and we do not find any other provision in that Appendix which has a direct bearing on Technical Education. We shall be thankful to the Hon'ble Secretary, in charge of Education, if he will enlighten us on what other heads the provision of more than six lacs on Technical Education has been distributed.

"On Female Education, an expenditure of nearly Rs. 3,70,000 has been provided and out of this grant Rs. 54,000 has been allotted to Kurseong Female School, although Bethune College comes in for a share of Rs. 24,000 only. May we know the object for which this large grant has been made to the Kurseong School?

"Police.—A very large provision has been made under the head Police, and the present year's figure stands at Rs. 77,63,000, which is 26 lacs more than what it was four years ago. This increased provision is, we understand, needed to carry out the re-organized scheme recommended by the Police Commission. But, when we find that the expenditure on Police has been larger than on any other branch of the administration, Education included, and that even in a famine year such liberal provision has been made under this head, necessarily at the expense of other objects of State support, we stoop to inquire how far the results hitherto achieved by the re-organization scheme have justified this enormously large expenditure? Where acknowledgments are due, we make them ungrudgingly and sometimes too profusely.

"We find that the re-organization scheme has, to some extent, raised the status of the Police service and partially removed the odium which is attached to it. Now-a-days, we find in the grade of Sub-Inspectors several undergraduates and even some graduates, sons of respectable men who would not have thought of entering the service in former days; and, in the grade of Inspectors, some very good and worthy Officers, who would do credit to any other service. It is also gratifying to find that the re-organization scheme has attracted to this service some highly cultured young men of our country, scions of noble families, as Deputy Superintendents. We do not at the present day come across such types of Sub-Inspectors, whose ponies used to be fed on butter and cheese and who, in the touring season of the District Officer, used to ransack the district of its milching cows, fowls and eggs. But this improvement, achieved at such heavy cost, counts for nothing in the face of the corruption and oppression that still characterize the rank and file of the service. When we still find many a Sub-Inspector, on a pay of Rs. 50 or Rs. 60, living in a style which a Deputy Magistrate cannot afford to keep up, and whose advent in a village for the purpose of an inquiry upsets the whole population, and when we remember the treatment of our people by the Police on occasions when policemen are in evidence and recently in connection with the Calcutta Police riots, we cannot say that our country's money, which is being so lavishly spent on the improvement of this service, is all usefully spent. It may be said that real improvement is not the question of a day and that we should wait to see the result in times to come. May we live to see the day when such results may be achieved?

"In passing, let me call attention to the sum of Rs. 1,40,000 budgetted in 1908-09 for the Criminal Investigation Department. Before the re-organization scheme, there was no provision made under this head and singularly enough the charges are increasing year by year. In 1906-07, it was Rs. 74,000, in 1907-08 it was Rs. 1,15,000 and in 1908-09 it is Rs. 1,40,000. May we inquire what useful work is being done by this Department, so as to justify this heavy and annually increasing expenditure?

"I may be permitted to take this opportunity to thank the Government for the great experiment of the separation of Judicial from Executive Functions in the administration of criminal justice. Your Honour has been invited to frame a scheme upon the outlines sketched out by the Hon'ble the Home Member. All Bengal will be looking forward with eager expectancy to the scheme which Your Honour's Government may formulate and upon which the future of this great experiment will largely depend. Public opinion has unequivocally expressed itself as to the lines which it should follow. The Judicial Magistrate should be placed entirely under the control of the High Court. It is not enough consulted. Further, it is necessary that the cases instituted by the District Officers empowered as District Magistrates for the performance of the preventive functions of Chapter VIII to Chapter XII of the Code of Criminal Procedure should be tried not by them but by Judicial Officers over whom they have no control. Let the initiation remain in their hands, but the Judicial Magistrates should be invested with the power of ultimate disposal.

"In conclusion, I beg to offer our congratulations to the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary for having made provisions, even in a Famine Budget, for several useful projects of reform which, we trust, will be carried out during the year."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said:—"It has been of late usual to congratulate the Financial Secretary on Prosperity Budgets. It is, however, not very difficult to make a good show when there are large surpluses. But when the Financial Secretary is able to frame a workable budget, with large expenditure on account of famine crippling the resources of the Government, he certainly deserves congratulations. The present budget is also an improvement on previous budgets in several particulars, which I shall describe later on.

"Before going into the discussion of the budget, I feel I shall be wanting in my duty if I do not express the gratitude of the Members of the Council for the opportunity allowed to them to consider the budget in two meetings before it was finally framed. If we had not our way in most things, it must also be said that the interests of the bodies we represent are conflicting and it is not easy to upset the arrangements of the departments of the Government, which are too strong even for Mr. Morley. On reading through the proceedings of the Council of some of Your Honour's predecessors, I found that the Members were often stopped in the course of their speeches on the budget, if they wandered into any discussion of general policy or administrative measures. Your Honour has repeatedly told us that once in the year, on the occasion of the Budget discussion, Members were at liberty to discuss questions of general policy and administrative measures. We have not got the rights of Members of Parliament to move any resolutions during the Budget discussion, affecting Government measures. But the right of criticism is also valuable. This right Your Honour has always allowed us in the fullest measure, and the country ought to be thankful to you for it. I am afraid all the coming political privileges of Local Councils, beyond the increase of their size, will not take us further than this right of discussion of the budget, the right of free criticism and the right of interpellation. Indeed, we have been told that the rules would in the future be made by the Government of India, by which the Members should be required to observe the rules of relevancy and stick to the figures of the budget. We may thus go back and lose our right to criticise the general policy of Government on this one occasion, because there will be a larger number of men who cannot be relied on to speak to the point. I trust Your Honour will, so far as this Council is concerned, kindly safeguard the rights now possessed by the Members.

"Now I shall proceed to the discussion of the Budget proper. The present budget is distinguished by the many works of great public utility for which it has made provision. The Water-works of Puri, Monghyr, Gaya, Serampore and Kurseong, when completed, will be permanent mementos of the beneficence of Your Honour's administration. I believe the arrangements for Water-works at Hooghly and Jessore are also nearing completion. I must also say here that I agree with the Hon'ble Member from Bihar in strongly urging upon Your Honour the desirability of having Water-works at Bankipore.

"I must also congratulate the Government for the grants for the drainage and sanitary improvements of Berhampore, Patna and Darjeeling; and for the grants for the clearance of silt in the Midnapur Canal, raising the Pattamundi Canal flood-bank, the Dhappa-Bamanghatta Canal and the Madaripore Bhil Channel. These are substantial works of great utility for which we must be thankful.

"In the present budget there is, for the first time, a statement of receipts and expenditure of District Boards and District Committees. It is an improvement and will be very useful in anticipation of the changes proposed by Your Honour, by which the District Boards should have the proceeds of the Road and Public Works Cesses exclusively for the purposes for which they were originally imposed. I do hope Your Honour will be able to carry out the change, which will place the country under a great obligation to you.

"Another matter ought to be mentioned here. Your Honour's Government has repeatedly announced that in the Sibpur College, instruction in mechanical, electrical and mining engineering, as well as industrial chemistry, would be taught to a standard equal to the standard of the Technological Colleges of Europe. The grant in the present budget is only Rs. 35,000, which is the annual recurring grant by the Government of India, and which must go to the Serampore Weaving School, which we are surprised to find has not made much progress yet. There are also some grants for apparatus in the Sibpur College. The grants are quite insufficient for the purpose. I have, however, been told that, though the classes have been sanctioned, they will be opened next year. Mr. Heaton very kindly took me over last week to the Sibpur College, and I found that arrangements for starting the graduate classes in mechanical, electrical and mining engineering are very nearly complete, and those for the industrial chemistry classes were being completed when they were stopped. I thus find no reason why these classes will not be opened by Your Honour this year. The technological graduate classes of Sibpur and the weaving school at Serampore will, I think, be the greatest works of beneficence of the Government, next to the establishment of the Arts Colleges. I must also thank Your Honour for the great Agricultural College at Sabour, which will shortly be started and for which large grants have been made in this budget. The Hon'ble Mr. Sutherland suggested that the College might remain in abeyance. I am afraid he is not aware that the Agricultural Classes at Sibpur have been closed, because the College at Sabour is going to be opened. We are also grateful for the serious effort that is being made for the improvement of the Fisheries of the country, though it is too early to judge of the wisdom of the measures proposed to be taken.

"I have now to go to the disagreeable work of finding fault. We, Indian Members, often use strong language. Our words are so little heeded that the temptation to use strong words often becomes very great. Again, the condition of the people of the country is so miserable that, though I for one know that most of the English Administrators do their very best to ameliorate the condition of the people, I cannot shut my eyes to the fact that it is possible to make the country move very much faster than it has been doing. For our present stagnation, the Government is responsible. If the people of this country are not progressing, as the people of Japan and of the European countries, because of the inadequacy of the measures for their improvement undertaken by the Government, it must be said to have signally failed in its duty towards the people, whose welfare has been entrusted to it by Providence. The present Budget will amply prove my statement.

"Let us take Education first. The Financial Secretary has very kindly this year acceded to my request of showing the provisions for Primary and Female Education separately. When I asked for the statement I never thought it would show such startling results as disclosed in it. There are some Government primary schools which cost Rs. 31,500 and model muktabs Rs. 3,420. The rest of the primary schools are only helped by grants-in-aid. The sum of Rs. 1,89,708 is allotted for the maintenance of primary schools for the benefit of 50 millions of people. There may be something like two lakhs more spent for the same purpose by the District Boards according to my information, though the statement does not show it. I must say I could not believe my eyes when I saw the figures. Under Female Education, I find that for Muhammadan female education the sum of Rs. 1,200 is allotted, and grants-in-aid for the other schools amount to Rs. 1,96,000, a very large proportion of which goes to Brahmo and Christian schools. To this may be added the cost of one or two colleges and high schools for non-hindu and non-muhammadan classes. To be told that the people do not show any eagerness to be taught and that the difficulties of starting a larger number of primary schools for boys and girls are insurmountable, only proves that no serious attempt is being made to educate the people to any appreciable extent, much less to the extent to which it has been done during the last 30 years in Japan, which was before that time a barbarous country compared with Bengal. The last quinquennial report mentions it, as a very satisfactory fact, that in five years there has been an increase in the number of the pu pils of the primary schools by 1,35,118. The fact only shows how the 50 millions of people, under the charge of the Government, are practically untouched.

"I find, again, that out of the total Provincial expenditure on Education of 50 lakhs, 7½ lakhs is for direction and inspection. In 1902-03, for the whole of undivided Bengal, the entire expenditure under those heads was Rs. 3,28,000. The area of our Provinces has been reduced by a third and the expenditure has more than doubled. For Primary Education, again, out of a total expenditure of 9 lakhs, Rs. 2,01,800 are for inspection, Rs. 4,38,000 for training schools for teachers; and the expenditure on primary schools is only Rs. 2,19,208, excluding scholarships of the amount of Rs. 17,200. There is no reason to suppose that this proportion of 25 per cent. of the entire expenditure, which is now spent on the schools properly so called, can be raised within any appreciable time. I have repeatedly complained against it, but to no purpose. The fact remains that the people must go without education for one generation at least.

"There has been an extraordinary increase of expenditure on Colleges, which is out of all proportion to the means at our disposal and which will be greater every year. This is partly owing to schemes for new Colleges, but mainly owing to the new Universities Act; which was not wanted by the people and the unpopularity of which, the Hon'ble Member for the University has just now told us, is admitted, and which was conclusively shown by the establishment of the so-called National University and the national schools and by the small number of graduates who took part in the last election of Fellows, and which has according to many competent critics in no way improved education in this country, is a matter which is considered by many exponents of Indian public opinion as money not very well spent. But probably we do not quite understand our own interests. But even the money so spent is not much and more ought to be spent.. But the education of the masses is absolutely neglected. The Government of India once gave us 10 lakhs for Primary Education, and we have been told that we would soon get free and universal education. What we have actually got is Rs. 2,19,208!

"The budget does not disclose that the Government is doing anything towards prevention of Malaria, Cholera and other diseases, which have made life miserable in the interior of the districts. I have already mentioned the great and beneficial work done for some of the important towns, by supplying them with water-works. But what has been done for the rural population? I asked for some grants for the supply of good drinking-water, but could not get them. From the statement supplied to me by the Government, it appears that about Rs. 97,000 were spent in the districts of Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore and Khulna during the last five years, or about Rs. 4,500 every year in each of these large districts. We may take it practically that nothing has been spent on that head. As regards prevention of Malaria, no steps have yet been taken. For the last four years, the drainage of the Jessore district is under consideration. Once Rs. 75,000 was budgetted for it. It was taken out last year and does not appear this year.

"The project of the Ship Canal in 24-Parganas, so strongly pressed upon the Government by the Chambers of Commerce, is still in an embryonic condition. The departments take an unconscionably long time to come to a decision. Our river systems are deteriorating, and our Engineers tell us in despair nothing can be done. In other countries, Engineers would never have said that.

"The establishment of the Public Works Department, I complained last year, cost us Rs. 8,75,000 for a total expenditure of 65 lakhs and odd, though most of the work is done by Contractors. The expenditure, on establishment, has this year been raised to 10 lakhs. The department may be entitled to this extraordinary expenditure on themselves. I would not grudge them even more, but let us have proper schemes for improving the sanitation of the districts, and those in shorter times; and once the schemes are ready, let them be carried out, so that we may not have to show, as I did last year, that expenditure sanctioned has been year after year sanctioned without being actually incurred.

"Excepting the Madaripur Bhil Route, I find all such items have this year been omitted. But that does not show that the works have been done; for, at least, in the Presidency Division, practically nothing has been done. That the people in the Mufassal are distressed and dying in hundreds of thousands, on account of malaria and other diseases, is admitted. In this state of things, it is necessary that we should see what we spend on medical aid to them I find that Rs. 76,000 is budgetted for mufassal hospitals and dispensaries, and another sum of Rs. 1,45,500 for grants to mufassal hospitals and dispensaries. Under the heading of 'grants to mufassal hospitals and dispensaries,' the actuals for 1906-1907 were Rs. 1,62,678. The revised estimate last year was Rs. 1,94,000, though the sanctioned amount was Rs. 1,25,200. This year, the amount budgetted is Rs. 1,45,000, and the note on the remarks column is 'increase for larger grants.' But, increase or no increase, the amount is miserably low for the work for which it is intended.

"I know that there is no medical help available in the Sunderbans and people die by thousands during the cholera season. There have been proposals for establishing one or two charitable dispensaries, but there is no money for them.

"Out of pity to us, the Government of India has made a grant this year of a sum of 4½ lakhs of rupees for Sanitation, which has not yet been distributed. I trust some provision should be made out of this for the supply of drinking-water to the Mufassal, for the establishment of a larger number of charitable dispensaries and for the carrying out of a systematic scheme for the eradicating of malaria from this country. If the malaria continues, the people are sure to deteriorate and ultimately die out; as did some ancient peoples, as history tells us. No expenditure is too great for preventing this result. Indeed, all works requiring expenditure should give way to this primary need of preservation of the people.

"I must very sincerely thank the Government for the grant of Rs. 8,50,000, as compensation on account of the extraordinary rise in the price of food-stuffs. We have been confronted with an economic problem of a very serious character. Acute Councillors have traced it to coining more rupees than necessary and have supposed that it would hamper exports. Indian Publicists, on the contrary, say it is owing to large exports. Overcoining, if it affected prices, would affect prices generally and not of food-stuffs alone; nor is it true that exports have been less. But it is also not true that exports have been larger than in previous years, as has been shown by the Government in reply to questions put in this Council. These are therefore fanciful reasons, though good according to text-books. It is a well-known principle of political economy that there is a rise in wages and of the price of all manufactured articles, when there is a rise in the price of food-stuffs; but, in India, on account of foreign competition, the price of manufactured articles cannot rise on that ground, and corresponding proportionately higherer wages are impossible. There is thus a disturbance of normal conditions, intensified by the keener rivalry between India and other foreign countries, in recent years. This will continue until India can hold her own against foreign competition. However that may be, we do expect that our financial and economic experts will soon find out the true cause and its remedy. Till that is done, the non-cultivating classes wil greatly suffer. It seems to me that the high prices have come to stay. The high prices of jute, produced on a bigha of land, cannot but make the cultivator either give up the cultivation of paddy or demand a proportionately high price for the paddy produced on an equal quantity of land. The cultivators, who are the majority of the population, have profited by the high prices of the produce of their fields. But the large non-cultivating population are suffering greatly. The grain compensations, which I hope will be continued as long as the high prices continue, may afford some relief to the poorly-paid Government employés.

"But for the other workmen and labourers, there is no hope unless there is a rise in wages. That can only be obtained when there are more industries and more factories, and more demand for labour. To the small landlords, the Government may give some relief by affording facilities for enhancement of rent on account of rise in prices; and I hope the Government will be pleased to do that if it finds that the high prices continue for good. But that is a small matter. The great problem before the Government of this country is, how to develop its industries. The land is not sufficient to support the population and my poor countrymen go to America and South Africa for higher wages, and are there accorded the treatment of Kaffirs and Hottentots and turned out as undesirable aliens. There was a time when this country was rich in industries. Machinery, large capital, and the encouragement by all means, fair and foul, by foreign countries of their own industries, have destroyed our industries. It is the bounden duty of the Government to take every possible measure by which industries may be revived, factories established and higher wages received by labourers, and employment provided for the middle class—bhadra-logue class. It is very good to encourage and to give relief to the lower classes and Muhammadans by giving them employments—even high employments; for it must be said they are the people. But any deterioration of the races of Aryan origin in India is a matter of serious concern, for what is India without them? Then, again, the Census figures prove that the Hindu population of these Provinces (lower classes and higher classes) are not increasing in the same proportion as the Muhammadans. Is this owing to the fact that among Hindus the proportion of the non-cultivating classes is larger than among Muhammadans? These are high problems with which we are not at present concerned, but to them no responsible Government should shut its eyes.

"The immediate question is the development of industries which will, of some extent, alleviate the present distress. Much, very much can be done. Have not strong and wise Administrators converted Germany and Japan from purely agricultural countries to great manufacturing countries? Our Government is doing practically nothing. Most of its requisites are purchased from foreign countries. The budget shows that stationery purchased in the country is worth Rs. 37,000, and stationery obtained from foreign countries is worth Rs. 6,68,000. The Government can very easily get its stationery made in this country. Many private societies and firms will, I am sure, undertake the work if the Government helps.

"Now, I would draw your attention to the large amount of fines realised as shown in the budget. Of this, a large amount is for fines for illicit manufacture of salt. I would request that the amount be separately shown in the budget. The reduction of the salt duties has been a boon. But it is not much appreciated by the poor people. The one great grievance which the people, in the neighbourhood of the sea-coasts of Bengal and Orissa, have against the Government is the oppressive enforcement of the Salt Laws and the fines and harassments in consequence. The reduction of the salt duties gives them no relief. These people would very much like to pay an additional Cess, if they are allowed to manufacture salt for their own consumption from the water at their doors. I wish the Government could devise some means to alleviate the hardships arising out of the Salt Acts, though the Acts are Acts of the Government of India.

"We miss in the budget a detailed account of the expenditure on Famine Relief which, on the face of it, does not seem to be much, and a statement showing that the measures taken for the purpose, in Orissa and the parts of Bengal affected by famine and distress, are adequate. Basing the budget on the model of old budgets and omitting detailed accounts under heading, only 33 this year cannot be commended.

"Your Honour, I am aware that the means at your disposal are quite insufficient for the needs of the country. The question of questions is how to find means, without oppressing the people? A tax on Jute will, I believe, not be oppressive. We have got the monopoly of jute and we may easily take a little more price from foreign manufacturers, who cannot do without jute. The proceeds of this tax may be divided, half for Education and half for Sanitation. But, these are questions to be solved with much greater thought than can be given on this occasion.

"What we are directly concerned with in this connection is, retrenchment. Retrenchment, in every direction, is indispensable if we wish any good work to be done. The charges of administration, General and under Land-revenue, I find are Rs. 56,61,000; while our income is 5 crores. The actuals for 1905-06, for undivided Bengal, were 60 lakhs on the same head. By the Partition, the expenditure should have certainly been reduced by more than 3½ lakhs. But any way, the charges of administration, which do not include expenditure on police and justice, stamps, excise, etc., are excessive. But how to reduce them? The Statutory Civil Service was established to reduce the cost of administration. But it has been abolished for reasons which I have not yet been able to understand. And we have further got Compensation Allowances to high-paid officers. Our administration expenses are every day increasing.

"The expenditure for Police, for undivided Bengal, in 1905-06, was 68 lakhs and odd. This year, we are budgetting Rs. 77,63,000 for divided Bengal. Why should there be this extraordinary increase in Police expenditure? Has there been an increase of crimes in peaceful Bengal? No. Certainly there have been rows by boys and boyish men, who I am sorry to find are taken seriously by the Government and by the newspapers, which flourish by sensational news and which find it very hard to make two ends meet in peaceful and uneventful Bengal. But this will very soon pass away, leaving Bengal the most peaceful and crimeless country in the world. Why this great burden, which cripples the resources of the Government, to undertake works of beneficence? Notwithstanding the encomiums bestowed on the police, the people are, it must be said, not in much love with the police, even the improved police, and if they saw less of policemen than at present they would bless the Government. The necessity of suppressing a Hindu-Mussulman riot once in 10 years, or dispersing a Bande Mataram procession, is no ground for increasing the expenditure on the Police.

"Now, Your Honour, I shall go to certain little matters. We are Provincial Members, and we have to deal with details and to consider even little things. We have a personal and direct interest in all work in our Province and shall be thankful even if we get a thousand rupees for a tank. I object to the grant of Rs. 7,000 for an additional Assistant Secretary, Legislative Department We have done tolerably well without one so long and the Legislative work has certainly not become heavier. Then I object to the increase of the remuneration of the Government Solicitor and the Public Prosecutor by Rs. 41,000. This is inexplicable to me. Then I object to the new grant of Rs. 5,000 for the cost of typing of Sessions Court records, not only for the use of Magistrates but also of Government Pleaders. I object to Rs. 1,92,000 allotted for new Inspecting Officers of Education, without any appreciable increase in the number of schools. I object to the grant of 2 lakhs for the purchase of Duff's College, for the Calcutta Police as not urgently required; as also to the sum of 1 lakh for the housing of Officials at Burdwan, as excessive and not urgently required. I object to the large sum allotted for the renewal of furniture on account of the change of Lieutenant Governor. How do we know the new Lieutenant-Governor will want it? I trust he will not. He will have Rs. 30,000 for the furniture of the new Durbar Hall, which the present Lieutenant-Governor will not have occasion to use. Lastly, I object to the increase of 2 lakhs for Stationery and Printing. The actuals, for undivided Bengal, in 1905-06, were 10 lakhs, and this year it is Rs. 12,92,000. This continued and extraordinary increase ought to stop. Your Honour, there has been an increase of expenditure in every department. We cannot afford it. Retrenchment is absolutely necessary in our present condition.

"I have last of all to draw your attention to the statement of receipts and expenditure of District Boards for the first time printed with the Budget. It is an improvement. It will at once show how great is the burden which the District Boards have to bear, which should not legitimately fall on them. They get from the Government Rs. 5,50,000 for Education, but they have to spend Rs. 11,59,138. Under head 'Medical,' they receive Rs. 14,000 from Government, but have to spend Rs. 4,20,072. They receive Rs. 9,000 under head 'Scientific', and they have to spend Rs. 63,368. We are all looking forward to the beneficent measures which we hope to see passed during Your Honour's Administration to alleviate the unbearable burden of the District Boards. Your Honour—I have done"

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"Your Honour:—This year's budget is not a Prosperity Budget. The estimates for 1908-09 open with a balance of Rs. 21,32,000 and show receipts and expenditure aggregating Rs. 5,42,56,000 and Rs. 5,49,98,000, respectively; and a closing balance of Rs. 13,90,000, which is much below the minimum closing balance of Rs. 20,00,000. The Famine and consequent high prices of Food-stuffs have largely accounted for this deplorable state of the Provincial Finance; and it is our misfortune that Your Honour's Government, notwithstanding the normal growth of revenues, has been fettered in meeting the numerous wants of the country. There is no sign of falling off in the high prices of food-stuffs. During the last five years, the prices have been steadily rising; and they have now reached a pitch, quite unprecedented in the history of the country. Living has become very dear throughout the country, and great is the distress among the middle-class bhadralog.

"I am afraid that the Grain Compensation Allowance will be a permanent charge upon all employers, whether public or private. When the last Provincial Settlement was made with the Government of India, this important factor was absent from the consideration of both the Governments. I am sure that if this had been known before, Your Honour's Government would have pressed for, and the Government of India would have conceded, this sum in allotting the revenues to Your Honour's Government. The people of Bengal were, however, glad to observe that Your Honour referred to this subject in forcible terms in the Supreme Council. I hope Your Honour will see your way, at proper time, to press again upon the Government of India for a grant to meet this extraordinary charge, and thus free the Local Government to devote its resources more largely to the moral and material improvements of the country. I may be permitted here to add, that the allowance graciously granted by the Government is too small to confer any appreciable benefit on the recipients. I believe the Salaries Commission had no opportunity to consider this factor, as it was not in existence, when the Commission was appointed. The dearness of provision has produced such inconceivable suffering that it is incumbent on the Government to raise the scale of pay of all servants, drawing a salary of Rs. 100 and under. It may not be out of place to refer to an analogous case where the Government granted Exchange Compensation to its European employés, in order to relieve them from the effects of the depreciation of the rupee. The Indian public reasonably expect a similar concession from their benign Government, in dealing with the much more serious case of underpaid Indian employés of the Government in the present crisis.

"As regards the Budget, I regret to say that it has not been prepared in a clear and readily intelligible form. Your Honour was pleased to observe last year: 'Our object is to make our position as indicated in the budget intelligible to the ordinary reader, and I trust we shall be able to do something in this respect.' A year has since passed away, but unfortunately the budget, as framed this year, is no improvement on that of the previous year.

"To give one or two instances, I may mention that under the head 'Medical' lump sums are entered for the several Hospitals, which include establishment, dietary charges, rent, taxes and medical stores. I submit if the figures are separately given, the Public will readily know what amount is spent on diet and other items. Similarly, under Sanitation and Improvement, Rs. 7,08,000 is provided. Deducting the Government of India's contribution of 4½ lakhs, which has not been earmarked for any particular project, the balance left is Rs. 2,58,000. The Public naturally expect to know the details of this allotment, to enable them to understand how much is spent for establishment and how much for works of sanitary improvement. The interest on loans is shown in the budget; but it will be interesting to have a statement showing the works on which the loan money is spent and the advances made to public bodies or individuals, for which the interest is charged. In this connection, I venture to suggest that a Commission may be appointed to consider the form in which the budget should be prepared, so as to make it more easily intelligible to the Public and to submit their recommendations for Your Honour's consideration.

"I find certain sums of money entered in last year's budget; for instance, allotments made to the Puri Municipality for Drainage, to the Kurseong Municipality for Water-supply, to the Patna Municipality for Drainage Pumping-station and to the Darjeeling Municipality for Sanitary Improvements, renewed in this year's budget, with a variation of the grants. I believe this is due to the non execution of the works, and it is to be regretted that important Civil Works calculated to improve the sanitation of the country have been delayed and money granted left unspent.

"Since last year, by Your Honour's desire some of the non-official Members of Your Honour's Council are invited to meet the Secretaries of the various Departments of the Government, to discuss the Budget before it is submitted to the Council. A hope was expressed in the Council, by some of the Hon'ble Members, that the informal meeting would develop into a more useful consultation and that all the non-official Members would be given an opportunity to discuss the Budget, before it was finally cast into the stereotyped mould and laid before the Council, when criticisms, however eloquent and cogent, assumed more or less the nature of an academic discussion. Your Honour's assurance last year, that measures would be taken to ensure a more effective ascertainment of opinion on the budget, has not yet been realized. No tangible result has ensued from these consultations. All the non-official Members are not consulted, and I regret to observe that there has been an invidious distinction in inviting some Members and excluding others. There is an impression that these consultations are conventional and formal. But I am not without hope that ere long there will be a material change in the present practice.

"Court-fees and the Calcutta Small Cause Court.—Turning to the items of the budget, I find that the receipts from Court-fees have steadily increased from Rs. 1,00,20,000 in 1906-07 to Rs. 1,06,45,000 in the year, that has just closed, and to the estimated amount of Rs. 1,10,50,000 in the Budget of 1908-09. In this connection, I may be permitted to draw once again Your Honour's attention to the anomaly in charging Court-fees which exists in the Calcutta Court of Small Causes. This anomaly can be well understood, when it is remembered that on the east side of Circular Road, i.e. in the Sealdah Small Cause Court, the Court-fee is 7½ per cent. and on the west side, i.e. in the Calcutta Small Cause Court, the Court-fee is 11 per cent. I earnestly hope Your Honour will be pleased to remove this anomaly, by ordering a reduction of Court-fee charges in the Calcutta Small Cause Court. Last year, I drew Your Honour's attention to the prohibitive Court-fee levied on the institution of municipal assessment appeals in the Calcutta Small Cause Court. As I pointed out to Your Honour, these appeals were formerly heard by a Bench of Commissioners; but this inexpensive Court was abolished and the power of hearing the appeals was transferred to the Calcutta Small Cause Court. Hitherto no Court-fee was charged on the appeals and the rate payers were consoled by the fact that the change of tribunal, though made in opposition to their wishes, did not entail any additional cost on them. But, latterly, the prohibitive Court-fees on these appeals have created a great dissatisfaction and the Corporation have approached Your Honour with a prayer for its abolition. I trust Your Honour will see your way to accede to the prayer. In connection with the administration of justice, may I suggest to Your Honour to institute Honorary Benches in the Small Cause Court for disposal of petty civil suits? There are many cases which may be disposed of to th satisfaction of the public by business men, both European and Indian. The establishment of Honorary Benches will also lighten the burden of the Courts and will enable the suitors to have their cases adjudged by experts in matters which require expert knowledge, which Judges ordinarily do not possess.

"Income-tax.—The receipts from the Income-tax, notwithstanding the raising of minimum assessable income from Rs. 500 to Rs. 1,000, are steadily increasing from year to year; and in the budget of 1908-09, the receipts are estimated at Rs. 52,25,000 against Rs. 50,75,000, the actuals of the last year. It is not uncommon for Assessing Officers to pull up the figures to show an improvement over the collection of the previous year; and in their zeal they not unoften inflict hardships upon the people to whom the Government in its generosity wants to give relief. There is a great public complaint that the Income-tax assessments are in not a few cases based on anticipations of higher income, without regard to the net profit actually earned after a year's working. The raising of the minimum to at least Rs. 2,500 is urgently required for the relief of the poor middle-class, having regard to the dear living which has become a permanent burden on the population. Your Honour is no doubt aware of the attachment of the people of India to their ancestral dwelling-houses, which are worshipped as Bastu Bhitas. If a clerk or a shop-keeper earns Rs. 50 a month and possesses a dwelling-house assessed at Rs. 700 per annum by the Municipality, his real income of Rs. 600 is added to the assessment of his house and he becomes liable to pay Income tax. To impose Income-tax on such unproductive holdings, is not only hard but unfair. An Income-tax is a tax on income, and it ought not to be levied on capital sunk on residential houses any more than on capital sunk on books furniture, ornaments or clothing. May I express a hope that Your Honour will be graciously pleased to move the Government of India on this subject?

"City Improvement.—I find fifty lakhs, which has been granted by the Government of India for the Calcutta City Improvement, earmarked and included in the cash balance from year to year. I think that, instead of carrying the fifty lakhs in cash balance from year to year, it may be invested, like the Victoria Memorial Fund, so that we may receive interest to the extent of two lakhs annually to swell the fund. As the money has been in the hands of the Government as a trust fund, may I not also ask that the interest of the past years be added to it? There is no subject of more absorbing interest to Calcutta than the City Improvement Scheme. I am, however, glad to learn from the speech of the Hon'ble the Home Member in the Supreme Council that though the scheme is lost to our view it is still making some progress, but the public are at a loss to know when it will be launched into operation. The announcement that the Secretary of State has been pleased to sanction the proposal of the Government of India of an annual contribution of one and-a-half lakhs of rupees, for sixty years, in addition to the initial grant of fifty lakhs, has been received with much satisfaction. But until the modified scheme is known to the public, they are in the dark as to the nature of the additional taxes contemplated under the scheme. I only echo the public voice when I ask the Government to be so good as to take the public into its confidence by publishing the scheme, with a view to enable them to offer their opinion and suggestions before the Secretary of State is committed to it. Referring to the Hon'ble Mr. Sutherland's remarks for a second maidan towards Tollygunge, I think the need for a second maidan is much greater in the northern part of the City than in the southern; and I believe none appreciated more the need of such an open space in the congested northern part than the Hon'ble Mr. Greer, while he was in the Corporation and also by his successor Sir Charles Allen.

"Drainage of the Presidency Division.—A sum of Rs. 30,000 has been allotted in the budget for taking remedial measures for the prevention of Malaria. For years past in this Council, Hon'ble Members urged on the Government to take steps for the eradication of Malaria which has devastated the country. As it is the duty of the Government to maintain its Army and Navy for the protection of the people, so it is the duty of the Government to save the people from the ravages of this fell disease. I heartily thank the Government for appointing the Drainage Committee to inquire into the causes of Malarial Fever and the feasibility of undertaking remedial measures in the Presidency Division. A very careful report has been submitted; but, considering the gravity of the situation, Rs. 30,000 appears to be too meagre a sum for combating with this great evil. It will be interesting to know to what extent Rs. 30,000 is calculated to serve the object which the Drainage Committee had in view, and within what period the people can expect the introduction of the remedial measures? The sooner the obstructions to drainage, and the water-logged condition of the soil and the rank vegetation, are removed, the better for the sanitary condition, not only of the districts of the Presidency Division but also of the City of Calcutta, with which they are conterminous. No subject is of greater importance to the people living under Your Honour's sway, and no duty is more paramount to the Government, than the saving of the lives of the people; and many items of secondary importance in the budget might safely be put off for the present, in order to provide adequate funds for the adoption of the preventive measures against Malaria on a larger and more comprehensive scale.

"Sanitary Improvement.—The thanks of the people of Bengal are eminently due to the Government of India for the generous and spontaneous gift of Rs. 4,50,000 for the improvement of Sanitation, and I hope this grant will be added to and renewed every year. It is not stated, by the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary, how it is proposed to spend the money? I hope it will be spent on practical works of public utility, such as improvement of drainage and water-supply. As it is said, the sum will be spent in sanitary improvement, with special reference to the Plague; and as the Calcutta Municipality has spent and is still spending a large sum of money for Plague prevention, and as Calcutta is the seat of both the Provincial and the Imperial Governments, I think I can with fairness ask for a portion of this sum for the Calcutta Municipality, and I hope my hon'ble friend, Sir Charles Allen, will support me. The safety of the Metropolis is of paramount importance to the trade of India, and Calcutta, thanks to the vigilance of the local authorities, has been comparatively immune from Plague during recent years. I hope Your Honour will recognize that Calcutta deserves a share of the bounty of the Imperial Government.

"In Bengal, Malaria causes greater havoc than Plague, and has desolated many a fair and flourishing village. I hope the Government of India will be pleased to allow the greater portion of this grant to be expended on measures for the prevention of Malaria, for people enfeebled by Malaria fall an easy victim to Plague and other diseases.

"Assistant Surgeons.—I do not find that any provision has been made in this year's budget for increase of salary of the Civil Assistant Surgeons. They are a class of highly-useful and deserving public servants, who devote themselves to the improvement of the health of the people and the safety of individual lives in the remote parts of the Mufassal. Many of them, living in the out-of-the-way stationss have not the good fortune of obtaining a lucrative private practice. Even at the Presidency towns and Sadar stations, the Civil Assistant Surgeons cannot establish a good practice, owing to the increasing number of private practitioners who have already occupied the field and who are not subjected to transfer from one station to another, as is frequently the case with the Government Assistant Surgeons. The prospect and pay of the Civil Surgeons have much improved, and it is but just and fair that the miserable pay of the Civil Assistant Surgeons, ranging from Rs. 100 to Rs. 200, should be raised from Rs. 200, to Rs. 400, as was recommended by Sir William Grey; and that a larger number of qualified Assistant Surgeons be employed as Civil Surgeons. The larger employment of Assistant Surgeons, as Civil Surgeons, is in consonance with the declared policy of the Government, to give wider employment to the people of the country in posts for which they are fitted, and I trust Your Honour will give full effect to that generous policy.

"Smoke-nuisance.—I regret that the City has not yet derived any tangible benefit from the operation of the Smoke Nuisances Act. Every evening, since the beginning of the cold weather, the City is enveloped in dense smoke and the people of Calcutta are compelled to inhale the pestilential clouds of smoke to the detriment of their health. In the northern part of the City, the nuisance is very great. It is hoped that some information, as to the steps intended to be taken to prevent this nuisance, will be vouchsafed to the public.
